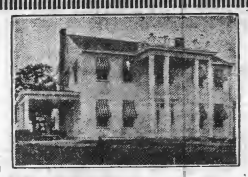
These resources, however, are meaningless if we overlook the most important resource of all—the school-age girls and boys of Kentucky.

Only yesterday that gallant group of young Kentuckians who are now serving in the armed forces of this country were in the school rooms of this state. May the training they received then stand them in good stead now on the distant battlefields of this world conflict.

Tomorrow the school-age girls and boys of today must take their places in society. They must shoulder the burdens of perpetuating the heritage which our generation received and for which our armed forces are now waging war on distant battlefields.



We shall win this war on foreign fronts. We must not lose it at home. When our attention is so closely focused on the military progress of the war, there is a danger that we will overlook imperative needs at home. The most important resource of this state must not be overlooked. The girls and boys in school today must be trained. The school crisis in this state must be met.

Kentuckians will elect a governor this year. The responsibility of dealing with the grave school problems of Kentucky will rest on the shoulders of the next governor and the next General Assembly of this state.

A careful analysis of the educational programs of the various candidates for governor will reveal that the sound educational program promulgated by J. Lyter Donaldson is the most constructive offered by any candidate for governor. This program is worthy of the support of the teachers and school patrons of Kentucky. This program will protect our most important resource — "Kentucky's Childhood."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

GOD CALLS A LEADER

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 3:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come now therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people the children of Israel out of Egypt.—Exodus 3:10.

God calls men, commissions, and uses them to carry out His plans and purposes in the earth. What a great truth that is, and how it glorifies the destiny of man to know that it is divinely appointed.

As Joseph Parker effectively points out, the experience of Moses in Midian was a direct dealing with God, whereas we who may not be able to "see the fountain" must "be content to drink at the stream," but should always remember that the stream flows from that same fountain.

"Every man should put to himself the questions. What is my destiny? What does God mean me to be and to do in the world? . . . It is a most pitiable thing that a man should read of Moses being divinely called . . . to a special work" and fail to realize "that God has a special work for every man to do." Let us be careful that we do not "so pervert and misinterpret circumstances as to press them into a justification of self-will," rather than recognize them as "destiny which is beckoning us to duty."

For our instruction and guidance we consider, then, the story of the call of this outstanding leader of Israel. It presents him as a true servant of God, one who was—

I. Personally Equipped.

While it is a blessed truth that God will use any man who surrenders himself to His control and guidance, no matter how limited that man's ability and training may be, it is also true that, other things being equal, the man with the best equipment will be the most useful servant.

God gave Moses a unique preparation. He was first of all a Hebrew, born among the people that he was to lead. He knew the luxury and all the cultural advantages of the Egyptian court (Acts 7:22), with the safeguard of training by his own mother as his nurse.

He observed at first hand the oppression of his people, and made a self-willed and impulsive effort to deal with the problem. The result was that he had a "postgraduate" course of instruction and discipline in the wilderness, where he spent forty years in the school of experience.

We have learned anew from our war experience that training for service is essential. If that is true in military matters and in secular life, it is doubly true in the service of Christ. He does graciously use even the humble and untrained worker, but no one who has a vision of service will be content to remain unprepared.

II. Spiritually Qualified.

Moses was a man who knew God. Had he been a worldly man he would only have been curious regarding the phenomenon of the burning bush. But note how alert and reverent he was and how immediately responsive to the instructions and the call of God.

Here God's future leader was made conscious of the infinite majesty and holiness of God, the need of reverence and godly fear, the purpose of the Eternal One to deliver His people, and the assurance that He would be with His servant. Such a spiritual experience made effective the excellent preparation which he already had for service.

All the training and preparation in the world is worse than useless in God's service apart from that spiritual qualification that comes from true regeneration and dedication to Him.

There is no more pathetic sight than a spiritually powerless church worker going through the motions of service for Christ. If we are in that condition we may be sure that we deceive no one but ourselves.

III. Divinely Called.

Moses was called (v. 4), commissioned (vv. 6-10), and clad with divine authority (vv. 11, 12) for his great task.

God calls His servants to different responsibilities and in different ways, but the important thing is that we should know that we are in His will and that we are answering His call.

No one has any right to choose full-time Christian service simply as a desirable vocation. In any calling of life man needs God's guidance in order to make a proper choice, but in the ministry or missionary service it is an absolute essential.

If we were more careful to seek His will for every individual there would be less unhappiness in the world. But in the case of the one who goes out to speak for God there is not only the danger of distress, but of real disaster for himself and those to whom he tries to minister. ing Christ.

Prepared, qualified, and called, Moses is now ready to meet God before he goes on to his life of holy exploits for Him.

THE GARDEN

LATE POTATOES

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

Between now and July 15 is planting time for Green Mountain Potatoes and of the variety called "country potato" and a host of other names. Indeed, those farmers who have their own stocks of the latter should consider themselves extremely fortunate and should give it the best of care, as seed potatoes are at a premium now, and tablestock may be, next winter. A limited amount of Green Mountain may still be procured from seedsmen in the larger cities where cold storage can be had.

From July 15 to August 1 (or even August 10) is planting time for Irish Cobbler also cold-storage kept. Supplies are limited, and forehanded gardeners will make their seed reservations early.

The land into which late potatoes are to go should have been prepared in a special way. A sod or a cover crop should have been plowed under in late April, and whenever a crop of weeds started, they should have been cut in with a disk; then, dragging should have been done. Thus, the original soil moisture would have been held, which in the event of a dry summer would have made quite a fair crop. If rain continued plentiful, the crop would have been just that much better.

Potatoes should be fertilized "under the row," as their roots do not wander far. In the furrow, laid off 5 inches deep, the fertilizer ("Victory Garden," 3-8-7) should be sown at the rate of 1 pound to 25 feet, then mixed with the soil, but in such a manner that most of it stays in the furrow's bottom, then, the seed pieces dropped, 15 to 18 inches apart. The row width should be 36 inches or thereabouts.

Potatoes should not be worked deeply, but just enough to discourage what weeds may come. In fact, in correctly prepared land, the weeds will be few. At most the cultivation should be of the "scratch" sort, and the soil surface should be kept level, no ridges.

Lloyd Nolan and Carole Landis go wherever adventure—and their motor picture assignments take them, whether it be Brooklyn or Bataan.

Nolan and Miss Landis, recently starred in 'It Happened in Flatbush," currently are featured in 20th Century-Fox's "Manila Calling," the stirring action tribute to America's guerrilla fighters. The film also features James Gleason and Cornel Wilde.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Eddie (Rochester) Anderson foreswears adventures with the polar bear Carmichael and other antics to become a thoroughly terrified, but none the less comical character as Little Joe, sinner, with Lucifer, Jr. and the forces of good in a struggle for his soul, in M-G-M's "Cabin in the Sky," musical fantasy based on the New York stage hit. He appears opposite Ethel Waters in the musical spectacle.

Lena Horne, torch - singing charmer, plays the temptress role, and Rex Ingram, who, like Miss Waters, was in the original stage show, is cast as a ruler of the Underworld. Duke Ellington and his band, the Hall Johnson Choir, Louis Armstrong an dother noted entertainers figure in musical sequences.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

(Double Feature)

Even Laurel and Hardy can be serious if they wish.

Amid the hilarious complications and comic mishaps in their latest picture they turn serious—just for a few seconds—to give an inspiring lesson in Americanism.

The picture is Mertro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Air Raid Wardens." The comedians, as wardens, enhance the first aid casualty list, battle with whipped cream and undergo sundry trials and tribulations. But they emerge as heroes when they stumble into a gang of saboteurs and really show their mettle by capturing them single handed—or double handed in this case.

Plus

John Gunther; noted writer, pays tribute to "Prelude To War," which will be one of the pictures of a double bill at the above theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. "I am so used to documentary films that I doubted anything new could be done. This was the best I ever saw. It did everything it should do—excite and convince."

H. V. Kaltenborn, radio commentator, says: "To my knowledge it is the first time that true historic documentation has been presented of a decade of aggression. It contains the best selection of background material I have ever seen."

1943 HOME CANNING HINTS WORTH REMEMBERING

Recent tests definitely proved that blanching vegetables in steam saves more essential vitamins than blanching in boiling water, Mrs. Julia Kiene, Director of Westinghouse Home Economics Institute reports. Blanching in steam is a comparatively simple process: Put about one inch of water in the bottom of a deep utensil and bring to a brisk boil. Place vegetable to be blanched in a wire basket or colander. Place that in the utensil containing the rapidly boiling water, cover tightly and steam. Steam for five minutes when canning or preparing vegetables for a quick freeze locker; when dehydrating or brining, steam until vegetable feels soft but isn't completely cooked.

Don't Forget to Salt Vegetables

Salt should be added to all canned vegetables—one teaspoon to each pint. Make a habit of putting salt in the jar first where you can see it. Otherwise, as Westinghouse home economists say, you may either forget it or salt the vegetables twice.

No Chemicals in Canning

Chemical preservatives should never be used in canning, warns Mrs. Julia Kiene, Director of Westinghouse Home Economics Institute. None of them is wholesome or necessary and some might be harmful.

Safety First

All home-preserved vegetables, except tomatoes, must be cooked at boiling temperature in a covered container for at least ten minutes just before serving, says Mrs. Julia Kiene, Director of Westinghouse Home Economics Institute. Even if vegetables are to be used for a salad, they must be cooked first, chilled quickly and used immediately.

After Processing

Don't ever invert jars after processing—it's an outdated practice, say Westinghouse home economists. Set hot jars upright on several thicknesses of cloth or newspaper. Avoid drafts. Don't move or handle jars for at least 24 hours—it takes that long to complete the seal. Screw bands may then be removed and re-used.

Don't Fill Jars Too Full

How much headroom to leave at the top of each jar depends on what you're canning Westinghouse home economists explain that fruits and such leafy vegetables as spinach and chard expand very little and require only one-half inch of head space; starchy vegetables such as string beans, limas, peas, corn and soybeans expand more when canned and need a full inch of head space. Regardless of whether the liquid used for filling jars is boiling water or syrup, it must only just cover the food. The only exception to this rule is when canning by the open kettle method, and then jars should be filled to overflowing with boiling hot fruit.

FEED SHORTAGE MAKES HAY EXTRA IMPORTANT

Because of the probability of a shortage of grain feed, the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggests that as much hay as possible be saved this year. Indications are that hay will bring a good price, and farmers who have more than they can use will find a ready market for it.

While all kinds of hay should be saved, it is desirable that hay be cut when it contains the most nutrients, particularly digestible protein, and that it be cured without injury. The best quality hay is made when the legume or grass is cut at a rather immature stage. Timothy, for instance, makes good hay when cut in full bloom or slightly before, but if left until seed is formed it becomes woody and unsatisfactory for sheep and dairy cows.

Alfalfa makes the best hay when cut in about one-third bloom. In curing alfalfa or clover it is important that as many leaves as possible be saved and that it retain the green color as much as possible. The best hay is made by raking into windrows with a side-delivery rake just as soon as it is fully wilted. If a sulky rake is used, the windrows should be small. If allowed to remain long in the swath the leaves dry so rapidly that most of them will be lost.

Lespedeza has become one of the important hay crops in Kentucky. While not as good as alfalfa or red clover, it makes good hay when cut at the proper time and is well cured. It should be cut when the first blooms appear and before the leaves at the bottom of the stems begin to drop off. If allowed to mature, lespedeza hay is unpalatable and of little feeding value.

BALBO RYE SAVES DAY FOR DAIRYMAN

Farm Agent John T. Cochran of Gallatin county relates how a Balbo rye cover crop saxed a herd of 50 dairy cows for H. J. Richards, a dairyman in that county. Usually Mr. Richards seeds cover crops upon harvesting, but because of a labor scarcity last fall, his 120 acres of Balbo rye were not sown until November. As feed became scarce in February, it was necessary to pasture the cover crops. Six weeks later, when hay, corn and silage were gone, the cows were turned on the cover crop for all their roughage. The results were gratifying, for milk increased 5 percent and the feed costs decreased more than 50 percent.

Although this was a poor cover crop year, according to Mr. Richards, he well, in addition to the pasture used, harvest 10 acres that were pastured but little, and he'll also get some seed from 40 acres. The remander has been or will be turned under.

"We would be compelled to go out of the dairy business if it were not for our cover crop program. From now on, we plan to use it even more," declared Mr. Richards.

Today's Travels

TO KNOW the highways of the nation has long been the business of our Travel Bureau. To chart the roads on legible maps, to classify them as to surface and character, to spot the sections where construction or other obstacles block traffic—and to tell all who may inquire—these are the full-time specialty of Kyso Motor Travel Bureau.

Designed to function in peace time, it has been wholly converted to a war time basis. Pleasure trips are "out" for the duration, but many highways are very busy, nevertheless. Officers and men are hastening to camps, or moving from camp to camp, or "heading for home" on leaves and furloughs.

It is important for them to save time—miles—gasoline—rubber. They ask our Travel Bureau to help them to conserve—cut corners—avoid costly detours. The same consideration applies to commercial vehicles, bound on missions of war necessity.... This service is free.

WITH THE REDS

Cincinnati — A double-barreled attraction is on tap for fans who witness the return of the Cincinnati Reds to Crosley Field for a night game July 15. Not only will the Reds tangle under the mazdas with the snarling Chicago Cubs, but a gala field meet will take place before the game.

Five events are scheduled, including a 75-yard dash, fungo hitting, accuracy throw by catchers, relay from the outfield, and a wheelbarrow race from the pitcher's mound to home plate in which the participants are blindfolded.

Cincinnati fans will have their first chance to see Dain Clay, speedy Redleg flychaser, in the 75-yard dash. In the recent sprint held before a game at Brooklyn Clay easily won the event, and now he is anxious to test his mercurial feet against the best the Cubs can offer.

The relay throw calls for four men, an outfield, two infields, and a catcher. The Red team of Clay, Miller, Mesner, and Mueller also won this event at the Brooklyn meet.

Still another winner was Bucky Walters, whose specialty is fungo hitting, and he will also be entered.

The winner of each event will be presented with a $25 war bond.

Field meets have been intimately associated with baseball in Cincinnati throughout the years. It was at Crosley Field that Evar Swanson set his base-circling world's record time of 13.3, and it was there that Sheldon LeJeune set a record for throwing a baseball for distance.

The Henderson county homemakers' market, which sells all unrationed food with the exception of butter, is unable to supply the demand for its products.

SAVE ROASTING EARS BY CLIPPING METHOD

By the end of June, early planted sweet corn will be coming into silk. This is the stage it is usually attacked by the corn earworm, that greenish colored worm so commonly found feeding upon the silk and later the tip kernels of sweet corn. This insect not only causes much damage to corn but creates an atmosphere of repugnance to the consumer.

A high percentage of ears can be kept free of the worms by the simple operation of clipping with pruning shears or a sharp knife the tips of the ears. Watch the silks of the corn and on the fourth day after about two-thirds of the silks have browned, clip off the end of the shuck about one-half inch from the tip of the cob. Collect all clippings in a basket or bucket and destroy the worms in them by burying or submerging in water. If worms are numerous, a reclip four to six days later will be worth while if the grower has time to do it. For further information, send to the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station for leaflet entitled "How to Prevent Earworm Damage to Sweet Corn."

BALBO RYE GIVEN CONVINCING TEST

Farmers in Casey county estimate that they got twice as much grazing from Balbo rye as from barley, and probably three times as much as they got from wheat. Such is the report made by Farm Agent J. Stanley Howard, following 20 cover crop demonstrations in that county. C. N. Shaw, a farmer of Libertyville, planted Balbo rye against wheat and barley with cross strips of vetch and crimson clover. The wheat and barley almost disappeared after cattle were turned in the first time. In contrast, Balbo rye twice withstood the grazing of cattle and the rooting of hogs, to reach a height of 10 inches before it was turned under. The crimson clover did fairly well at first, but was ruined by the hogs. The vetch made no showing, according to Mr. Howard.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

With gardens producing in fine shape, homemakers are kept busy making use of vegetables while they are still young and tender. Prepared directly from the garden, they have an appetite appeal that is unequaled by processed foods. Vegetable dinners are proving to be favorites in many families. When well planned, they are satisfying without the use of red ration stamps.

Serve some vegetables raw and some cooked in a dinner of this kind, is the advice of food specialists at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The use of white and colorful vegetables together makes for an attractive plate. Then have a generous serving of cottage cheese, bean leaf or stuffed eggs to supply the necessary protein of the meal.

To make the most of vitamins and minerals in cooked vegetables, cook them quickly in boiling water, but only until tender. After draining off the liquid which is saved for soup or gravy, serve the vegetable with white sauce or butter, or combine it when cold with salad dressing.

Here are some suggestions for using raw vegetables: 2 cups of shredded carrots, the grated rind and juice of half a lemon and 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar; 2 cups of shredded cabbage and a half cup of pineapple, or a banana; 2 cups of shredded carrots and a half cup of raisins or chopped apple; shredded carrots and cabbage, half and half; chopped cabbage, watercress, green pepper and onion.

Menu: Stuffed eggs, creamed potatoes, French string beans, Harvard beets, tossed green salad, rye bred and butter, berries and cream.

French String Beans

4 cups string beans, 1tsp. salt, 1 thick slice onion, 3 slices of bacon.

Wash the beans, then stack and cut them into about one-fourth inch pieces. Cook the beans and onion in boiling salted water until the beans are tender, using as little water as possible. Cut the bacon in small pieces and fry until crisp. When the beans are tender, drain and add the crisp bacon and 2 tablespoonfuls of bacon fat.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Six cream stations in Jackson county report an increase of 40 percent in cream purchased. Estimated egg production increase is 40 to 60 percent.

Purebred pigs are being sold by some 4-H club members in Letcher county for $15 apiece.

Mrs. Roy Walker of Butler county reports that her flock of 69 hens averaged 23 eggs last month.

Eight hundred bushels of hybrid seed corn were planted in Hancock county this spring, exceeding all other plantings of that crop.

Approximately 250 acres of cucumbers for pickles were contracted for in Grayson county, prices varying from $3 to $4 for 100 pounds.

Members of homemakers' clubs in Caldwell county are assembling approved articles for first aid kits and home medicine chests.

In Lawrence county, 161 farmers signed up to grow 460 acres of hemp for seed; last year, 24 farmers planted 47 acres.

Where poultry feed is scarce in Rockcastle county, some farmers are building range shelters on good pasture.

Each homemakers' club member in Anderson county has promised to bring another homemaker to the canning demonstrations to be held in each club.

DRY BEANS REQUIRE SPECIAL ATTENTION

Although dry beans usually are not a profitable crop in Kentucky, many plantings are being made for home use. Because special attention is required to produce a good crop, the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics offers the following suggestions:

Plant dry beans at least 100 days before frost. Use a corn planter with a special plate, dropping a bushel to the acre. The seed may be placed 3 inches apart in the row, or in tills of 3 seeds each about 18 inches apart, with the rows 3 feet apart.

To fertilize, use 300 to 500 pounds of 4-12-4 on ordinary land or the same amount of 2-12-6 on land that would make 40 to 50 bushels of corn to the acre. Sow the fertilizer in the row under the seed.

Spray or dust when the first eggs of the bean beetle appear, and again in 10 days. Apply to the undersides of the leaves. Usually two or three sprayings or dustings will do, if well done. If uncontrolled, the bean beetles may destroy the crop. The following are good dusts; one pound of magnesium arsenate and 6 pounds of lime; ore one pound of calcium arsenate, one pound of fine dusting sulphur, and 4 pounds of hydrated lime. The spray is made of a pound and a half of magnesium arsenate to 50 gallons of water. Fifty to 100 gallons will spray an acre.

Combines are not usually satisfactory in harvesting beans, as they shatter easily. The best way is to pull the plants when the beans are mature and the pods practically dry. Then allow them to dry in the field a few days, and then thresh with a flail.

Weevils will destroy beans in storage soon after harvest if not controlled. Put the beans in a closed container and fumigate with carbon bisulfide at the rate of a half-ounce per cubic foot, for 24 hours. This material is very inflammable.

AUSTRALIAN ARMY TO USE AMERICAN TWIST FOR MONEY

Kentucky tobacco growers may profit by the request of the Australian army that the United States Food Distribution Administration send it 20 to 30 tons of twist chewing tobacco a month. The Aussies do not expect to chew their way toward a Pacific victory, but hope to "spend" their way.

For many years natives of New Guinea, the Solomon Islands and New Britian have chewed twist, but they have also used it for money, passing it from hand to hand the way American pass dollars and dimes. Now it seems that Australians, too, will get some spending tobacco, so they can bargain with South Pacific islanders on the spot.

As an example of being on the spot, picture an Australian aviator his plane shot from under him parachuting down through the steaming New Guinea air among fuzzy-haired, suspicious, heavily armed Boongs. If the airman is packing a few sticks of twist he has a chance of buying mangoes and obtaining a guide through the jungle back to his base.

This tobacco is not the conventional loop U. S. chewers know, but is twisted like rope and cut in 7-inch lengths which are pressure-flattened into sticks one-fourth inch thick and one-half inch wide. Made mostly of dark types, the sticks are heavily "cased" with a dressing from a secret formula, and are deep black.

The request was rated "finished war material." That placed it above "essential material for civilians" in priority for cargo space. Twist is money.

WINNING the WAR Begins on the farm

that no planes roar down upon your home . . . no shells plow up your fields . . . no armies trample your crops and fields. Yet in this war, victory begins on your farm—by producing more Food for Freedom—and by saving more in War Bonds and Stamps.

Here indeed is an opportunity every American will welcome. For by saving your money, you help save for yourself as well as your country. What's more, your money invested in War Bonds helps keep down the prices of the things you buy; helps make the money you spend go further—now. By putting your money into War Bonds and keeping it up regularly, month after month, you will be sure of having the money when you can use it best. And if you need the money, you can get it back any time after 60 days from issue date of the Bond.

Don't delay—your "fighting dollars" are needed now.

Prior to his entrance into the Army July, 1942 he was employed by the Dixie Ohio Express Company of Akron, Ohio.

The following letter was received from Sgt. George E. Black and Pfc. Paul Clore, stationed somewhere in Africa:

"Well Pete we are writing this letter in hopes that it will reach many of our friends whom we miss so much.

"Outside of work there isn't much to do over here, and we really do appreciate the many letters we receive and always look forward to the good old Boone County Recorder. It makes us feel as if we were back in old Boone when we read it.

"Our outfit is stationed somewhere in Northern Africa. Just where is impossible to say. We have seen lots of beautiful scenery and also many things that bring on the cold chills. This is really a beautiful country with its rolling hills and many lakes. The climate is much like that of the States—hot days and cool nights. It is very dry here and water is rather scarce; it is rationed the same as sugar in the States.

"There isn't much more to say, only that we hope to see you all soon. We are confident that we will because we're giving it to the Axis with both barrels.

"Well, so long Pete and once again we thank you and all our many friends."

The following letter was received from J. D. Jarrell of Great Lakes, Ill., who is receiving his boot training in the U. S. Navy:

"Just a few lines thanking you for sending me your paper. As all the boys have said, the home town paper is the next thing to a letter from home. There's very few things in your paper that we don't read. I always did think it was a fine paper, now I know it is.

"Albert wrote that you all had been busy ever since the fishing season opened. Well you all just keep busy and maybe there'll be a few fish left for me to catch when I get home. Is Albert still wearing the 'boot tie?'

"Jack and Harry D. just asked me to tell you thanks a million' for the paper. We were sure lucky to be together. We sleep within ten feet of each other. They said they would write as soon as they had a chance. We have sure been busy.

"We like the Navy fine. The training we have is tough, but it makes you feel a hundred per cent better. Since I've been here I gained fifteen pounds—that's what a little sleep will do for you.

"Well, Pete it's about time for the lights to go out so I have to close. Hoping to hear from you and all my friends."

The following letter was received from Pvt. Robert L. Tanner, ASN 15305537, Ward H-30, Station Hospital, Fort Knox, Ky.:

"I received my first copy of The Recorder today and enjoyed the news from home immensely. It's great for service men to get the county paper when their only contact with home is by letters and newsprint.

"However, this isn't my first experience of filling in the news gaps with The Recorder. During my four years at the University of Kentucky, I made it a point to read your paper each week in the library.

"News from home is always good news.

"At present I'm in the Fort Knox hospital with an intestinal disorder. Can't say how long it will last but the Army is thorough in their medical care.

"I'll be looking forward to the next Recorder."

WCKY "Miss Greater Cincinnati, 1943" Contest Open

Local girls have been invited to compete for the "Miss Greater Cincinnati" title of Miss Barbara Patterson, shown here with Uncle Sam, as she won the coveted honor last year.

Girls of this community are invited to compete for the title of "Miss Greater Cincinnati" and "Miss America, 1943."

Sponsorship of the "Miss Greater Cincinnati" Health, Beauty and Talent Contest, open until about July 28, has been announced by Radio Station WCKY, Cincinnati.

Girls of American citizenship between the ages of 18 and 28, talented, in good health, never married and living within a 50-mile radius of Cincinnati, are eligible to enter. Information and application blanks may be received from Margaret Dotson, WCKY promotion manager, Hotel Gibson, Cincinnati.

The winner of the title "Miss Greater Cincinnati" will receive a wardrobe and an all-expense trip to Atlantic City to compete for the $1500 grand prize and other honors awarded Miss America. American Legion posts, neighborhood theaters, war factories or war agencies have been invited by WCKY officials to hold preliminary contests or nominate entrants.

Entrants in the contest will participate in a number of personal appearances in connection with patriotic and civic projects and war effort activities. The 27 semi-finalists to be selected about July 28 will be given talent auditions over WCKY and will appear at the Albee Theater, Cincinnati, for final judging.

"Miss Greater Cincinnati" will represent the area at the "Miss America" pageant at Atlantic City the week of September 6.

The person, organization or agency nominating the winner of the "Miss Greater Cincinnati" Contest will receive a $50 reward from WCKY.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Ration Reminder

Gasoline—"A" book coupons No. 6, good for four gallons each, outside the eastern shortage area.

Sugar—Stamp No. 13 good for 5 lbs. through August 15. Coupons No. 15 and 16 are good through October 31 for 5 lbs. each for home canning purposes. Housewives may apply to their local ration boards for more if necessary.

Coffee—Stamp No. 21 (1 lb.) is good through July 21.

Fuel Oil—Period 5 coupons valid in all zones through September 30. Period 1 coupons in new fuel oil rations became valid July 1 and are good for ten gallons each.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 (1 pair) is valid through October 31.

Meat, Etc.—Red stamps P and Q good through July 31. Red stamp R becomes valid July 11 and expires July 31.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps, K, L, M, expire July 7. Blue stamps N, P, and Q valid from July 1 to August 7, inclusive.

Stoves To Be Rationed

All new heating and cooking stoves designed to burn coal, wood, oil or gas for domestic use (with certain exceptions) will be rationed in mid-August, the OPA has announced. The plan was originally scheduled to go into effect in late June. If you have no cooking stove now and need one, you may apply to your nearest War Production Board office. If your present cooking stove is worn beyond repair and you wish to replace it before the amended ration order becomes effective, go to your local dealer for information.

Program To Get Teachers

A growing shortage of teachers in rural schools has caused the women's advisory committees of the War Manpower Commission to advance a 6-point program for women's groups seeking to avert a critical situation in school systems and lowering of educational standards. The program follows: (1) Campaign against restrictive hiring rules, (2) influencing school boards to raise teachers salaries, (3) emphasizing education as an essential activity, (4) urging women who have left the teaching field to return for the emergency, (5) urging high school graduates to enroll in teacher training courses, (6) persuading inexperienced teachers and those returning to the field to enroll in refresher courses.

Strikes Cut Coal Supply

Because of strikes, only 838,000 tons of bituminous coal were added to the nation's stockpiles in May, according to Solid Fuels Administrator Ickes. "Since we must build up stockpiles in the spring and summer if we are to have sufficient coal to carry us through the fall and winter, our failure to increase them now to the full extent of our capacity will multiply our difficulties next winter," Administrator Ickes said. "The bituminous coal division has just completed an estimate which shows that there were 79,505,000 tons of bituminous coal in consumers stockpiles on June 1. We should have increased stockpiles by more than 3,000,000 tons during May. We are still losing ground in June."

Pick Up Gas Application Forms

Application forms to be used by 20 million motorists outside the eastern shortage area to renew present "A" and "D" gasoline rations will be available at service station and other conveniently located places to be announced by local ration boards. OPA urges car and motorcycle owners to pick up copies of the application and mail them to ration boards immediately. Present "A" books expire in all areas outside the 17 eastern states and District of Columbia on July 21.

Certificate For Slaughtering

A livestock owner who buys custom slaughtering must, after July 1, sign a certificate giving his address, the slaughter permit number, the kind and number of livestock killed and the total dressed and live weight. This certificate must also be signed by the custom slaughterer.

Christmas Packages For Soldiers

Christmas Packages For Soldiers

ed to American soldiers overseas without a request from the soldier, from September 15 to October 15, the War Department has announced. The packages must be no more than five pounds in weight, fifteen inches in length, and thirty-six inches in length and girth combined. They should be marked "Christmas gift parcel." Only one such package will be accepted for mailing by or on behalf of the same person or concern to or for the same addressee during any one week.

WFA To Support Potato Prices

With large supplies of new potatoes coming to market, the War Food Administration has assured producers that it intends to provide full support to the potato market by government purchases. Potatoes are being purchased at prices equivalent to about 92 percent of parity. WFA also will try to divert shipment to areas needing potatoes.

Cadet Nurse Corps Organized

Newest of the women's uniformed groups in the United States Cadet Nurse Corps, set up to revive young women's interest in enlistment as student nurses. The Bolton Act, signed by President Roosevelt June 15, will provide student nurses with a distinctive uniform and insignia. Also, this legislation permits the government to give accredited institutions the funds to pay room, board, tuition, and fees for nurse trainees, and to give them a stipend of $15 a month for the first nine months of training, with a gradual increase.

Cannot Raise Battery Prices

Complaints have reached OPA from various parts of the country that farm radio batteries which retailed for $5 to $7, lately—because of scarcity . . . have been selling for $10 to 14 each. Retail prices on batteries are "frozen" under the general Maximum Price Regulation at the March 1942 level of the individual dealer. OPA encourages farmers to report any overcharge.

Corn Stocks Requistitioned

The War Food Administration has requistitioned the corn stocks in 96 mid-western terminal elevators in a further effort to break the distribution jam that has prevented corn processing plants from obtaining supplies with which to produce feed and industrial products essential to the war effort. Farmers have been reluctant to sell corn at ceiling prices ($1.07 per bushel, Chicago basis) because corn is worth more when fed to hogs than sold as corn. Speculative buyers also have held corn firmly.

The closing down of corn processing plans seriously cripples war production of explosives, aluminum, magnesium, and other war products, WFA officials said. Inability of feeders and mixed feed producers to obtain supplies is detrimental to the production of livestock, poultry, and milk.

Many Schools Burns

More than a million dollars worth of schools are destroyed by fire per month. To replace these buildings will require approximately four million dollars worth of critical materials—materials that could have gone into the manufacture of planes, tanks, battleships and guns. WPB has urged all schools and colleges to take fire prevention action.

Clothing Prices Stabilized

Women's, girls', and children's fall dresses, suits, coats, blouses and similar apparel will cost approximately the same as last year, as a result of a revised maximum price regulation for manufacturers issued recently by the OPA.

Fall Victory Gardens

Victory gardeners who got a late start can still plant tomatoes, beans, squash, sweet corn, and swiss chard in all but the more northern sections of the country. Although 20 million gardens already have been planted, a recent poll indicates that 2 million more gardeners still expect to plant.

Civilian Meat Quotas

More pork, lamb, and mutton, and less beef, will be available for civilian consumption during the 3-month period beginning July 1, the War Food Administration has announced. New quotas that commercial slaughters may deliver for civilian consumption during the 3-month period beginning July 1 are: beef and veal, 65 per cent, pork, 85 per cent, and lamb and mutton, 80 per cent. WFA officials said the changes in percentages are not expected to make any material change in the total quantity of meat available to civilians from commercial slaughtering.

Military Scholarships For Boys

Approximately 25,000 high school boys between 17 and 18 years of age will be enrolled in an Army specialized training program and sent to school at selected colleges and universities. The reserve program will be limited to those volunteers who received qualifying scores on the preinduction test administered last April 2, and to those who qualify in similar tests to be given in the future. The next test is scheduled for early November.

Older Workers Employed

More than a third of all persons employed in May were 45 years of age or older, said Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission, and added that the steady rise in employment among older workers indicates that employers are learning to value the experience and "steadiness" of more mature workers.

Rabies Can Be Avoided

Continued outbreaks of rabies are the fault of an indifferent public and those dog owners who fail to protect their own pets, their families, and the public against the disease, said Dr. H. W. Shoening, chief animal pathologist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The United States has about 9,000 cases of rabies annually, principally in dogs, but some among man, livestock, cats, and wild animals.

More Farm Goods Set Aside

Batteries for flashlights, radios, telephones, fence controls and for ignition, stockmen's knives, and galvanized pail and tubs have been allocated for farm use by recent WPB directives. This follows WPB's action of last week which established percentage allocations of over 50 farm items.

"P. D. B." Useful in Ant Control

In response to numerous queries, the Department of Agriculture advises the use of "P. D. B." as a fumigant for ant colonies in victory gardens or on home grounds. P. D. B. is the popular abbreviation of the name of the chemical paradicholobenze, often used for control of clothes moths. For control of most species of ants that are active in gardens, lawns, and on trees and shrubs, relief depends on exterminating the ant colony in the soil.

Prices Set On Wooden Fence Posts

Prices have been set by OPA for all principal grades of wooden fence posts. The new maximums authorize increases up to 35 percent in the prices of posts made from southern yellow pine and western red cedar. No change from the March 1942 level is made in other species.

Miss Elizabeth Lowry, Health Nurse, Burlington, was guest last Thursday of Mrs. Walter Ferguson.

Mrs. Ben L. Norman had as dinner guests Wednesday night, Mrs. Harry Wilbur Craddock, Mrs. Tom Robert Huey, and Mr. and Mrs. Malone Ligon.

Friends in the community of Rev. J. Russell Cross have received letters from him saying he is in Montreat, N. C., for a ten days vacation, and would, while there attend the Presbyterian Educational Association of the South.

Mr. and Mrs. Volney Dickerson entertained a number of relatives at dinner Sunday complimenting their nephew, Harold Barlow, of Williamstown, who goes to Ft. Thomas, July 8th to be inducted into the U. S. Army.

Miss Nina Stephenson is in Erlanger with her sister, Mrs. Arthur Betz, who is home from a two weeks' stay in Christ Hospital, Cincinnati.

Mrs. Jack Knowles arrived Monday from Florida for a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Sallie Kennedy Hicks. Mrs. Knowles will be remembered as the charming Miss Ann Henrdon, of Owenton.

BUGS INJURE SEED OF KENTUCKY BLUEGRASS

That bugs attack bluegrass in Kentucky and prevent the best yields of highgrade seed, is the conclusion reached at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington, after a study of seed production in this state and in Missouri, Iowa and Indiana.

One kind of bug which is numerous in Central Kentucky Bluegrass was not found at all in Missouri and Iowa. Neither was it found west of Louisville nor north of Columbus, Ind. This bug is believed to be doing extensive damage to bluegrass seed in Central Kentucky.

Another bluegrass plant bug was found all the way from Central Kentucky through northwest Missouri and southwest Iowa. It is probably more numerous in Kentucky than in the other states. It seems to be largely controlled in Missouri and Iowa by close grazing after seed harvest, and the Experiment Station men think it might be controlled in Kentucky by the destruction of egg-harboring grasses between harvest and early spring.

Dr. E. N. Fergus and Prof. H. H. Jewett, who made the investigation for the Kentucky Experiment Station, said that the bluegrass seed produced in this state in recent years has been inferior in quality to seed produced in Missouri and Iowa. In the two western states they found fields of almost entirely pure bluegrass, with little damage from insects.

The Great Toe

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Do you know that the great toe supports the entire weight of the body for an instant, in the last act of walking?

The foot muscles acting upon the four lesser toes preserve the balance of the body by causing the toes to grip in the shoes, and in the last act of walking to give the final spring, or "take off." By their attachment the toes flex at their first (holongel) points and extend at their second and third joints, so that the ends of the toes are pressed upon and grip in standing so as to form powerful propelling levers as the body swings forward upon the toes.

Now, take off your shoes—and look at the bottoms of your toes. In every case (there are few exceptions) you will see where the fleshy tissue on the bottom ends of the toes come to a point, from being forced tight together and in many cases the toes themselves lap over one another. This is positive evidence of ill fitted and ill shaped shoes. This continued distortion of toes in many cases leads to bunions, Hommar toes and other toe defects.

Lack of balance will cause you to walk incorrectly and create strain in other parts of the body, inducing fatigue, pain and more misery, NOT ONLY in the feet, but even in the back of the neck and headaches. Resolve right now to correct this condition.

It costs you nothing for a thorough analysis of your foot problems and difficulties. Remember you can't be HAPPY with UNHAPPY FEET.—Adv.

Early History Of Boone Co.

By A. M. Yeatey

We shall now give you some local news of January 20, 1876. This news is a clipping of The Boone County Recorder.

Good weather for turnpike fever.

Dirt roads are becoming bottomless.

Miss Lucy Rice is sojourning here at present, Burlington.

Chas. Riddell has been on the "lift" with rheumatics for several days.

Mr. Lewis Conner now sallies forth armed and equipped with an ax and posthole digger.

The happines of J. Tom Marshall of Waterloo has been increased 12¾ pounds advourdupois—it's a girl.

Squire Conner, of Florence, favored us with a visit last Saturday, also with an addition of two subscribers to our subscription list.

The clerk of the Boone County Court has been furnished by the trustees of the Southern Railroad, maps showing the lands through which said road runs in this county, and the names of the proprietors.

The bridge just beyond the town limits on the Burlington pike, is in bad repair and we would suggest that it be put in order before it causes some accident that will again involve this road in a law suit or the cost of a compromise.

The songs of the jail birds are listened to with an attentive ear by many of our citizens. It is the unanimous verdict that the present inmates of the jail are musical in the extreme. They make the jail ring with their songs, and persons collect in the streets to listen to their singing. Who knows but what Shankey's rival is now in the Boone County jail.

Last Friday morning Squire J. C. Shepherd, who in his 67th year, and present Coroner of Boone County and a resident of Petersburg, left home and walked to Burlington, a distance of ten miles in about two hours. Upon his arrival he seemed but slightly fatigued, and after remaining in town about three hours, the most of which time he was on his feet, started for home confident he could make the return trip in less time than it took him to walk the same distance in the morning. We doubt there being any young man in this community who can accomplish as long a journey in the same length of time. We know none of them would without muttering.

PERCENTAGE LOW IN RUBBER CONSUMED DURING YEAR

Although buses carry more than half of the passengers using any form of intercity public transportation, the highway motor coaches require only six per cent of the crude rubber and 2½ per cent of the motor fuel consumed by all commercial vehicles. These facts were disclosed by the National Association of Motor Bus Operators in a comprehensive study of wartime transportation problems confronting the industry.

In traveling 1,115,000 miles to transport 692 million passengers last year, the 21,480 buses in intercity service used 165,000 tires, each weighing approximately 50 pounds. This is a total of 4,120 tons or less than one-sixteenth of all the rubber allotted to trucks, taxis and city buses.

As pioneers in rubber conservation, members of the bus organization report they ordinarily average better than 40,000 miles per tire, with many tires giving 75,000 miles of wear. Even when discarded for safety reasons, the bus tire still has enough reclaimable rubber to make several passenger car tires.

The consumption of gasoline and diesel motor fuel was even less in comparison. The typical bus, which carried 19 passengers for every mile of operation, averaged six miles to the gallon, a figure not far below the average of some of the larger pleasure cars. The total usage by intercity buses was 4½ million barrels of motor fuel, a fortieth of the consumption by all commercial vehicles.

During the rooster selling campaign in Clark county, 796 roosters, weighing 3,980 pounds were sold.

WAC REPLANCES MANY SOLDIERS FOR ACTIVE DUTY

Columbus, Ohio July 3—With the President's signing of the bill changing the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps to the Women's Army Corps and making it an integral part of the Army of the United States, its members serving within the Fifth Service Command became full-fledged soldiers, Headquarters of the Fifth Service Command, Fort Hayes, announced today.

Captain Helen Y. Hedekin, WAAC Staff Director and topranking WAAC officer on duty with the Service Commany Headquarters, said, "Members of the Corps have been on duty in the Service Command for several months now and have replaced many soldiers for combat duty. They have taken the places of able-bodied men at countless non-combatant jobs which women can do as well as men. Everywhere army commanders have been high in their praise of them."

"The jobs WAACS do are important and necessary," she added, "and the more WAACS we have, the fewer men needed, as WAACS perform duties which would otherwise have to be done by men soldiers.

Important changes in the bill, in addition to the chance in the title of the Corps, are:

1. Women will have equal rights and benefits with army personnel including the same nomenclature of rank, franking privileges, government insurance and allotments.

2. The age limit for enlistment is lowered to the age of 20 years and raised to the age of 50.

The WAAC, the first of the women's services, was organized in May, 1942, and the first WAACS reported for duty in the Fifth Service Command last September.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Many farmers in Carroll county, where there is a labor shortage, were able to put in their full war-crop quota because of custom tractor work done by four tractor owners. School boys and girls have signed up to assist in rush seasons.

The homemakers' market in Henderson county adds to the supply of food available by its weekly sale of home-produced foods. In May, 31 women sold $562 worth of food to 480 patrons. The market was open five days.

Poultrymen in Jackson county experienced some trouble with chickens during the past month after feeding them mash with insufficient animal proteins. The remedy, the feeding of milk, revived weak, sick chickens within two or three days.

ROBERTS GIVES 40 YEARS TO KENTUCKY SOIL CONSERVATION

After almost 40 years of service to agriculture, Prof. George Roberts has retired as head of the Agronomy Department of the University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. His successor is Prof. E. J. Kinney, who has been at the Experiment Station since 1908.

Prof. Roberts is widely known for his work with the soil. He is one of the pioneers in soil building and conservation. For almost a generation he has gone up and down the highways and byways of Kentucky preaching and teaching the restoration of the soil and the maintenance of fertility. Most of the extensive work in soils and crops at the main Experiment Station at Lexington and at the experiment substations at Quicksand and Princeton was developed under his supervision. He also established a system of soil demonstration fields in the State.

While relinquishing active duties as department head, Prof. Roberts will remain at the Experiment Station, that agriculture may continue to have his advice and counsel. Dean Thomas P. Cooper said he considered it fortunate that he would continue to be associated with the Experiment Station.

"In the 40 years that he has been at the Experiment Station he has performed a service for agriculture that is most outstanding, adding greatly to the productivity of agriculture and to the economic wealth of the state," said Dr. Cooper. "Through his leadership, farmers of Kentucky have undertaken a soils program the results of which can be seen everywhere in the State."

Herman Layman of Grayson county made a gross income of $200 per month during the winter from his flock of 400 Barred Plymouth Rock hens. He says the income from his poultry flock was greater than the combined income from swine, sheep, corn, oats and wheat.

After the War—WHAT?

"The state's greatest obligation is to prepare for the readjustment and certain return to civilian life of those who have contributed in full measure in defense of freedom."—From J. Lyter Donaldson's opening campaign speech.

★ Qualified by years of administrative work as State Highway Commissioner of Kentucky, attorney, banker, farmer.

★ An experienced, capable leader worthy of your confidence.

J. LYTER DONALDSON

Kentucky in the next four years needs a man with vision. One who can recognize and discharge the responsibilities of the State's post-war economic life. Donaldson is a man with a constructive administrative program.

Crop Notes From The County Agent's Office

Early field tomatoes from several Boone County growers are now going to market. The best quality fruit has brought $5.50 per half bushel.

The County boasts of several of the best field tomato growers to be found anywhere. Alfred and Louis Dolwick operating at Dolwick Brothers and John P. Dolwick and son both of Constance were irrigating their tomato fields the past week by pumping water from the river and a large lake. This is an intensive type of truck crop raising that is of general interest to all.

Frank McGlasson and sons, of Constance, R. 1 on last Saturday displayed one of the cleanest and best crops of apples and peaches to be found anywhere, anytime. These experienced orchardmen, have done an excellent job of spraying and good fruit management.

Wheat harvest started in the county this past week. Many growers are finding their prospective yields not heavy enough to harvest with machinery but are going to hog down their crop. Hogging down of wheat has been estimated by Ben Berkshire of Petersburg and several of our older farmers as worth an additional ten dollars per acre in improved fertility. All grain and straw possible should be saved this year.

Hugh Stephens of East Bend bottoms harvested fifty bushel of Balbo rye seed the past week from three acres. He states Balbo rye is the best winter pasture crop he has ever grown. Eighteen hogs grazed the above field all winter and up until two weeks before the seed crop was harvested. He is asking $2.00 per bueshel for the seed rye.

T. J. Carr, Esq., of Verona reports his section has just had a good rain for several weeks but to date crops are not damaging. Rains in recent weeks over the County have been spotted. If rains come in several sections within the next few days there will still be tobacco set and some resetting.

Hay harvest is upon us. Lets do our best to save every fork full of hay. We must be neighborly, cooperate in use of machinery and equipment and exchange labor.

Stomach worms are showing up in several sheep flocks. Drenching and change of pasture gives results.

Coccidiosis has affected more young chickens than ever before. Effective control is secured where recommendations are carried out.

NEGRO FARMER DOES AN EXTRA GOOD JOB

How James Mimms, Negro farmer in Todd county, is working to make his 196-acre farm produce its highest yield, is told by Bennett K. Brown, farm agent. Mr. Mimms has 56 acres of corn, 6 milk cows, 4 calves, 3 mules, a horse, 75 hens and 250 chicks. He also has a five-acre truck garden. Three-fourths of the products raised there he plans to sell under contract to Camp Campbell. The remainder Mrs. Mimms will can for home use. The six children in the family are members of 4-H clubs.

HDA Answers Timely Questions On Canning

Q. Why does publicity caution persons not to can non-acid vegetables in the hot water bath when pressure cookers are not available?

A. The source of the information in general canning instructions is the Bureau of Home Economics in Washington, D. C. Their instructions are issued for use in the nation as a whole. This precaution is to safeguard against the deadly food poison, botulinus, which attacks non-acid foods in some sections of the country. Literature from the University of Kentucky, prepared for use in Kentucky, does not make such strict lines between the methods of canning. The proper use of the hot water bath is outlined, and a precautionary statement that "home canned vegetables should be boiled 10 minutes before they are tasted" will satisfactorily take care of this matter according to the University circular. There have been a few cases of botulinus reported in Kentucky, therefore the precaution should be observed.

Q. What is the latest information about the availability of pressure cookers?

A. The latest information states that cookers will be on sale in this section within the next two weeks. There are 57 applications on file in the Agent's office. Unless some unforeseen good luck comes our way it will not be possible to release purchase orders for more than 25 cookers. Those who have cookers, or who may be so fortunate to get Victory Canners are asked to make every available use of them. Share-the-work, share-the-cooker system might be worked out among neighbors, friends or relatives.

Q. Why are we having so much trouble with the new jar rings?

A. The new jar rings are made of reused rubber and should not therefore be expected to stand the tests and uses heretofore given rubber jar rings. Approved methods of use include the following precautions: 1. Test your rings by folding in palm of the hand and quickly releasing to check the life in the ring, or by creasing ring across center and releasing to see if the rubber holds a crease (good rings will not). 2. Do not stretch rings when putting on the jars, put ring on jar while both are cold, this avoids stretching. 3. Contrary to the recommended practice of sealing hot-packed jars before they are put into the water bath, when using new rings it is necessary to partially seal all jars and when sealing them at the completion of the processing, the lids should be screwed carefully into place. If the rings are forced from under the lids, do not remove the lid to replace the ring, loosen the lid and coax the ring into place. If the ring is hopelessly stretched, wait until the food in the jar has stopped boiling, remove the lid and replace the ring, then reprocess the jar for the original length of time. Food has been known to keep when processed for a shorter length of time, but there is a risk in this practice.

Q. Information on use of Vacuseal lids.

A. Practically every company that manufactures Mason jars put out a vacu-seal lid. The directions which accompany the lids should be followed, since there are some differences in the materials used in the seal. The general directions are about the same: Leave a quarter to a half inch space in the top of the jar to create vacuum; check to see that the top edge of the jar is perfectly smooth and clean; sterilize the lid by dipping in boiling water, do not leave the lid in the water for a long period of time; complete the seal before placing the jar in to process; when removing the jar from the cooker if the rings seems to be loose, place fingers on the lid and hold firmly in place while tightening the ring. Remove the ring after 24 hours.

There are a few of the questions that have come to the attention of Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, during the last week. If there are other problems that are needing attention please write Mrs. Moore, or call her at Burlington 412.

EUROPEAN BORER INFESTS GARDENS

IN BOONE COUNTY, ACCORDING TO COUNTY AGENT—CONTROL MEASURES GIVEN BY W. A. PRICE.

The European Corn Borer is severly damaging early sweet corn in the county, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The borers are attacking the tassels, stalks and ears.

Dr. W. A. Price, State Entomologist and head of the Department of Entomology at the College of Agriculture, in a letter to the county agent's office, the first part of the week, gave the following information.

"I have your letter of July 8 and the specimens of insects which you sent in for identification. These little individuals are European corn borers.

"Control measures in field corn are essentially those that I discussed with you early in the spring—namely, (1) Late planting; (2) Use of resistant varieties; and (3) Destruction of the remnants of the old crop. Of course, none of these are applicable at the present time where the insects are on sweet corn. Insecticides can be used by the gardeners with some degree of success. Dusting or spraying with nicotine or rotenone has given the best results. Either material must be applied four or five times, first when the borers begin to hatch and later at five-day intervals. If nicotine is used, I suggest the following formula for making 6¼ gallons of spray:

"Water 6¼ gallons; spreading agent one-third ounce, dry weight; nicotine sulphate, 1 ounce, fluid; Wyoming bentonite clay, 4 ounces, dry weight.

"If the dust is used, I recommend rotenone carrying one per cent of its equavilent of the active principle.

"Any of these insecticides mentioned are only partially effective and considering the fact that the worms are already working on the corn, I would be hesitant about recommending these treatments this year."

Revival Services Announced For East Bend Church

Revival services will begin at the East Bend Baptist Church on Monday, July 19 and will continue for two weeks, closing Friday night, July 30, according to an announcement made this week.

Rev. E. M. Helton, pastor of Sand Run Baptist Church will be the evangelist. Services will be held each evening at 8:30 p. m. (CWT). Special music will be featured during the meeting.

A cordial invitation is extended to all people to attend these services.

CONSTANCE MAN NAMED CHAIRMAN

OF KILGORE CAMPAIGN IN BOONE COUNTY—VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN WILL BE MADE, SAYS R. V. LENTS.

R. V. Lents, principal of the Constance school has been selected as Boone County campaign chairman for Ben Kilgore, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, it was announced by Harry L. Waterfield, state chairman.

Mr. Lents is well known in Boone County and throughout this section of the State. He has been prominently identified with the democratic party and is one of the leading citizens of Boone County. He is president of the Boone County Tuberculosis Association, advertising manager of the Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Fair, a director of the Constance Building and Loan Co., and has been principal of the Constance school for the last seventeen years.

Mr. Lents said when accepting the appointment, "We will promote a vigorous campaign in the interest of Mr. Kilgore, a free people's candidate. Ben Kilgore is a free candidate, sponsored and financed by free citizens of Kentucky whose purposes have always been and are now in the interest of good government for all and special privileges for none." Mr. Lents continued, "I call on all friends of good government to join me in this crusading campaign."

Custom Machinery Operators Listed

Custom machinery operators in the county are being listed, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Farmers are falling back to custom operators as one means of meeting the severe labor shortage in the county. These operators render a valuable service in enabling many farmers to get emergency work done.

The list below is not complete and many of the operators can only do part time work. The list will be added to from time to time as reports are received.

The operators listed, to date, are as follows:

Threshers

Dance Bros., Crittenden; Ben Menke, Walton; E. A. Martin, Burlington R. 1; Roy Kenney, Walton.

Silo Fillers

Dance Brothers, Crittenden; Ben Menke, Walton; Hubert Conner, Hebron; E. A. Martin, Burlington, R. 1; Roy Kenney, Walton.

Binders

Custom Plowing

Roy Kenney, Walton; Ben Menke of Walton; Dance Bros., Crittenden; Robert McCardle, Florence; Herman Buckler, Burlington.

Hay Balers

Ben Menke, Walton; Dance Bros. Crittenden; Blackburn & Utz, Burlington, Roy Kenney, Walton; Ira Tanner, Florence; Herman Buckler, Burlington R. 2.

Ration Boards Requests Renewal Of Gasoline Applications Early

Application forms for renewing basic gasoline rations are now available at local filling stations and Boone County Banks and should be picked up by motorists and motorcycle owners as soon as possible, R. E. Braugh, chairman of the Boone County War Price and Rationing Board, reminded the motoring public today.

The forms must be filled out and sent to the rationing board in order to get new "A" and "D" coupon books to take the place of present ones which expire on July 21. To save the public time and trouble, arrangements have been completed to handle the renewals by mail, R. E. Brugh said.

"Early applicants will assure themselves of getting their new books before their present ones expire," the Ration Board chairman said. Mail renewals were planned to make the task of getting new coupon books as easy as possible. There will be no schoolhouse registration this time, and car and motorcycle owners will not be required to come to the Ration Board to get their ration books. The books will be mailed back.

"We hope autoists and motorcyclists will cooperate by not waiting until the last minute to file their applications. This would mean delay and inconvenience to everyone concerned."

The application form, R. E. Brugh pointed out, is a simple one that can be readily filled out largely from information on the car owner's registration card and present tire inspection record. Tire serial numbers must also be written in.

This form, when filled out, is to be mailed to the board together with the back cover of the owner's present "A" book (properly filled out) and the current tire inspection record showing that proper inspections have been made.

HEIRS OF SUTHERLAND ESTATE SOUGHT BY CHICAGO COMPANY

In a letter received from the W. C. Cox and Company, International Probate Research, 208 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill., they state that they are trying to locate John and Dora Sutherland or their brothers and sisters, in connection with a search for heirs of an estate.

John and Dora Sutherland lived at Sadieville, Ky., in 1896. John was a shoemaker. Dora gave her residence as Nicholson, Ky., in 1898.

Friends of the family will be doing a favor to all concerned by sending information to the above named firm regarding the Sutherland family.

Sgt. and Mrs. C. G. Lamb spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stephens and other friends in Burlington. Sgt. Lamb is enjoying a ten-day furlough with his wife in Covington.

SLAUGHTERERS MUST REGISTER

INVESTIGATION WILL BE HELD TO UNEARTH ALL UNLAWFUL SLAUGHTERING OPERATIONS, ACCORDING TO REPORT.

The present scarcity of meat in many markets of Eastern Kentucky is largely due to improper slaughtering operations. These operations have upset normal channels of supply.

According to E. Reed Wilson, District Director of OPA Lexington Office, public buying of meat from Black Market sources is hampering War Effort, is upsetting legitimate supply sources and is endangering public health. He says it has long been recognized by State and Federal Health authorities that uninspected meat endangers public health. If not diseased at time of slaughter, such meat is usually exposed to many forms of contamination due to unsanitary conditions of such unlicensed killing establishments. Nearly all meat so slaughtered is unfit for human consumption.

In protection to public health and our War Rationing Meats Program, an investigation will be launched in the immediate future to unearth all unlawful slaughtering operations. Violations of regulations covering registration, selling and point accounting are punishable by law. Unregistered slaughterers will be prosecuted.

Mr. Wilson explains that all slaughtering of livestock for sale, gift or transfer of meats must be done under permits issued by the Dept. of Agriculture and OPA regulations. Small Home or Country Slaughterers who sell, give or transfer meat, butter or rationed cheese must qualify by registration with their County War Production Board of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. They must also qualify and register with their local War Price and Rationing Board before they can lawfully sell any of their production. Any person who has or is now slaughtering, producing and selling meats without being registered is subject to punishment as a violator.

Farm Home Producers may consume what they produce at home, point free, without registration. Any meat slaughtered and butter or cheese produced must be consumed by themselves, their immediate family or farm labor residents. It must not be sold, given away or transferred for profit in any form. If they dispose of any part of such production for commercial gain, they must register as small home or country slaughterers or processors.

Any civilian or industralist can obtain a full knowledge of their privileges and restrictions governing slaughtering through their local War Price and Rationing Board.

Bromley Men Buy East Bend Property

Charles D. Wood and son Jack, of Bromley, purchased 32 acres of land from Ralph Lang, located 1½ miles out on the East Bend Road, this week. The purchasers do not plan to move to their farm for several months. The sale was made through A. B. Renaker.

Agent Warns About Use Of Jars, Lids

Due to reported disastrous results from improper use of the the glass top sealing jars it is appropriate that publicity be given to the proper use of this equipment, Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, has received special information from authoriative sources during this last week and calls attention to the following facts:

1. The glass top with a metal ring is not to be used in oven canner.

2. Examine top edge of jar. This must be smooth, even and clean to assure perfect seal.

3. Wash jars, lids and rubbers in warm soapy water. Rinse. Cover with warm water. Boil to sterilize. Keep hot until needed.

4. If processing, (cooking in jar). LEAVE 1 INCH SPACE IN TOP OF JAR. If using open kettle, leave ½ inch space in top of jar.

5. Fit wet rubber around projection on under side of lid.

6. Place lid so rubber lies between lid and top edge of jar.

7. Turn bands tight, then loosen slightly (about one-fourth turn)—bands must fit loosely during processing (cooking). This is IMPORTANT and must be done to insure best results. If using open kettle, screw bands tight as soon as jar is filled.

8. After processing, screw bands tight to complete seal. Remove bands 12 hours after canning.

9. To open—run point of knife under rubber to admit air and break seal.

DO NOT TURN FILLED JARS UPSIDE DOWN.

BOONE COUNTY TO BE REPRESENTED

BY 4-H DELEGATION AT CAMP BINGHAM WARTIME CONFERENCE SET FOR WEEK OF JULY 19TH.

Monday, July 19 is the date Boone County 4-H Club members will leave for Camp Bingham to attend the War-time Conference. These young people have earned their right to represent the county by their outstanding work in the club during the past months. The girls were contest winners in the annual Spring Rally, and the boys were blue ribbon winners in the divisions in demonstration contests. Delegates will be accompanied to the meeting by Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, and O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent.

During the week delegates from eleven central Kentucky counties will participate in classes on growing, storing and using Food For Freedom, appropriate handicraft and recreation; and government. The classes will be taught by members of the State 4-H Club Department staff and Agents who are with the delegations.

Club members who are to represent Boone County are: Bernice Sebree, Florence; Corinne Walton, Bettye Jean Forkner, Burlington; Wanda Pennington, New Haven; Betty Setters, Martha Pfalzgraf, Helen Rogers, Hebron; Billy Acree, Hamilton; Tommy Atha, Hamilton; Wilbur Ryle, Jr., Grant; David King, Verona; Lafe Miller, Grant; Billy McWaller, Verona; and Everett Stephens, Grant.

Garden Meetings Planned By Mrs. Mary S. Moore

Late summer and fall garden meetings will be arranged by the Homemakers for Florence, New Haven and Verona communities, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent.

Arrangements are being made for a speaker to give reliable information, help and suggestions at meetings to be held as follows: Florence, at Mrs. Lillian Schram's, 7:00 p. m. (EWT); New Haven, at Mrs. Agnes Roberts', 3:00 p. m. (EWT.)

Although many good late gardens have been raised in Boone County in former years it is doubly important that every garden plot be used well into the winter months in the "Food for Freedom" program.

Why not boast that you can get vegetables out of your garden the first week in December? It is being done.

Hughes Chapel Committee Calls Special Meeting

A call meeting of all the members of Hughes Chapel Cemetery committee has been set for July 18. at 2:30 p. m. (EWT). Important business will be discussed at this meeting, according to chairman J. W. Conley and S. B. Godbey.

Thomas Clore

Thomas Clore, 74, lifelong resident of Boone County passed away Tuesday of last week, after a brief illness at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kittie Tanner Clore; five daughters, Miss Laura and Miss Elsie and Mrs. Walter Barnes, all of Cincinnati; Mrs. Stanley Boyd, Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Lehman Goodridge; six grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Hebron Lutheran Church. Burial was in Hebron Cemetery.

Bullock and Catherman, Ludlow funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Demonstration Series Completed In County

Canning demonstrations thruout the county have been completed according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent. Meetings were held in twelve communities, with a total attendance of 167 persons. Literature was distributed at the meetings and via neighborhood leaders and homemakers in the communities. Mrs. Moore and Miss Virginia Crawford, Home Management Supervisor of the Farm Security have answered questions and helped solve many of the difficulties reported by canners this year. Persons are urged to report problems to Mrs. Moore and ask her advice concerning them.

High Points of Demonstrations

Canning by the homemaker does not have to be inferior grade products, rather it should be GRADE A canned goods. She will assure herself this standard if she observes the following points:

1. One hour from the garden to the can, to preserve freshness and food value and to eliminate the development of undesirable bacteria after picking.

2. Can only products that are firm and sound at the height of maturity. Avoid defective, old or over-ripe products.

3. Check jars, lids, rubber rings carefully, and observe directions regarding the particular type being used.

4. Hot pack all foods except tomatoes. allowing ½ to ¼ inch space to top of the jars. Do not pack products too tightly, but try to make pack economical.

5. Count processing time from the time water hits a boil in the canner (or pressure reaches 10 lbs) and count only the time during which the water boils, carefully using the time table for processing the foods.

6. Remove immediately when time is finished, and seal those jars requiring sealing. Do not leave standing bottom up for cooling.

7. Metal rings may be removed from all vacu-sealing jars after they have cooled 24 hours. This is also true of the new two-piece glass and metal lids.

Renewal Of A Books Must Be Mailed Not Later Than July 17th

All renewals of A books must be mailed to the Boone County War Price and Rationing Board No. 8 on or before July 17th, 1943 if you want to have your new A Book by July 22, R. E. Brugh, chairman, announced this week.

Go to your filling station or bank and get an application, fill it out and mail with your tire inspection slip and the back cover of your present "A" Book.

Be sure to mail your renewal on or before July 17th or you will not get your new "A" Book by July 22, 1943.

Burlington Firemen Will Meet Friday Night July 16th

The Burlington Volunteer Fire Department will meet at the courthouse on Friday evening at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of discussing plans for raising additional funds for the department.

All members of the various committees are urged to be present to make their reports on their assignments.

All persons interested in the development of the fire department are urged to be present and to express their opinion on the several matters to come before this group.

Mrs. Nettie I. Collins

Services were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Tharp & Stith funeral home, Florence, for Mrs. Nettie Ilene Collins, widow of Horace G. Collins, former carriage maker in Elsmere. Burial was in Florence Cemetery.

Members of the Daughters of America held services at 8 p. m. Tuesday, followed at 8:15 p. m. by services of the Independent Order of Herdsmen.

Mrs. Collins, who lived her entire life in Florence and Elsmere, died Monday at her home, 39 May street, Elsmere, after a long illness. She was 81, and held membership in the Hopeful Lutheran Church.

She is survived by a son Harold Collins; one sister, Mrs. Emma Freeman, Covington, and a niece, Mrs. Josie Jones, also of Covington.

FAIR ATTRACTIONS ARE NUMEROUS

ACCORDING TO 4-H AND UTOPIA CLUB COUNCIL—PLANS BEING MADE FOR RECORD ATTENDANCE.

The Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Free Fair at the fair grounds, Burlington, on August 21, will feature three continuous major attractions, according to the 4-H and Utopia Club Council.

The special events program will start from the speaker's stand at 11:00 a. m. and will carry through until 4:00 p. m. with continuous attractions of games, contests and musical numbers. The Boone County School Band will fill in between all programs.

The home economics exhibits in Floral Hall will feature new and enlarged numbers of exhibits in foods, clothing and household improvements. Special attractions will relate to the war program.

The agricultural exhibits will feature food for Victory production, exhibits in garden and field crops, poultry, hogs, dairy and sheep. The program will be supplemented with a Pony and Saddle Horse Show and a Fox Hound Show.

Plans are being made for a record attendance with every effort being made to streamline the program to best fit into the war effort.

Ministrel Show To Be Given Friday, August 27

The date for the Show Boat Minstrel given by the Boone County Band has been set for Friday, August 27, 8:30 p. m. at the Burlington high school auditerium.

The band, under the capable leadership of Dean Bloss has been working hard, and from all indications the show will be the best the band has ever staged.

Dates for the show at Hebron and Florence schools will be announced later.

There will be no band practice on next Monday night, but practice will be resumed Monday night, July 26th.

Nutrition Committee Cooperates With P.-T. A.

Boone County's Nutrition Committee in cooperation with P. T. A's is trying to plan for balanced school lunches the coming year.

Anyone having surplus vegetables or fruit are asked to notify H. R. Forkner or Elizabeth Lowry, committee, who will make an effort to collect the food, and have it processed for winter.

POOL WOOL BRINGS $55.50

PER HUNDRED—CLIP WEIGHING LIGHT, ACCORDING TO H. E. WHITE, PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZATION.

The Boone County Wool Pool clip was delivered at Walton, Burlington and Petersburg this week. The clip was sold to S. Steinharter & Co., of Cincinnati. Clear wool netted the growers $55.50 per cwt., rejection wool $50.50 and fine wool $45.50 per cwt.

The wool clip was weighing light according to H. E. White, president of the pool. The total weight was expected to fall below early estimates. The price was the highest received since the last war. Growers were well pleased with the sale.

Four-H Club Members Earn Money

Blackberries are ripe, plentiful and very much in demand at the present time, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent. Any 4-H Club boys or girls can earn money to buy war stamps and their spending money for the 4-H Club Fair in August. At the same time he will be helping to prevent the food shortage that may come unless everyone saves all the food they can.

Four-H Club members should see that any surplus vegetables in their gardens are canned or sold, nothing should go to waste this season.

PLEASURE LAST

Strictly non-essential travel on trains and buses must be eliminated and vacation travel must be rigidly limited. The Office of Defense Transportation directs this earnest warning to everyone, and adds that it is impractical to supply a system of travel priorities. Therefore, it is up to the individual. He can either assert his "privilege" to visit Aunt Hattie and possibly deprive a man of a trip home on furlough—after months of service—or forego the visit in favor of the service man, or the civilian on war business. The same seat cannot render double service. The public must see that the war comes first.

Orangized troop movements by rail are proceeding at the rate of over 2,000,000 men a month. They require the constant service of over one-half of all Pullman sleeping cars and of nearly one-fourth (over 3,000) of all day coaches.

Soldiers make an average of eight moves by railroad between induction and embarkation for service overseas. It takes 356 passenger cars, as well as 82 baggage cars and over 900 freight cars, made up in 65 trains, to move an infantry division of 15,000 men and their equipment. Movement of an armored division and its vehicles requires 75 trains of from 28 to 45 cars each. Furlough travel on regularly scheduled passenger trains equals approximately the volume of organized troop travel. Both are to increase substantially during the months immediately ahead. No new railroad passenger cars or locomotives, and no new intercity buses, are being constructed.

These are a few of the reasons why civilians are being asked to limit their traveling activities. It is no sacrifice to limit your traveling to necessity if it helps your boy get home on furlough or speeds freight on which his very life may depend.

CORRECTION IN SIGHT

A few powerful labor leaders have made monkeys out of the people of this country and our Congress. Their technique is to cause untold damage to the nation and the war effort, and when Congress is ready to crack down with legislation controlling their irresponsible acts, the labor bosses will ease up the pressure to block Congressional action.

The Administration has been largely responsible for this condition. It has failed to supply leadership or national labor legislation, and its blanket opposition to correctives has invited hastily drawn remedies. How much longer labor leaders can defy government and intimidate Congress remains to be seen.

With any faults that the recently passed House anti-strike bill may have, it has some good provisions. These include the requirements for financial statements by unions, control of political contributions and the granting of statutory authority to the National War Labor Board. It has been the lack of such authority which enabled John L. Lewis to thumb his nose at the Board and treat it with contempt.

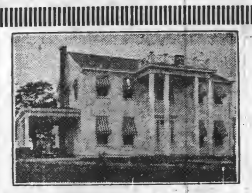
Commenting on the situation, the New York Times says: "If a measure similar to the House bill should now become a law, it would at least break the long-standing taboo against corrective labor legislation. Once this was done, the Administration and Congress should proceed to work out a more comprehensive and better balanced program."

If labor leaders are wise they will not provide another exhibition of defiance of government as witnessed in the last coal strike.

—o—

CONFUSION

The OPA was recently successful in having railroad freight rates reduced, and it was thereby able to announce a "roll back" in coal prices of five cents a ton, a saving of possible 50 cents a year for the average family.



Now a wage increase of eight cents an hour, which amounts to over $200,000,000 a year for 1,100,000 non-operating railroad employes, is being considered, and coal miners are to receive a pay increase which will add more millions to cost of producing coal.

No matter how meritorious these increases are, they add to the cost of production, while the government is trying to "roll back" prices and 'hold the line."

It is impossible to "roll back" retail prices while the cost of production rolls merrily upward. Subsidy proposals to offset the difference between production costs and 'rolled back" retail prices would make the people pay thru the nose in taxes.

The ax of confusion has fallen on the local merchant and farmer, and thousands of them have gone out of business, to the detriment of the consumer.

Admitting that the present situation is complicated, is it not becoming more complicated by trying to freeze retail prices while allowing production costs to constantly climb?

THIS MAY HELP.

If you find it difficult to make up your mind regarding the relative merits of the various funeral services available, you may find it helpful to remember that ours is one of the oldest services in Boone County.

Chambers & Grubbs' service was founded in 1906, and ever since then we have been earning the good will of Boone County people by offering the finest of service at reasonable prices.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

GOD ENCOURAGES MOSES

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 3:13-18; 4:10-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Certainly I will be with thee.—Exodus 3:12.

Encouragement is something much needed, and not too often given. The word means to put some new thing into the heart of another, that is, to hearten and assure him, especially in the bearing of a heavy responsibility.

Moses, in all probability the world's greatest military and national leader, was about to lead his people out from under the mighty hand of Pharaoh. His final preparation for that epochal deed and all the years to follow was a personal meeting with God.

Possibly it was the mistake Moses had made and which caused him to be sent into the back of the desert, that now caused him to move with—

I. Understandable Caution (Exod. 3:13).

There is something remarkably fine about real humility. It commends itself to our thinking as the proper attitude of a mortal being, particularly in the face of spiritual responsibility.

Neither God nor man dares entrust a high and difficult commission to foolish man who brusquely "rushes in where angels fear to tread." The fact that one feels fully and unhesitatingly qualified to take over such a responsibility is almost a certain indication that he is not the man to assume it.

Moses' request for God's backing must have been acceptable to Him, for He gave Moses—

II. Unlimited Authority (3:14-16).

Moses went as God's messenger. He was authorized to put all the majesty and power of the Infinite One behind his words and acts.

The ambassador must have credentials. God's representative has them. When "they shall say"—what an important and difficult situation that creates. The one who speaks for God must expect not only the scornful bitterness of God's enemies, but also the unbelieving questions of those whom he seeks to serve.

"What shall I say?" asks Moses, and God answers that he may say that "I AM" had sent him. This name of God reveals Him as the eternal, independent, self-sufficient, self-existent, immutable, personal Being. Consider, Christian brethren, whose we are and whom we serve.

But Moses seems to have been unable to see beyond his own human infirmity even in the light of such a glorious revelation, supplemented as it was by miraculous powers, and we find him showing an—

III. Unjustified Humility (4:10-13).

Perhaps we should not call this humility at all, for in one so divinely called and encouraged it was an act of unbelief and almost impertinence.

When God calls a man He knows his limitations. Why then should one plead them as an excuse for not serving? The excuse of Moses that he was not a fluent speaker has been the standby of unwilling workers all through the ages. When asked to lead a prayer meeting, teach a Sunday school class, conduct a young people's meeting, thousands upon thousands have lamely thus excused themselves and missed a blessing.

The perfect answer of God (v. 11) merits attention. God made your mouth and mine. He gives us the power of speech. He asks not the eloquence of polished rhetorical phrases, or the flights of man's imagination. He wants but the incomparable eloquence of His own words on our lips.

No man should think too highly of himself, but let him beware lest he think too lowly about God. We are not sufficient for the opportunity. But God is more than sufficient.

Having called Moses, God saw to it that Moses went on with His work, even though now He had to call in Moses' older brother to help him. It was, in fact, an—

IV. Unnecessary Substitution (4: 14-17).

Loving and patient is our God, but, mark it well, there is a boundary line to that patience. Moses went too far in his needless humility, and really reflected on the ability of God. God promptly substituted Aaron as the spokesman.

Gracious was He in thus providing a helper for Moses. But one wonders what Moses missed of blessing and power because of his slowness of heart. To decline the labor and the responsibility of service for God means loss far greater than we may ever know.

God's dealings with Moses speak eloquently to us of His willingness to enable and use a man who lacked some of the gifts for leadership. Let none of us be like Moses and become involved in needless worry about our gifts, and forget God's purpose and enabling power. When God calls, our gifts are not the controlling factor; in fact, they are not a great factor at all. The question then becomes, Is God able? Let us trust and obey Him.

HOMEMAKERS HAVE OWN CLUB ROOMS

The Blackstar Homemakers' Club in Harlan county, organized a year ago, has completed the furnishing of two club rooms made available by the Blackstar Coal Company. Club members have completed the painting of furniture in their well-equipped kitchen, where Home Agent Roxie C. Perkins is holding canning and food conservation demonstrations. The general club room was made attractive by the slip-covering and painting of reclaimed furniture. Friends of the club contributed subscriptions to women's magazines.

LEAFLETS DISCUSS FOOD PRESERVATION

Two food preservation leaflets issued by the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics are called "Home Drying of Fruits and Vegetables" and "Storage Structures for Vegetables." One gives details for drying outdoors and with the aid of heat from electricity, kerosene and gas. The other deals with mound, bank, pit and barrel storages for keeping beets, cabbage, carrots, parsnips, turnips, oyster plant and potatoes. Both leaflets can be had at offices of county agents and home demonstration agents or by writing to the college.

TREMENDOUS JOB AHEAD

Certainly there is much truth in the advertisement published today in this newspaper by the Boone County Committee for J. Lyter Donaldson concerning Kentucky's rural roads. There is no greater need in the state than an adequate system of rural highways. While there has been great improvement in the condition of rural roads during the past few years, there still remains a tremendous job to be done before a large majority of our farmers will be able to get their produce to market or come to Burlington to purchase their needs during the winter months—or even after a heavy rain for that matter.

We endorse wholeheartedly Mr. Donaldson's post-war plan of road construction, not just because it is his plan, but because his is the only plan that has been offered our people. Candidates who are opposing him have offered nothing constructive. Instead of giving the voters some idea as to how they plan to operate the State government, they have spent their time abusing Mr. Donaldson and the present State administration, which, in our opinion has done a pretty good job. Certainly, Mr. Donaldson's record as head of the Highway Department stands far above adverse criticism. His opponents, themselves, have, by their silence, admitted that.

His record in the past has been good. His plan for the future is the only offered and, in our opinion, is also good. His post-war highway construction plan as submitted to the Federal government has been approved as the fourth largest in the nation; and when Congress passes the bill, now being considered, appropriating a billion dollars annually for road construction, Kentucky will receive $20,000,000 annually for three years on an 80-20 basis, thereby aggregating $72,000,000 for road construction, of which the State's part would represent an expenditure of only $12,000,000.

Seventy-two million dollars, intelligently spent on Kentucky's rural roads and highways will give our state a system of roads unsurpassed in the entire country. Such a plan is worthy of our support.

"The House of Quality"—Your Money's Worth or Money Back
ERLANGER, KENTUCKY

TO THE PEOPLE OF BOONE COUNTY:

Every public official, even though a candidate for advanced preferrment, owes to his constituents a proper discharge of the duties of the office now held, even though such discharge requires him to neglect his campaign activities.

I am in this dilemma. Every automobile driver in Boone County must have his or her driver's license on on before August 1, 1943 and during all preceding years I have spent a part of the month of July in the various precincts of the County, selling these licenses and in order that I may not be accused on the one hand of dereliction in duty in not following this same custom, and on the other hand that I may not be accused of using this as a means to an end, I have adopted and shall observe the same identical schedule that I used in 1942, when Judge Riddell was still among us, and there existed no reason for the election of a County Judge.

In addition to this obligation to serve the people the same as last year, the August term of the Boone Circuit Court convenes on Monday, August 9, 1943, and I want the docket at this term of Court to be in exactly the same condition that it has been at all prior terms, and even at the risk of seeming neglect of the electorate of Boone County, I must prepare for this term of Court.

For the reasons above stated, which are special to me, and for the additional reasons of war restriction, which are common to all candidates, I have been unable so far, and will continue to be unable to see all the voters of this county prior to August 7. However, from the beginning of this campaign to the present time I have endeavored to see as many voters as possible and to those whom I have been unable to see in person, I have in my own way undertaken to give my reason for asking their support, and to those whom I shall be unable to see, I desire to make a brief statement for their consideration before casting their vote for this important office.

It is my conviction that any officer is a servant of the people who elect him, and should be chosen with the same degree of care with which a business institution would select a Clerk or other employee, or with which a farmer would employ a helper. Offices in some countries, (which we do not especially like at this particular time), are handed out by the dictators in return for political favors rendered, but I prefer to think that in free America the Judge of the Boone County Court should be chosen by the "people" rather than that it be handed out as a political plum to some one for past political favors, and that the "people" make this selection strictly upon a basis of qualification for the task to be performed. I base my claim for qualification upon the nine years I have spent in the Clerk's office, the experience had in this time and the knowledge of the law I have gained, and from having been in close association with the affairs of the County.

So far as political alignment is concerned, I have made no deal with any financial institution or with any other candidate for any office either local or state, but have as best I could, managed my own campaign without any help or assistance of any political machine, either local, county or State.

If my record as the clerk of the Boone Circuit Court for the past nine years convinces the voters of this County that I am competent to manage and discharge the duties of County Judge, I promise if elected, to discharge the duties of that office entirely unassociated with any private interest, devoting my whole time, solely to the office of County Judge.

A. D. YELTON.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Maternity Care For Servicemen's Wives

More than three-fourths of the states have received approval by the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, of programs for medical and hospital maternity care for wives of men in the four lowest pay grades of the armed services. The programs also include medical care for babies. A serviceman's wife may make application for complete medical care during pregnancy and childbirth, and for six weeks after childbirth. She may also apply for medical care for her child to extend throughout the child's first year of life. To get such care, all that the wife needs to do is to fill out simple form, which, if her own doctor is unable to furnish copies, she can get from the State health department.

No Gas To Go To Gardens

Special rations of gasoline for travel to Victory gardens were discontinued July 12, although rations already issued for this purpose may be used as long as valid. This action was taken by OPA upon advice of the Department of Agriculture that gardens planted after that date would be too late to produce enough food to warrant extra use of tires and gasoline in cultivating them.

Co-Ops Can Replace Stocks

Farmers' cooperatives and any other dealers who sell farm supplies not more than three percent, are allowed at cost or at a markup of not more than three percent, are plies at cost or at a markup of permitted to replenish stocks on farmers' certificates on a dollar-for-dollar basis, under a recent amendment of Priorities Regulation No. 19. Previously, the dealer could use the farmer's certificate to get supplies only up to 75 percent of his sales. The amendment enables farmers' cooperatives which sell approximately at cost to make full replacement of their stock.

Can't Send Recordings Overseas

Discs or recordings containing personal messages cannot be sent to soldiers stationed outside the continental limits of the U. S., the War Department has announced. There is no objection to sending discs of personal messages within the continental United States.

Grower Prices For Berries

Grower prices for seven types of berries canned or frozen in 1943 have been announced by WFA. Processors will pay growers the following prices (cents per pound): red raspberries, 15; black raspberries, 13; youngberries, boysenberries, loganberries, and blackberries, 12; gooseberries, 8. Ceiling prices for frozen strawberries have been established on the basis of a grower price of 12 cents a pound for stemmed berries. For all other berries each processor will pay 3 cents per pound more than the average price he paid under the OPA price regulations for the 1942 pack. The highest price processors may pay for red sour pitted cherries is 8½ cents per pound.

Vacation Trip For Motorists

Motorists in the Northeastern gasoline restricted area may use their "A" rations, beginning July 15, for one round trip to a summer home or other vacation place, in the absence of adequate alternative transportation, Price Administration Prentiss M. Brown has announced. Before making a trip, motorists must apply to their ration board for written authorization stating the starting point and destination of the trip and dates on which it will be made. Authorization does not give the motorist an extra ration of gasoline.

Agricultural Jobs Filled

During May, the United States Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission filled 1,005-489 jobs in industry and agriculture, an increase of 11.2 per cent over April. Of these jobs, 297,725 were in farm work or food processing, an increase of 38.3 over April and 63.6 over May 1942. For January through May, the total placements were 739,044, an increase of 128.4 over the same months in 1942.

Rations For Sick

Although the need to conserve rationed foods is great, no hospital patient's health need suffer, the OPA has announced. Local rationing boards have been given authority to provide supplementary allotments to meet the dietary requirements of patients in hospitals—whether or not such patients are on special diets.

Mileage For Air Raid Wardens

Air raid wardens, while not eligible for "C" ration books, may continue to get "B" books, according to OPA. Volunteers regularly performing work contributing to the war effort or public welfare who need supplemental mileage should have applications certified by some authorized representative of the agency for which the work is being performed.

Fuel For Incubators

Fuel oil for incubators, brooders, and other equipment used in raising poultry, livestock, or other agricultural products can now be obtained regardless of the age of the equipment. OPA has recently removed these items from the list of equipment for which no fuel oil rations were previously allowed.

Coal Production Lags

Coal production for the first half of 1943 was an estimated 1,729,000 tons less than for the same period in 1942, Solid Fuel Administrator Harold L. Ickes has reported. "The gravity of this loss of production is emphasized by the fact that the Nation will need an estimated 25,000,000 tons of coal more this year than last," he said.

Casualties of War

Casualties of the United States Armed Forces from the out-break of the war to July 3 total 91,644. This total, based on War and Navy Department reports, includes: dead, 16,696; wounded, 21,828; missing 31,579; prisoners of war, 21,541. Of these, Army casualties total 64,621; Navy, 27,023.

Traffic Decreases In Rural Areas

Traffic on rural roads in the East decreased from December through May to less than half of pre-war normal, according to the Public Roads Administration of the FWA. A minor exception is March when eastern traffic was 52 percent of normal. Traffic in the "western" area, rationed since December 1, 1942, has settled down to less than two-thirds of pre-war normal.

Winter Cover Crop Seed

Large supplies of winter cover crop seeds, acquired by the Government in stabilizing prices for the 1942 crop, will be released for planting this summer and fall, AAA will release about 20 million pounds of Austrian winter pea seed for sale by the CCC to dealers at $5.65 per hundredweight, F. O. B. Oregon points. Cover crops, which are a soil conservation measure, increase the nitrogen in the soil when plowed under and thereby reduce the amount of fertilizer required and release nitrates needed for munitions.

Bandage Cloth Supply Assured

Adequate supplies of bandage cloth, both for civilian and military use, will be available. Looms making cotton cloth suitable for bandages and other specified uses will continue to do so, by a recent WPB order.

Farm Supplies Pro-Rated

A distributor of farm supplies is now authorized to pro-rate deliveries on the basis of normal shipments in cases where the amount of farm supplies set aside by him does not completely cover all the orders he receives. Before this recent amendment to General Preference Order M-330, a distributor was required to fill orders solely on the basis of preference ratings.

Local Poultry Prices

Regional Administrators of the OPA now can adjust local processors' prices for dressed poultry. Regional Administrators also have the power to change definitions of sellers and types of sales. They are not empowered to change the farmers' selling price for live poultry, however, and may not increase the selling price of poultry at retail, or to any ultimate consumer.

More Fertilizer To Be Available

From 5 to 10 percent more chemical fertilizer will be available in the year ahead according to WFA officials. It is estimated that U. S. farmers used about 10 million tons of chemical fertilizer during the 12 months beginning July 1, 1942. Although the supply of nitrogen and phosphates will be greater, potash is expected to be less plentiful.

Enough Floor Coverings

Smooth durable linoleum and printed floor coverings are being produced in substantial quantities to meet the greatly increased demand, WPB has reported. Used in new housing projects and in reconditioning old buildings, smooth surface floor coverings save lumber, nails, and labor, and contribute to santitation.

Many Ships Launched

The Nation's shipyards delivered 168 cargo vessels totaling 1,676,500 deadweight tons in June, the Maritime Commission has announced. This may be compared with the record total of 175 for May and 157 in April. The June figures brought production for the first half of 1943 to 879 ships totaling 8,818,622 deadweight tons. In the entire year 1942 the yards produced 746 vessels totaling 8,089,732 deadweight tons.

Long Illness And Your Feet

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Long illness or long convalescence often may be the cause of painful muscle spasm in the lower limb and foot. In either circumstance long periods of inactivity, lack of exercise, coupled with the weakened condition of the body cause the muscles to lose tone and become weak and flabby.

The foot, while lying, as in bed, cannot and is not, held in a normal position in relation to the limbs and rest of the body. The foot is held in an extended position which allows a shortening of the muscles in the back of the limb, and allows the weaker muscles in the front of the limb to stretch.

When partial strength to the patient, is restored and he finally is allowed to walk, it is imperative that the bones of the foot are properly supported in shoes designed to distribute body weight evenly over the whole bottom surface of the foot, and to relieve further, the strain on the muscles, ligaments and tendons, until normal strength and muscle ton return.

An ordinary "strong looking" shoe is not the solution to this problem. Ordinary shoes with so-called arch supports and flat base planes, can only allow the foot condition to degrees further.

At this time special attention should be paid to the inner construction of the shoe. The base construction and inner foundation of the shoe should be shaped to the NORMAL CONTOUR of the bootom of a NORMAL FOOT. The inside of the shoe should resemble the normal foot print in soft turf or sand.

Such a shoe with sound construction and foot shaped base planes is found in an especially built surgical shoe.—Adv.

Early History Of Boone Co.

By A. M. Yealey

A correspondent from Union, Boone County gives the following news from that place May 27, 1875:

The recent rains have softened the crust on the baked corn fields, and revived the parched and drooping meadows.

Our merchants are doing a good business, although they do not rival those of your city in advertising. (The more they advertise the more will their business increase. Ed.) They are doing a safe and profitable business making quick cash sales and small profits.

The success of Grange movements in this community has aided largely to effect this most desirable reform; and it will greatly aid in putting the whole county on a safe basis.

Here, as elsewhere in the grand old Commonwealth, every man is a born politician, and of course feels the greatest interest in the contests for office. As soon as the excitement incident to the Gubernatorial canvass subsided, the interest in the race for Legislator was created, and candidates are crowding on the field as thick as 'Richmonds." The acceptance of Mr. Rouse has given great satisfaction here where his qualifications are best known, and he will enter the race backed almost solidly by the voters of this district.

The Journal is increasing in circulation, and is rapidly gaining the popular favor here.

Geo. W. Bain, State Lecturer for the Independent Order of Good Templars, will lecture at Richwood Station on the 7th and at this place on the 8th of June, in the evening.

Florence Cross Roads
Correspondent

The farmers in this vicinity are through planting corn. Sheep shearing is the principal occupation now. Mr. Thomas Aylor has a fine flock of sheep, from one of which he obtained fifteen pounds of wool.

Miss Hevel, residing near this place, is seriously ill from the effects of a fall which she received several weeks ago.

The Messrs. Rouse are doing a good business.

Our village blacksmith, Mr. Baker says business in his line is dull.

Mr. Aylor is doing well with his school.

The Journal is always a welcome visitor at this place, and its pages are perused with interest. Signed L. A.

THE GARDEN

FOOD FOR NEXT WINTER
By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

In other years, at this time, it has been trite to say that now is the turn of the garden year, the time to reassemble faith and strength, to repair a poor start, perhaps, to point to next winter's vegetables. But this year is not a normal year. Gardens were started late and wet, and many, now feeling the slackening of rain, appear to be falling short of their earlier promise. But, Uncle Sam needs food, and more food. And Kentucky needs food, food for the winter. So, what to do? Fortunately much, if done quickly.

A staple crop is tomatoes, and in most gardens a goodly number of plants are now approaching their prime. However, these plants will have spent themselves in not much more than 6 weeks, leaving the family to finish the season with undersized, sour fruit. Rather than let this occur, seed should be started without delay, several at a place, the plants thinned to one. If possible, land should be used that has not been cropped this year, but kept disked and dragged to hold last winter's rain and snow water. However, early greens' land or early pea rows or even a row of early cabbage, may be made suitable by disking deeply, then dragging to make new moisture rise again.

Manuring, but with well-rotted manure, should be done, and 20 percent superphosphate should be broadcast, one pound to 40 square feet, to give the tomatoes all possible opportunity for quick growing, as "time is of an essence."

Even though only green but sizable fruits result by frost time, they will make fresh tomatoes for a long time into next winter, ripened indoors, to ease the drain on those that have been canned.

Varieties are Marglobe or Rutgers, or, where there is no likelihood of wilt disease, Greater Baltimore.

INJURIES FATAL TO WALTON MAN

THROWN FROM HAY WAGON FRIDAY—FUNERAL SERVICES HELD SUNDAY IN COVINGTON AND WALTON.

William Clinton Ryle, prominent resident of Walton, was killed Friday when a team of horses he was driving ran away and threw him from a hay wagon at his farm near Walton. Ryle was unconscious when others reached him, and was dead before medical aid arrived.

Mr. Ryle, 37, was a member of a widely known Boone County family. He was a son of Dr. R. E. Ryle, and Mrs. Etheline Griffith Ryle. He was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Covington.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lulu Gross Ryle; one son, Billy Wayne Ryle, Dayton, Ohio; his parents and a stepdaughter, Martha Brown.

Funeral services were held at the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Eighteenth and Greenup Streets, Covington, at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, followed by rites at the Chambers and Grubbs funeral home, Walton, at 4 o'clock. Burial was in Walton Cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

HDA Plans Garden Meeting July 22-23rd

Garden meetings are being arranged by the Homemakers for Florence, New Haven and Verona communities, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent.

Arrangements are being made for a speaker to give reliable information at meetings to be held as follows: July 22, Florence, at Mrs. Lillian Schram's 7:00 p. m. (EWT): July 23, New Haven, at Mrs. Agnes Roberts', 3:00 p. m. (EWT).

It is important that every garden plot in Boone County be used well into the winter months this year.

Goodenough Will Speak At Florence Saturday, July 31

Speaking in behalf of the candidacy of J. Lyter Donaldson for Governor of Kentucky, the honorable Joseph P. Goodenough, of Covington will be at Florence, on Saturday, July 31st and will make an address at 8:30 (Eastern War Time).

Judge Goodenough now holds the position as Judge of the Criminal Division of the Kenton Circuit Court, Covington, and has given several addresses throughout Boone County during the past year.

The public is invited to attend.

BOONE WOOL CROP AVERAGES $55.26

OVER NINETY-FIVE PERCENT OF CLIP GRADES CLEAR—POOL MAKES BEST SALE IN U. S. THIS YEAR.

The 1943 Boone County Wool Pool crop consisting of 57,813 pounds averaged growers $55.26 per hundred, according to H. E. White, president of the pool. Clear wool netted growers 55.50 per pound, rejection wool 50.50 and fine or merino wool 45.50 per pound.

Ninety-five and seven-tenths percent of the clip graded clear, 2.5 per cent rejection and 1.8 per cent fine. Both the weight per fleece and the percent of rejections were the lowest in recent years.

Stanley Steinharter of the Buckeye Wool Pulling Company of Cincinnati, who purchased the clip reported the county clip was the best wool in the state and that the county pool had made the highest sale of any pool in the U. S. this year.

John L. Rouse

Services for John L. Rouse, 2123 Gilbert Avenue, Cincinnati, were held at the home of his parents in Crittenden at 3 o'clock Saturday. Burial was in the family cemetery in Crittenden.

Mr. Rouse was found dead Wednesday in his Walnut Hills apartment as the result of a bullet wound in his head.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Livestock Notes Timely, Important

Farmers today are asking important questions on how to get the most from their limited feed supplies and from management practices according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The College of Agriculture is attempting to supply farmers with this information. The following timely notes are given.

1. When to cut soybeans—Experiments showed at Illinois Experiment Station that where 2700 pounds of hay were secured from hay cut when the blossoms were just ending 5300 pounds of hay were secured when the pods were filled out but the leaves still green. Kentucky experiments shows that when three-fourths of the pods were filled out quicker and more economical gain on beef cattle were secured than when the hay was cut earlier. The figures are 1.35 pounds daily gains for the early cut and 1.59 pounds daily gain for the later cut hay. Weather is also a most important factor as to the time soybeans should be cut.

2. Sheep—(a) Select rams early to get quality stock before the supply is picked over.

(b) The sheep enterprise is especially important now in that they require very little grain.

(c) The good breeding ewe supply appears to be rather plentiful now. Cull the old stock closely.

(d) The lamb shearing program for 1943 has not been released to date.

3. Hogs—Hogs kept and fed full time on concrete is unsound. Plenty of good pasture lowers the cost of production. Plan now for plenty of Balbo rye and other fall and winter pasture.

Four pigs out of the average Kentucky litter die before they reach market. Three of these pigs die the first two days after farrowing. Secure the leaflet at the county agent's office on "One Third More Pork With The Same Feed and Labor."

DEMONSTRATION-LECTURE DATE SET

COMMUNITY PUBLIC SERVICE CO., SPONSOR PROGRAM TO BE HELD AT WALTON, FRIDAY JULY 30TH.

To assist homemakers of Walton and vicinity in canning or dehydrating the surplus from their Victory gardens and in putting up fruit for the winter ahead, Miss Isabel Herndon of the Home Service Department of Community Public Service Company will give a lecture-demonstration at 3:00 p. m. (E. W. T.), Friday afternoon, July 30 at office of Community Public Service Co., in Walton.

Miss Herndon will explain and demonstrate how to home dry various fruits and vegetables, showing proper preparation of the food; drying methods including oven, portable dehydrator and drying over a wood stove; sulphuring of fruits preparatory to dehydrating; how to make a home-made dehydrator. She will also tell how to store dried fruits and vegetables, how to "refresh" them and how to cook them.

Methods for canning fruits and vegetables by the boiling water bath method and in the oven (if the oven is provided with a heat control) will be shown. Information will be given about various types of jars and containers and numerous other facts of interest to home canners, applicable to any type of cooking equipment.

Free literature on canning and dehydrating will be given to all who attend. The public is cordially invited to be present for the school. There is no admission charge.

Union Woman Named Lady Chairman Of Kilgore Campaign

Mrs. Shirley Ferguson, a farmer of Union has been appointed chairman of the Boone County Kilgore for Governor Women's Committee, it was announced today by Harry L. Waterfield, state campaign chairman.

Mrs. Ferguson is the wife of Walter Ferguson, who is now a commissioned officer in Uncle Sam's armed forces. She has been prominently identified with the democratic party all her life, and is now secretary of the Boone County Democratic Women's Club. She is one of the most popular and influential citizens of Boone County having been president of the New Haven P.-T. A., and has taken part in all events that have been for the upbuilding of the community and county.

Mrs. Ferguson when accepting the appointment said, "We need a governor who will have the interest of the farmer at heart, and I believe that Mr. Kilgore has a better knowledge of the farmer's real problems and needs than either of the other candidates for the nomination for governor." In conclusion, Mrs. Ferguson stated, "We will all work hard to nominate Mr. Kilgore, a man who is dominated by nobody, and whose nomination is sponsored by free citizens who want a real democratic government."

Children's Day Program To Be Held At Burlington Church

A Children's Day program will be held at the Burlington Methodist Church, Sunday, July 25th, it was announced this week.

Three classes of the Sunday School will participate in the program which will begin promptly at 11:00 a. m. (EWT).

The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

The seining crew from the Kentucky Fish and Game Department, Frankfort, were visiting this section last week and were taking fish from overstocked lakes, and placing the surplus in ponds and lakes that did not have sufficient stock. The large lake of Dr. George Sperti and the Fair Grounds lake were two that received new stock.

Mrs. Joseph Huey, Mrs. Lassing Huey and daughter Jo Ann, Mr. and Mrs. George Slayback and son Allen and Capt. and Mrs. J. M. Huey were entertained by Mrs. J. M. Lassing, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lassing and daughter last Wednesday evening for dinner.

GAS MUST BE SCARCE DOWN BIG BONE WAY

Evidence of the fact that gasoline for driving passenger cars is scarce and is being used conservatively in this section of the State was brought to light Saturday, when Justin Dolph, Burlington mechanic was repairing the car of John Kite, of Big Bone.

While repairing Mr. Kite's car he discovered a wren's nest built alongside the chasis of the Model A Ford, containing seven eggs.

The car evidently was not being driven often, or the wren was a travelling bird.

Business Organizations Sponsor Scholarships

Seven business organizations are sponsoring Boone County 4-H scholarships to the 4-H War Conference at Camp Bingham in Washington County this week, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The wards were made to outstanding 4-H Club members who have taken an active part in community and county leadership programs.

The organizations sponsoring the scholarships have rendered outstanding cooperation to the county 4-H program over a period of several years and have expressed deep interest in our boys' and girls' 4-H problems. They are The Early & Daniels Company of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dearborn Feed Mills of Aurora, Ind.; Wilford Aylor and Meyer's of Aurora, Ind.; John R. Coppin's, Sears and Roebuck Co., Jansen Hardware, and Luhn and Stevie, of Covington.

The 4-H Club members and leaders of the county deeply appreciate the fine cooperation rendered by these companies.

The county delegates left for the conference on Monday and will return on Friday.

Old Fashioned Chicken Supper Will Be Served At Florence

The Florence Methodist Church, Florence, Ky., Dixie Highway, will serve an old fashioned, country style, fried chicken supper in the basement of the church Saturday, July 24 from 11 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. and from 5:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m. Adult tickets are on sale and can be purchased from ladies of the church.

Fair Catalogues Sent To Press

The Eleventh Annual Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Free Fair catalogues went to the press the first part of the week. The catalogues are expected to be ready for distribution in a few days.

The fair premium list features this year the Food for Victory Edition. Special prizes are awarded in Defense Stamps for Victory garden exhibits in 4-H, Utopia, Homemakers' Club and Open to World Classes.

LIST OF COMMUNITIES WHERE DRIVERS LICENSE WILL BE SOLD BY CLERK

A. D. Yelton, Clerk, will personally be at the following places on the following dates for the purpose of issuing operators' licenses to persons living in and around these communities:

Petersburg—July 22nd, Farmers Bank.

Walton—July 23rd and 24th, Walton Garage.

Constance—July 26, Kottmyer's Store.

Verona—July 27th, Verona Bank.

Hebron—July 28th, Aylor's Garage.

Union—July 29th, Union Bank.

Florence—Feed Store, July 30th and 31st.

Burlington—Every day except Sunday.

Persons who have not had an Operator's License, are required to take the test given by the Highway patrol, and these tests will be given in Burlington on Monday of each week through August 2nd and every other Monday thereafter.

All applicants for license must present their old license when applying for new license.

Applicants under the age of 18 years must be accompanied by their father when applying for their license, according to A. D. Yelton Circuit Court Clerk.

TWO GROUPS AID FARMERS

IN EMERGENCY WORK DURING PAST WEEK—WAR PRISONERS NOT AVAILABLE FOR FARM WORK AT PRESENT.

Two local volunteer groups in Burlington and Walton communities have recently in late afternoons helped several farmers in getting emergency work done. These volunteer groups made up of business and professional men represent a fine patriotic group of citizens who are willing to take time from work and give that a maximum of food crops will be produced and a minimum of food crops lost. Anyone who thinks they are soft or don't know ought to see them work. Their services should be requested only for emergency work. However, no farmer ought to let his crop waste because of emergency labor shortage.

The County Road Department is experiencing a labor shortage. However, in order to allow help to assist in farm work the department with the approval of Fiscal Court is not working on Saturday. Road help on approval of the men will be available to help on Saturdays. The men in most cases will request the same rate of pay as they receive from the county. Men for emergency work will also be released during week days when possible.

The State Highway Department has promised similar cooperation to that being rendered by the county. William Maddox local highway foreman has promised full cooperation. Several employees of both State and County have already been assisting farmers.

The problem of securing German prisoners for special farm emergency work was attempted by the county office this week but the office was informed that sufficient guards to handle this work were not available.

Getting the rush farm work remains one problem demanding the best in good American ingenuity and in most cases one of patriotic cooperation between neighbors and those who are willing to lend a hand according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Reports from all sections of the county show there is record cooperation between neighbors in exchange of labor and equipment. Crops are being harvested and saved that would be lost under ordinary times with the labor now available.

Farmers who desire to employ help or those who could help others are urged to notify the County Agent's Office, Burlington, Ky.

W. M. U. NOTES

The Womans' Missionary Society of the Union Baptist Church met at the church on Wednesday afternoon, July 14th for its regular monthly meeting, with 15 members present.

The meeting was opened at 2 p. m. by our president, Mrs. Winston Mason. "All Hail the Power" was opening hymn, followed by repeating our Watchwords in unison. Opening prayer was offered by Mrs. J. A. Huey. Mrs. Emerson Smith, secretary read minutes of previous meeting, which were approved as read, followed by Roll Call and treasurer's report which was read by Mrs. Sherman Friend in the absence of Mrs. Austin Gschwind, who is ill at this time. Mrs. Myrtle Marshall, young peoples leader gave good report from Y. W. A., G. A., R. A., and Sunbeam Band with the announcement of the resignation of William Greenup R. A. leader, who finds that his present work hours makes it impossible for him to serve. The appointing of a new leader and his assistant was placed in the capable hands of Mrs. Marshall. Mrs. Sherman Friend, Mission Study chairman also requested Mrs. Marshall to teach our next Mission class which will be the book, "The Bible, A Missionary Book." No date was set for this study class since Mrs. Marshall was given more time for preparing it. Everyone is invited to attend these classes and the date afore mentioned class will be announced soon.

Mrs. Flora Mullins, Stewardship chairman reported 23 tithers to-date. Mrs. Kirtley McWethy, Community Missions chairman made a good report of work done in the past month and was instructed to send cards and flowers to several of our members and friends who are ill at this time. May God grant that they may each be restored to health that they might meet with us again soon.

Mrs. Mason announced the group meeting to be held at 10:30 a. m., Thursday, July 22 at Florence with the hope that as many as possible will attend, for we must all remember that we cannot practice absenteeism and yet win the Victory for our Lord, so let's be found to be doers of the Word and not hearers only.

A card of thanks from the Glendale Orphans' Home has been received by Rev. and Mrs. Henry Beach in appreciation of gifts of cash and bath towels. Mrs. Jim Bristow also expressed her appreciation of this society for all the loving remembrances shown her in her recent bereavement and illness.

This closed our business session and the program taken from Royal Service and under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Fothergill who had assigned parts to the following ladies: Mrs. J. A. Fothergill, Mrs. Flora Mullins, Mrs. Sherman Friend, Mrs. Kirtley McWethy, Mrs. Myrtle Marshall and Mrs. R. K. Newman, who brought us a very interesting account of the Christian life of Madam Chiang Kai-Shek of China. Meditation, Enlightening the World was brought by Mrs. J. A. Huey with Mrs. Myrtle Marshall at the organ.

Devotional was given by Mrs. Sally K. Hicks and was taken from I Sam. 20:12-15, 17, 35-42 with our dismissal prayer by Mrs. J. A. Huey.

Our next meeting will be Wednesday, August 11 and we cordially invite any and all who care to join us in our earnest efforts to serve our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Won't you come and bring someone with you?

Mrs. Sherman Friend, Pub. Ch.

Waltons Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Walton entertained Sunday in honor of their son Pfc. Edwin Walton, who was home for a few hours' visit, his first since his induction in February. Pfc. Walton is now at Columbus, Ohio, where he is taking the advance course in Chemistry at the Ohio State University. This course is one of the Army's specialist training programs and will prepare Pfc. Walton for the work of a Chemical Engineer.

The friends and relatives who enjoyed this short visit with Pfc. Walton were Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGlasson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hempfling and son, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGlasson, Jr., and son, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Slade. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Judy, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Boone County Red Cross Report Made the seven diphetheria immunization clinics for the county were completed in June. There were held at Florence, Belleview, Burlington, New Haven, Walton, Hamilton, and Verona. The children were given two doses of toxoid, one month apart. All immunizations were given by county physicians. The attendance was good.

A tuberculosis patient has been sent to Julius Marks Sanatorium, Lexington for treatment. A number of children have had physical defects corrected, principally vision and throats.

QUALITY SAMPLE SHOE STORE TO BE CLOSED DURING WEEK OF JULY 26

The Quality Sample Shoe Shop, 627 Madison Avenue, Covington, announces that it will be closed for a vacation period, all next week, July 26 to August 2.

The management states that this decision was made in consideration of the fact that their employees have been working under trying conditions during the past year and deserve a vacation for much needed rest, without loss of pay.

When the store closes Saturday evening all shoes will be removed from the show windows and the entire space will be devoted to promoting the sale of War Bonds and Stamps.

After the vacation period, the store will carry some interesting announcements in The Recorder.

The W. M. U. of the Burlington Baptist Church will Meet at Florence on Thursday at ten o'clock.

400 ATTEND DEDICATION

SERVICES AND FLAG RAISING AT RABBITHASH JULY 11TH—PROGRAM VERY INTERESTING.

The dedication services and flag raising which was held at Rabbithash last week was well attended with more than 400 persons present to enjoy the occasion.

Those taking part on the program were Rev. Carl Wainscott, Rev. John Ashcraft and Rev. Roy Johnson, of Burlington, who delivered the dedication address. Judge C. L. Cropper was master of ceremonies and the music by the Burlington school band, under the direction of Noel Walton.

Since it was impossible for any of the boys whose names appeared on the board to be present for the occasion, the raising of the flag and unveiling of the Service Board was handled by a sailor, Floyd McArthur of Grant and a Merchant Marine, William Sullivan, of Burlington.

The committee in charge of arrangements, consisting of Wilbur Acra, Martin Williamson, Clayton Ryle and John S. Ryle desire to express their appreciation to everyone who assisted in any way to make this program a success.

Farms Of O. M. Rogers Sold To Garber Bros.

O. M. Rogers sold his two Boone County farms last week to Dr. Stanley T. Garber of Cincinnati, and his two brothers, Fred Garber, Jr., and C. Stedman Garber.

One tract is located south of Burlington, just off Camp Ernst Road and contains 125 acres with good improvements. The other tract of 70 acres is located north of Burlington on the Burlington and Bullittsville Road.

The sale includes all of Mr. Rogers' livestock, feed and farm equipment of about 40 head of high grade Hereford cattle, over 100 hogs, team, tractor and all other farm tools.

Mr. Rogers had taken much pride in building up this nice herd of Herefords and they are among the best in the county.

These farms are extra well fenced and heavily grassed. Howard Lizer, tenant on these farms will remain with the new purchasers.

Negotiations were handled thru A. B. Renaker.

Fish Fry To Be Held At Big Bone Baptist Church, July 31st

The Baracca Class of Big Bone Baptist Church will have their annual fish fry on Saturday, July 31st at the church grove. All are invited to bring lunch and enjoy the day.

LOCAL MAN TO ATTEND MEETING

OF PRODUCTION CREDIT ASSOCIATION TO BE HELD IN LOUISVILLE, JULY 27—IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE DISCUSSED.

C. Liston Hempfling, Constance, vice president of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association, will attend the annual conference to be held in Louisville on Tuesday, July 27, it was learned today.

Officers and directors of Falls City, Green River, Nolin and Northern Kentucky Associations will be present to discuss developments in the operation and services of their local credit Cooperatives with officers of the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville.

This year's conference is expected to be particularly interesting in view of the record-breaking volume of business done by the production credit associations this spring in financing the production of Food-for-Freedom and the plans that will be laid for recognizing the Association's tenth anniversary which falls during the coming winter.

Improvements made by the associations to meet the wartime demands for their service will be discussed at length.

SERVICE ON THE HOME FRONT

In this issue, we are running the first of a series of advertisements for the Standard Oil Company, which we commend to the special attention of our readers.

These are unique, in that they make no mention of Standard Oil products. They are designed to let the public know what Standard Oil agents, dealers, tank-wagon drivers, etc., are doing on the home front in the present war emergency.

The Standard Oil Company has been serving the people of Boone county for many years. They began this service back in the days when coal-oil and axle grease were their principal products, when roads were bad, and when serving the rural South was difficult. In those days, we didn't have electricity, and the people depended upon the Standard Oil Company for the kerosene to light their lamps. And good weather or bad, they always managed to get this kerosene to us.

When the automobile came along, they made gasoline and motor-oil available from one end of Kentucky to the other. They've never forgotten their country friends, who were their first customers. Today, wherever we drive, we're never far from a Standard station.

The Standard Oil Company of Kentucky is a good example of a Southern business organization—of the South, and by the South—serving the people of the South with necessary products of dependability.

FROM THE CRADLE-TO-THE-GRAVE

Sir William Henry Beveridge has made a deep impression in Washington and in many parts of the United States where people have listened to his analysis of the British plan for social insurance and allied services to be provided by compulsory contributions paid in by all persons, and not by charity. Sir William is a professor at Oxford and he has been an outstanding advocate of a number of popular movements in Great Britain.

At an off-the-record meeting at the National Press Club last week Sir William told members of the club and their invited guests about the popular response with which his plan had been received in Britain, the United States and Canada. He is no wild-eyed dreamer or reformer resembling some of our American theorists. He talked straight from the shoulder to our newsmen and made it plain that the British plan does not diminish individual industry, thrift, initiative, or sense of responsibility. Anyhow, Sir William has started a lot of discussion and stimulated a lot of constructive thinking which may materialize into something worth while in the day of post-war planning.

PEACE CAN BE MADE TO WORK

Out of all the talk in recent months on the subject of the post-war world, the most comforting statement comes from a man whose business is research and the invention and improvement of things mechanical. Charles F. Kettering, with his practical view as a successful inventor, says:

"I think the future can be almost anything we want it to be. If we take into consideration the factors we have to build the future with—people, things, climate and everything else—then we can go ahead and do a swell job."

Today, more than ever, we need statesmen who can take a tip from the research wizard and apply the scientific process to post-war problems by starting with a careful inventory of all the factors that have to be considered in arranging the world of the future. In any case, it is reassuring to hear from the man who has made so many new things work that the peace can be made to work also.

REGISTERED SHEEP OWNED BY 4-H BOY

The first registered Southdown flock of sheep in Ballard county is being started by Lloyd Hardin Gholson, a 17-year-old 4-H club boy. With 10 registered Southdown ewes which he purchased in Tennessee, and a registered ram furnished by the Illinois Central Railroad, young Gholson expects to produce rams for local sale.

During the seven years that Lloyd has been a 4-H club member, he has had considerable experience with livestock. He twice won prizes at the district calf show and now has an Angus calf on feed. Then there are 20 Holstein cows and hogs on the 360-acre farm which he and his mother have operated since his father's death two years ago. The farm also has 40 acres of apples and 10 acres of peaches.

Three to four times as much sudan grass was sowed in Daviess county this year as is usually done.

Farmers in Allen county like vetch as a green manure crop because of the ease of getting a stand, and its rapid growth in the spring.

THIS MAY HELP.

If you find it difficult to make up your mind regarding the relative merits of the various funeral services available, you may find it helpful to remember that ours is one of the oldest services in Boone County.

Chambers & Grubbs' service was founded in 1906, and ever since then we have been earning the good will of Boone County people by offering the finest of service at reasonable prices.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

BIBLE TEACHINGS ON THE COST OF DRINKING

LESSON TEXT — Deuteronomy 21:18-21; Proverbs 23:20, 21; I Corinthians 6:9-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?—I Corinthians 6:9.

Billions of dollars—how many we cannot say—make up the annual cost of liquor to America in dollars and cents. Terrifying as it is, that stupendous waste is but a drop in the bucket compared with the moral and spiritual degradation, the sorrow and suffering, the poverty and distress, which must be added into our liquor bill.

For it is not only a matter of dollars, but of blood and tears, or destroyed usefulness, lost virtue, wrecked homes, and so on and on and on. We go right on paying the bill, allowing ourselves to be misled by clever propaganda, and skillfully manipulated statistics—or it may be our sheer indifference. When will America awaken!

Our lesson faces us with the cost of this despicable traffic in the life of the individual to the social order, and in the light of eternity.

I. The Personal Cost (Deut. 21: 18-21).

Liquor destroys individuals relentlessly, rapidly, and effectively. Have we forgotten that fact?

The passage in Deuteronomy presents a drastic remedy for a dreadful situation. Drink and gluttony were recognized as the deadly instrument which would bring a boy to the place where he was incorrigible. Stubborn, rebellious, and disobedient, his parents were to bring him to the elders for a final judgment.

If one thinks the penalty too harsh, he must remember that it was established in the early days of Israel when it was necessary for God to use such drastic remedies to stamp out incipient evil.

It must be remembered that in ancient Greece weak children were left out to die, and in Rome a father could at will put to death even a grown up son.

The point of this scripture for us is that a life of debauchery (and it can start with just a glass of wine) leads to the ultimate destruction of life. It is far too high a cost to pay for a sinful indulgence.

II. The Social Cost (Prov. 23: 20, 21).

Drunkenness and gluttony lead to poverty and rags. The intemperate man cannot keep up with the high cost of supplying his growing appetite. Even as he tries to satisfy its insatiable demand, it also renders him unfit to earn a living.

So the vicious circle works its way around, and stops not until the drunkard totters off in his rags, unless perchance some loved one or friend takes care of him.

Do we not all recall how families in our own communities have been ruined and become charges upon the county or charitable organizations because of the destruction wrought by a father who was a winebibber.

Not only does it bring poverty upon families, but it reduces able and gifted men to shambling wrecks and thus deprives society of the benefit of their lives and service.

A present-day illustration is the unsolved problem of absenteeism for days after pay day in our essential industries. Again we say the cost is altogether too high; let us get rid of this monster before it destroys us!

III. The Eternal Cost (I Cor. 6: 9-11).

Money lost is serious. Life lost is far more serious. But the saddest cost of all is the eternal damnation of the drinker's soul.

We quote from Dr. Horace Martin these stirring and meaningful words: "It is my calm judgment that any man who names the name of Christ should take an attitude of horror and disgust at the liquor traffic and the use of liquor as a beverage. There are at least three places in the New Testament where the Bible says that no drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God.

"If any man takes that statement seriously he must think twice before he refers to the use of liquor in a joking manner, or in any way condones the use of alcohol as a beverage" (Lesson Commentary).

Drunkenness is a foul and sinful thing, classed by the apostle Paul with the lowest of human vices. Review the list as it is given in verses 9 and 10 (and by the way notice the other sins mentioned there), and place drunkenness in its proper classification.

Call it what it really is—sin, and then call on the One who can save from sin. You will then be washed from your sin, sanctified, and justified in the name of the Lord Jesus (v. 11). In Christ there is hope for the drunkard. A spiritual revival is the real answer to the liquor problem. Let us seek to promote it even as we at the same time give ourselves to an intelligent and constructive battle against this destructive force in the life of our nation.

VETCH WITHSTANDS KENTUCKY WINTERS

A vetch crop on the farm of J. W. Bush in Henry county was a good example of the way this cover crop withstands Kentucky winters, according to Farm Agent W. B. Howell. On the last day of May, the field of vetch and wheat, 4 to 4½ feet high, was practically a perfect stand. About two-thirds of the 1,500 acres sowed to vetch in Henry county last fall came thru in good shape, Mr. Howell said.

Pastures in Christian county are said to show great improvement the past few years, and there is a large increase of bluegrass and alfalf acreages.

CLOSED A WHILE

A FEW Standard Oil Service Stations are "boarded up." Pumps are empty, drives vacant... the boys have gone to war.

Wherever such a scene of inaction may have replaced the busy corner of a short time ago, accept it as evidence that many men of this Company have changed their uniforms for a while.

Not far away you will find another Standard Oil Station—open, busy, trustworthy—worth going an extra distance to find. If not all Stations in your locality can overcome the "man-power" question, please understand that we strive to keep standards high—too high to permit indifferent operation.

Soon, we hope, conditions will favor and make possible old-time operation. Until then let the Station that is "closed for a while" be a signal to you that Standard Oil men are in the thick of the fight.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Five young couples, none previously acquainted, kissed and hugged an entire day so that Jean Arthur and Joel McCrea might have the proper background for a walking love scene of their own. The action made a lovers' lane of an unnamed Washington, D. C. residence thoroughfare as Jean and Joel and the five sets of lovers repeated their action many times for the various camera angles necessary. The poignant scene appears in Columbia's "The More the Merrier."

SATURDAY

Although June "Elviry" Weaver has been the most versatile of vaudevillians throughout her career, she has never once been able to achieve her earliest theatrical ambition.

She has walked the tight rope, modeled in a draping act, juggled, and played every conceivable type of musical instrument—but to date she has never played a dramatic lead!

The Weaver Brothers and Elviry, leading exponents of rural comedy are starred in Republic's "Mountain Rhythm."

• • •

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Comedian Walter Catlett took an unexpected "solo flight"—and got an unexpected thrill out of it—during the filming of Republic's "Hit Parade of 1943."

Catlett and John Carroll were sitting on one of those large camera cranes which were used to film the musical sequences, when Carroll, not knowing that a prop man was working with the balances on the other, stepped off onto the floor. The crane suddenly shot fifteen feet into the air, carrying Catlett with it.

When the prop man hurriedly lowered the crane, the comedian gasped: "And me with no parachute!"

The beginning of a social revolution which changed the habits and hygiene of Victorian England is authentically depicted in the gripping semi-historical picture, "Forever and a Day," an RKO Radio release filmed by Anglo-American Productions.

The action covers the period from 1804 until Christmas of 1940 when the Nazi blitz was at its height, and the backgrounds include both rural and metropolitan England during those years.

A cast of over 78 featured players includes such top-ranking stars as Herbert Marshall, Ray Milland, Charles Laughton, Ida Lupino, Brian Aherne, Merle Oberon, Roland Young and Donald Crisp.

Smiley Burnette's family of adopted youngsters is rapidly growing. Smalley Carlyn Georgia is the latest addition to the Burnette household, which already include Linda Dallas, aged, five, and Stephen Hmiley, aged three. Smiley appears in Republic's latest Roy Rogers starrer. "Idaho," coming to the Gayety, Saturday.

When Mickey Rooney donned a telegraph messenger boy's uniform for his role in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Human Comedy," it was a nostalgic moment for the young star. Grasping a picture of himself twelve years ago, he rushed up to Clarence Brown.

"Look, then and now!" he said to the director.

The photograph showed Mickey in one of his first two-reel comedies. He was outfitted in a typical messenger boy's uniform with cap at the usual rakish angle and a pencil sticking out from under it.

There was only one noticeable change. Then it was Mickey McGuire. Now it's Mickey Rooney, Box Office Star No. 1!

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Starring Charles Laughton and Maureen O'Hara at the head of a distinguished cast, RKO Radio's "This Land Is Mine" gives a graphic picture of conditions in occupied Europe when Nazi troops take over a small village.

The two celebrities potray a pair of school teachers in the community, and their reactions to the Nazi attempts to Hitlerize the village make for its gripping plot and dramatic climax. George Sanders, Walter Slezak, Una O'Conner, Kenth Smith and Philip Merivale have important roles in the Jean Renoir-Dudley Nichols production.

ADMIT FARM WOMEN TO U. S. CROP CORPS

Farm women working on their own farms, or on other farms, now are eligible to enroll in the Women's Land Army, a part of the U. S. Crop Corps. "We feel that farm women are making an important contribution in food production and merit special recognition. Extending membership in the WLA will help in this regard," said Miss Myrtle Weldon, state leader of home demonstration work. The plan has received national approval. Farm women desiring membership in the Women's Land Army should register at their county extension offices to be certified as members and to be eligible to wear the regulation uniform.

The minimum requirement for membership is one month's agricultural work. It may be done continuously, or it may be done for one-fourth of the time for four months, one-sixth of the time for six months and so on. Physical examination and special training are not required of farm women.

It is expected that most of the farm work done by women will be gardening, tending poultry, candling and packing eggs, washing or caring for dairy utensils, making and packing butter, stripping tobacco, and picking, grading and packing fruits. However, other jobs on the farm, as handling machinery or driving the tractor, may be done by women if the need arises.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Mrs. R. Guy Coyle, of Bath county is brooding 200 White Holland turkeys. This is the second year that Mrs. Coyle has raised turkeys in a brooder. She finds it is more satisfactory to buy poults than to keep breeding stock.

Reports from poultry dealers in Daviess county indicate that approximately 2,000 roosters were bought during the rooster-swatting campaign. Ten times the usual number of birds purchased was reported by one dealer in the county, while others increased their sales three to five times.

Norris Ferguson of Metcalfe county fed out a litter of seven pigs that weighed 1,900 pounds in five and a half months. The pigs, self-fed corn and wheat supplemented with skimmilk and pasture, were sold for approximately $252, giving Mr. Metcalfe a profit of $116 above feed costs and labor.

Knife racks, removable shelves for cupboards, partitioned drawers for cabinets, dishpan racks and water bucket stands were made recently by representatives of homemakers' clubs in Henderson county. Using scraps of lumber from lumber yards, they made kitchen conveniences in the school workshop in Henderson.

Sixty-two lambs were raised from 43 ewes by Frank C. Rankley, Jr., of Henry county, making a production record of 144 percent. Jim McDonald of the same county averaged 10 pounds of wool from his flock of 24 northwestern ewes.

Farmers in Kenton county are getting free repair service on their farm machinery. Through arrangements made with the vocational education department of the Kenton county school board, in cooperation with the war program for training people in industry, broken parts are repaired promptly to save valuable time for the farmers.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Fifteen farmers in Mason county entered the hog-feeding contest sponsored by the purebred livestock association in that county.

A first-aid kit in every home is a goal of homemakers' clubs in Johnson county.

Seven dealers in Harrodsburg sold more than a ton of bluestone for treating tobacco, and could have sold more had it been available.

Homemakers' club members in Larue county are growing edible soybeans for the first time.

FARMERS SEEM TO BE DOING WELL

A splendid philosophy was explained by Secretary Wickard of the Department of Agriculture when he appeared before a Committee of Congress investigating the Farm Security Administration. "It is my conviction that this government must do everything practical to see that every worthy and industrious farm family has an opportunity to operate, manage and eventually own its farm," he declared. The Secretary referred to early days when there were endless tracts of cheap and worthless lands, and plenty of land for homesteaders. He reminded Congress that at one time farm lands were owned and operated by large land owners and corporations. In recent years, he related, more than one million farmers received "rehabilitation loans" from the government. Then came an increase in the net worth of lands and farmers began to pay up loans on their properties until in the present year the ratio of prepayments has reached the amazing rate of 93.5 per cent. As of May 5 the Farm Security Administration had paid back its borrowings from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation until all but $67,782,000 of a total of $329,640,000 has been liquidated. He also told the Congress that the Tenant Purchase borrowers are repaying their loans at the rate of 99 per cent. On the face of that report given by the Chief of the Department of Agriculture the farmers seem to be doing pretty well.

...and Greyhound is part of its fighting power

This county is America in cross-section—fighting mad and fighting hard, doing its level best to back up our troops across the seas with the home-front cooperation they must have.

All of us are putting the drive that counts behind the particular jobs that are ours to do—whether it's sending our men to the colors—building their guns and ships and planes —raising their food—buying bonds—or moving manpower.

Men and women of this community, loyal Greyhound employees, are busy keeping buses rolling to help keep our war effort in high gear. They're driving the buses—keeping them mechanically fit—conserving vital materials—giving wartime travel information—handling baggage.

As our share in this county's joint war program, Greyhound is taking our local boys to induction centers—and bringing them back home from training camps on well-earned leaves. We are transporting our neighbors to their vital jobs in war plants and bd farms. We are keeping essential travel on the move—linking up this county with the other busy communities of this state, where so much of the Nation's war activity is centered.

We're in this fight to win — we didn't start it but we're going to finish it!

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

The following article was clipped from a New York paper:

Pvt. John H. Cook, home, Petersburg, Ky. "When the women in the WAAC started replacing soldiers in many Army jobs, like most other soldiers, I was dubious about their ability to do this work, but there's no doubt about it now. In many instances they are doing the work better, and they've eliminated a good deal of goldbricking."

Mr. and Mrs. Andy H. Cook, Petersburg, Ky., received a letter and cablegram from Pvt. John H. Cook stating that he has arrived safely overseas and is now stationed in North Africa. He reports that the weather is very hot and that he is getting along just fine. Pvt. Cook was formerly mail clerk on the Cincinnati and Nashville and Cincinnati and Chattanooga railroad. Pvt. Cook was stationed in New York in the Postal Battalion before going overseas. His present address is: Pvt. John H. Cook, ASN 35685005, APO 761, care Postmaster, New York, N. Y. Letters from friends would be greatly appreciated.

The following letter was received from Pvt. Lee R. McNeely, 402 T. G. Flight C, Box 166. Gulfport Field, Miss:

Recorder. My only reason for not "I am just now getting around to thanking you for sending me The Recorder. My only reason for not writing sooner is just that I am very busy.

"The Recorder means a lot to us soldiers from Boone County, who are away from home. I usually get it on Saturday or Sunday and even before I leave the mail room I start reading it. My parents always give me the local news, but for news from all over the county, there is nothing quite like The Recorder.

"I am taking basic training here. Merely getting acquainted with Army life in a tough way. This training will last from two to three months and then I will be sent to school to become an aircraft mechanic.

"Again I say 'thanks to a swell fellow for a swell paper.' I would appreciate letters from everyone back home."

Pvt. McNeely's address appears at the head of this article.

C. C. Rice of Ft. G. Meade, Md., writes: "Just a few lines of thanks for the changing of my address. I haven't failed to receive a copy since you started sending me your paper immediately after my induction into the army. . . . I hope everyone enjoys your column 'With Our Boys in Service' as much as I, for it is a grand method to let most of us know the location and address of our friends and home town folks. . . Due to a slight misfortune I am doing personnel work in the Casual Detachment, instead of combat training as before . . . Thanking you again for the pleasure of your newspaper. Yours, respectfully, Pvt. C. C. Rice."

• • •

Pvt. Eugene Setters, Co. B, 801 T. D. Bn., Camp Hood, Texas, ASN 35663162, writes: "Just a line or two this morning, as I have nothing to do. I receive The Recorder every week, thanks a lot for it. I just found in it the other day where one of my neighbors was in Camp Hood with me. . . . The weather sure is hot here . . . I enjoyed by furlough in June and I'm looking for another one by Christmas. Thanks again for the paper and good luck to everyone . . . I've been made second cook—boy is it hot in the kitchen! . . . I've gained around 40 pounds since I went into the army. We get plenty of everything to eat and all the coffee and sugar we want. . . Tell all my friends 'hello.'"

• • •

The following letter was received from Jake Edwards of Scott Field, Ill.:

"As I have been receiving The Recorder quite often, I think I should drop you a line to show my appreciation. To me it is valued very high, and I look forward to it every week. It brings news of the old home town and county, and keeps one in touch with all his friends in the service.

"I graduated from the Truax Field Radio school where I had the pleasure of meeting 'Top' Porter, and I need not say were glad to see each other.

"I am now a student here at Scott Field. We are studying the Army Airways communication system.

"I would like to hear from all my friends in Boone County, and I'll do my best to answer. I remain a friend of all Boone County."

Fort Knox, Ky.—A picked group of technicians from armored units all over the country was enrolled today in the Armored Force School for a course in tank mechanics. Assigned on orders from Maj. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, Jr., Chief of the Armored Force, these men will be trained for the important task of keeping the Army's tanks in fighting trim.

Among the new students is Sgt. John Owen Sebastian, Burlington, Ky., R. 1.

The Armored Force School, commanded by Brig. Gen. Joseph A. Holly, is one of the world's largest technical institutions. Operating on a two-shift system, the school turns out thousands of specialists for service with the fast-moving armored divisions.

The tank department gives students a detailed knowledge of engines, power trains, suspension systems and other elements of the complex tank mechanism. In addition to trouble-shooting and repair, much emphasis is placed upon a system of preventative maintenance.

The men have an opportunity to study engines in action in a half-million-dollar live-engine-test building where they work on Diesels, vertical and radial gasoline engines actually operating under load.

Now serving in the ranks of the U. S. Navy, William L. Bethel, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bethel, Dixie Highway, Florence, Ky., has reported to the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., for a period of "boot" or recruit training.

There he will be given training in the rudiments of seamanship, Naval customs and procedures, military drill, and physical hardening. He also will take a series of aptitude tests designed as an aid in placing him in the type of work for which he is best fitted.

An apprentice seaman now, he will be promoted to seaman, second class, upon graduation and given a nine day leave. Then he will be assigned to a service school for specialized training, or be sent directly to duty at sea or a shore station, depending upon his scores in the aptitude tests.

Some Bluejackets who have had sufficient experience in a skill needed by the Navy are given petty officer ratings and assigned to active duty immediately.

VOTE FOR HENRY WARD
Democratic Candidate For LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

YOUR VOTE FOR WARD IS A VOTE FOR KENTUCKY'S PROGRESS

★ EXPERIENCED

Ward is the only Candidate with Legislative Experience. He has served as Representative continuously for the past 10 years and was elected Democratic Majority leader at the last session.

★ CAPABLE

Ward has authored, sponsored and voted for more constructive, progressive legislation for the benefit of Kentucky and its citizens than perhaps any other man in the history of the Commonwealth—including T.V.A. to provide cheaper electricity—R.E.A. to electrify Kentucky farms—better education for our children and better pay for teachers—enlightened Labor Laws—fair taxes and opportunities for Kentucky business—Free Toll Bridges—better roads and farm to market highways—airports—old age pensions—improved State Institutions—economy in Government. Ward's 10 years in the Legislature covers the period of the State's complete freedom from debt and the enactment of laws to prevent it going into debt again.

★ PROGRESSIVE

Governor Johnson speaking of Ward said, "I have never known a man to work harder or more loyally, ingeniously and effectively for the good of his State and its people than Henry Ward."

Reward a faithful public servant. Vote for Ward, the man with the record of faithful performance and accomplishments.

Marvin Jones' Crop Report

War Food Administrator Marvin Jones said recently that, on the average, farmers are meeting this year's production goals for field crops. Earlier reports indicated that livestock and livestock products also will reach production goals. Mr. Jones said: "We will have enough food in this country—given at least average weather for the rest of the year—to give civilians adequate and healthful diets, in addition to meeting military and other essential wartime requirements. This does not mean, of course, that there is any better chance than appeared earlier for having all the food that civilians would like to buy, or that civilian supplies for some individual items will not be far below the demand.

"For some important crops—including rice, oats, flaxseed. and potatoes, estimated 1943 acreage is well above the year's goals.

"Acreage of corn, hay, barley, grain sorghums, cotton, and tobacco is about at the goals. Acreage of sweet potatoes, dry field beans, peanuts, and sugar beets is below 1943 goals."

Soldiers' Life Insurance

Soldiers—at home or abroad—are reminded that less than three weeks remain in which they can get National Service Life Insurance without a physical examination. Until August 10, 1943, every application will be accepted regardless of the individual's medical condition. After August 10 a rigid physical examination will be required.

Program To Avoid Clothes Rationing

A program to make clothes rationing unnecessary, recently announced by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of WPB, contains these six points: (1) increased production, (2) orderly and adequate distribution, (3) more "volume" merchandise, (4) allocation of materials to essential needs, (5) increased imports of burlap, and (6) proper care of clothing by consumers. There is an adequate supply of textiles to meet civilian needs, the WPB has determined.

Farmers Will Get Gasoline

"Farmers are entitled to first call in receiving motor fuel when they present valid 'E', 'R' or bulk coupons or ration checks which are issued pursuant to Ration Order 5-C of the Office of Price Administration. Dealers (whether retail or wholesale) must accord them this privilege. This means, that if necessary, the dealer shall not deliver any motor fuel for any non-agricultural or non-military use until these preferred demands have been "satisfied"—statement by Acting Petroleum Administrator for War Ralph K. Davies.

Dairy Products Supplies

Civilians will get 8 of every 10 pounds of butter produced in the year which began July 1, the War Food Administration has announced. The Armed forces will get 1½ pounds, and the Russian Army will get ½ pound. Civilians will also get 5½ of every 10 pounds of cheese, and 4 1-3 cases of evaporated milk out of every 10.

Dry Beans For Civilians

Civilians will get more dry beans and peas this year than they consumed in 1942, said the WFA in announcing allocations of these foods. More than half of the 22,200,000 hundred pound bags of beans will go to civilians, who will also get 1,624,000 bags of dry peas—more than were eaten in 1942, and 76,000 bags more than the 1935-39 average civilian consumption.

Canned Vegetables and Fruits

Nearly 70 percent of the canned vegetables, and 53 percent of the canned fruits and juices available in the next 12 months will go to feed civilians. These quantities, allocated by the WFA for the 12 months beginning July 1, constitute about 4 percent more canned vegetables but about 40 percent less canned fruit than were consumed on the average during the 1935-39 period.

Egg Supplies Hold Even

About the same quantity of eggs will be available to civilians in the 12 months beginning July 1, as in the same period last year, the WFA has indicated. Of a total of 5 billion dozen eggs, civilians will get about 3½ billion dozen.

Soldiers Send Money By Radio

American soldiers overseas except those in Alaska, Hawaii, Panama Canal Zone, and Puerto Rico may now send money home by radio. In a recent week more than 9,000 soldiers sent nearly $1,000,000 in amounts of $10 or more, with no maximum limit. Money may be transmitted to an individual payee, or to a bank. The process is speedy and sure. If a soldier desires to do so, he may also purchase war bonds by this method.

Frozen Food Locker Prices

New operators of frozen food lockers must charge prices in line with those charged by firms in business in March 1942, the OPA has ruled. Prices charged by new frozen food locker plants will be investigated and adjusted by the OPA according to prevailing prices for similar services in the same locality in March, 1942.

No Corn For Liquor

Corn cannot be used for manufacture of distilled spirits and high wines, a recent directive of the War Production Board says. The action was taken to conserve stocks of corn for essential purposes, although the amount of corn saved is likely to be small because distillers already had shifted largely to the use of wheat.

No Cotton Quotas For 1943

The War Food Administration, on recommendations of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, has announced that there will be no marketing quotas for the 1943 cotton crop and that no quotas will be in effect for the 1944 crop. On July 1, farmers were cultivating about 8 million acres less cotton than the acreage permitted in 1943, and about a million and a half fewer acres than they were cultivating on July 1, 1942.

Farm Land Values

Farm land values on March 1, 1943 were higher than they were in 1942, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said, in explaining that the index of average per acre values had risen to 99. (1912 to 1914 equals 100. The index of average per acre values in March, 1942, was 91. A low point of 33 was reached in 1933 in the aftermath of inflation started during the last war. One anti-inflationary force at the present time is the fact that many farmers have been using a considerable part of their cash income to pay off mortgage debts.

Country Shipper Berry Prices

Maximum prices of seven kinds of fresh berries for table and home canning use have been set by the OPA. Maximum prices. per pound. f. o. m. country shipping points, are set as follows: red raspberries 18 cents; black raspberries 16 cents; youngberries, boysenberries, loganberries, and blackberries 15 cents; gooseberries 11 cents. These prices represent a sharp roll back at the country shipper level and comparable prices have been established at wholesale, both of which are expected to reduce prices of berries to consumers.

8 Million Pounds of Waste Fats

American housewives salvaged almost 8 million pounds of waste kitchen fats in May—highest total since the fats and grease salvage program was started. This result surprised government officials who said that a drop might have been expected because meats and fats have been rationed since March. Nevertheless, the 8 million pounds is only about 50 percent of the needed quota of 16,667,000 pounds per month.

Rollback of Vegetable Prices

Effective July 20, a rollback of about 25 percent in the price of lettuce and 50 percent in the price of cabbage was ordered by the OPA. This was the first step in a program to cut back the excessive prices of fresh fruits and vegetables to keep the cost of living down.

More Community-Wide Prices

OPA will continue to establish community-wide prices on foods sold at retail, even though it has recently issued over-all fixed mark up regulations. The housewife cannot easily tell whether a storekeeper has made his prices by the markup method, and that is reason OPA will proceed with community wide maximums.

HENRY WARD LAUNCHES EXTENSIVE STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN FOR LT. GOV.

Henry Ward, Democratic majority leader of the state House of Representatives, has launched an intensive state-wide campaign in behalf of his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor. In addition to touring the state, he has arranged a series of addresses, including radio speeches.

Two main points are being advanced by Ward as arguments for his election: (1) His ten year record of official performance in the Kentucky Legislature as a representative, as assistant majority leader and finally as majority leader. (2) He is the only candidate for Lieutenant Governor who has ever served in the state legislature and one the state Legislative Council. The main duty of the Lieutenant Governor is to preside over the Senate branch of the legislature and to act as chairman of the Legislative Council.

Ward, a Paducah newspaper editor, has served five consecutive terms in the house, having been elected for the first time in 1933, and has been one of its most active members. Scores of acts that he sponsored are now law. They include measures authorizing the creation of the REA cooperatives in Kentucky, allowing Kentucky towns and cities to obtain the cheap electric power made available by the Tennessee Valley Authority, the school equalization fund, expansion of state aid to agriculture, promotion of the rural highways program, farm to market roads, and more "home rule" for towns, cities and counties.

Ward was selected as assistant majority leader in the House in 1940, and was elected by the members as majority leader in 1942. In that position he handled the details of the legislative program in the house.

He has been active in the Democratic party for years. In 1938 he served as state publicity chairman for Senator Alben W. Barkley, majority leader of the U. S. Senate.

Ward's campaign platform includes pledges to support an appropriation of $13,000,000 for the school fund, an appropriation to provide educational opportunities for young men and women whose education was interrupted when they were called into service, freeing of intra-state toll bridges by July 1, 1944 and inter-state toll bridges by July 1, 1945. Ward also advocates a thorough study of the state tax system to determine changes necessary to encourage the industrial and commercial development of Kentucky.

He is for economy in government, having worked and voted for a law to prevent the state from ever going into debt again.

Approximately 10,000 pounds of wool will be shipped from Oldham county this year.

The American's Creed

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a soverign nation of many sovereign stated; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes."

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

(Written by William Tyler Page, Clerk of the House of Representatives in 1917; accepted by the House on behalf of the American people, April 3, 1918.)

William Tyler Page's The American Creed was imbedded deeply in the hearts of the American people during the last World War, and doubly significant to me, as I stood on the steps that lead up to the Rotunda entrance of our National Capitol Building where it was first presented to a vast crowd assembled in front of the building, and I'll never forget the tremendous ovation that sevelled from thousands of throats on that chilly winter afternoon; and then again when it was approved by the House of Representatives for the American people April 3, 1918.

I believe it was then that I, a lad sixteen years old began to take interest in political affairs. I know my heart swelled with pride, as did the hearts of the other Page boys there, and we were so inspired that we organized a Junior House of Representatives of our own.

To me that creed is the embodiment of the Democrat Party, and I know that I have never regretted my party affiliation.

I have been a Democratic voter for twenty-one years and during that time I've never had to regret or make apologies for the actions of our Democrat Administration.

As a candidate before the Electorate of our two counties in this district for the party nomination for State Representative, I want you to know there is a glad handclasp of Democratic party affiliation to each and every one of you. It may not be possible to see each one individually for time will not permit, but through the Press of our two counties I want to have an article or a message in each week to let you know how I stand on various issues and what my platform will be.

You know my Democratic beliefs and I want the voters of this district whose political policies coincide with mine to line up with me and cast their votes along those party beliefs, for me.

Young men seventeen or eighteen years old, just ready to finish high school and enter college have been drafted or have volunteered for military service with our Armed Forces; to this stalwart army of young American boys I want to extend the heartiest congratulations, for you will find that eighty per cent of them have volunteered. Many of these boys' hearts were centered on a college career and I want to go on record now, and state if I am elected to the office of Representative I will make every effort to have a bill passed whereby any of these youngsters when they return to their homes after the war is over, it will be possible by State approval for them to enter our State University either through Scholarship or Co-operative Courses. I think this would be a splendid opportunity to let these youngsters know that we at home are interested in their educational career.

By law, they as minors, have no voice (by ballot) in our governmental affairs, and yet ("whose just powers are derived from the government") they are shouldering without a murmur our military responsibilities.

To the parents of these boys who have left the ties of the home to fight for the American way of life, let me help these lads (when they return home to you) by your ballot finish their education by enacting into law a bill whereby it will be made possible.

I stand four square on the pledge I made in my announcement for this office and will be ever constant in those purposes.

Surgical Shoes

HISTORY—Mrs. G. E. M. suffered headaches and neckaches. Her neck ached so intensely at the base of the skull she could hardly see. Days at a time she could not get out of bed because of the severity of the pains. She read one of our ads., telling of the good work were were doing, and decided to see what we could do for her. After a very short time wearing surgical shoes, pain in the head and neck lessened till finally it disappeared entirely and she is well and happy. It is now possible for her to do her own work even when it is necessary for her to climb stepladders. Surgical shoes seemingly worked miracles for her.

COMMENT — Strain on ligaments and tendons naturally has a weakening effect upon muscles. Continued neglect of these conditions may be the cause of your aches and pains in the neck and back and if you have been unable to get relief, come in and let us see what we can do for you.

If your ankles are weak and you are constantly rolling them, surgical shoes are definitely the answer to your problem.—Adv.

WOMEN WILL STUDY WARTIME PROBLEMS

How to meet wartime situations will be the basis of a study of homemakers' clubs in cooperation with the extension service of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, during the coming fall. Sixty-three counties having home demonstration agents are now planning their programs.

Requests for information concerning new fabrics, substitutes and their care, and how to make garments on hand last to the limit of their possibilities, indicate a general interest in conservation of house furnishings through repair, cleaning, upholstering or slip-covering.

Homemakers' clubs in several counties have asked for assistance in planning better use of time and energy through short cuts, labor-saving methods, and more efficient arrangements of kitchen equipment and storage facilities.

Better health for Kentucky families is promised through a study of nutrition and continued production and conservation of food.

Ninety-five percent of Green county's farmers raising sheep plan to market their wool through the Kentucky Wool Growers' Cooperative Association.

COUNTY AGENTS TO HANDLE FARM LABOR

In accordance with law passed by Congress, the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, through its county agricultural and home demonstration agents, has assumed full responsibility for the recruitment and placement of agricultural labor within the state. In two counties, McCracken and Daviess, the Extension Service of the College has contracted with the United States Employment Service for handling the farm labor problem. In all other counties, requests for farm labor and applications for agricultural work are to be filed in the county extension office. In other words, farm agents' offices are placement centers for farm labor.

Under the act passed by Congress, the Extension Service may conduct the following activities:

1. Operate placement centers to (a) receive all requests from farmers for farm labor; (b) receive applications for farm work; (c) fill orders for work by referring workers.

2. Carry out a mobilization and recruitment campaign within the state and within each county to supply needs for year-round, summer months, or short-term farm work.

4. The organization and development of a Women's Land Army to utilize non-farm and farm women for farm work.

5. Train non-farm youth, non-farm women and intrastate workers. The training of non-farm youth will be done in cooperation with the public schools and the U. S. Office of Education. Most of the training is expected to be on-the-job training.

6. Conduct a continuous educational campaign to insure the efficient use of farm labor.

Donaldson Favors Assistance To School Teachers

The Covington Federation of Teachers, Local Number 736, in executive session, has offered its unqualified endorsement of J. Lyter Donaldson for Governor of the State of Kentucky.

This Local appreciates the forthright stand taken by Donaldson on matters of education. In an answer to the questionnaire sent by the State Federation of Labor, Donaldson states, "I would advocate an annual appropriation to the common school fund for each year during my administration of not less than $13,000,000.00 and an annual appropriation of not less than $200,000.00 to be used and expended to provide scholarships for those boys and young women whose education was interrupted by their service in the armed forces of our country. This pledge should substantially improve the conditions now affecting the school teachers."

Donaldson also takes a definite and constructive stand on Labor policies, declaring himself ready to ". . . use such influence as the Governor may properly use in recommending to the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate that the Labor Committee of the House and Senate be composed of members of those bodies who are known to be progressive and fair minded and not hostile toward labor, or any other group of citizens."

Donaldson declares, "During recent years, the rights of labor have been given formal recognition by legislative enactments. These rights must be preserved and safeguarded. I consider that a pledge which I shall respect and fulfill."

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

A Sunday night supper in summer is made more enjoyable for both guests and hostess when a cold menu is planned. Then most of the preparation may be done early in the day. Main dish of the meal might be a jellied loaf of ground veal, pork or chicken, supplemented with a hearty salad of potatoes or macaroni, a fresh vegetable or two from the garden, a refreshing beverage and fruit. Such a meal will be both tempting and satisfying.

From Miss Florence Imlay, food specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, comes this recipe.

Chicken Loaf

4 c. ground cooked chicken, 1½ c. chicken stock, ¼ c. chopped celery, ¼ c. mayonnaise, ½ tsp. salt, 3 tbsp. chopped parsley, 2 tbsp. chopped pimento or green pepper, 2 tbsp. gelatin, ¼ c. cold water.

Cook celery and parsley in chicken stock for a few minutes to extract flavor. Soften gelatin in cold water and add to hot stock, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Add other ingredients and pour into greased mold until firm. Keep in refrigerator or cool place. Ground, cooked fresh pork or veal may be substituted for the chicken.

Menu: Chicken loaf, macaroni salad (macaroni, hard cooked eggs, celery, cucumbers, sliced radishes and onion) spiced beets, bibb lettuce, rolls and butter, sponge cake and berries, iced tea stretched with mint leaves and sweetened with syrup.

In the midwest war production region, 2,200 war plants reported a 69 per cent interest within six months in the employment of women workers.

Asparagus, strawberries and chickens were canned in large quantities by homemakers in Kenton county during the past month.

TOP PRICES SET FOR WAR FOOD

WILL COVER ESSENTIAL STAPLE FOODS THAT GO INTO AMERICAN FAMILY'S MARKET BASKET.

To win this war, Americans must work. To keep working, they must be able to get the necessities of life at reasonable prices. The top prices set by the Office of Price Administration, District Office for each of four classes of stores cover the essential staple foods that go into the American family's market basket. This price control program is an attack on the high cost of living.

Ceiling prices have just been established in Boone County for each of the four classes of stores and including the following items: bread, butter, coffee, cooking and salad oils, cereals, canned citrus fruits and juices, flour and flour mixes, fresh milk, evaporated and condensed milk, honey, lard, macaroni and noodle products, packaged dried fruits, poultry, packaged cheese, shortenings, syrups, sugar, pork, sausages, beef, veal, lamb, mutton, many canned fruits and vegetables, jams, jellies and preserves, and soaps.

The ceiling prices set for groceries are community prices. They are not set by Washington, but by the District Office of the Office of Price Administration, by men who know your community and its war time problem. The mark-ups used in setting these prices are based on extensive surveys of existing retail mark-ups. Your community prices are based on the wholesale prices in your area, plus these mark-ups. A few examples of these prices are as follows:

Bread
Butter
Quaker Rolled Oats (48 oz.)
Post Toasties ((11 oz.)
Maxwell House Coffee (1 lb.)
Eight O'clock Coffee (1 lb).
Lard (1, 2 or 4 lb. cartons)
Milk per quart
Poultry (live fryers)
Poultry (dressed and drawn fryers).
Granulated Sugar (2 lb. pkg.)

This order covers hundreds of other items. Information regarding their prices can be secured from Price Clerk at the Local War Price and Rationing Board. Every retail merchant in the county will be supplied with a copy of this community price list. It is hoped that a printed list may be issued to all housewives in the near future.

With her list of prices in her hand, the housewife can see for herself that each store is doing its part in the fight against black markets in this time of National emergency. We will have millions of new Allies against the black markets in this time, of National emergency. We will have millions of new Allies against the blacket market chisler who has been stealing business from legitimate merchants and gouging the public at the same time.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. W. L. Cropper is very ill at her home here. She has been in ill health for sometime, but has been in serious condition since Saturday.

FAIR CATALOGUES SUPPLIED LEADERS

EVERY EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO SUPPLY REQUESTS FOR BOOKS—SPECIAL PRIZES WILL BE OFFERED THIS YEAR.

The 1943 Boone County 4-H and Utopia Fair catalogues are out and are being supplied 4-H leaders and Utopia Club members, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The 1000 copies printed are not sufficient to supply each individual but every effort will be made to accommodate all requests.

The Food for Victory Edition this year is offering special prizes for garden and other exhibits. These classes are open to everybody as well as special classes for 4-H members, Utopia members and Homemaker Clubs.

The fair this year will be more of a county picnic than ever before, Farm families who have done an excellent food production job are urged to bring their basket dinners and spend the day in getting new inspirations and recreation for doing a better job on the home front.

Utopia Club To Hold Fair Meeting July 29

The Boone County Utopia Club will hold a special fair planning meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Moore of near Hebron on this Thursday evening, July 29, according to Margaret Allen, publicity cairman.

Special committees will be appointed at the meeting to make plans and to assist in the fair program.

Meredith To Speak At Walton August 4

Spaking in behalf of Ben Kilgore candidate for the nomination for governor, the Honorable Hubert Meredith, Attorney General for the State of Kentucky, will be at Walton on Wednesday, August 4th at 3 p. m. (EWT).

Mr. Meredith, who is now Attorney General of Kentucky spoke in behalf of Mr. Kilgore at Burlington a few weeks ago. He is an able lawyer and an interesting speaker. The public is invited to attend.

Stocking Local Ponds

The State Fish and Game Commission thru District Conservation Officer Edwin Johnson, of Walton, cooperated this past week in stocking five local lakes.

The stock fish were taken from overstocked ponds and planted in new lakes, Logan Keith and Dr. Harry Holton of Florence and Edward Deters of Walton cooperated in the restocking operations by donating surplus fish from their lakes.

4-H CLUB CAMP GREAT SUCCESS

SEVEN COUNTIES REPRESENTED AT CAMP BINGHAM—NINE BOYS, SIX GIRLS FROM BOONE ATTEND.

The 4-H Club camp at Camp Bingham in Washington County was a great success, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent.

Two hundred and fifteen boys and girls from seven counties, took part in the activities of the camp. Every boy and girl had definite responsibilities. The time was about equally divided between recreation and instruction. All instruction centered around methods of preserving foods and feeds for winter use.

The Boone County delegation was made up of nine boys and six girls. Seven of this number of boys had earned scholarships and all six of the girls were champions. David King of Verona and Wanda Pennington of New Haven received special recognition at camp. They were among six who were voted medals for outstanding camping. Billie Acree was chosen as one of the Star Campers. Honorable mention goes to Corrine Walton and Barney Hogan. The delegates were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent and O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent and Sgt. Curtis Moore, Camp Shelby, Miss.

Other 4-H members who attended were Bernice Sebree, Florence; Martha Pfalzgraf, Helen Rogers, Betty Setters, Hebron; Everett Stephens, Lafe Miller, and Wilbur O. Ryle, Grant; Billy McWaller, Verona, and Tommy Atha of Hamilton.

Everyone expressed themselves as having had a good time at camp and most members went home with the thought in mind that they would go back to camp next year. They know that to go they must win the various club activities—for this reason an improvement in interest and project work is expected.

James F. Houston

James Francis Houston passed away at his home, Richwood Road, Sunday, July 25, following an extended illness. He was 67 years old and had spent his entire life in Boone County.

He is survived by his widow Mrs. Mary Moore Houston; three sons Howard, William David and Robert all of Richwood; one brother Ruben Houston, of Hebron; two sisters Mrs. John Stephens, Florence and Mrs. Walter Wolf, of Erlanger.

Funeral services were conducted from Chambers & Grabb's funeral home, Walton, Tuesday at 2:30 (EWT) with burial in Hopeful Cemetery. Rev. R. F. Demolsey officiated at the funeral services.

Local Sunday School Team Chalk Up Victory

The Burlington Baptist Church Sunday School team chalked up another victory Saturday afternoon when they met the Sanders Drive nine on the local park, Burlington school grounds. The final score was Burlington 13, Sanders Drive 12.

The Burlington nine, under the guiding hand of manager Walter Brown looked good considering the age of the various players, many of whom are only 11 years of age.

The writer has witnessed many games played by professionals and semi-professionals that were far less interesting than the game Saturday.

Sanders Drive took an early lead in the game which was short-lived, as the Burlington boys came back in the second inning to pass them by a 2 run margin. Ten innings were required to decide the winner.

Both teams displayed good sportsmanship, and both Florence and Burlington should be proud to have these boys in their community.

Squirrel Season For 1943 Starts August 15 Throughout Kentucky

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky open season on squirrels will begin August 15 and end on October 31 throughout the entire state with a daily bag limit of six, it was announced today by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

The opening and closing dates of the season and the bag limit, applying to the state as a whole, are the same as were in effect during the 1942 season and which met with general approval on the part of the hunters.

An abundance of squirrels has been reported from most sections of the state by Conservation Officers and other observers, indicating that reports show the squirrel population above that of last year and favorable conditions for good hunting following the opening of the season.

Kentuckians were reminded by Wakefield that Kentucky Game laws require every hunter to have a 1943 license, regardless of age, with the only exceptions being the resident farmer owner and tenant who limits his hunting to the farm which he owns or on which he is a tenant.

Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bresser celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Sunday, July 18, 1943 with a large number of relatives and friends present. Lunch was served on the lawn and moving pictures were taken of the entire group.

Reuben Kirtley, of East Bend neighborhood was in Burlington on business, Tuesday afternoon.

H. R. HENSLEY NAMED CASHIER

OF FT. THOMAS BANK IN FT. THOMAS, KY.—HOWARD HUEY TAKES OVER FARMERS BANK IN PETERSBURG.

Howell R. Hensley, Petersburg, has recently been appointed head cashier of the Ft. Thomas Bank in Ft. Thomas, Ky., and will take up his duties there this week.

Howard Huey, well known farmer of Petersburg, will take over the cashier's duties at the Farmers Bank this week. Mr. Huey has been a successful farmer near Petersburg for many years, and will be able to carry on the management of the Farmers Bank in the same fine manner as it has been conducted in the past.

Mr. Hensley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hensley of Grant, Ky. He received his education in Burlington high school, Eastern State Teachers College and the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A. Business School. He has been cashier of the Petersburg bank for the past 7½ years. He was one of Boone County's finest young businessmen and had the respect and confidence of all who knew hem.

We regret to see him leave our county, but know that he is going to a better position and that he is deserving of only the best. We join with his many friends from all parts of the county in wishing him much success in his new location.

Florence Child Accidentally Shot With .22 Caliber Rifle

Erwin Etler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin A. Etler, of 159 Sanders Drive, Florence, was shot accidentally Saturday while at play with his cousin at his home. The bullet from a .22 caliber rifle lodged in the child's ankle.

The child was removed to Booth Hospital, Covington, by a neighbor Harold H. Hunter, where the bullet was removed. The child was released after treatment and is improving nicely at the home of its parents.

AMMUNITION TO BE ALLOTTED

KENTUCKY SPORTSMEN BASED ON MIGRATORY WATRFOWL KILLED BY HUNTERS IN STATE.

Frankfort, Ky.—Ammunition to harvest the 1943 wild game crop in Kentucky will only be allotted in proportion to the number of wild ducks and geese killed by Kentucky hunters in 1942, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Kentucky Division of Game and Fish, announced upon his return from Washington, D. C., where he conferred with officials there in an effort to secure enough shells for the coming hunting season.

Wakefield stated that official Washington assured him that ammunition would be forthcoming but did not say in what amount. Wakefield conferred with an official of the Remington Arms Co., and was told that Kentucky's quota of ammunition in the form of shotgun shells would be of a heavy-loaded type with large shot—size four and five—and would only be issued in proportion to the number of wild ducks and geese killed by Kentucky hunters in 1942.

Wakefield pointed out that the large part of game killed in this state is of the upland species, consisting mainly of rabbits, quail and squirrels. Such heavy-loaded shells are unfit for such small game and would tend to tear the meat so badly as to make it unfit for eating.

Normally Kentucky hunters shoot 10,000,000 shells to harvest the upland game crop but proper use of ammunition would harvest that crop with 5,000,000 shells.

He stated that a 1942 census of wild game killed in the United States made by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service showed 1,400,000 rabbits; 1,250,000 squirrels; 2,800,000 quail, and 1,500,000 doves taken by Kentucky nimrods. This total constituted approximately 2,000,000 pounds of dressed meat which could be placed on the tables to help relieve the domestic meat shortage.

Miss Mary Bess Cropper attended the opera at the Cincinnati Zoo, last Thursday night.

X-Ray Clinic Will Be Held In Boone County

Through cooperation of Boone County physicians, Christmas Seal Sale, Red Cross and Kentucky State Department of Health, an X-ray Clinic will be held in Boone County the first part of September.

Any one interested in an X-ray of the chest, will please see your local doctor, as soon as you can. There has to be a limit on the number taken at this clinic, and those getting first appointments will be sure of attention.

All persons, particularly children who have been in contact with any one having tuberculosis, should have this chance of an early diagnosis.

After seeing your doctor in regard to need of an X-ray, then make an appointment with County Red Cross Nurse, Elizabeth Lowry, Burlington.

Burlington Farm Group Assists Farmers

The Burlington farm volunteer group assisted two more farmers this past week in harvesting fifteen acres of hay crops. This group is comprised of approximately fifteen local business men and county officials.

Contrary to the original plans for this group the workers todate have refused to accept pay. They state they are only interested as a patriotic service and desire to select from requests only those in need and who could not otherwise harvest their crops.

Regardless of what plans followed these men do an excellent job of work. They render labor service in the same efficient manner they work in their own business and to date they have gotten the job done.

Mrs. Mary Andrews

Mrs. Mary Andrews, aged 91 years, died Saturday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Collis, 17 Cowie Ave., Erlanger, Ky., after a short illness.

In addition to Mrs. Collis she is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Anna B. Brown and Mrs. Pearl Banker of Cincinnati; three sons Walter and John Andrews of Goshen, Ohio and Lorren Andrews of Cincinnati, O.; one sister, Mrs. Anna McKibben, Loveland, O.; 4 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

Funeral was from the Taliaferro funeral home, with services at the Goshen, Ohio Methodist Church Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., interment following in the local cemetery.

Miss Mary C. Cox

Miss Mary C. Cox, passed away early Thursday morning at her home 114 Elm St., Erlanger, after a long illness. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro funeral home for preparation.

Miss Cox was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, but had lived in Erlanger for forty-two years. She is survived by one brother Wm. E. Cox, with whom she made her home.

Funeral services were from the above residence Saturday at 8:30 a. m., with requiem high mass at St. Henry's Church at 9 a. m. by the Rev. H. J. Egbring, pastor, interment following in St. Joseph Cemetery, Price Hill, Cincinnati, O.

Funeral director Philip Taliaferro had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Local Girl Wins Coveted Medal At Eastern College

At the June Commencement exercises the Kappa Delta Pi Medal given by the Delta Alpha Chapter of Eastern State Teachers College to the Sophomore ranking highest in scholarship, character and qualities of leadership, was awarded to Miss Mary Margaret Yaes, of Burlington.

Miss Yates, who is a Home Economics major, was recently elected president of the Home Economics Club and vice president of the Young Women's Christian Association. She was further honored during the past year by receiving membership invitations from Future Teachers of America, World Affairs Club, and Kappa Delta Pi.

THIRD WAR LOAN DRIVE TO BEGIN SEPTEMBER 9

BANKS WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO SUBSCRIBE—QUOTA HAS NOT BEEN ANNOUNCED, ACCORDING TO CHAIRMAN.

Organizations throughout the nation are being perfected in anticipation of the approaching Third War Loan Drive to begin September 9th for $16,000,000,000 to be subscribed by individuals. This is much greater than the Second War Loan last April.

Banks will not be permitted to subscribe to any of this amount. The various issues will not be announced until about September 9, when the drive starts.

Joshua B. Everett, State Vice Chairman of the Kentucky Committee of the War Finance Committee in charge of the eastern half of Kentucky, in which district Boone County is located, and A. A. Hines, Executive assistant to State Chairman Ben Williamson, of Ashland, were in Burlington one day last week in conference with A. B. Renaker, relative to organization for this Third War Loan Campaign.

These gentlemen requested that the Boone County organization remain intact as constituted in the two previous drives except that the committee will be known as the War Finance Committee, and at their insistence Mr. Renaker agreed to accept the chairmanship of Boone County for the coming campaign.

Sometime in advance of September 9th, Mr. Renaker stated that he expected to call a meeting of all precinct chairmen, who have been serving, to receive suggestions and work out details of the organization.

The State organization is composed of Ben Williamson, Ashland, Chairman, W. H. Courtney, Lexington, Chairman of the State Executive Committee; with Joshua B. Everett of Maysville, chairman of the eight groups of the eastern section of the state, of which Boone is a part, and Edward A. Vosmer, Covington, chairman of Group 1, which includes the counties of Boone, Campbell, Grant, Harrison, Kenton and Pendleton.

It will take the combined and unlimited efforts of every man and woman in Boone County this time to reach their quota, which has as yet not been assigned, but we know the quota will be much larger than in the last drive which means that all of us will have to make larger subscriptions than in the past.

The war news is most encouraging, and it is up to us on the home front to keep the money flowing to the boys on the firing line to bring this horrible war to a speedy conclusion.

Judge Goodenough Will Speak At Florence Fair Grounds July 31st

In the announcement last week that Judge Joseph Goodenough was to speak at Florence on Saturday, July 31st, we were unable at that time to give the place where the address would be heard. It has been announced this week that the speaking will be held at the old fair grounds site and that there will be sufficient accommodations for as many as care to attend.

Judge Goodenough will speak in behalf of the candidacy of J. Lyter Donaldson for Governor of Kentucky.

The address is scheduled to begin at 8:30 (EWT) and the public is invited.

Bullittsville Christian Church Picnic Set For Sunday, August 1st

The Bullittsville Christian Sunday School will hold its annual Sunday School picnic at the church Sunday, August 1. Bring your lunch and come to Sunday School and spend an enjoyable time.

Ben Kottmyer, Sunday School Superintendent extends a cordial invitation to everyone.

LABOR SHORTAGE IS REPORTED IN CO.

HARVEST OF HAY AND TOBACCO ARE MOST DIFFICULT LABOR PROBLEMS CONFRONTING FARMERS.

A survey of the labor situation the past week as reported by local farmers indicates hay harvest and tobacco are the two most difficult labor problems now confronting the farmer, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Fruit picking, tomato picking and before long, corn harvesting, silo filling and small grain seeding were also listed as labor problems in the near future.

Farmers the past two weeks have done an excellent job of hay harvesting. It is estimated that more than 60 per cent of the grass and clover hay has already been harvested.

Recent hot weather and lack of rain gives indication of a drouth over several sections of the county. A large percent of the corn is now reaching the tasseling stage, when a rain is important. Tobacco on many farms is beginning to fire at the bottom of the plant.

Every effort should be made to plan work and cooperate in harvesting the most important food and feed crop ever produced in the County. Our farmers are doing an outstanding job in meeting this challenge. The cooperative and helpful spirit between farmers, their neighbors, businessmen, friends and others have never before done as good a job toward getting food produced and harvested under the most difficult conditions.

LIST OF COMMUNITIES WHERE DRIVERS LICENSE WILL BE SOLD BY CLERK

A. D. Yelton, Clerk, will personally be at the following places on the following dates for the purpose of issuing operators' licenses to persons living in and around these communities:

Union—July 29th, Union Bank.

Florence—Feed Store, July 30th and 31st.

Burlington—Every day except Sunday.

Persons who have not had an Operator's License, are required to take the test given by the Highway patrol, and these tests will be given in Burlington on Monday of each week through August 2nd and every other Monday thereafter.

All applicants for license must present their old license when applying for new license.

Applicants under the age of 18 years must be accompanied by their father when applying for their license, according to A. D. Yelton Circuit Court Clerk.

FORMER RESIDENT KILLED IN ACTION

ALLEN F. WALKER, SON OF REV. AND MRS. FARRISH E. WALKER REPORTED KILLED IN ALEUTIANS.

Allen Flannigan Walker, son of Rev. and Mrs. Farrish Elmer Walker, 267 Washington Avenue, Bellevue, has been reported as "killed in action" in the Aleutian area.

The Navy Department originally listed Walker as missing after he had failed to return from a patrol flight over the Pacific in the Aleutian area. He had been stationed in that area for more than a year.

Radioman Walker was a former resident of Burlington, his father having held the pastorate of the Burlington Baptist Church for a number of years.

He is a graduate of Lloyd High School, Erlanger, in the class of 1939. He had been in the Navy for two and a half years.

Rev. and Mrs. Walker have two other sons in the service. They are William A. Walker, aviation machinist's mate second class, and Farrish Walker, Jr., 24, who has been stationed in England for a year.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

The coal miners have agreed to work until next October with proviso that mines remain under government jurisdiction. They appear to feel that a state of socialism in the coal industry bereft of wage negotiations, is preferable to the bargaining processes between employer and employee inherent under the American system of free enterprise.

Commenting on such "arrangements," the Saturday Evening Post observes: "Up to now, the only means of enforcement considered available when a strike menaces war production, is to seize the factory or the mine in which a strike is threatened. In other words, we meet the situation, not by punishing the individual who refused to arbitrate or negotiate and ordered the strike, but by taking over the property of his employer who may have obeyed all 'directives,' agreed to every proposal to negotiate and conducted himself in a generally responsible manner. The result, if logic guided all such transactions, would be that the communists, who want the government to seize industry, could attain their heart's desire simply by fomenting enough strikes!"

Blame for interrupted coal production rests on the Federal government. Until onesided legislation such as the Wagner Act is corrected, giving both employer and employee equal rights; until the present administration abandons expediency and favoritism in labor matters; until top officials in the Federal government stop putting political careers ahead of country, injustice and the trend toward socialism will continue. And as socialism broadens its grip, labor unions march toward oblivion, as in dictator nations where state socialism has displaced both labor unions and private enterprise. The miners are playing with fire when they promote destruction of ownership and operation of private enterprise.

NEVER FINISHED

When a tank or a plane rolls out of a factory, the job of building that particular item is finished. By comparison, the job of the railroads is never finished. First, they must move the materials to the factory to be fashioned into implements of war. When that is done, they must then haul the completed weapons to points of embarkation to fighting fronts. During 1942, nearly one million carloads of export freight were delivered to the ports by rail. In March, 1943, unloading of export and coastal freight at United States ports totaled more than 100,000 cars.

The railroads are a continental assembly line stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, moving the materials of war thru various productive processes in virtually every stage of development. But this is not the end of the job for the railroads. It takes men to man the weapons. The railroads must move millions of men from their homes to military training camps, and then from these hundreds of camps to ports of embarkation for distant fighting fronts.

With all of this, the job of the railroads is still merely beginning. Gasoline and rubber shortages have caused millions of people to turn to the railroads. In the first three months of 1943, passenger-miles—that is, the number of passengers carried for a distance of one mile—were about 90 per cent more than they were in the corresponding period of 1942. Thruout the war, the railroads have had to carry on their own peacetime duties of keeping the nation fed and clothed and warm and at work, as well as shouldering those of other agencies which formerly shared in the task, such as coastwise shipping.

It is not surprising that the public has a warm spot in its heart for the railroads. They have done and are continuing to do a job as immeasurable as it is endless. And they are doing it well.

JOBS DONE ON TIME BY SWAPPING WORK

Swapping work to help out in the labor shortage is being done more than ever in Simpson county, according to Farm Agent Woodrow Coots. An example of exchange of work was noted on the farms of P. M. Wiedemann and Lee Carter. Mr. Wiedemann had a field of upland seeded to rye, to be turned for cultivation, and Mr. Carter had a field of crimson clover on relatively flat land. Both men owned tractors. When the Wiedemann field of rye was ready for turning a week in advance of the clover, Mr. Carter brought his tractor and helped turn it. When that job was finished, Mr. Wiedemann helped turn the crimson clover. As a result, both fields were turned under at the proper time.

If every man, woman and child in the United States lays aside $100 the aggregate will be about $13,000,000,000 or the amount the Treasury must raise in its Second War Loan.

THIS MAY HELP.

If you find it difficult to make up your mind regarding the relative merits of the various funeral services available, you may find it helpful to remember that ours is one of the oldest services in Boone County.

Chambers & Grubbs' service was founded in 1906, and ever since then we have been earning the good will of Boone County people by offering the finest of service at reasonable prices.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

GOD DELIVERS HIS PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 5:22, 23; 6:1-7; 12:51.

GOLDEN TEXT—Call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me.—Psalm 50:15.

Why doesn't God do something? People are quick to ask such a question in a time of crisis. Today they want to know why God permits the war to go on. In the day of our lesson Moses wanted to know why God did not deliver His people from Egypt. He and Aaron had been appointed of God to lead them out, but their first efforts only met with failure and increased persecution.

The complaint of Moses, and the response of God make an instructive story for our consideration and guidance. It will answer our questions.

I. Moses Said, "Thou Hast Not Delivered Thy People" (Exod. 5:22, 23).

When the efforts of Moses brought heavier burdens on the people they blamed him and Aaron for making their situation worse. This sorrow and shame made them doubt God's calling and commission. How quickly men are discouraged in their purpose to serve God.

The people were wrong in their attitude. They should have been patient. They ought not to have assumed that the loss of the first skirmish meant the loss of the whole campaign.

Are we not just like them? The new minister or the recently elected Sunday school superintendent makes a mistake and instead of helping him to pick up the pieces and start over, we decide that he just will not do, that we must have a change.

Even though the people were wrong, however, the man of God should not have lost his faith and accused God of failure to keep His promise. He was supposed to have learned the lesson of patience in the long years on the backside of the desert. Had he forgotten the experience of the burning bush?

II. God Said, "I Am Jehovah, Thou Shalt See What I will Do" (Exod. 6:1-7).

In other words, Moses was to remember that he was dealing with the Eternal One, unchangeable, and always true to His word and able to make His will come to pass.

So often men in dealing with God think of Him in terms of their own weakness and failure. What we need is to have a Godlike conception of God, not a manlike idea of Him. God is the infinite and Eternal One with whom we have no right to quarrel, and whose dealings with us are too high for us to judge (Ps. 139:1-6).

God's covenant with His people was established (v. 4). He had heard their cry (v. 5) and His deliverance was sure (v. 6). The only thing Moses had to do was to wait and see God work.

That word "wait" is a little one. It seems to call for no effort, to be easy of fulfillment; yet it seems to be the hardest thing for a human being to do. Men who carry the burden of active warfare with ease and with honor become discouraged and sick when they must sit in a prisoner's concentration camp and wait for deliverance.

Christians who can speak and work for God when things are active and moving become querulous and despondent when they have to wait for something to happen, or when they are laid aside for a time.

His promise is sure. That is not just a religious sentiment. It is a fact, and it is proved by history. Note that in the case of Moses—

III. History Said, "It Came to Pass the Selfsame Day" (Exod. 12: 51).

Moses had to take God's word, for "the selfsame day," which we read here came later. It came in God's own time, after He had, through Moses, humiliated and broken the hard will of Pharaoh. Then He gave His people the great memorial feast of the Passover, teaching them the needed lesson that redemption is by the shedding of blood.

In that night Jehovah did bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt. That deliverance was as certain the day He made the first promise to Abraham (v. 3, and Gen. 12:1-3) hundreds of years before, as it was now that it had been accomplished.

History is really God's story, revealing His outworking of His plan for mankind. The torn and blotted pages are man's handiwork. Sin and unbelief have caused him to hinder the work of God, but God is not defeated, and in the midst of man's self-created chaos, He proceeds quietly to work out His own purpose.

The many prophecies of Scripture which have been fulfilled not only prove its divine inspiration, but demonstrate its dependability. Every promise of God is "yea and amen" in Christ (II Cor. 1:20, 21). We can count on that!

WAR PRISONERS

By John E. Murphy
WCKY Director of Publicity

With The Army Service Forces, Camp Breckinridge, Ky.—Hitler's haunted Afrika Korps soldaten interned here as prisoners of war are learning:

1. That democracy can work.

2. That New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Charleston were not bombed to ground level by the Nazi luftwaffe—as the Korps had been told!

I couldn't quite fathom their attitude toward us, singly and as particles of a nation that was pinning back their ears, as we toured their compound. The first ones I saw were working at some distance in a crew that could have been a gang of WPA workers.

Later, however, as I stood face-to-face with them and exchanged stares, I attempted, unsuccessfully, to peer behind their exteriors. I think most of the youths (the average age is 22) resented our gaping, pencil and pad in hand ready to jot down their most minute reactions.

Practically all were attentive of the visitors as we moved through. A flighty intuition nudged me and said the Nazis among them were thinking, "yes, we are here today, but shortly der Fuehrer will come and our positions will be reversed. You will be our prisoners." All of the P. W.'s here are not Nazis. Some are Poles and Austrians and possibly as anti-Nazi as Churchill.

There was no typical foe among these youths. Until they talked, they could have been the John Smiths, U. S. A., that are herded, too, in prison camps in Germany. Scrutinized, impolitely, each was as individual as a fingerprint.

I asked the American officer in charge of the compound, Lieut. Col. E. W. Chester, to ask one of the younger-looking Germans how old he was. The question was put in German, and the lad replied, "zwei und zwanzig." Somehow I expected this soft-countenanced youth to answer the colonel in english—or in some manner I could understand. I was sure I could know this youth—until he spoke. Then I realized that our acquaintance might require time.

Two or three of the prisoners snickered as we walked through their barracks. Sensitively, I imagined that by this furtive expression they were going as far as they could with their evident disdain, I'm sure one of the snickering prisoners could have happily spit in our faces.

The apparent expression of a majority of the prisoners was carefully noncomittal. Those indoors snapped to a precise "achtung" when the American officers and guests entered their buildings, and the ones outdoors lost interest in what they were doing and returned our critical inspection.

I was surprise at their youth. One prisoner here is 14, a specimen in age far from the common conception of Hitler's crack North Africa Korps. One doesn't expect seasoned desert soldiers to look like high school manual arts students.

Kentucky's sun has further tanned these prison soldier boys. They romp in the compound recreation fields, or work in their flower gardens stripped in sundry stages down to shorts and less. Many ran barefoot by choice.

The compound quarters are as immaculate as a new hospital. Vats of bean soup, with weiners, or spareribs with vegetables, boiled merrily in the kitchens, attended by scrupulous young Germans with paddles. Col. Chester, who admits he tramples the German language about as relentlessly as a Brooklynite overdoes our own English, smelled each cauldorn and said, "ah, gud, gud . . . that smells fine, boys."

These incarcerated Axis soldiers reflect the precision of their race down to the placement of table utensils. Inverted bowls are stacked before meals along their long eating boards only after the position of each has been determined by a measuring string.

Everything, save their clothing, is uniform. Each is wearing what he arrived in shortly after Casablanca, which wasn't much for some of them. Their worn out clothing is replaced, however, by their American custodians and the prisoners suffer no inconvenience. Nazi uniforms are a strange sight hanging from barrack walls in peaceful western Kentucky.

Much of the German pride among these youths has been lost with capture, and for that reason identifying photos of them are prohibited by the U. S. Army. Despite the loss of face, the prisoners seem to relish some of the personal privileges which were certainly engulfed in desert warfare. They are permitted to retain the "little personal things" so cherished by young men away from home.

Behind and above their bunks are photographs, apparently of family or other loved ones. One of the lads has a handkerchief on which is imprinted the Lord's Prayer. He hid it before we arrived.

Fifty per cent of the prisoners are Catholic. Practically all go to church. Either they go for want of better occupation, or the alleged atheism of the Nazis is the bunk, Col. Chester declared.

A Lutheran chaplain, coincidentally named Kaiser, and a Catholic priest who hears confessions on Saturdays and holds communion and mass on Sundays, administer the moral requirements of the prisoners.

The Axis soldiers, drilled in the ways of dictatorship, are learning here that democracy works for us and for them. At the suggestion of the supervising American officers, the prisoners are operating a democratic form of representation with compound officials, and the prisoners seem satisfied.

All officers here, of course, are American. There are a few noncommissioned officers among the Axis soldiers.

If a prisoner works at jobs other than camp maintenance or on roads or farms, he is paid 80 cents a day, but if he doesn't work he is paid only 10 cents daily. Most prisoners volunteer to get the 80 cents.

Their meals are prepared by their own cooks and bakers, who add the Germanic touch to the American menus. For posting in the dining rooms, menus are printed in German. Compound regulations likewise are printed and posted in German. "No Smoking—Rauchen Verboten" is seen frequently.

Prisoners of war here are permitted to buy a pint of 3.2 percent, "G. I." beer daily. A majority of them stem from beer-drinking stock. Some, however, prefer soda pop. For a while compound officers had difficulty keeping the table cruets filled with vinegar. It was discovered that early arrivals at the eating boards were mixing the vinegar with sugar and drinking it for "schnapps."

These Axis war prisoners are flower lovers. Their gardens were not quite in full bloom while I was there, but were painfully artistic in contour and design. Each company has the built-up earth designs. In addition, they are cultivating a 50-acre vegetable farm of 7000 tomato plants, several thousand pepper plants and 10 acres of cabbage.

The prisoners are told nothing of the war's progress. No newspapers or magazines reach them. They may write and receive mail. In their ignorance of developments in the war, many of them believe Germany and her Axis nations are winning the war.

Whatever optimistic views they may have had on the magic of the Nazi Luftwaffe were dealt a blow as they were transported cross country from the Atlantic seaboard. Col. Chester said when the prisoners arrived here, they remarked, "my what marvellous engineers you Americans are to be able to rebuild New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Charleston. Our Luftwaffe bombed all those cities very hard."

In their possession when they arrived in camp, Col. Chester disclosed, was a map showing principal cities where they stopped enroute. Few carried anything they could not keep and take into the compound. Some razor blades and one camera, and plenty of counterfeit francs evidently printed for use in North Africa, were confiscated.

Among the prisoners are scores of adept workmen, like carpenters. They are being used to erect small camp buildings. Other crews are building roads. One small group, working on a crushed rock walk presented an amusing incident.

As we approached the gang, one young head-shaved German youth became extremely uneasy. He was trapped, so to speak, with a hatchet in one hand and an incomplete wooden clog in the other, and was supposed to be working on the walk. Displeased and embarrassed, the youth thought quickly but not well and began to drive the would-be sandal into the ground as though it were a marking stake.

The captain escorting us laughed, and said in English, "you're not fooling anybody, boy." The delinquent prisoner didn't understand except that his hand had been disclosed, but one of the other prisoners who understood English began to giggle and told the wayward one how foolish he had been to attempt a subterfuge on the American party. The clog maker scowled, but was kidded into laughing finally by the other crew members.

I couldn't learn much in the Axis prison compound. I was confused and disappointed that I hadn't been able to deduct more accurately. It is difficult to comment and philosophize about an illegible book, or a book of blank pages.

It's just as hard to compare these "P. W." youth with their battlefield counterparts still proudly wearing a swastika and vowing our destruction. I guess where they are makes a difference!

THE GARDEN

FOOD FOR NEXT WINTER
By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

Fortunately, the bean picture is not dark yet, as all the month of July offer a possibility for planting. Green snap beans may be produced before frost if planted to July 31, and green shell beans the same.

Beans to be used in dry form (Navy, Great Northern and the like) will be far enough along to save, planted July 15, although perhaps not enough mature for seed. The situation is that the demands of the Armed Forces and our Allies may make "commercial" dried beans scarce, and even dried beans salvaged from spent rows of green snaps may become valuable. Thus, the stragglers forming on rows already picked and abandoned for fresher beans will bear protecting from the Mexican beetle, this year.

Even bush limas can be produced, albeit not a full crop, planted July 15, and with favorable weather; but gardeners and farmers must, and always do, assume that the weather will be kind.

To make any crop sure, plant food must not be lacking; land that has already made a crop this year should be re-fertilized, particularly with phosphorus, as this is the food element that hastens maturity. Also, land preparation should be of the best; a good seedbed, "all the way down," so that any chance showers may take effect. Best of all, of course, is to use fresh land, which has been kept stirred, successive crops of weeds throttled as they start, to save the moisture that fell last winter and early this summer. Crops have been made with no shower rain at all, only the winter reserve.

A word is in order relative to cultivation. With continued dry weather at least a possibility, moisture conservation must go on, the soil kept stirred only enough to upset weeds as they start, but never even approaching the level in which the vegetables' roots lie. One-half inch is right.

LOWER GUNPOWDER

Those visiting at the Shinkle home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. George Sullivan, Ed Shinkle and family and Bud Ogden and Mrs. Schwenke.

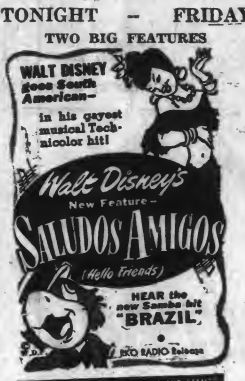
Mr. and Mrs. Garland Huff and daughter spent Wednesday evening with her sister, Mrs. Alberta Love.

Norman Schwenke and sister Alma and James Jones and sister Mary Lou Jones took a pleasure trip to Dick Schwenke's in Illinois over the week-end.

Mrs. Tommy Williams spent several days last week, here.

The Big Bone Baptist Fish fry will be held Saturday of this week. Come, enjoy the day.



A revival meeting is in progress at East Bend Baptist Church. They are having a two-week meeting. Bro. Helton is bringing the message each evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell and son spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ryle at Burlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Aylor and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jones and family at Union, Sunday.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY
(Double Feature)

Co-starred with Milton Berle, Mary Beth Hughes romps through her first all-comedy role in "Over My Dead Body," the rollicking 20th Century-Fox murder mystery coming to the Gayety. Though she's been in films for several years, it's Mary Beth's first opportunity to do a real comedy role. Reginald Denny and Frank Orth top the featured cast of the film.

Rio de Janeiro is a painter's paradise. At least that's what some of Walt Disney's ace artists thought when they visited there last year, gathering material for "Saludos Amigos," Disney's newest feature-musical entertainment.

Beauties of the country were captured in watercolors by Lee and Mary Blair, Herbert Ryman, Jack Miller, James Bodrero and Frank Thomas.

Many of their watercolors were later transferred to the sparkling "Brazil" part of the feature, which accents a new paint-brush technique on the screen.

SATURDAY

Voodooism and romance are blended in "I Walked With a Zombie" RKO Radio's newest horror-chiller film with James Ellison, Frances Dee and Tom Conway heading the cast.

Laid on a lonely Caribbean island the picture deals with a trained nurse's thrilling experiences with a mysterious patient who proves to be one of the "walking dead" or, in native parlance, a "zombie."

Edith Barrett, James Bell and Christine Gordon are also featured.

Sunday and Monday

While all the world listens in, a famous woman flier soars into eternity, as the dramatic climax of her heroic effort to serve her country in RKO Radio's "Flight for Freedom," starring Rosalind Russell and Fred MacMurray.

The exciting action carries thru ten years of aviation history prior to 1942 and reveals how the last flight of a woman ace made possible the successful aerial bombings of such Jap-held islands as the Gilbert and Marshall groups.

Herbert Marshall heads the supporting cast of this David Hempstead production.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Hollywood's "voice of Hitler" the off-scene speaker used in numerous motion pictures and radio programs to imitate the German tyrant's bellows, was cast as a mere German soldier in 20th Century-Fox's gripping picturization of John Steinbeck's great novel, "The Moon Is Down."

The voice belongs to Hans Wollenberger. He plays one of the Nazi soldiers of the invasion army that tries to subjugate the proud, freedom-loving inhabitants of a small Norwegian village.

WOMEN ALL OUT FOR FOOD PRESERVATION

That Oldham county homemakers plan to have all the food possible through canning or dehydration is indicated from different parts of the county. Up to July 1, an unusually large amount had been canned. Mrs. R. E. Clausen with the help of her two 4-H club daughters had canned 83 quarts of greens, 80 pints of peas and 40 pints of asparagus, besides some beans and raspberries. During the month, homemakers' club members reported having canned 517 jars of beans. A series of eight canning demonstrations, given by Home Agent Lilah Hembree, were attended by 415 homemakers, they in turn planning to reach their neighbors with new canning information.

Campbell, Mason and Harrison counties stocked their fish ponds with fish from the Brooksville reservoir.

THE FUSE IS BURNING

During recent years while the pendulum of political strategy was swing in favor of beneficent labor laws and increased regulation of business, vote-seeking politicians have time and again stepped across the line in their capacity of lawmakers to show open-armed favoritism to certain groups, principally labor.

Out of the welter came such laws as the Wagner Act, the National Labor Relations Act, the the Guffey Coal Act, and others. These laws were drawn to appeal to the votes of organized labor. Justice and the national welfare were ignored. Labor racketeering and strikes increased. Evil as these are, especially in wartime, something worse has come of the class-conscious legislative thinking that has ruled Washington—a frightening admiratoin for personal government has sprung up within the groups which the politicians have patronized. If this admiration prevails indefinitely, our republic will perish, for it was founded on a government of laws, not of men—and its laws must be just if it is to survive. Government seizure of the nation's coal monies is only superficially attributable to the war. Under constant politically-inspired labor strife, it would have come eventually anyway. At last an important segment of the private enterprise system has been engulfed. As long as the coal mines remain under the total control of government, their former owners together with the mineworkers are operating under a system of state socialism. If we want the system to expand and become a permanent substitute for capitalism, we have only to sit back and continue along the path we have been following. At its end there is neither private enterprise nor labor unions.

Congress should move immediately to amend or remove every law which deliberately favors labor or any other single group.

SHORTAGE DEVELOPS IN HERBS AND ROOTS

War conditions are being blamed for a shortage in roots, herbs, barks and other minerals from which certain drugs and medicines are made, according to reports reaching the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Many persons who commonly spend part of the summer gathering these materials now are working in defense plants. As a result some of the companies buying and processing herbs and roots are having difficulty getting supplies of these raw materials, despite the fact that they are said to be offering the highest prices in 25 years.

Many of these materials are found in Kentucky woods. They include wild ginseng, golden seal, slippery elm, snakeroot, may apple, wild ginger, ladies slipper and bloodroot.

REBUILT PLANTERS USED TO SOW HEMP

How farmers in Wayne county used rebuilt corn planters to put their seed hemp in ,is told by Earl G. Welch, agricultural engineer for the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

O. F. Shearer planted 100 acres of seed hemp with a rebuilt two-row corn planter which had been junked five years ago. He paid $6 for the planter, and Alfred Abbott rebuilt it for $15.

Bryan and Shelby Keeton bought a 50-lear-old hand-tripped two-row corn planter for $6.25 and O. L. McIntosh of Monticello rebuilt it for $25. One hundred acres of hemp for seed were planted in four days.

In order to plant hemp rows 5 or 5½ feet apart, it was necessary to make the machines wider, which necessitated welding extensions to the axles. It also was necessary to drill new plates for semp seed.

Both machines were made available to neighbors for planting hemp for seed.

KENTUCKY 4-H CLUB NEWS

Grover Keith Cook of Nelson county, owner of three ewes, has sold two lambs averaging 90 pounds for 16 cents a pound, and has one lamb and 21 pounds of wool yet to sell. He already has bought one $25 war bond.

Catherine Elliott of Casey county raised 650 chickens which averaged about two pounds July 1. She expects to keep the pullets for her laying flock. This is her second year raising poultry.

Keeping careful records on all costs, Lucille Curry of Franklin county made $62.35 on 150 chickens sold at the age of about three months.

Thomas Phillips had the grand champion lamb at a show sponsored by the Franklin-Simpson county chamber of commerce. It was a Southdown-northwestern cross weighing 95 pounds, and sold for 16 cents a pound.

SAYS STATE NEEDS 3,000,000 ACRES OF CORN THIS YEAR

To insure a supply of feed for the large numbers of livestock in Kentucky, the State College of Agriculture at Lexington believes corn growing should be increased to the first World War figure of 3,000,000 acres. This would mean about 275,000 acres more than is usually grown in Kentucky, and should add 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 bushels to the crop.

Livestock numbers are among the largest in the history of Kentucky. Hog production will be more than a half-million head over 1942, and cattle and sheep numbers are at high levels. It is expected that chicken production may be a million and a half over last year.

Coupled with the large numbers of livestock is the possibility that other states may be short of feed, and the importation of corn into Kentucky thereby limited. Transportation difficulties also are increasing. Another factor in the feed situation is the winter-killing of barley and oats sowed last fall for winter and spring grazing.

In addition to increased corn growing, the College suggests the seeding of lespedeza, soybeans, sudan grass and cane as pasture and hay crops. Where alfalfa stands are thin, it is recommended that seed be broadcast this spring, as one means of increasing hay production.

Many farmers are said be planning to use trench silos this year. In them can be put bluegrass, alfalfa, sudan grass, cane and corn ensilage.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

The Hart County Farm Bureau purchased an 89,000 pound car of wheat to be used in feeding hogs and beef cattle and in dairy and poultry rations.

Bourbon county, which usually imports large amounts of grain for livestock feeding, is seeding approximately 20,000 acres to barley.

Frances Mahurin and Bertha Young, 4-H club girls in Grayson county, canned respectively 350 and 340 quarts of fruits and vegetables, while 13 members in the Yeaman 4-H club caned a total of 2,212 quarts.

About 75 percent of the members of homemakers clubs in Hardin county pack lunches for school children or men working away from home.

An income of $3.09 per hen was the experience of Mrs. Claude Young of Hopkins county, her flock of 122 hens averaging 173 eggs per bird.

The sheep improvement association in Grant county sold 2,222 lambs this year, some of which brought 85 cents above the market price on ungraded lambs.

Approximately 400 storage devices and kitchen conveniences were made by homemakers in Fleming county during April.

Farmers in Carlisle county will plant more than 5,200 acres in hybrid seed, which is about a fourth of the total corn acreage.

Soybeans will be grown by homemakers in more than 200 gardens in Mercer county this year for the first time.

Tobacco growers in Green county sold between $25 and $100 worth of ground leaves per acre, netting $1 to $2 per hour for labor.

Walton Clayton, breeder of Duroc hogs in Carlisle county, sold more purebred boars and bred gilts last month than any previous December.

Lee county farmers have surpassed the previous number of purebred chickens raised. Louis Hobbs increased his flock to 1,000 birds.

One hundred pullets on the William Stephens farm in Powell County produced 84½ dozen eggs in December with a profit of $18.80.

W. R. Halcomb of Perry county marketed potatoes from one and a fourth acres for $285 and he still has plenty for family use.

Floyd Pierce of Metcalfe county produced 1,872 pounds of tobacco on one and one-tenth acres and received $51.50 per hundred.

Twenty-five canning demonstrations attended by 450 women were given by the home agent and others in Tood county during June.

Several times as much barley was grown this year as heretofore in Robertson county, good yields being anticipated.

Carlisle farmers planted 600 acres of sweet potatoes.

beans, 900 acres of canning tomatoes and approximately 1,000 acres o fsweet potatoes.

In Trimble county, 840 strawberry pickers were recruited and placed on farms during the season.

Thorne wheat averaged 5 bushels more per acre on the farm of Nathan McCubbin in Taylor county, than wheat commonly grown in that community.

The acreage of soybeans for threshing in Hardin county is almost double that of last year.

Brother . . . quit being so human!

★ Remember 1933 — when times were tough?

Maybe you didn't have a job. Maybe you and your wife and kids didn't eat too well — dress too well — have too much fun. Maybe you swore then that if things were ever different, you'd make up for it.

Chances are, today, things are different. You've got a job. You're getting good money. And you'd naturally like to have a little fun with it. You'd like to buy some of the "extras" that you and your family never had during the hard times.

It's only human to feel that way. But right now — we've got to quit being so human!

Right now, over in England, a bunch of fellows are getting ready to tackle one of the bloodiest jobs ever given an Army. In the Pacific, another bunch is playing hide-and-seek with an enemy that thinks the right treatment for a wounded prisoner is a bayonet through the guts. Others are sweating in Africa — still others are on cold, dreary, fog-bound islands near the Bering Sea.

That's their job.

But it's our job to give them the tools they need to win — by buying War Bonds! And so far, we aren't doing our full job!

Right now, there are still people who ought to be buying War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan — but aren't.

While plenty of people in the Plan are investing more than the 10% Uncle Sam needs, a lot are putting aside less than they can.

The fellows who aren't yet in the Plan — or, being in, haven't yet hit their 10% — aren't unpatriotic, or 5th Columnists, or anything like that. They're just human. They just haven't realized their Country's bitter, crying need — now! They haven't realized that Americans have been licked in battle for lack of planes, ships, tanks and bullets — tools that the money we'd like to spend for fun has got to buy!

Uncle Sam hopes that every single one of us will realize it — by January 1st, 1943. By that date, everybody on a payroll should be on a Payroll Savings Plan — and we'll "Top That 10% by New Year's."

So, if you aren't setting aside your 10%, go on in and tell 'em you want to raise your sights. Not to 6%, or 7% or 8% — but at least 10%. If you can put in more than 10% — do it. If you aren't yet in on the Payroll Savings Plan — sign up tomorrow!

★ ★ ★

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:

If you are . . .

1. Already investing 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan — boost that 10% if you can.
2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet — sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager — and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan, for any reason, go to your local bank, or wherever Bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.

Lt. Harold Cook White, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cam White has been promoted to Captain. Capt. White is stationed at Co. A. O. C. R., Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Mrs. Ellison Rector received a letter from her son Pfc. Jack D. Rector who is now stationed in Louisiana. His address is Pfc. Jack D. Rector, 237 Engineer Combat Bn., Co. B. APO 403 Annex care Postmaster, Shreveport, La. He hopes to hear from his good friends soon.

Pvt. Hobert Willoughby, Jr., Btry C., 770 F. A. Bn., Camp Bowie, Texas, writes: "I have received your paper several times, but have not received it in the past three weeks. I sure did enjoy getting it and would like to receive it again. . . . Monday starts my 7th week of basic training and I think I am going to like my outfit very much. . . . Tell all of my friends in and around Hebron 'hello' and tell them to send me plenty of letters, because we really like to get mail from the boys back in good old Boone County . . . I have a buddy stationed here with me, his name is Robert L. McWethy and is from Petersburg. . . Please start sending me your paper again."

* * *

Pvt. Robert McWethy, Btry. B. 771st F. A. Bn., Camp Bowie, Texas writes: "I have been receiving The Recorder weekly, and I want to express my appreciation. It sure makes a fellow feel good to hear all the folks in good old Boone County are doing in their spare time. . . I am sorry I haven't written sooner to tell you how much I enjoy your paper. . . . I am sure that all are doing their part for a speedy victory . . . I hope this finds all well, and thanks again."

The following letter was received from Edwin "Skeets" Walton, stationed with the U. S. Army at Columbus, Ohio:

"I haven't received The Recorder now for four weeks and you can just imagine how I miss it. However, it is no fault of yours that I am not getting it. Since the middle of June I have been on the move so fast that The Recorder just hasn't been able to catch up with me. I left Camp Bowie June 19 for Camp Maxey, Texas where I was put in a S. T. A. R. (Specialists Training and Reclassification) center to await shipment to some university for specialized training. I'll long remember my stay at Maxey. We were quartered in what is to be a Jap concentration camp and were put through 8 hours of physical exercise each day. We had one hour of calesthenics each followed by a three-hour march. After dinner came one hour of Judo (unarmed defense) which is nothing more than dirty infighting; then came one hour of drill; one hour over the obstacle course and then more marching until 5:30 p. m. It was extremely hot while we were there and to make matters worse we were not allowed to drink any water between 7 and 12 a. m. and 1 and 5 p. m. Water discipline they called it. I have another name for it. I lost ten pounds in the first eleven days I was at Maxey, so you know they worked us pretty hard. Their excuse was that after being sent to school we would have things so easy that we needed hardening beforehand.

"I arrived here at Ohio State on July 4 and during the greater part of last week was in somewhat of a fog as to just what purpose I was sent here. It seems they didn't know exactly what to do with us after we got here. Their courses had been going on for three weeks so thy just dumped us in wherever they could. Right now I'm taking bacteriology, water analysis, and a survey of wartime diseases. Just what it will lead to only the army knows. As soon as the army and the university officials decide that they need me somewhere, out I'll go again. That may be in 6 weeks or in 6 months.

"Our living conditions here are splendid. We are quartered in the girls' dormitories (less girls). Our rooms have rugs on the floors, private baths, beds with innerspring mattreesses and everything. When I think of the food we get I can hardly face a civilian. It would be impossible to buy a meal like we regularly get here. Maybe now I can regain the pounds I lost in Texas. In case you get real hungry just come to Columbus, I'm allowed two guests per week.

"In spite of the fine food and living conditions they still let us know that we're in the army and the discipline is pretty strict. To fall out of formation going to class is a courtmartial offense. One boy was fined $25 last week for doing just that. We have to be in our rooms for study from 7 to 9 p. m. each evening and lights are out at 11. The only time we get off is from 4 p. m. Saturday until 6:30 p. m. Sunday, and you better be at that 6:30 roll call.

"I'm going to come home this week-end but won't get to go around very much since I won't get there 'till Saturday night and will have to leave at 1 p. m. Sunday to get back. I surely would like to see you when I do have a chance though.

"Tell Margaret 'hello' and also Ty and Siccum. If ever Siccum gets too tough to handle just let me know and I'll give you a few Judo tactics to use on him. You won't kill him but his grandchildren will all be cripples."

"Skeets" address is: Pfc. Edwin Walton 45685002, Co. C. 1552, Service Unite A. S. T. P, Ohio State University, Columbus, (10), Ohio.

Pvt. R. W. Tryling 35801266, Btry. C. 773 F. A. Bn, Camp Bowie Texas writes: "Just received two copies of The Recorder and certainly was glad to get them. I enjoyed the paper while at home and I appreciate it much more here. Seems like it keeps us in closer touch with home and the latest news. . . As you know I am in Field Artillery and like it fine. Texas is nice but not as good as Kentucky. . . . Tell all hello for me and I thank you for the papers—I certainly look forward to getting The Recorder."

Floyd E. McArthur, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McArthur, Burlington, R. 2, has been appointed a petty officer in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He received the rating of signalman, third class, upon graduation from the special training school for signalmen on the campus of the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill., recently. Now he will be assigned to duty with the fleet or at a shore station.

Now qualified to stand the "signal watch" on the bridge of a warship, he has received 16 weeks of instruction in sending and receiving International code by blinker, searchlight, and semaphore. He earned selection to the school by making high grades in a series of aptitude tests taken during recruit training.

Pfc. Charles R. Wood, 458th M. P. E. G. Co., (CIC) Camp Clinton, Miss., writes: "Im writing to thank you for sending me the Recorder and asking you to change my address . . . We are now stationed at the Clinton Internment Camp at Clinton, Mississippi . . . At the present time we are just doing enough to keep the camp going, while waiting for prisoners . . . I'm on guard duty tonight and it is plenty hot at 3 p. m. This afternoon it was 17 degrees in the shade—that's plenty warm for this country, but the heat here doesn't bother a person like it does back home . . . Tell all my friends back home 'hello' and to write me. I'm looking forward to a furlough sometime this year. Again thanking you for the good old Recorder."

The following letter was received from J. D. Riddle by his mother:

"Well here I am, safe and sound close to Seattle, Washington. I would tell you what camp but that man would only mark it out.

"We left Camp Shenango, Pa., Sunday at 6:00 a. m. and arrived here Thursday at 7:00 a. m.

"I sure saw some beautiful country coming out here. You can't realize what all we saw, antelopes, pheasants and a lot of things we didn't recognize. You never know how beautiful the Rocky Mountains are until you see them. Most of them still have snow on them. Some seem as if they just go out of sight into the clouds. We saw the mountains a half day before we reached them and it took us the rest of the day to go through them. I think I'll spend my honeymoon in the Rockies.

"I can lie in my bunk and look out over Seattle and Pudget Sound. I can almost throw a rock into Seattle. It gets pretty cold here at night, but warm up in the day time. It still isn't warm enough to wear summer uniforms.

"Washington is a fairly pretty state. Every way you look here, you see snow capped mountains in the distance. They look like they just fade away into the heavens. They are really tall and pretty, but there is still no place like home and I hope to see it again soon—the quicker the better.

"Every camp we occupy they tell us that we will get a furlough at the next camp, or either we should have had one before we got there. By now I have just about given up hopes of having a furlough.

"How is Truman getting along? Tell him I saw some real mountain streams that would be swell for trout fishing. I wouldn't mind being back there for a while myself for it was the most beautiful country I ever saw.

"This is where Bill Beacom took his training. I won't be here long but I am pretty sure I'm not going across.

"Parks was here but left yesterday for Alaska.

"I received a letter from you yesterday which was written July 10th. I was glad to get it even if it was old. So keep writing."

His address is Pvt. John D. Riddle ASN 35790832, Co. "I" 2nd Bn., APO 4333-A care Postmaster, Seattle, Wash.

John W. Miller, FAW 14, Hdq. Sq. NAS, Tanger 68, San Diego, Calif., writes: "Please excuse me for not writing soon, but I have been very busy and have not had the time. I just want to let you know that I certainly appreciate receiving The Recorder and I want to thank you so much. I certainly enjoy reading the news from home and knowing a little something of how you people are making out back there, I have learned the whereabouts of a lot of my buddies in service through your column 'on 'Boys in the Service' and it is swell to know where they are and how they are making out. . . I am stationed on an island right out of the bay here is San Diego and I am in a PBY squadron. They are the big flying boats of the Navy and being an ordnance man, my duties pertain mostly to the guns and bombs besides being a gunner . . . I enjoy my work very well and feel fine. Of course I am waiting for the day to come when I can come back to old Kentucky—the best place I know."

Town And Farm In Wartime

Ration Reminder

Gasoline—"A" book coupons No. 7, good for four gallons outside the East Coast shortage area, must last through September 21. All gasoline coupons in the possession of car owners must be endorsed with the owner's license number and state of registration.

Sugar—Stamp No. 13 good for 5 lbs., through August 15. Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 are good through October 31 for 5 lbs., each for home canning purposes. Housewives may apply to their local rations boards for more if necessary.

Coffee—Stamp No. 22 (1 lb.) good through August 11.

Fuel Oil—Period 5 coupons valid in all zones through September 30. Period 1 coupons in new fuel oil rations are good for ten gallons each. Occupants of oil heated homes are urged to return their applications for next year's fuel oil rations to their War Price and Ration Boards promptly.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 (1 pair) is valid through October 31.

Meat, etc.—Red stamps P, Q, R, and S, expire July 31. Red stamp T is valid July 25, expires August 31. U. is valid August 1, expires August 31; V is valid August 8, expires August 31; W is valid August 15, expires August 31.

To Equalize Gasoline Rations

Equalizing of gasoline rationing throughout the United States east of the Rocky Mountains will be recommended by the Petroleum Administration for War within sixty days. This action, aimed to spread the burden of war equally among all people, will probably result in some increase in gasoline rations in the East and some decrease in the Middle West and Southwest, according to Petroleum Administrator Ickes. It is not anticipated that there will be enough gasoline for driving which is not necessary.

Corn Needed For War Industries

Farmers who sell their corn to a country elevator buying for the Commodity Credit Corporation before August 10 are guaranteed extra payments to cover any increase in corn prices between the date they sell and October 31st. Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, has commended farmers who sell corn to relieve shortages in war industries and for feed, and has announced that more than 6 million bushels have been purchased since July 1.

Home Canning Jars

More home canning jars and covers were made in the first five months of this year than in the entire year of 1942, in anticipation of an unprecedented volume of home canning. Housewives will profit from a study of directions that come with each box of jars and covers, for the new three-piece canning top—glass lid, metal screw band, and rubber ring—must be used differently from other types of covers. Quality of jars and covers produced this year, says WPB, is high.

Soldiers Get Jobs

Men discharged from the armed services because of disabilities have a direct contact with the Veterans Employment representative in their own home town through a division of the United States Employment Service. Every attempt is made to inform the veteran of his reemployment rights under the Selective Service Act, help him get special training through the Veterans Administration, and to help him get a job in actual war production work.

Return Empty Bottles

Empty beverage bottles should be returned as soon as possible, says WPB's Conservation Division, to relieve the unnecessary drain on essential war production that results when new bottles must be made. All old beverage bottles can be put back into use, because they are completely cleaned and sterilized at the bottling plants.

No New Tires For Spares

New tires will not be rationed as spares in the next few months except to such persons as firemen and doctors, OPA announced recently. Drivers that do not have a fifth tire usable for a spare occasionally, may get a certificate for a used or recapped tire for that purpose.

Need Turkeys For Soldiers

Because turkey will be the main course of Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day dinners on every battlefront, American turkey raisers have been asked by the WFA to supply about 10 million pounds of turkey meat during August and September for shipping to armed forces overseas. The public is asked to refrain from eating turkey for a few weeks until this urgent demand for the armed forces has been met. Later in the fall civilians will have a supply of turkey approaching an all-time record production.

Home Repairs Are Essential

Wartime restrictions on building new homes makes it important that houses should be kept in good repair, according to Federal Housing officials. New home building is largely restricted to war industry areas and the majority of American families must depend on their present housing for the duration of the war.

Price Ceiling For Hogs

A ceiling price of $14.75 per hundredweight, Chicago basis, will be set on live hogs early in August, according to the OPA. This action was concurred in by the War Food Administration. The ceiling is below the 22-year high, but is above prices which live hogs brought before 1942.

Hose Grading Not Required

Women's rayon hosiery does not have to be labeled as Grade A or Grade B. the OPA said recently, although ceiling price and gauge or needle count regulations are still in force. The choice as to whether the Grade A or B mark will be placed on rayon hose is now left to the dealer.

Oven Canning Not Recommended

Home canners have been warned against the oven method of canning food by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Not only is oven canning slow and unsatisfactory, but it may lead to serious accidents as a result of misunderstanding of canning techniques. Disadvantage of oven canning mentioned by the USDA are: "Juice bubbles out or steams away; peaches and pears are likely to darken. For the vegetables that need high heat to kill bacteria, oven canning is not safe. Even though the oven goes to 250 degress F., or higher, food inside the glass jars stays at about boiling point." And the boiling point of water, 212 degrees F., is not sufficient heat to kill dangerous bacteria in a reasonable time in beans, peas, corn, and other non-acid vegetables and meat. For canning these, the Department recommends only a steam pressure canner, and for fruits and tomatoes the boiling water bath.

War Prisoners In U. S.

Prisoners of war interned in the U. S. total 65,058, the War Department has announced. Of these 45,355 are Germans, 19,641 are Italians, and 62 are Japanese. The Japanese are interned at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, and the others in 37 prisoner of war camps situated in 20 states.

Postpone Induction of Students

Induction of students 18 or 19 years old may be postponed until the end of their academic year, the Selective Service Bureau of the Bureau of the War Manpower Commission has announced, if their call to the armed forces comes during the last half of a school year. This applies to students in high schools and similar institutions.

Dry Onion Prices

Maximum prices that show an increased return for the farmer over last year have been established for dry onions at the country shipper level. Existing prices at retail will not be raised—and may even be somewhat lower—says OPA.

Burlap Bags

Farmers who grow potatoes, and potato packers, can now buy as many burlap bags as they did in 1941, according to a recent ruling by the War Production Board. Previously they could buy only half that amount.

How to Hard-Surface Machine Parts

How to make new and worn machinery parts last longer by a method known as hard-surfacing is described in an illustrated manual issued by the Office of Defense Transportation. Full directions are given to welders for repairing tractor, automobile, and truck and trailer parts. Copies of the manual may be obtained free from the central office in Washington or from field offices of the ODT.

Vehicle Registration Down

Although the registration of private and commercial motor vehicles in 1942 was 5½ percent less than in the peak year 1941, it exceeded the registration of 1940 by more than half a million, Public Roads Administration of Federal Works Agency reported after completing its annual compilation of motor-vehicle registration statistics.

Maybe Tomorrow....

Maybe Tomorrow we can get that all-electric kitchen we've had our hearts set on ... and enjoy the convenience, coolness and spic-and-span cleanliness that modern electrical equipment will bring to our home.

But Victory Comes First and everything else is secondary until the war is won. That's why we're putting every cent we can spare into War Bonds. We figure that the more we work and sacrifice the sooner peace will come and the sooner we can carry out our plans for post-war better living ... including that electric kitchen we've dreamed of for so long.

SHEEP BEING TREATED FOR STOMACH WORMS BY NEW METHOD

Sheep are being treated for stomach worms by a new method that is being recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to H. R. Forkner County Agent. The treatment is with Phenothiazine.

The wartime labor saving recommendation is to mix 1 part phenothiazine with 9 parts salt and to keep this mixture before the sheep at all times. This treatment, according to research work not only controls nodular worms but also other types of stomach worms.

Last year there was some question as to whether Phenothiazine affected the breeding of the ewes. While recent experimental work indicates it does not, it may be better to try this plan this year only on lambs.

The chief advantage of this plan over the drench or pill treatment is that it saves labor.

Ninety-nine out of a hundred babies are born with good feet, even if they do appear to be flat at the start. We say babies are born with flat feet because the bony masses in a new-born baby's feet are held in place by fat pads. As the baby starts to stand and walk, these fatty pads are absorbed and muscles take their place. But about the third year the arch of the foot should be pretty well defined if the child is going to have any arch. We say if, because every one is not meant to have the same color of hair or eyes.

Perhaps when the child starts to stand he is overweight, or undernourished or has gone thru a serious illness. In that event the muscles may not develop enough to produce an arch in his foot. He then grows with a natural flat foot. The condition is rarely painful. However, many cases of flat feet can be averted if the child is provided with shoes that hold the weak foot in alignment. Such shoes are usually wedged slightly under the inner border of the heel bone. This prevents tipping in of the ankles an by over correction has a tendency to cause the muscles on the inner border of the leg to shorten. These muscles are the ones which keep the foot arched.—Adv.

A Message To The Voters Of Boone Co.

A Democrat administration was elected to office in the United States of America in 1932. Immediately in direct contrast to policies desperately tried and that had miserably failed in rescuing the nation from the doldrums of the worst depression this country has ever known; there was a complete reversal and right-about-face in National policies started by the incoming administration that brought the nation to a phase of American history that is without precedent or parallel.

Government agencies were started and the people of the nation need not be told of their success because time proved that a Democrat administration found a remedy for our depression maladies and we were again well on the way to more prosperous times.

Our utilities and various corporations thru government aid were once more established in the business world and regained the position they enjoyed before the depression. There was great demand for expansion of our utilities, especially those in the power and lighting field. Influential citizens responding and joining with the farmers of the rural sections of the nation made a survey as to the potentialities and benefits to be derived from electrification of our rural communities. Their findings and demands for rural electrification were turned down by the power and lighting utilities and thus the R. E. A. was born.

By appropriation, the Congress of the United States made Rural Electrification possible and today there are ribbons of copper reaching from hilltop to hilltop, pole to pole and home to home all over the nation and I know for a certainty that our rural communities are enjoying the same conveniences that light and power have brought to our towns and cities.

Did the utilities make this possible over the rural sections of our nation? Did the utilities make this possible over the rural communities of Boone and Gallatin Counties? (You know the answer).

I want to go on record here and now and say to the farmers and their families in rural communities of Boone and Gallatin Counties that the lines of the R. E. A. which stand like sentinels over the country side made possible by the Congress of our country for the benefit and convenience of us all are here to stay and we'll keep its management and personnel as it is today. No greater boon to the people of our rural communities has ever been attempted before in Boone and Gallatin Counties and is the result of the alertness and foresightedness of prominent citizens of our two counties in this district who helped make Rural Electrification possible.

There are dangers (dormant now) that are beginning to crop out, and there are utilities that are waiting and watching for the opportunity to grab or absorb our whole R. E. A. setup and cut it in with their lines.

I helped wire many of the houses in the rural sections of Boone and Gallatin Counties and I know the benefits that have been derived from wiring installations that were made in these homes and I'm ready to fight and help keep it where it belongs. Your government made Rural Electrification a reality, and I want you to know that when I'm elected to serve as your next State Representative I'll make every effort, and do everything in my power to promote, protect and preserve this government agency intact for the benefit of our rural communities here in Boone and Gallatin Counties. I still stand four square on the pledge I have made to the electorate of Boone and Gallatin Counties and will ever constant in those purposes.

Kenneth E. "Jack" Johnson, candidate State Representative.

Early History Of Boone Co

By A. M. Yeatey

We often have been informed that of all surnames found, the Smiths rank first in number, but if you were to visit Boone and ask what surname has the advantage you would not hesitate to say Tanner. John Tanner was the first Tanner to settle in Boone County at Petersburg, yet he left soon thereafter and his two boys disappeared, one being killed by the Indians and the other captured by them.

The Tanners originally lived in Alsace and Robert Tanner with his wife and five children, one boy and four girls emigrated to Madison County, Virginia in 1717. Mr. Tanner's only son Christopher, married Elizabeth Aylor and seven children were born to them, five boys and two girls. Frederick Tanner being one of these boys was the father of Ephriam Tanner the first Tanner to establish a sure foothold in our County. Mr. Tanner with his wife and three children came to Boone County in 1805 and had a large place in the pioneer development of Hopeful Church. He owned and built a log house which is still standing and in very good condition, considering the length of time—135 years since it was built. This log structure is located on what was once the Perry Utz farm Route 42.

Mr. Tanner was born Oct. 17th, 1778 and his wife Susanna House was born Nov. 20, 1784. Eleven more children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Tanner after locating here, 7 of the family being boys and four girls, so we can realize that they became a large and growing influence in and around where Florence is today as their descendants are numbered by the scores and by marriage they are related to nearly everybody in this community.

Mr. Tanner being a very religious man, had the colony of settlers that came here with him erect a log church which was made from unhewn logs in 1807. This was the first Lutheran Church in Kentucky and perhaps west of the Allegheny Mountians. It was called Hopeful in the hope that their religious faith should be preserved. In 1823 another larger log structure was erected with hewn logs with an end gallery and a high pulpit, but the congregation increased so rapidly that in 1837 a brick building was erected 35x50 feet. All the bricks were made near the church. This building was in use until 1917 when the present building was erected.

(Next chapter will continue to give you more in reference to Mr. Tanner.)

State Women's Chairman Urges All Mothers To Support Donaldson

Louisville, Ky., July 23—Calling on all mothers of Kentucky who have boys in the service to support the candidacy of J. Lyter Donaldson for Governor in the Democratic primary, August 7, Mrs. T. C. Carroll, Shepherdsville, State Women's Chairman for Mr. Donaldson, said in a speech last night, broadcast by Radio Station WGRC here, "Let us as mothers of those boys determine that we shall neglect nothing to insure to them on their return a better way of living. Let us remember that those boys on distant fighting fronts are looking to us to take their places in electing the best possible candidate."

Mrs. Carroll, a former president of the Kentucky State Federation of Women's Clubs, said in espousing the candidacy of Mr. Donaldson, that she did so "without any thought of criticism for the opposition, but with the sincere conviction that in Mr. Donaldson the women of Kentucky have a candidate whose ability is admitted by his most severe critics, and whose record of service to his State assures us that we will continue to advance and carry out those things for which we have so patiently striven."

Mrs. Carroll discussed at length Mr. Donaldson's platform, which he announced in his opening campaign speech in Carrollton on June 1st, particularly that part of the platform in which mothers and women generally are interested. Concerning his promise of Thirteen Million Dollars per year for the common school fund, which, according to present school population, would increase the per capita appropriation to $16.20, Mrs. Carroll said, "It is but natural that we should be more deeply interested in those things which more closely affect our homes, and one of the most important of these is the education of our children. In education their physical, intellectual and moral welfare are deeply involved, and upon that training depends not only the future welfare of the individual, but, by it are affected the very principles of our government."

Calling upon candidates opposing Mr. Donaldson for the nomination, to publicly announce their plans for rehabilitating Kentucky's young men and women now in the service of their country, as well as for the development and improvement of the State, Mrs. Carroll said the voters should require of each candidate a "solemn pledge" as to his post-war plans about our boys, and then "should scrutinize carefully his past record, to determine to their satisfaction that this pledge is not one of lip service only. Mr. Donaldson," she said, "has advocated an appropriation of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars annually to provide scholarships for those boys and young women.

"Knowing him as I do," she said, "I can safely assure the mothers of Kentucky that such a program will be considered by him as a sacred pledge to them and their families.

"There is not a county in the State of Kentucky whose women are not busy in their efforts to contribute to the final victory in this war. Long, hot hours are being daily spent in connection with canning food for future use; the Red Cross and other war agencies are demanding and cheerfully receiving much of our time and labor. You have been faithful in your efforts to do everything possible to assist in the carrying on of this war and whatever is necessary for its success. This is as it should be. Willingly, but with saddened hearts, we have seen our boys leave their homes gladly to offer of themselves whatever is necessary in order to keep safe and inviolate to us that right of living, which is the heritage of every American."

BULLITTSVILLE

Frank Woodson Paxton of Adair county has sold four lambs for $45 and a calf for $30. Bobby Squires, also of Adair county, got $14 for a 105-pound lamb. He also recently sold a calf. Club members are making money from their sheep and dairy projects.

INDUSTRY NEEDS DECENT LIVING STANDARDS ALSO

Another experienced representative of the oil industry warns against the petroleum shortage facing the nation. John A. Brown, president of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, recently declared: "Of course, we have had impending crude oil shortages in the past, and the industry succeeded in making great new discoveries. This came about largely by intensive effort and great risk of capital of many individual operators, working with the hope of reward for any success that might be attained. If the oil industry does not continue to make large new discoveries, our country will soon need large imports of crude oil or products.

The way to find more oil in this country, is the way it has been found in the past. Encourage exploration by permitting profits commensurate with the risks.

Industries are like people. They cannot keep going without money. We talk about a decent standard of living for individuals. But unless industry has a decent standard of living, no one else can. And that goes for the oil industry, the coal industry, the power industry or any other industry. Industrial prosperity must accompany individual prosperity. They are inseparable.

PERSONS BENEFITTING FROM SOCIAL SECURITY ACCEPT FARM WORK

Persons receiving benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program of the Social Security Board may accept work in agriculture without such employment affecting their benefits, it was pointed out today by Frank B. Decker, Jr., Manager of the Covington, Kentucky, field office.

"Under the provisions of the Social Security Act and its amendments, agricultural work is not considered covered employment within the scope of the Act," said Mr. Decker. "Persons who are receiving monthly benefits provided for wage earners who have retired from active work or beneficiaries who are receiving survivorship payments are eligible to accept agricultural work at any time without such employment interfering with their benefit status. Farm work was not covered by the original nor the amended Social Security Act. Benefit payments for persons entitled began January 1, 1940.

"In view of the shortage of help in the labor market, no doubt many persons who had retired from service will return to work during the emergency, as the Government has appealed for those abled to accept employment to do all possible in aiding the war effort. Nation-wide figures show that more than 600,000 persons who could have retired at age 65 are continuing to work during the war period.

"Approximately 12,000 persons in Kentucky are now receiving survivorship or retirement benefit payments each month, and unquestionably an appreciable number can devote full or part-time work in agricultural pursuits. We shall be glad to handle any inquiries relating to the federal old-age and survivorship insurance program at our local office at 18 Post Office Building, Mr. Decker said.

LOWERING OF PHYSICAL REQUIRMENTS MADE BY U. S. MARITIME SERVICE

A further lowering of physical requirements for enrollment in the U. S. Maritime Service for duty with the Merchant Marine was announced by Ensign J. C. Jahn, Enrolling Officer, Traction Building, Cincinnati, whose office is enlisting men from 17½ to 50 years of age for duty aboard cargo vessels at high pay.

Recently it was announced that physical requirements were lowered for enrollment as Cooks and Bakers but now standards have been lowered for general deck and engine training and for enrollment as Radio Operators, Hospital Corpsmen and Ship's Clerks. This will permit the acceptance of men with minor physical defects, although 4-F men cannot be enrolled for the present. Weak eyes that are corrected by glasses or faulty color vision need no longer be a bar to enrollment, Ensign Jahn added.

Training periods have been cut to meet the growing demands for trained seamen in the Merchant Marine and more than 1,500 men are needed from the Cincinnati area, which includes the entire state of Kentucky, by the end of 1943. Applicants must not hold occupational deferments in Selective Service and can be taken if in 1-A, provided an induction notice has not been received.

In sounding an urgent plea for men to volunteer for the Merchant Marine, Ensign Jahn urged all applicants to produce two certified copies of their birth certificate and a release from the nearest office of the U. S. Employment Service.

Thirteen Jefferson county club members are feeding 22 calves for the fat cattle show and sale in November. Most of them are receiving grain and hay and pasture, and some of them are running with nurse cows. One calf gained 90 pounds in a month.

COOPER STRESSES URGENT NEED OF FALL FEED CROPS

The urgent need of sowing small grains and other pasture and feed crops in late summer and early fall is stressed by Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

"In face of the demand for food, every acre possible should be seeded to small grain and other feed crops," he said. "A great amount of feed will be needed for the large numbers of livestock in the state the coming winter. Until the war is over, we will need all the meat, milk and eggs that it is possible to produce."

Feed crops which can be seeded in Kentucky in the next few weeks include rye, wheat, winter barley and oats, alfalfa, crimson clover and vetch. Most of these crops produce feed in six weeks, under favorable growing conditions.

Where possible, farmers are urged to sow balbo rye. Seed one to two bushels to the acre between Aug. 15 and Nov. 1.

Other small grains may be seeded as follows: Wheat, one to two bushels to the acre, from Sept. 1 to Oct. 15; winter oats, a bushel and a half to two and a half bushels, from Aug. 15 to Oct. 1; winter barley, two bushels to the acre, from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15.

Alfalfa should be seeded at the rate of 15 to 20 pounds to the acre, from Aug. 1 to Sept. 1. When sowed with small grains, it can be sowed later than Sept. 1.

Mixtures of vetch and small grain and of crimson clover and small grain make excellent feed crops.

MORE TOMATO JUICE SHOULD BE CANNED

With a limited amount of citrus fruit in prospect for next winter, Kentucky homemakers are urged to can at least 30 quarts of tomatoes for every family member. This increase of 5 to 10 quarts over the usual amount recommended is advised by Mrs. Pearl Haak, food specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Gardens are now beginning to supply an abundance of this fruit which is rich in vitamin C when properly canned, as well as when eaten fresh.

Tomatoes may be easily and safely canned if directions are followed, said Mrs. Haak. A quick method is to wash the fruit, core and cut in quarters without peeling. Then pack tightly in jars so that the tomatoes are covered with their juice. Add a teaspoonful of salt to each quart. Seal, then process in a pressure cooker for 15 minutes at 5 pounds pressure of 45 minutes in a hot water bath. Complete the seal. Processing in jars preserves more vitamin C than the old open kettle method, said the food specialist.

A free bulletin, "Can Fruits and Vegetables for Victory," may be had from offices of home demonstration agents, or from the college.

MAKE EVERY OUNCE OF METAL COUNT

Designed to eliminate waste of essential materials in plant operation, a campaign: "Make Every Ounce of Metal Count," sponsored by the plant War Production Drive committees, will be instituted in Kings Mills Ordnance Plant, operated by Remington Arms Co., Inc. the first week in August. Announcement of the intended campaign is made by Capt. William V. Luck, Commanding Officer.

"Records of operation," Capt. Luck said, "show that component waste, the scraps that fall unnoticed to the floor, damaged production, or good production which inadvertently finds its way to the scrap box, already is far below preproduction anticipated loss."

"The War Production Drive committees, however," he continued, "are not content to coast along on this record. The opinion of these committee members, all of whom are salary or wage roll employees of the plant, is that component scrap, by diligent effort, can be reduced to a negligible quantity."

"They hold that plant employees have a three-fold interest in their effort to curtail waste to the irreducible minimum: first, in the opinion of employees, every cartridge is vital to the success of sharing the cost of production, and third, a natural desire on their part to do the job to the best of their ability. Hence the campaign: "Make Every Ounce of Metal Count."

NO RYE FAILURES IN OWSLEY COUNTY

Farm Agent H. M. Williams says that farmers in Owsley county who sowed Balbo rye last year are enthusiastic about it, not a failure having been reported. Burgoyne Botner sowed 4 acres at a cost of $10.50. During March and April, he pastured 19 ewes, 20 lambs and 5 head of cattle in this field, which he estimates provided $40 worth of feed. In late May, he turned under one acre as a cover crop, the other three being saved for seed. Because Mr. Botner was so pleased with returns on his 4 acres, he now plans to sow 10 acres this fall as a pasture and cover crop.

When court action was taken against 130 dog owners in Fleming county, the sale of dog tags jumped from a total of 30 to 800 in 3 weeks.

CYCLE SHOP MOVES TO LARGER QUARTERS

Having out-grown its present quarters at 16 East Fifth Street, Covington, the Dixie Cycle Shop is this week moving to its new location, Southeast corner of Court and Park, that city.

This popular bicycle shop has been located on Fifth street for five years. Its new home will be in a three-story building, with a display and sales room on the first floor, repair shop on the second, and Dixie Cycle Club headquarters on the third.

George Maher, proprietor of the shop, has just returned from an out-of-town trip, during which he purchased a lot of new stock and repair parts. The new location will afford patrons much better service, Mr. Maher states.

Sophia

Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Worthington, dressed soberly and wearing their best black gloves, walked along the stony country road back toward Sophia Hardy's farm, to pay their visit of condolence.

"How do you reckon she'll be bearing up?" Mrs. Kimball asked Mrs. Worthington. Both ladies wore their most solemn, funereal expressions.

"A mighty severe blow," Mrs. Worthington said. "Mighty severe. To lose your only son, the mainstay of your declining years. And such a dreadful death, too—to go down with a ship. Mercy!"

"The first of our boys from Hand County to go, too," Mrs. Kimball said, mournfully. "I wouldn't blame Sophia Hardy for feeling right bitter."

They stood on the simple stone doorstep, with downcast eyes, getting themselves into the proper commiserative mood.

"Come in!"

The voice was brisk and cordial. They looked up in surprise. Sophia herself had come to the door. As they followed her into the parlor they exchanged glances, with eyebrows lifted. Sophia was not even in mourning. The parlor shades were not even drawn.

"It's nice of you to come," Sophia said. "Do sit down."

"We came," Mrs. Kimball said almost reprovingly, "to tell you that our hearts are bleeding for you in your great loss."

"We know how lonely you must be out here," Mrs. Worthington said. "With nothing to take your mind off . . . off . . ." She sniffed and reached in her purse for a handkerchief.

"Oh, I keep busy," Sophia said. "I've just finished applying for the Government insurance on Tom's life."

The visiting ladies could not resist a shocked glance at one another.

"I want to get it right away," Sophia said. "So I can put it into War Bonds. My boy hasn't finished fighting yet, not by a long shot."

The ladies were so occupied with feeling horrified, so titillated by this callous behaviour in a bereaved mother—that neither of them noticed Sophia's hands. Under the folds of her clean print dress, against the seat of her chair, they were tightly clenched.

STORM DAMAGES CROPS IN COUNTY

ELECTRIC AND TELEPHONE SERVICE INTERRUPTED IN SECTIONS OF COUNTY DUE TO HIGH WIND.

Crops in practically all parts of Boone County were slightly damaged Wednesday of last week by the high wind and rain storm which struck this section of the state.

The 45-mile-an-hour wind uprooted trees, blew limbs off trees and interrupted electric and telephone service in many sections of the county. Both electric and telephone employees are busy this week repairing damage caused by the storm.

Crop damage was estimated as light, which was partially offset by the much needed rain which followed the high wind. Crops thruout this section were badly in need of rain.

Home Damaged By Fire

Considerable damage was reported to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Garrison, Big Bone Road, near Union, when a short-circuit was caused by the severe electrical storm Wednesday night.

The Florence Volunteer Fire Department was called and brought the fire under control in a short time after their arrival.

DEBT DECLINE IS SHOWN BY REPORT

OF BOONE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION FOR FISCAL YEAR OF JULY 1, 1942 TO JUNE 30, 1943.

In this issue of The Recorder appears the annual audit report of the Boone County Board of Education for the school year beginning July 1, 1942 and ending June 30, 1943.

This year the report shows that the indebtedness of the school system of Boone County had been reduced $17,000.00 during the past year and according to reports, the salary of teachers was increased slightly last year and will be increased ten per cent this year.

Besides paying $17,000.00 on the indebtedness of the system, the report shows that a balance of $1,231.47 was left at the close of the year.

Members of the Boone County Board of Education are R. L. Green, C. G. Kelly, Hubert Conner, H. R. Barnett, and W. C. Acra. D. H. Norris is Superintendent. These men no doubt have handled the taxpayer's money in an efficient and businesslike manner as the report of the board will clearly indicate.

Neighbor Cooperation Saves Local Hay Crop

Neighbor cooperation has saved a large part of the hay crop in the county according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. This point was outstanding in community labor planning meetings held in Hebron and Walton communities the past week.

Farmers attending these meetings and in a recent labor survey report stressed strongly the important role neighbor help had rendered in saving their crops.

Most farmers are not enthused about bringing in labor from other counties and prefer local help, or longer hours, exchange of labor and machinery and other local solutions to their labor problems. However, because no local labor for month help is available a number of farmers are being forced to secure help in Eastern Kentucky. Four applications are now on file in the county office for help by the month.

Despite all hardships and difficulties farmers are doing an excellent job in solving their labor problems.

Point Pleasant Church Services Are Announced

There will be a night service held at the Point Pleasant Christian Church, Sunday, August 8, beginning at 8:30 p. m. This is the first service of this type to be held in the church since it was opened on Easter Sunday. Rev. Arthur T. Tipton, pastor of the Constance Christian Church will do the preaching. He has been preaching two sermons per month at the little church since Easter.

Everybody is invited to attend this initial night service at the church.

The subject to be used, "The Importance of Keeping Our Lamps Trimmed."

Radio Addresses To Be Made By Workers During Closing Week

The campaign for J. Lyter Donaldson, of Carrollton, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor will be highlighted during its final week by a series of radio addresses, two of which are to voice special appeals to voters of Mr. Donaldson's home district.

Circuit Judge Raymond L. Murphy, of Campbell county, will be heard over Station WCKY at 9:30 p. m. (C.W.T.) Thursday night. His subject will be "Democracy and the Voter." This speaker is to stress the necessity of Kentuckians exercising their American right to vote during this war year, and outlined his reasons why Democrats of the state should cast their ballots for Mr. Donaldson.

He will not only review the Carroll county candidate's public record, but point to other qualifications establishing him as the most capable and efficient candidate seeking Kentucky's governorship.

On election eve, Circuit Judge Joseph P. Goodenough, of Kenton county, will speak over Station WCKY at 9:30 p. m. (C.W.T.) "Our Neighbor and Friend, J. Lyter Donaldson," will be the subject of his address. Judge Goodenough is to tell of the candidate's post war program, and recall the road construction and maintenance and free bridge programs sponsored by him as state highway commissioner.

Mr. Donaldson is to close his campaign with a radio address over station WHAS at 9:45 p. m. (C. W. T.) Friday night. It will be broadcast from his home in Carrollton.

Mrs. Susie Parish

Mrs. Susie Parish, aged 92 years, passed away Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Gurney, after a long illness. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro funeral home for preparation.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by one son Warren Parrish, Dallas, Texas; two granddaughters, Mrs. Henry Bowman and Mrs. J. B. Bush, and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Parish was the oldest member of the Erlanger Baptist Church. She was born at New Liberty, Owen County, Ky., and had lived in Erlanger for 40 years.

Pallbearers were Henry Bowman, J. B. Bush, Harold Thompson, Joe Revill, Wm. Beltz and J. I. Tichenor.

Services were conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 by the Rev. Geo. Bond at the Taliaferro funeral home, interment following in Burlington Cemetery.

Charles Slayback

Charles Slayback, Walnut Street, Crescent Springs, Ky., died at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, early Monday following a short illness. He was 69.

Mr. Slayback was a retired farmer and member of the Crescent Springs Baptist Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Slayback; one daughter, Mrs. Beulah Barnes; one son, Leroy Slayback, and one sister, Mrs. Grace Christophel.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger.

Mrs. Marie J. Arnold

Funeral services for Mrs. Marie Johnson Arnold, 74, were conducted from Chambers and Grubbs funeral home, Monday, August 2, at 2 p. m., with burial in Walton Cemetery. Mrs. Arnold died in Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, Saturday following a fractured hip.

She is survived by two brothers, W. B. Johnson and Kirtley Johnson, both of Walton, and several nephews and nieces.

Rev. C. J. Alford of Walton Baptist Church was in charge of funeral services.

1943 Game Populations Reaching New High In Ky.

Frankfort, Ky.—Game populations of almost every species of importance from the hunters' and trappers' standpoint are apparently reaching a long-time high, according to S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

Wakefield states that, "judging from reports received at the central offices of the Division from interested persons throughout the state, all species of game are on the increase. Reports indicate large hatches of quail and the calls of that particular game bird can be herd in almost any direction both in the country and in quite a few of the towns. Large number of doves are noted in practically every section of the state. Squirrel hunters say that the little bushy-tailed animals are as 'thick as fleas on a dog's back' and rabbits are showing a decided increase if numbers on the highways both during the day and at night are any indicator. The same holds true for fur-bearing animals racoons and opossums."

4-H Club Projects Visited

The boys in nine of the ten 4-H Clubs in the county have been visited during the past thirty days and the projects are in very good condition, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent.

With very few exceptions the club members are doing more than they had signed up to do in the spring. One eleven-year-old boy who had signed up to do 150 hours of chores for his parents has already done 275 hours. Several who started out to take gardening have added a pig and in some instances a flock of 50 chickens. This help is appreciated by the club member's parents. There are many cases when the garden would not have been planted, much less cared for, had not the boy taken over. Many farmers are so rushed with other work that they feel they can not spare the time to care for the garden.

Every member contacted has expressed himself as planning to exhibit something at the 4-H Fair.

ROGERS FARM TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION SATURDAY

The Rogers farm, known as Valley View, and consisting of 178 acres about 16½ miles from Florence, Ky., on Highway 42, will be sold at auction Saturday, August 7, 2 p. m., local time.

The farm, which fronts on No. 42, has a seven-room residence, three good barns and other outbuildings. There are 81 head of ewes and lambs, seven milch cows, six heifers, two calves, sows and shoats. The purchaser will get one-half interest in livestock and crop.

Completed details will be found in an advertisement in this issue of The Recorder. R. M. Lucas & Co., auctioneers, 116 West Third St., Cincinnati, will conduct the sale. Twenty-five dollars in War Stamps will be awarded.

Gayle Rouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Rouse caught a carp weighing 1½ pounds from Gunpowder Creek at Union, Monday afternoon. Gayle was certainly proud of his catch.

CANNERY NEEDS WOMEN WORKERS

WALTON FIRM FACES ACUTE SHORTAGE OF WOMEN WORKERS AND FROM 25 TO 30 MEN WORKERS.

The Walton Cannery will open this week, according to John Woods, Manager. The cannery this year, from all indications, will face an acute labor shortage of women workers, and from 25 to 30 men workers.

The cannery works from 115 to 150 women preparing the tomatoes for canning. This is one of the most important war jobs in the food production program to date. The Army takes all the canned crops until their quota is supplied. Tomatoes are one of the most important high vitamin foods used by the military forces.

The minimum wage rate at the cannery is 30 cents per hour for all tomatoes above four buckets prepared per hour. All men or women who are not now fully employed should contact Mr. Woods at the cannery. The county farm labor assistant working out of the county agent's office plans to assist in recruiting help for this important job.

FALL GARDENS MOST IMPORTANT

FOOD PRODUCTION JOB AT PRESENT—MOUND STORAGE PLANS AVAILABLE AT COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE.

Seeding of a good fall garden is one of the most important food production job right now, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Failure to seed or plant the fall garden is failure to carry out a balanced home garden program.

Whether it be election day; August 1 to the 10th or other rule, now is the time to sow turnips, kale, mustard greens, spinach, chinese cabbage, seven turnip top greens, lettuce, and probably some of the other crops such as peas and radishes and fall cabbage.

The above fall sown crops should be seeded or planted liberally. If not all are used they will serve as cover crops or green manure crops for the garden.

We remember last spring when plain good old country turnips sold at the stores at the rate of two pounds for a quarter. This should cause most of us to think about storing some of these important food crops for late winter use. Out of doors mound storage plans are available at the county office. This type of storage will keep many vegetables until spring.

John J. Garrison

John J. Garrison, 84, passed away Friday night at his home in Union, after a short illness. The remains were removed to the Taliaferro funeral home for preparation.

Mr. Garrison had spent his entire life in the Union precinct and was well known through this section. He was a member of the Union Baptist Church.

He is survived by a half-sister, Mrs. Anna Clutterbuck, Los Angeles California and several nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were Benj. Setters, Sandford Bristow, Russell and Alvin Garrison, David Young, Clifford Garrison.

Services were conducted Monday at 3 o'clock by Rev. Roy Johnson at the Taliaferro funeral home, interment following in Highland Cemetery by the side of his wife who preceded him to the grave 8 years ago.

James Napier

James Napier, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Napier, 12 Main St., Elsmere, Ky., drowned while swimming at Tacoma Park, Dayton, Ky. All efforts of the Life Saving Squad of the fire department failed and Dr. L. C. Sauter, Coroner of Campbell County, rendered his verdict accordingly.

The remains were removed to the Taliaferro funeral home for preparation. In addition to his parents he is survived by seven brothers and sisters.

He was an eighth grade pupil of St. Henry's parochial school. Six schoolmates acted as honorary pallbearers and the active pallbearers were Frank Trego, Rodger Robinson, Harold Blomer, Gerald Winninger, Maurice Hampton and Gilbert Reynolds.

Funeral was from the late residence Saturday at 8:30 a. m. with requiem high mass at St. Henry's Church at 9 a. m. Burial was in Walton Cemetery.

Funeral director Philip Taliaferro had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Hamilton Woman Dies At Age Of 96

Mrs. Barbara Shafer, widow of Henry Shafer, passed away at the home of her niece in Hamilton, O., July 20th, at the age of 96 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shafer were well known in Boone County. They lived in the Francisville community for many years, having moved to Ohio in 1904. Mr. Shafer died at the soldier's home in Dayton, Ohio about 19 years ago.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Bowman, of Boone County and Mrs. Carrie Rogers of Hamilton, O., and one son, Charles Shafer, of Cincinnati, 14 grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, of Verona, called on Lawrence Scott, Tuesday of this week.

Fall Garden Meeting Planned At Verona

Arrangements have been made by the Homemakers, for a fall garden meeting at Verona, August 6, 3:00 p. m. (EWT), at Mrs. Gladys Stewart's, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent.

Although gardens have produced food well into the winter months in former years it is most important that many vegetables, suitable for use and storage, be grown in Boone County gardens this year.

Sunday School Nine Again Winners Over Florence Team

The Burlington Baptist Sunday School baseball team chalked up another victory Saturday when they met the Florence nine at Florence school diamond.

Florence led at the close of the eighth inning by a one-run margin. Burlington showed their ability at bat in the ninth by driving in five runs to give them a lead of 15-11. In the last of the ninth Florence was held scoreless.

These boys, both Florence and Burlington are showing much improvement on the diamond, and no doubt many outstanding baseball players will emerge from these youths of today.

Baseball fans throughout the county should witness one of these games in order to fully appreciate their ability.

War Requires Improved Farm Practices, Says County Agent Forkner

The war is going to force the most successful farmers in Northern Kentucky to adopt and carry out improved farm practices, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The most marked improvements will be in the growing of better pasture and hay crops. Many farmers are facing the possibility of growing their feeds or selling their livestock.

The greatest possibility of increased feed production, over present supplies and saving of crops now growing, lies in two major possibilities namely (1) sowing winter cover crops, (2) seeding alfalfa and grass meadows.

One hundred percent of all tobacco land, corn land and other cultivated land should be seeded to Balbo rye or wheat as soon as the crop is harvested. One acre of early seeded small grain is worth three or four acres of late seeded crops for fall, winter, and early spring pasture. Vetch should be seeded with the small grain where the land is to be plowed next spring. Grass, and in a few instances, clover, should be seeded where a meadow or permanent pasture is desired.

August is an ideal month to seed alfalfa. Our farmers have used thousands of tons of limestone and phosphate, and today we have thousands of cultivated acres of land that will grow alfalfa with no further soil treatment. Alfalfa seed should be inoculated and seeded with grass on a firm seed bed with a light covering of the seed.

Small grain pasture during the winter and spring months will give higher production and save a large percent of the grain and hay crops which may not be available if they were not grown on the farm.

The war has brought a hay and grain shortage to the county. We can meet the grain and hay shortages and increase production thru more efficient uses of small grains and better management practices.

Mrs. Julia Roberts

Mrs. Julia Robers died Monday night at her home on the Dixie Highway near Devon, after a brief illness. She was 54.

A native of Owsley County, Mrs. Roberts had lived in Boone County for the past fourteen years.

She leaves her husband, Jerry Roberts; five daughters, Mrs. J. P. Roberts, Mrs. Morris Snelling, Mrs. Henry Doll, Mrs. Robert L. Aylor and Mrs. William Wegford, all of Boone County; one brother, Chester Rice, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Dean and Mrs. Kate Wilder. The brother and sisters live in Owsley county.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger.

LLOYD SOCIETY MEETING

An all-day meeting will be held at the Lloyd Memorial Home in Florence on Saturday, August 7th. Everyone welcome.

WALTON DOCTOR CALLED MONDAY

HAD BEEN IN ILL HEALTH FOR SEVERAL MONTHS—SERVICES HELD WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Dr. Francis E. Bedinger, well known Walton physician died at his home Monday night after several months illness. He was 38.

Dr. Ryle left his practice as a physician and offered his services to the U. S. Army, but was released sometime ago due to ill health.

He is survived by his father, Rev. D. E. Bedinger; his wife, Mrs. Helen Bedinger; one brother, D. W. Bedinger; and one sister, Mrs. Shirley Guard.

Funeral services were conducted from the Walton Methodist Church on Wednesday afternoon of this week at 2:30 p. m., by Rev. M. A. Jolly, of Cincinnati and Rev. C. G. Dearing, pastor of the church. Burial was in the Richwood cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Purchase Or Sale Of Game Fish Is Illegal

Attention was called today by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, to sections of the Kentucky laws which prohibit the sale or purchase of certain species of fish, regardless of where the fish were taken.

The law makes it illegal to sell or buy black bass, channel or fiddler cats under fifteen inches in length, sturgeon or hackleback, crappie, jack salmon or walleyed pike or striped bass, sand pike or sauger.

This statute was enacted to protect Kentucky fishing from commericialization and give all anglers a better opportunity to secure food and enjoy outdoor recreation.

Florence Man Held On Manslaughter Charge

Harry Daulton, Kentaboo Drive, Florence was booked on a manslaughter charge by Covington police, following an accident which resulted in the death of Mrs. Rena Chaffin at 15th street and Madison Ave., Covington, Wednesday of last week.

The case was referred Monday from Covington Police Court to the county court after the original charge of reckless driving was changed to manslaughter.

MISS AMERICA SEWS IN EARNEST

A new generation has taken up sewing. Prompted undoubtedly by war time conditions, girls from the age of twelve to twenty are forming a new bulwark of conservation. The second world war will see no aftermath of "flappers" as did World War I—rather it will see a generation of young women equipped to face the problem of living economically, yet well. Programs being started by WPB and OPA make the saving of fabrics essential. In putting the problem of clothes rationing up to the American public, "Make it last as long as you can" is the phrase which brings home most clearly, the need of conserving what we have as well as what we may be able to acquire.

The third annual National Sewing contest, sponsored by the National Needlecraft Bureau, brought to light interesting statistics supporting this face and anticipating much for the future. Entries among girls under eighteen years of age jumped 22 percent this year over last year, and 36 percent over the first year of the contest—good evidence of the stimulated interest of teen-agers in practical crafts.

From public and private schools throughout the country, there is a tremendous increase in the number of students enrolling for sewing classes and classes in design. Schools in which sewing was discontinued a number of years ago as part of the regular curriculum, now report thriving classes, with many students making all of their own clothes.

Pattern companies, too, are doing much to cooperate with the government's rulings regarding fabric limitations, by designing smart and economical patterns along simple lines, but keyed to the teen-age group. Patterns, too, are designed especially to show make-over methods, whereby adults' clothing may be readily remade into good looking junior garments. By remodelling still good fabrics, the junior may still indule her love for jumper styles, now restricted by government ruling, which says jumpers and blouses must be purchased separately. The smart young seamstress will have her jumpers without making any purchase at all. A lesson in economy and conservation typical of those to be seen in all parts of America today, among the 1943 school group.

MORE TAXES TO BE PAID

The House ways and Means Commmittee dug down deep into income tax exemptions of married couples and single persons without dependents. They now pay more taxes. Heavy taxpayers also pay more. Figure it out the old way: Taxes have been raised for everybody- richman, poorman, beggarman, thief, doctor, lawyer, editor, chief-- and for you - and me.

GOOD NEWS FROM DETROIT

The former motor city—now the war materials city--is rolling up a fine batting average in the victory column. The Automotive Council for War Production reports from Detroit that the automobile industry, our heaviest war producer, is maintaining its advance in arms output which has been so spectacular.

During June the industry's output totaled $75,200,000, compared with $705,000,000 in May and with $383,800,000 in June a year ago. The industry now is producing at an annual rate of $8,700,000,000. This near doubling of production in a year—particularly a year in which the United Nations air offensive has been grinding down Axis production—is more cheering news.

SPECIAL EMPHASIS PLACED ON RECRUITMENT OF MEN FROM 17½ TO 50 YEARS

Special emphasis will be placed during August on recruitment of men from 17½ to 50 years of age for training in the steward department of the Merchant Marine, according to Ensign J. C. Jahn, enrolling officer of the Maritime Service.

Men with minor physical defects, such as flat feet, poor vision, and color blindness, will be accepted for training as cooks and bakers, Ensign Jahn said. No previous experience in the field is necessary.

Men from 17½ to 35½ years of age, who are classified 3-A or 1-A but who have not yet received induction notices, are eligible for training as radio operators, ship's clerks, hospital corpsmen, apprentice engineers, deckhands, and also the steward's department. Brief training courses will be followed by employment on merchant vessels at high pay.

Complete information can be obtained at the Cincinnati office, 204 Traction Building, or at the nearest office of the United States Employment Service.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

GOD SHOWS HIS PEOPLE THE WAY

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 13:17-22; 15:17-22a.

GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation.—Exodus 15:2.

The destinies of the nations are in the hands of God. Warriors are mighty in battle, counselors are quick to declare their wisdom, and diplomats are clever in the manipulation of wealth and people. But when they have all exercised to the limit their ingenuity and power they have only succeeded in bringing us "blood, sweat and tears" as the portion of all mankind.

Israel was about to be delivered from the bondage of Egypt, and God through His leader Moses was ready to be their guide. Even so He guides every believer in Christ. We may learn three things from this lesson.

I. God Has a Plan (Exod. 13:17-19).

There was a direct, easy road along the coast of the Mediterranean up to Canaan, but God with His pillar of cloud and fire did not lead out in that way.

How strange that He should take them by a longer, more difficult way! Not at all. He knew the danger of the easy way. It was there that the warlike Philistines would be lying in ambush. Such immediate conflict would discourage Israel and tempt them to return to the fleshpots of Egypt. So He took them the other way.

Note that God's guidance for them was one of intelligent planning, not just impulse or chance. He knew what to do, and He did it, for their good.

God has a plan, not only for the nations, but also for individuals, for your life and mine. Let us find His will for us, for it is good, acceptable and perfect (Rom. 12:1, 2).

Note the honoring of the faith of Joseph in God's promise (v. 19). The memory of his assurance was a blessing to his descendants, and they honored it and him. What will our descendants have to say about our faith in God?

II. God Provides Guidance (Exod. 13:20-22).

God's plan is made known to His people as they follow Him step by step. This means that there must be guidance, moment by moment, if His plan is to be worked out. He gives such guidance and it is only when His children fail to follow it that the pattern of life becomes confused.

The field of divine guidance is one in which Christians have widely divergent experiences. Some know the sweet, unconfused daily experience of God's hand upon them, caring for even the minor details (or are they minor?) of life. Others have known the directive power of God in some life crisis, but not in the ordinary affairs of life. Many, and perhaps most, think of divine guidance as a spiritual theory of which the preacher talks, but know nothing of it in their own lives.

What makes this great difference? Faith—or the lack of it. Those who trust God accept and receive His blessed leadership moment by moment. It is as simple as that. Others reach out and take it when the pressure of life makes them cast themselves on God. Others simply muddle along "doing their best," which is not their best, for God is not in it.

The pillar of cloud, which became luminous at night, was ideal for the guidance of Israel. It provided shade by day from the hot sun, and a sure guide in the darkness of the night.

III. God Gives Joyous Victory (Exod. 15:17-22a).

Israel soon came against the insurmountable barrier (humanly speaking) of the Red sea. Then Pharaoh, regretting that he had released them, came up after them—an impossible situation, and the people began to berate Moses. This time he stood fast in his faith and said: "Stand still and see the salvation of Jehovah"—and it came!

Then followed the song of victorious joy, which Moses wrote and the people sang. Deliverance brings joy, and forget it not, God is able to deliver those who put their trust in Him.

The application to our spiritual lives is a blessed one. Setting out on God's way does not mean that one will not have trials. They come, and quickly. We do not get farther than our Red sea when the world sees an opportunity to draw us back and comes charging at us from the rear, like Pharaoh. What to do? Trust God, and He will drown the Pharaoh who pursues you in the very Red sea which is now your difficulty. He will bring you through dryshod if you count on Him.

Fearful, fretting, fussing Christian, why not "stand still" and let God work out your salvation. You cannot bear the burdens of all the world. He can, and will set you free so that you too may go forward for Him.

BOONE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION
By C. G. Kelly, Chairman.
D. H. NORRIS, Secretary-Treasurer.

ALMOST as much a part of most Southern villages as the Court House, itself, is the bulk storage plant at the edge of town bearing the old familiar sign: STANDARD OIL COMPANY. Wherever people congregate and work and live, there you will find the tanks, the office and the yard of an Agent of this Company.

The Agent is a part of the community. He is neighbor, friend and fellow-townsman. And to the community HE is the Standard Oil Company.

He lives "on the ground." His feet are on the ground. And that may explain how it is that Standard Oil can and does keep so close to the interests of every locality it serves. Our aims and actions are deep-rooted in the very soil of every Southern County.

The people of the South make the South. We are proud to be one of them by reason of our sixty genial years in their midst.

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robert Huey accompanied a group of children to Butler Park for a brief outing at this very popular summer resort.

After many months' illness, Mr. J. J. Garrison died Saturday morning at the family residence. The funeral service, conducted by his pastor, Rev. Henry Beach, was held at the Taliaferro funeral home, Erlanger. Burial was in Highland Cemetery.

A heavy rain of many hours fell here Thursday. The 45-mile an hour wind accompanying the downpour caused considerable damage to telephone and electric wires.

Ben Al Riley entertained Friday night, his friend Benny Ferguson, of Elm Tree Place.

THANKS

I want to thank the people of Boone and Gallatin Counties for their kind and courteous treatment during my campaign for the office of State Representative.

It has been impossible for me to see every voter because of the duties of my present job, but I did not intentionally miss anyone.

Your support on Saturday, August 7th, will be deeply appreciated.

THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our many customers for their patience and indulgence during the period of lightning and wind storms Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. We fully realize the inconvenience, loss of time and food occasioned by electric service interruption during that period. The unusual length of time that some sections were without service was caused by transformers being destroyed by lightning and by trees blown across the lines. We are indeed sorry that we were unable to do a speedier job of restoring service but the storm extended over the entire distribution system in Boone, Grant, Kenton and Pendleton counties and we were compelled to repair the trouble as best we could with the present shortage of trained help.

Ration Reminder

Gasoline—"A" book coupons No. 7, good for four gallons outside the East Coast shortage area, must last through September 21. All gasoline coupons in the possession of car owners must be endorsed with the owner's license number and state of registration.

Sugar—Stamp No. 13 good for 5 lbs. through August 15. Stamp No. 14, good for 5 lbs., becomes valid August 16 and remains good through October. Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 are good through October 31 for 5 lbs. each for home canning purposes. Housewives may apply to their local ration boards for more if necessary.

Coffee—Ration stamps no longer required.

Fuel Oil—Period 5 coupons in old rations valid in all ones thru September 30; Period 1 coupons in new rations are now valid. Occupants of oil heated homes are urged to return their applications for next year's fuel oil rations to their War Price and Ration Boards promptly.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 (1 pair) is valid through October 31.

Stoves — Purchase certificates now issued and normally valid for 30 days from date of issuance, will be invalid after August 23, by which time it is expected the new nation-wide stove rationing plan will be in effect.

Meat, etc.—Red Stamps T and U, now valid, expire August 31; V is valid August 8, expires August 31st; W is valid August 15, expires August 31st.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps N, P, Q remain valid through August 7. Blue stamps R, S, T, became valid August 1 and will be good through September 20.

Third War Loan Drive

Fifteen billion dollars is the goal for the Third War Loan which President Roosevelt has proclaimed will be launch September 9. In his proclamation the President said, "Our need for money now is greater than ever, and will continue to grow until the very day that Victory is won; so we must ask far more sacrifice, far more cooperation than ever before."

Army Photo Service Grows

The Army's radio photo service, which made it possible for the public to see newspaper pictures of the assault on Sicily on the same day that the invasion was launched, will be augmented in the immediate future by the same type of transmission from the South Pacific theater, the War Department has announced. Personnel of the U. S. Army Signal Corps, with their equipment, are now in Australia, finishing preparations for the new service.

Supply of Fats, Oils

Despite heavy wartime demands on the supply of edible fats and oils (principally lard, butter, shortening, and margarine), 44 pounds per capita—about 5 pounds less than in 1942—will be made available to American civilians during the 12 months ending June 30, 1944, the War Food Administration has announced. Of the total civilian allocation, approximately 9 ounces per week per capita will be available for direct purchases, and an additional 4½ ounces for indirect consumption in such items as restaurant meals, bakery products, mayonnaise, etc.

Cost of Living Drops

With other living costs relatively stable, a drop in fresh vegetables and butter prices cut the cost of living for city workers by 0.2 percent in the month ending June 15—the first month to show a reduction since a year before Pearl Harbor, the U. S. Department of Labor reported recently. Food prices as a whole, making up over 40 percent of the cost of living index, decline 0.8 percent. The cost of living index now stands at 124.8 percent of the 1935-39 average. Food prices are 45 percent above January 1941 and more than 16 percent above May 1942.

Home Canners Warned

Home canners have been warned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture against the use of "canning powders" and other chemical preservatives. W. G. Campbell, Commissioner of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, said that use of some of the "canning powders" constitutes a definite health hazard. The term "canning powders" includes boric acid and its compounds and substances like metabisulfite which yield sulfur dioxide when brought in contact with an acid-reacting food product. The safe way for the home canner is to process foods adequately with heat and not to use chemical preservatives. For safety's sake, rely on thorough heat sterilization.

Army Exchanges Sell Exotic Wares

Army Exchanges, which follow American troops wherever they go, are now dealing in such items as kangaroo rugs, grass skirts, and native-made jewelry, in addition to their staple line of cigarettes, candy, soft drinks, and other home commodities, the War Department has been informed. Since many of the soldiers want to send such things home, the Exchange Service buys them from the natives at a reasonable price and resells them to the soldiers. The natives were inclined to "jack up the price" on direct sales. Grass skirts sell for approximately $1.50, while a good kangaroo rug may cost $20.

Flood Restoration Loans

Flood restoration loans to enable farmers to get their flood-damaged farms back into production have been authorized in 314 counties in Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, and Texas, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard announced recently. Two types of loans will be available to eligible farmers; real estate restoration loans which may be made for a period of up to 20 years and will bear interest at 3½ percent; and production restoration loans which may run as long as 10 years and will bear interest at 5 percent. These loans will be made only to farmers who do not have other credit available and security must be provided. Farmers needing flood restoration loans should apply to their nearest Farm Security Administration county office.

Gas Coupons Changed For Trips

Motorists can use their "A" ration books for trips into, or out of, the Eastern gasoline shortage area, according to rules recently announced by OPA. Since July 21, Eastern motorists have been using "A-6" coupons, while those outside the East have been using "A-7's." To everyone these difficulties in travel "across the border" a new amendment to the Gasoline Rationing Regulations permit "A" ration holders to exchange any of their valid "A" coupons for other coupons that may be used in the area in which they expect to travel. Exchanges may be made and further information secured at the War Price and Rationing Board.

Point Reduction Continued

The provision permitting retailers to make emergency reductions in the point values of rationed meats, fats and dairy products in imminent danger of spoiling, which was to expire July 31, has been extended indefinitely, OPA has announced.

Mass Mailing Finished

Approximately 122,000,000 copies of War Ration Book Three had been mailed by the first of last week. OPA announced that: (1) anyone who does not receive his War Ration Book Three should apply at his local board between August 1 and 10; (2) a plan is now being set up to distribute War Ration Book Three to members of the armed services who are eligible for ration books; (3) persons receiving War Ration Book Three should sign their names and addresses in the spaces reserved for that purpose on the cover.

Storage For Potatoes

Arrangements have been completed to provide additional storage facilities for handling the late crop of 1943 Irish potatoes, the War Food Administration has announced. WPB has approved the allocation of materials for the construction of storage facilities sufficient to take care of 15 million bushels of potatoes. Farmers should apply to their County War Boards for approval to begin construction.

Binder Twine Supply

An adequite supply of binder twine is available for this year's harvest of grain crops, the WPB Binder Twine Sub-Committee has reported. This ample supply has been made possible through the blending of cotton with henequen to produce a new twine which has proved satisfactory.

Increase Shoe Supply

To increase the supply of children's and infants' shoes, and men's work shoes, WPB recently amended order M-217 (Footwear) to permit a 25 percent increase in the output of shoes for boys, misses children, and infants. Production of men's work shoes may be increased by 15 percent and men's safety shoes by 25 percent. The order also will permit increased production of shoes at price levels where there is greater consumer demand.

Fewer New Tires

Smaller quotas of new passenger car tires for August and larger quotas of used and recapped tires have been announced by OPA, based on rationing allotments assigned for the month by the Office of Rubber Director. The August quota of Grade I tires is the lowest since last April. OPA officials warned that drivers who are eligible for new tires may have to accept used or recapped types as long as the quota of new tires is low.

One Step Closer to VICTORY

Tom and I figure that every War Bond we buy is another step toward Victory — and that all-electric kitchen we've wanted for so long. Of course, our main purpose in buying bonds is to lick the Axis. That comes ahead of everything else. But just the same it's nice to know that when the war's over we'll have a nest egg built up with which to carry out our plans for post-war better living. We're buying bonds to guarantee freedom from oppression today—and freedom from household drudgery tomorrow!

Foot Health In Relation To Mental Health

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

When you suffer from flat feet, your muscular system is taxed and irritates the nerves of the foot, simultaneously affecting the entire delicate nervous system, causing it to function at less their normal capacity. The result of this whole action is a generalized irritability and unrest in the individual.

Ordinarily the body can overcome the irritations of its various sick parts, and is capable of removing the effects of the disease. The disturbances of the foot, however, are often subject to influences which the body has great difficulty in combating.

The foot according to dictates of society should be housed in a protective leather or cloth covering, which must meet the aesthetic tastes of the prevailing fashion. Thus, if the fashion dictates that long thin shoes be worn, thousands of individuals with short wide feet will attempt to crowd them into long, thin shoes, and visa versa.

The vagaries of fashion may thus make you comfortable one season and uncomfortable another. However, when we consider the permanent effects of this change of style, we realize that the foot, which has a fairly permanent shape, has to respond like an elastic band. The harm wrought in one season does not disappear the next but may rather be accentuated in some significant defect as for example the BUNION.

Once this defect is formed the foot is placed daily in what may be considered a vice or mold and the normal metabolis of growth activity of the foot is interferred with. The attempts of the body to overcome the irritation are frustrated and the physical ailment grows and becomes more pernicious. The mental effects of this constant irritant are such as to set up a continual hypersensitiveness in all behavior.—Adv.

IN APPRECIATION

I want to thank the people of Boone County for the very kind and friendly reception extended to me in making my campaign for Judge Riddell's unexpired term, as County Judge of Boone County.

It has been impossible for me to see every voter in the County due to the fact that I have remained in the Judge's office until four or five o'clock nearly every day, but I want to assure you that I missed no one intentionally and regret that I could not visit every person in the County.

Your support and influence in the Primary Election on Saturday, August 7, 1943 will be greatly appreciated by me and my friends.

FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

The campaign for County Judge is drawing to a close, and only a few days remains for the people of Boone County to weigh the question of the choice of the two candidates.

During the past few weeks I have endeavored to see as many voters as I possibly could, but I know and realize that I have not seen all. To those that I have seen and talked with I have asked their support and stated my reasons for asking it, but to those I have missed I want to say, I would like for each and every voter to consider my record as Clerk of the Circuit Court and the character of service I have rendered while filling this office.

I have conducted by own campaign. I am not allied nor "hooked up" with any candidate for Governor or other state officer, and have made no deals with any financial institution in the County and if elected will give my whole time to the administration of the office.

I will strive to hold the administrative affairs of Boone County on the same high plane that they have been held for the past quarter of a century.

Your Support Will Be Appreciated

A. D. YELTON

SATURDAY, AUGUST 7TH IS PRIMARY ELECTION DAY

Kenneth E. "Jack" Johnson

The right of suffrage is a privilege, as well as a duty and obligation. Go to your respective voting place next Saturday and cast a Typical American Democrat Ballot for Kenneth E. (Jack) Johnson.

Each week I have had an article or message in the county papers in both Boone and Gallatin counties. This week there are several subjects I wish to write about.

I have two worthy opponents making the race for State Representative here in this district, both are fine young men. This is not a campaign between personalities but rather a campaign to determine who is the best candidate to represent us at Frankfort for the next two years.

Corporations and utilities send their lobbyists to Frankfort to take care of their interests, when our Legislature is in session. These lobbyists are required (by law) to register and it is their privilege to present their claims, or to present their views before the various committees that are drafting bills, in which these utilities and corporations are interested.

Do we want to elect men to public office from executive positions they hold with utilities or corporations?

I have been in most of the precincts of Boone and Gallatin counties during this campaign and I have found a hearty welcome everywhere I have been. I'm qualified to handle the office of State Representative and it is my purpose to represent the people of this district diligently, alertly, and impartially regardless of race, color or creed.

As I pass thru Boone and Gallatin counties during this campaign, I stop before our Roll of Honor Boards, containing the names of our boys who are in the armed forces. A tear comes to the eye, and then my heart swells with pride, for I know they are distinguishing themselves with glory on the fighting fronts.

My prayer joins with yours, Mothers and Fathers of these stalwart, noble sons and I pause and say, "God speed, soldier boys, wherever you may be, happy landings, and may your return home be soon."

I'm very much interested in seeing an absentee Ballot Law passed by our Legislature, covering all elections so that any of our citizens when away from home or outside the limits of the State thru no fault of their own, may still vote in any election that might be held while they are away.

A tribute to the Boone County Red Cross for their untiring efforts and splendid service they have rendered for the cause of humanity in times of war and peace.

The work and activities of our County Nurses with the Clinics here in our counties are certainly worthy of our heartiest commendations for the good they have accomplished in our homes and in the care of our children in our schools.

The "Homemakers' Clubs" for the vital part they have taken in building up the morale of our civilian population (many of them are mothers of sons and daughters who are away from home serving their country in time of need) and keeping the ties of home together.

Our "4-H and Utopia Clubs," boys and girls whose interest in agricultural pursuits, learning methods best suited for cultural activities when they take their places in our public life.

Our Farm Agents Officers of our two counties who are working in close cooperation with our farmers in furnishing data and methods for rotation of crops, plantings best adapted to different kinds of soil, marketing, dairying, poultry raising, and live stock.

I am very much interested in an increase of pay for our teachers. To my mind teaching as a profession, ranks next to our clergy. It is so very evident that our teachers are not receiving salaries commensurate with the duties they are asked to perform. Much has been said in regards to increasing teachers salaries, but so little has ever been done. Your candidate is rather curious about a lot of things pertaining to teachers' salaries and he is going to the front and see what he can do about it.

Gasoline sold to farmers for non-highway use, should be sold with a rebate of State Gasoline Tax. Our bordering States have a rebate clause and we'll see if we can't amend our State Tax Law here in Kentucky.

You already know how I feel about college training for our teen age army. These youngsters are making great sacrifices and they are mighty precious, courageous lads.

Construction and maintenance of our rural highways can very easily be maintained and kept on a parity with the road building program we have had for several years.

Post war construction will come into its own at a later date. We have the money now in our State Highway Department to take care of any and all necessary new road building and maintenance of highways under State maintenance.

There are needed extension on our R. E. A. lines, that need to be completed, and I have in mind now, two or three extensions that should be completed right away; our priority boards can handle this and copper necessary for it is available.

My campaign in the papers of our two counties comes to an end with the editions that come out this week. I have written these articles frankly, and as writing is an expression of thought, they have certainly come from the heart.

I have traveled thru many States in the past two years and I find conditions everywhere parallel to those we have here. You know how I stand on various issues and I want you to stand solidly with me and send me to Frankfort with an overwhelming majority.

I have fought a good fight; my case now rests with the Electorate of Boone and Gallatin Counties. I will be very actively engaged the rest of this week finishing up my campaign.

I shall feel honored to be elected to the office of State Representative here in our new district and to be the first man to be elected and represent the people in it.

I live at 3 Bedinger Ave., Walton, Ky., and you'll find a hearty welcome there if you want to see me at my home. There is always room on my bandwagon, so come on voters of this district and help me win a decisive victory next Saturday.

I still stand four square on the pledge I made in my announcement for this office and will be ever constant in those purposes.

Kenneth E. (Jack) Johnson candidate State Representative.

TRIO CAPTURED AFTER ACCIDENT

STOLEN CAR WRECKED NEAR DUCK HEAD INN, EARLY TUESDAY MORNING—HELD IN BURLINGTON JAIL.

Three Cincinnati men, registered as Leroy Edwards, Star Hotel, Seigle Stamper 411 E. 3rd St., and Jerry Crowder Star Hotel, were arrested early Tuesday morning by Patrolman Robert Smith, J. T. Williams and Irvin Rouse, Boone County Sheriffs.

Patrolman Smith stated that he was called at midnight following an accident near Duck Head Inn, when the stolen car, a 1941 Pontiac 4-door sedan struck a truck loaded with peaches, completely demolishing the car. The men fled following the accident.

After a search of several hours the men were found hiding in weeds near Highway 42. Several shots were fired at one of the men when he attempted to escape. The accident occurred at 11:00 p. m. Monday night.

Two of the men were bruised and suffered lacerations about the head as a result of the accident. David Bray, driver of the truck escaped injury.

The trio were brought to Burlington and are being held for proper officials.

The demolished car was stolen in Cincinnati by the men, and was the property of Janett Mangold, Cincinnati, O.

CIRCUIT COURT DOCKET LIGHT

GRAND JURY RETURNS TWO INDICTMENTS AFTER BEING IN SESSION ONE DAY, EXAMINING NINE WITNESSES

Boone Circuit Court convened Monday of this week, with Hon. Ward Yager, Circuit Judge presiding and R. L. Vincent, Commonwealth Attorney in charge of prosecution for the Commonwealth. The August docket was light and a brief session is expected.

The grand jury in session one day examined nine witnesses returning two indictments, one of which was against Vernon Nix, Camp Ernst Road for dumping and burning excess garbage. After examining the county property and finding all buildings in excellent condition, the grand jury was dismissed.

In a hearing held Tuesday, styled Commonwealth of Kentucky for State Highway Department vs. T. C. Bonar, the court awarded Mr. Bonar damages of $3,625.00.

The trial of F. M. Walton vs. Harold Conner, has been set for trial Monday, August 16th.

Blood Bank Visited By Local Ladies

Four local ladies visited the Blood Bank in Cincinnati on Tuesday, August 3. They were Mrs. H. R. Forkner, Mrs. Grover Jarrell, Mrs. Vernon Pope and Mrs. Lee R. McNeely.

An appointment has been made for fifteen persons Friday night, August 13 at 9 p. m. This change of time is made due to the busy season in this section. All persons who are to visit the bank are requested not to eat anything four hours before the donation. Those planning to attend the bank Friday night are asked to be at the court house by 8 p. m., where transportation will be available.

Anyone desiring to donate a pint of blood to the armed services is asked to notify Mrs. Lou Pope, Burlington, Ky., R. 1, or call Burlington 473.

Sand Run Church Plans Revival Services

Revival services will be held at the Sand Run Baptist Church beginning August 16 and continuing through August 27, according to Rev. Helton, pastor. Services will be held each evening at 8:30 (E. W. T.)

Rev. Alfred Hoe, of Harlan, Ky., will bring the message each evening. He is a true minister of the scriptures, and a very interesting speaker.

Rev. Helton and members of the church extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend these services.

Revival Meeting Will Be Held At Big Bone

Rev. Sam L. Branham, pastor of Big Bone Baptist Church announced this week that a revival meeting will be held at the church beginning Sunday, August 15th and will continue through August 29th. Services will be held each evening at 8:00 (C. W. T.)

Rev. Roy A. Hamilton, of Greenup, Ky., will be the evangelist, and Bro. James Huey and wife will have charge of music.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

St. Paul's Church Will Hold Annual Picnic

Members of St. Paul's Church will hold their annual picnic on the church grounds at Florence, Saturday, August 21st. Delicious chicken dinner will be served by the ladies from 4:30 to 8:00 p. m. for 75 cents.

These ladies are famous for the dinners they serve and the public is cordially invited to share their hospitality.

Following the dinner and throughout the evening varied forms of amusement will be found to entertain the guests.

Carl Hunt, of Englewood, Kans., is spending a few days with Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Yelton.

Special Events Create Interest At 4-H Free Fair

At the 4-H and Utopia Fair, which will be held August 21, the special events directed from the bandstand create much interest and attention. Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, calls attention to new contests listed for boys and girls between the ages of eight and twenty to discover the best dressed young people at the fair.

A judging standard for these contests will include the following items: Appropriateness for the occasion, suitability of the style or design to the person, the quality of the material and workmanship.

Publicity is being given to this judging standard in order to clear up questions which have been asked regarding these contests. The money value of the costume worn will not be considered.

HORSE SHOW ATTRACTION

FOR LOCAL EXHIBITORS AT 4-H AND UTOPIA CLUB FREE FAIR FOX HOUND SHOW IS ANOTHER FEATURE.

The Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Horse and Pony Show is expected to attract a large number of local exhibitors, according to Frank Kelly and Pete Jones, Chairman of the horse show committee.

Mrs. Ann Stewart of Bullittsville is reported having two entries in the walking horse show. A large number of other local entries are expected in this class. The model saddle horse and model draft horse entires are also expected to attract considerable interest.

Four pony classes including best saddle pony, best boy rider, and best girl rider, and model pony will enable boys and girls to have an important part in the show.

The Fox Hound Show, under the supervision of Dewey Benson and Bob Eades, is expected to bring out the best hounds in Boone and adjoining counties. All the above classes are open to the world and everybody is invited to compete for prizes.

LOCAL BOY WINS PURPLE HEART

PVT. C. W. McCARTY OF FLORENCE WOUNDED IN SICILY INVASION—MOTHER WILL RECEIVE PIN.

Pvt. Carl W. McCarty, has been awarded the Purple Heart, according to a letter received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. McCarty, 143, Division Street, Erlanger. Pvt. McCarty is a graduate of the Florence high school of the class of '39.

Pvt McCarty is in a hospital in North Africa recovering from wounds suffered in the invasion of Sicily. His mother will receive a small pin to wear indicating that she has a son decorated with the medal.

Pvt. McCarty revealed in a letter to his parents that he had lost his vest pocket New Testament during the battle in which he was wounded. His father is sending him another with a bullet-proof covering which he will carry over his heart.

Pvt. McCarty expressed hope that the war would be over by Christmas. He had just learned of Mussolini's "resignation."

Pointers On 4-H Club Exhibits Given By O. D. Perkinson

Four-H Club exhibits must come from projects carried by 4-H Club members. Dairy animals exhibited should be well groomed and trained to lead and stand. Animals that are not well trained are apt to make a good showman look bad.

Poultry and swine should be in suitable crates that they will be comfortable and can be displayed to best advantage.

Vegetables should be neatly arranged on paper plates or in small containers so that too much space will not be taken up by each exhibit. It is well to know that size is not the only factor considered in judging vegetables.

Tobacco exhibits should be cut at least seven days before the fair. Tobacco that is partly cured is easier to handle and judge.

Eastern Kentucky Help Received Here

Robert Spencer, William Travis and Edgar Van House of Johnson County began farm work in Boone County the past week. They secured local jobs through the County and State Extension labor programs.

Spencer is working on Grant Maddox's farm, Travis on Edgar Graves' farm and Van House on the M. M. Lucas farm.

Farmers desiring month help from Eastern Kentucky should contact the county agent's office in Burlington.

Revival Services In Progress At Bullittsburg

Revival services, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Roy Evans are in progress at the Bullittsburg Baptist Church. The services, each evening at 8:30 (CWT) will continue until August 22. Everyone cordially invited to attend.

Miss Mary Marshall spent Sunday with Miss Mildred Siekman.

GIRLS INJURED IN ACCIDENT

SUNDAY—PAIR THROWN FROM TRUCK ON WAY TO CAMP ERNST—INJURIES NOT SERIOUS.

Two girls, Jean Feldkamp, 12 years old, Crescent Springs, and Johelle Wilbers, 19, 1209 Pike Street Covington, suffered injuries when a truck in which they were riding skidded off the Camp Ernst Road. The girls were vacationing at Camp Ernst, Covington YWCA camp near Burlington.

Miss Feldkamp, suffered an injury to her right leg, while Miss Wilbers, received injuries to her left shoulder and right leg.

The girls had attended church at Florence and were being taken back to camp when the truck, driven by William Made, 19 Floral Avenue, Fort Mitchell, slipped off the road. The girls' injuries were not serious.

Fair Ground Spillway Has Been Completed

The 4-H and Utopia Club Fair Grounds lake spillway is being completed this week. A new bridge over the spillway has been constructed and will be ready for travel by the day of the fair, Saturday, August 21st.

The construction of the spillway and the bridge is being done by J. J. Kirkpatrick and Tommy Cason. The construction work represents an important improvement to the grounds.

35,000 POUNDS VETCH READY

FOR DISTRIBUTION TO LOCAL FARMERS—MINIMUM SEEDING RATE IS 15 POUNDS PER ACRE.

Thirty-five thousand pounds of vetch has been received for distribution to A. C. cooperators. It is being handled by Gulley and Pettit, Burlington and Walton & Readnour, Walton, Ky.

Vetch is being handled on the same plan as last year, as grant of aid material. The deduction rate for Vetch is $12.30 per 100 pounds if the germination test is 90 percent or better, and $11.60 per 100 pounds if the germination test is 80 to 90 percent. Credit rate for seeing vetch is $2.00 per acre and if it is turned or disced under the following spring, an additional $2.00 per acre is given. If it is allowed to fall down on the ground unharvested the credit is $1.00 per acre.

Minimum seeding rate is 15 pounds per acre, but it is preferable to sow it heavier, and it is recommended that from 20 to 30 pounds per acre be sown in addition to wheat, rye, barley or winter oats. To receive credit toward earning, soil-building allowance, commercial innoculation must be used unless it can be shown that the ground is already inoculated for vetch.

Vetch has given the greatest return as a soil-building crop for the amount of labor and money invested, of any of our soil builders. It should be seeded by the latter part of September for best results.

L. A. Conner Suffers Severe Burns Monday

L. A. Conner, local restaurant operator, suffered severe burns to his right arm Monday. The accident occurred while Mr. Conner was cooking in his restaurant. Hot grease spilled from a pan struck Mr. Conner near his elbow spilling down his arm, causing severe burns.

Dr. M. A. Yelton treated the burns and Mr. Conner was removed to his home. He is reported to be improving at this writing

Joseph D. Seamon

Joseph D. Seamon, died Tuesday of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Barnett, of Erlanger Road, Erlanger, after a brief illness.

Mr. Seamon was a retired tailor and a native of Lithuania. He formerly lived in Lexington, Ky., although the past 10 years were spent in Florence.

He leaves three sons, Robert, Cincinnati, Victor, High Point, N. C. and Archie, Hazard, Ky.; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Ash, Lawrenceburg, Ky., and Mrs. Barnett; one brother, Alexander Seamon, Baltimore, Md.; nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Thursday at the Tharp and Stith funeral home, Florence. Burial was in Independence Cemetery.

Hugh Smith

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Hebron Lutheran Church, Hebron, for Hugh Smith, who died Friday at the Veterans Facility in Dayton, O. Burial was in Hebron Cemetery.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Kittie McClung, Independence; a sister, Mrs. Addie Bockhorst, Detroit, and a brother, Emery Smith, Cincinnati.

Mr. Smith was a veteran of World War I.

Thomas C. Osborn

Funeral services were conducted at 3 p. m. Tuesday at the Tharp & Stith funeral home, Florence, for Thomas C. Osborn, interior decorator and lifelong resident of Florence, who died at his home on the Dixie Highway Sunday after a long illness. Burial was in Florence Cemetery. He was 58.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Bess Osborn; two daughter, Mrs. Fred Meadows; two daughters, Mrs. Fred raine Osborn; two brothers Edward and Finnell Osborn, all of Florence, and a grandson, Fred Thomas Meadows.

Tharp & Stith were in charge of funeral arrangements.

Tobacco Should Be Primed

The priming or pulling of the lower ripe leaves of tobacco will add many dollars to the tobacco crop, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. By priming or pulling the lower leaves as they ripen will make big leaves out of what otherwise would be light weight flying leaves.

Many farmers priming tobacco last year estimated that they made more than $25 per day or from $50 to $100 per acre. The pulled leaves are tied in bunches of three on a tobacco stick and allowed to cure.

Those farmers desiring to do priming should secure a leaflet on this subject at the county agent's office in Burlington. The recent dry weather has ripened a large part of the lower leaves that will soon be wasted if they are not primed.

Attend Farm Labor Meeting

C. Liston Hempfling, Chairman of the County Farm Labor Committee, and Lloyd Siekman, President of the Boone County Farm Bureau, attended a Northern Kentucky Farm Labor meeting in Covington last Wednesday evening. Representatives of Boone, Kenton and Campbell Counties attended the meeting.

Securing of labor services of German prisoners for emergency farm work was the main topic at the meeting which was attended by Hon. Brent Spence, Congressman of the 5th District of Kentucky. Congressman Spence promised his full support in helping solve the farm labor problems and stated he would investigate the possibility of having a labor unit set up at the Ft. Thomas Military Post.

DONALDSON'S MAJORITY INCREASING AS RETURNS POUR IN FROM COUNTIES

WITH 1,011 PRECINCTS NOT COUNTED—CROPPER WINS IN BOONE COUNTY JUDGE'S RACE —R. M. HALL WINS.

Reports from three-fourths of the voting precincts in Kentucky showed Lyter Donaldson, of Carrollton had won the Democratic nomination for Governor in last Saturday's primary by a nice majority.

Reports from 3,282 of the 4,293 precincts gave Donaldson 107,916; Ben Kilgore 68,218; Rodes Kirby Myers 24,966, and John Thobe, 2,085.

William H. May continued to hold his big lead in the race for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

Kenneth E. Tuggle of Barbourville was far in the lead in the Republican contest for Lieutenant Governor with approximately 14,000 votes.

Results of others races follows:

Secretary of State: Charles K. O'Connell 57,805; Fred L. Weir, 36,688 and Mrs. Floella Smith McDonough 15,349. Republicans, Mary Landis Cave, 12,630; R. Lee Stewart 11,343 and W. R. Tallent, 7,823.

Attorney General: Republican, Eldon S. Dummit, 12,496; Charles E. Whittle 8,672; Elmer C. Roberts, 4,892 and G. Tom Hawkins, 4,880.

State Auditor: Democrats, Ernest E. Shannon 57,783; Elmer E. Constant 43,560. Republicans, Charles Irvin Ross was unopposed.

State Treasurer: Democrats, Holman R. Wilson, 49,232; Millard D. Ball 48,293. Republicans T. W. Vinson of Louisville nominated because William E. Porter withdrew, although his name appeared on most ballots.

Home Coming Date Announced By Pastor Of St. Patrick Church

The Rev. John T. Jobst, pastor of St. Patrick Church, Verona, Ky., has announced that a Labor Day home coming outing will be conducted on the church grounds at Verona on September 6. Parish committees are in course of organization to handle the details of the outing.

Former parishioners living in other parts of Northern Kentucky and in over-river Cincinnati are being invited to join in the reunion celebration.

Anna L. Grant Promoted

Anna L. Grant has been promoted to 1st Lieutenant, and is attending school during the month of August at Oxford in London, England. She has been overseas twenty months.

We are hoping that she and all our boys and girls overseas will be able to return home in the near future.

COUNTY BAND TO STAGE SHOW

AT BURLINGTON SCHOOL, FRIDAY, AUGUST 27—WILL BE SHOWN AT HEBRON AND FLORENCE LATER.

Don't miss the "Boone County Showboat!"

This warning comes from the members and friends of the Boone County Band. The "Boone County Showboat" is the name given to the big variety show to be presented by the band at Burlington School August 27th and at Hebron and Florence schools at later dates.

This show promises entertainment for everyone. For those who like music there is a wide variety of vocal and instrumental numbers. In addition to excellent music by the twenty-piece band, including two stirring Sousa Marches, there are special instrumental numbers, two vocal solos, and songs by the chorus.

Besides this grand musical program, there is also blackface comedy in the good old minstrel show style, a melodrama of the old South entitled "And The Villian Still Pursued Her" and other excellent features which you are sure to enjoy.

BOYS AND GIRLS COMPETE AT FAIR

WILL HOLD EDGE ON GROWN-UPS DUE TO PROJECT WORK—OPEN TO WORLD EVENTS ARE NUMEROUS.

Six hundred forty-eight Boone County 4-H Club boys and girls will compete for agricultural and home economics honors at the Eleventh Annual 4-H and Utopia Club Free Fair at Burlington on Saturday week, August 21.

The boys and girls will hold the edge on the grown-ups in that special classes are open to club members in which club members may compete only with their project work.

Open to the World competition is open to everybody regardless of ownership, residence, or otherwise. Prizes in these classes are awarded on only one qualification, the best in the class. Everybody is invited to attend, exhibit and take part in these classes.

The county fair is unique in that it is one of the very few in which there are no entry fees, no gate admission charges and everybody is invited to come and attend Boone County's big annual county picnic. All expenses are paid for through commercial advertisements in the catalogue profits from concessions and from donations of public spirited citizens.

138 Girls Visited By Agent And Leaders

Last week 138 girls enrolled in 4-H projects were visited by Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, and local leaders. Project work was in good shape, according to Mrs. Moore. The girls were given instructions in completing their activities, and preparing to exhibit them at the annual 4-H and Utopia Fair, which will be held at the County Fair Grounds on August 21.

Clubs being visited this week are Petersburg, Wednesday; Hebron on Thursday; and Constance on Friday. Walton 4-H members will be visited next Tuesday, August 17. Clubs previously visited were Burlington, Grant, New Haven and Hamilton.

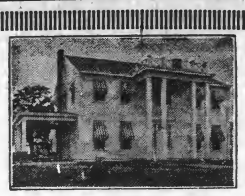
All money received from the above mentioned will be used for the benefit of the new fair grounds.



Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Arnold were entertained Sunday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Hanson, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., in honor of Mr. Arnold's birthday.

BEEKEEPERS ASKED TO SAVES BEESWAX

Beeswax is another farm article badly needed in the war effort, says an appeal from Washington, relayed through the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. It is now selling as high as 41 cents a pound.

Farmers are asked to collect wax from abandoned hives, and not wait until spring to take wax out of active hives. Some beekeepers melt down wax, but wax companies would just as soon have it in pressed form. Beeswax does not deteriorate with age.

Beeswax should be sent to dealers in beekeeping supplies, or turned over to large beekeepers. The demand is so urgent that any small amount should be turned in.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for August 15

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

GOD PROVIDES FOR HIS PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 16:11-18; 17:3-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—Give us this day our daily bread.—Matthew 6:11.

Only God can provide the necessities of life. Rationing has taught us that lesson anew if we have been at all thoughtful about it. The plan is one of sharing. Sharing what? The food and other provisions which come to us from God's hand. Unless our crops are good there will be less to share. Only God can help us.

This was the lesson Israel learned in the wilderness. To reach the goal to which God was leading them they must pass through the wilderness. Not only were there many weary miles to travel, but there were privations to be borne. Life is like that.

Now they cried for food. Note how elemental are man's needs in the final analysis—bread and water. The very things we take almost for granted as we concern ourselves with life's weighty interests and profound problems become, if lacking, the only things that have any real meaning. And who is it that can provide them? No one but God Himself.

I. Bread from Heaven (Exod. 16: 11-18).

Israel's longing for meat was met by the miraculous coming of quantities of quail (v. 13). But that was not the food to sustain them day after day. For this they needed bread, and it came from heaven, every day until they entered the promised land (Josh. 5:12).

Observe four things about the manna.

First, it was a divine provision. There are responsibilities in life which we may bear—and must bear—but in the ultimate meeting of our real needs we must look to God.

Secondly, it was a daily provision. What forehanded folk many of us are, and no doubt rightly so, for God puts no premium on improvidence. But once again we must recognize, as did Israel in receiving the daily manna in the wilderness, that ours is indeed a moment by moment existence.

We plan bravely for the next decade or the next generation, but as a matter of fact it can only come to pass "if the Lord will" (read James 5:13-17).

Next, it was a limited provision—enough for the day and no more, except for a double portion on the sixth day, and none at all on the Sabbath. These provisions were made clear to Israel, and yet there were those who attempted to lay up for the morrow, and some even went out to seek manna on the Sabbath day.

We marvel at their stubborn obtuseness, but are we not often just like them. Some there are who are always expecting that the laws of both God and man should be set aside for them, but they come to grief.

Finally, it called for diligence and action on their part. They had to be out early each day (except the Sabbath) to gather it. God's mercies are for those who are willing to obey Him. He gives to those who receive by active faith.

II. Water from the Rock (Exod. 17:3-6).

"And the people thirsted"—for the daily manna was not enough, they must have water. Needy, yes, constantly needy are God's children.

"Every life knows the bite of necessity . . . every soul cries out in pain because there is wanting some completing favor, some culminating and all-contenting benediction. Here it is bread; there it is water; but everywhere a famine . . . in many a case a famine of soul, a spiritual destitution, a consciousness of a void which time cannot satisfy or space content."

God always provides. There is a rock in the wilderness. But what pleasure does a murmuring people find in a rock when they famish for water? It is God's delightful custom to meet our needs in unexpected ways and by means which we do not understand. Even our physical necessities come from unthought of sources.

III. Christ, the Bread and Water of Life.

Our lesson does not give the New Testament application of Israel's experiences, but let us not miss that blessed spiritual truth.

In John 6:31-33, Christ is declared to be the true bread from heaven, of which the manna was but a type.

Paul speaks in I Corinthians 10: 1-4 of this incident in the history of Israel, saying that they "did all eat the same spiritual meat, and did all drink the same spiritual drink; for they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them: and that Rock was Christ" (see also John 4:14).

Hungry and thirsty soul, you who are still unsatisfied after tasting all that life apart from Christ has to offer, will you not, just now, take Him?

ALL READY FOR FAIR

Plans for the Bigger and Better Dearborn County Fair, which will be held at Lawrenceburg, Indiana August 23 to 28th are nearing completion. Opening on Monday evening with a countywide patriotic Rally and Bond Drive, it will continue throughout the week, with many features which tend to assist in our war efforts. Last year on opening night $80,000 worth of War Bonds were sold alone. The American Legion, who sponsor the Fair realize the risk involved in operating under present conditions but feel that the County Fair and its many features are one of the things which do not want to lose. Plan now to attend at least once, this year's Fair, as we must seek our amusement near home.

Will they thank you for good strong feet?

Oh, you mother of a child—you want his manners to be nice, you want his brain to be quick, you want his hands to be agile—but don't you want his feet to be sturdy and true, well shaped and graceful? Are those of your daughter?

You mother of a child, twenty years from now his feet will be walking up to get a diploma, or confidently marching in to get a job, maybe walking up to an old church altar to meet a bride in white. (Or it may be the bride herself). Your child may never thank you for good strong feet, he'll take them as a matter of fact. But what will he think if they're not good strong feet? Sure, he'll still love you—but "why didn't mother make sure I was growing up right?"

It is a responsibility, just one of the many a mother takes on when she brings a child into the world.—Adv.

VERONA

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Margalin and family have been spending their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kannady.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Roberts spent the week-end with their children in Latonia.

Kenneth Vest returned home from the hospital this week and is improving.

Little Donald Baker had his tonsils removed last week. He is recuperating nicely.

The members and families of the Happy Twelve Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vest and family on Sunday, August 8, for their annual picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ransom and daughter, of Louisville spent the week-end with his father, G. C. Ransom.

Wilbur Harris and family have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Harris. Wilbur is employed at Ft. Knox.

JERSEYS ARE CLASSIFIED

Six breeders of registered Jerseys in Graves county recently had 73 head of dairy cattle classified according to the rules of the American Jersey Cattle Club. Four of the herds were classified for the first time, while the others had only a few animals to bring their program up to date. One bull classified excellent, 25 of the females were very good, and the average of the entire number was 83.5 which, Farm Agent Wilson R. Hoover notes, is a splendid rating.

Farmers in Marshall county are growing soybeans for hay as well as for oil, since corn could not be planted at the proper time.

The following letter was received from R. J. Ryle, stationed somewhere in Africa with the U. S. Army:

"I wrote my mother sometime ago and asked her to see about a subscription to The Recorder for me, and she said that you informed her to have me write you requesting the paper. You know that now we don't need the C. O.'s permission to get things from the states that don't weigh more than five pounds. I would like to have the paper so that I might keep up with things at home. So if you'll send me the price of the subscription I'll get the money to you as quickly as possible.

"There isn't much to tell about what happened over here to bring the war to a close as suddenly as it did, only that we are Americans and America is the place we all want to get back to as quickly as possible, but not before the season is over and the good old U. S. A. has another pennant to fly. In other words not before the Axis are completely whipped.

"There were lots of prisoners taken over here, something like a quarter of a million, and lots of German equipment destroyed. That is equipment that will never bother us again and the destruction was made possible by the people back home who are giving their time, money, and talents that we might have the material to cause this complete destruction of the enemy. If you could see the Free French Army you would know what I mean. Their homeland is a conquered country, they have no one back home who can furnish them the guns and ammunition they need, so they fight with what they can get, German equipment, American and British equipment and believe you me, they're really fighters and did as much as the Americans in the fight for Tunisia.

"The Air Corps completely destroyed he city of Bizerte. This was a large and beautiful city on the shores of the Mediterranean sea, but one look at it now and you can see just how mighty and efficient our B-17, B-24, B-25 and B-26 really are. There isn't a building in that city that hasn't been damaged.

"I've run into only one Boone County boy over here, he is William Brown from Belleview. My brother 'Hoot' is over here also but as yet I haven't been able to locate him.

"I entered the war at El Guittar in Tunisia and we kept driving until Tunis had fallen. We were then at Maeur and were driving on Tunis.

"We have been dive bombed, straffed and shot at with artillery, and no matter which it is you immediately hunt cover or get two hands full of mother earth and get flatter on the ground than you have ever gotton before in your life. Of course we made a few of those airplanes pay for bombing and straffing, yet there is no sight that you can imagine, as to see the smoke start coming out of a Jerry plane when it has been hit badly you know it's going down, and wont be coming back to trouble you anymore.

"One of the best topics of conversation here is the miners. It would be just too bad if they were sent overseas to some of these outfits over here.

"Tell all around Burlington 'hello' for me. Has Dewey got a ball team this year?"

In a recent letter from Mrs. L. E. Love, Union, Ky., she writes regarding her son Sgt. Alfred E. Love, who has just been promoted to the rank of Sergeant. The letter follows:

"Boone County Recorder,
"Burlington, Ky.

"Alfred asked me to send you his new address, so I am writing you a few lines about him for The Recorder if you have the space.

"Since he was inducted into the army he has completed a 6-month course at the Aircraft Mechanics School at Amarillo, Texas. From here he went to the Gunnery School at Las Vegas, Nev., and graduated from there on July 5th, receiving his wings as an aerial gunner and being promoted to the rank of Sergeant. Then he was sent to the Army Air Base at Moses Lake, Wash., for a two-month course as an Aerial Engineer on the B-17 Flying Fortresses. All his training has been on the Flying Fortresses.

He appreciates The Recorder very much and like all other boys in the service wants to receive letters from his friends back home.

"Following is his address: Sgt. Alfred E. Love, 595th Bomb. Sq. (H) Army Air Base, Moses Lake, Wash."

The following letter was received from Bill Tinkelenberg stationed at Emory and Henry College where he is taking preliminary training in the Naval Air Force.

"Today I received a copy of The Recorder and have read about every inch of it. After a person is out of Boone County for a while he enjoys it more than ever.

"I am here at Emory and Henry College for preliminary training for the Naval Air Force. I will get eight months of college and then will be sent to pre-flight school.

"My brother, Chet, is in the Navy too. He has just finished boot camp at Sampson, New York and is going to be sent to radio school. When he finishes that he will be a radio technician with second-class petty officer rating.

"We are kept pretty busy here, with a full college course in addition to drilling and physical training. Once in a while we get liberty, but we are so far out in the mountains that there isn't much to do. The population of Emory is about half as many people as live in Belleview, but everyone that lives here treats us swell.

"Thanks again for sending The Recorder."

Pvt. Melvin L. Rider Btry "D" 863rd A. A. A. AWS Vn. Sm., Fort Tatten, N. Y., writes: "I am writing you this letter thanking you for sending me your paper. I was just starting to town Sunday afternoon when I went to the office and saw The Boone County Recorder. I had to read it, and I sure enjoy reading about happenings at home. . . . I am stationed in New York on Long Island. It is a swell place here. I have had six weeks of training here, and it was tough for a while, but we have to be tough to win this war . . . Thanking you again for the paper."

Jack Clore, stationed with the U. S. Army in North Africa writes the following letter dated July 4th:

"While you people in Burlington are celebrating, there is also one taking place somewhere near here. There has already been plenty fireworks here at the place we are stationed.

"We are off duty today, since it is Sunday, so guess I will go to the creek and do some laundry—lots of fun. Frances won't have a darn thing to do when I get back. A person can do most anything when they have to.

"I like to spend most of my spare time writing for I really like to receive letters. Your paper sure will be appreciated when it arrives.

"Here's a little piece I scribbled down. I am not a poet, just like to write:

Tunisia,
It's the blood of the brave and the true,
Of three nations who battled together,
With banners of red, white and blue.

As they marched o'er the sands of Tunisia
To the hills where the enemy lay,
They remembered their General's orders—
"The pass must be taken today."

Some thought of their homes and mothers,
Some thought of their sweethearts so far,
And some as they plodded and stumbled,
Were softly whispering a prayer.

Forward they went to the battle,
With faces unsmiling and stern,
They knew as they charged up the hillside,
That many would never return.

There's blood on the sands of Tunisia,
It's their gift to the freedom they love,
May their names live in glory forever,
And their souls rest in Heaven above.

—Pvt. E. C. Clore.

"That's just a way to pass off time, so if it is boring, just toss it aside. Wishing everyone a happy 4th."

Great Lakes, Ill.—Selected for training as a specialist in the U. S. Navy on the basis of a series of aptitude examinations given every Bluejacket during his recruit training, William H. Middendorf, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Middendorf, Dixie Highway. Florence, is now undergoing an intensive 16-weeks course in the school for Electricians' Mates here at the Service School of the U. S. Naval Training Station.

Upon successfully completing this course, he will be eligible for advancement to a petty officer's rating and will then be sent either to the fleet or to an advanced Service School for additional instruction. There he will serve under veteran petty officers in his specialized field, receiving more practical instruction and experience.

Service School here at Great Lakes offers courses in 19 of the 49 specialist trades of the U. S. Navy.

Pfc. Warren G. Kirkpatrick, Btry. D, 3rd Bn., 1st Regt. FARTC, Fort Bragg, N. C., writes: "Conditions are not so good for letter writing this week as we have been in the field for ten days, but will try to let you know I still exisit here in Bragg . . . This is our first time to try field rations, but they seem O. K. They sure don't look like a person could live on the amount, but they satisfy your hunger, and after all that is what counts most. . . . These monthly maneuvers are quite interesting and one sure learns plenty. Everything here is tactical, even of a night no one even as much as smokes a cigarette. . . . I have been transferred from Battalion Headquarters as chauffeur to another outfit which I like much better, I am now a mechanic, taking care of 22 trucks. . . . Well Pete, as many others have said 'thanks' a lot for the paper, and hoping you and all the gang there are enjoying the best of everything."

Can You Picture KENTUCKY without Highways?

A strange place it would be—this State of ours—if our splendid 9,578-mile network of surfaced highways suddenly ceased to exist.

A great many communities would be isolated. Others would find it infinitely more difficulty to carry on even the most ordinary daily activities—with no trucks on the move, no cars or buses taking workers to war plants and farms, soldiers to camp and home on furlough, business travelers to nearby communities, children to school.

We in Kentucky are apt to take for granted the convenience of our excellent roads—but these highways didn't just grow. Building and maintaining them is a tremendous job and for achieving this successfully we can thank past and present administrations and particularly the Kentucky Department of Highways.

That isn't the whole story, however. Transforming these lifeless ribbons of concrete and macadam into live, active arteries of public transportation has been the accomplishment of the Kentucky Public Service Commission. They've given our State a transportation system that compares favorably with any other in the country.

As fellow citizens of Kentucky, the Greyhound Lines have made a very large contribution in the form of license, fuel and operating taxes—but we feel that our greatest service is in putting the highways to work making near neighbors and good neighbors of all the communities we serve throughout the State.

X-Ray Clinic Will Be Held Sometime In September

An X-ray clinic for Boone County will be held sometime in September, according to Miss Elizabeth Lowry, Red Cross Nurse. The date will be published just as soon as the State Health Department notifies Miss Lowry.

People who need particularly to be on guard against tuberculosis are boys and girls in their teens and young adults are the chief victims of tuberculosis. Although we think of youth as the time when the body is strongest, it is in youth too, that bodily energy is usually spent most freely. Young people who do not eat enough nourishing food, who work and play too long and too hard, and who rest too little may have bodies which you cannot deal successfully with the germs of tuberculosis.

All people regardless of age, who have been in contact with an active case of tuberculosis, are in special need of a periodic X-ray check-up.

If you think you should have an X-ray see your doctor.

Children are more apt to contract tuberculosis than older people therefore all children who have exposed should have an examination and X-ray.

Approximately 80 percent of the farmers in Henderson county who planted hemp, had difficulty in getting a good stand.

Alfalfa Fits Four-Year Rotation On Farm

Alfalfa is fitting well into a four-year rotation on the farm of Grant Maddox of near Florence. Grant uses the rotation on his large poultry and general dairy farm, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The last year's poultry lots are plowed up in spring and seeded to soybeans. The soybeans are harvested in the fall for hay and the land seeded in alfalfa before September 1. Alfalfa hay is cut the next two years and used to feed the dairy cows and the third year used for chicken pasture and then back to soybeans and alfalfa.

Two outstanding features of this program are first alfalfa can be used in a short rotation as in the case above, three years of hay crops and one year of pasture are received, and, the second point, is the ease with which alfalfa can be secured once the proper rotation and soil treatment system is worked out. The above land is relatively flat and in the past was not considered alfalfa land. Once proper treatment has been given exceellent yields are received.

Boone County farmers are unusually short on alfalfa and clover hay this year. August is an ideal month for seeding. Despite high priced seed and other conditions farmers who make the most money the next few years are acting now to produce a maximum of highest quality feed crops. September first is about as late as alfalfa should be seeded locally.

Plans for the fair will be completed following the meeting.

Thorne Wheat Gives Highest Yield

Thorne wheat has given the highest yield in past five years experimental work, according to the College of Agriculture. The five year average yields of the varieties tested are as follows: Thorne 43.3 bushels, Ky. Number forty-seven variety 38.7 bushels, Trumbul, 39 bushels, and Rhoestem 38.3 bushels.

Thorne wheat has brown chaff, red kernels and is beardless.

Balbo rye is the outstanding grazing rye developed to date.

Farmers desiring to sow the best in the much needed winter cover crop seeds should secure their seeds now according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The farmer who waits to the last minute to secure seed stock usually has to take what he can get. Seed of higher producing varieties costs a little more but takes no more labor to seed or harvest. Get your seed at the earliest possible date.

Five acres of balbo rye yielded 158 bushels for Herbert Roberts of Graves county.

YOUR ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

is working harder than ever now

MIDSUMMER heat means extra duty for your electric refrigerator. The hotter the weather, the longer and harder it works to protect your perishables and provide you with extra quantities of ice cubes, frozen desserts and cold drinks.

No matter how high the temperature soars, you can depend upon your economical electric refrigerator to provide constant, food-saving cold. And although it may be using a little more electricity now, the small added cost is far outweighed by the food savings it makes possible.

HOT WEATHER TIPS ON REFRIGERATOR CARE

1 Defrost whenever frost reaches ¼-inch thickness. Frost forms faster in hot weather.

2 Open door only when necessary and close it quickly.

3 Do not store hot foods. Let them cool first.

4 Cover all liquids. Moisture drawn to freezing unit speeds formation of frost.

5 Keep cold control at lowest setting necessary to assure safe temperatures.

6 Use fast freezing sparingly. Return to normal setting promptly.

7 Don't overcrowd shelves. It hinders air circulation.

8 Don't use refrigerator as a pantry. Store only perishables and foods requiring chilling.

Chairman of Committees—Lucian Bradford

Utopia club members represent our young rural leaders of today. They are young men and women 19 years of age or older, interested in Agricultural and Home Economics improvement. They are pioneers in Boone County's hybrid seed corn breeding work and other important projects. The Utopia club enrolls 43 members, holds regular monthly meetings, conducts demonstrations in improved practices and promotes a program for a more full and wholesome rural life. Many of our members this year are serving in our Armed Forces. We remember them in presenting our 1943 Fair program.

WHEN WILL THE WAR END?

That is a very popular question just now. It seems that nearly every person has a different idea about when the war will end—even including the higher-ups in Washington.

The following verse on this subject credited to "Cleats," whoever he is, comes to us from Dr. Frank J. Riedel, Covington's popular chiropractor, a Recorder advertiser, 5 East Eighth St., that city:

Absolute knowledge have I none
But my aunt's washer-woman's sister's son
Heard a policeman on his beat
Say to a laborer in the street,
That he had a letter just last week
Written out in the finest Greek,
From a Chinese coolie in Timbuktu,
Who said the Negroes in Cuba knew
Of a colored man in a Texas town,
Who got it straight from a circus clown
That a man in Klondike heard the news
From a lot of South American clues,
About somebody in Borneo
Who heard a man who claimed to know
Of a swell society female rake
Whose mother-in-law will undertake
To prove that her husband's sister's niece
Had stated today in a printed piece
That she has a son who has a friend,
Who knows when the war is going to end.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: But he won't tell!)

AT THE Gayety Theatre

TONIGHT

Two famous New York stage actors appear in important roles in "Reap the Wild Wind," Paramount sea epic produced in Technicolor by Cecil B. DeMille. The two are Raymond Massey, who played the title role in "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" on the stage and then repeated it on the screen, and Walter Hampden, noted Shakespearean actor.

"Reap the Wild Wind," which stars Ray Milland, Paulette Goddard and John Wayne, will be at the Gayety, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

The story of "Two Weeks to Live" starring Lum and Abner, has as its rollicking theme the problem of earning $10,000 in two weeks. It all begins when Abner inherits a railroad and envisions Pine Ridge as a flourishing railroad center. To further this plan, Lum and Abner collect the money from the willing residents of Pine Ridge, only to find that the railroad is practically useless.

In this, their third RKO Radio Picture, Lum and Abner bring to their radio and screen fans one of the funniest films to come out of Hollywood.

Produced by Jack Votion and directed by Malcolm St. Clair, "Two Weeks to Live" has in its cast, Kay Linaker, Irving Bacon, Ivan Simpson, Rosemary La Planche, Franklin Pangborn and Herbert Rawlinson.

• • •

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Rita Johnson takes another long stride forward in the road to movie success with her portrayal in Mary O'Hara's "My Friend Flicka," the Technicolor picture coming to the Gayety.

Also featured in the 20th Century-Fox film are Roddy McDowall and Preston Foster.

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

The F. B. I. served as a part-time casting office for March of Time's "We Are the Marines," the fighting full-length picture at the Gayety, Tuesday.

The picture, produced in collaboration with the Marine Corps, is wholly peopled with real Leathernecks. In continuity sequences, though, Japs were needed. They were furnished on order by the F. B. I.

Plus

Virginia Bruce, being one of the most decorative items in Hollywood, often has posed in a bathing suit in films. But for her role in "Careful, Soft Shoulders," she actually had to learn to swim because in the 20th Century-Fox spy melodrama, Virginia makes her escape from Axis agents by water. And there are no boats hand! Miss Bruce shares top billing in the film with James Ellison.

FRANK B. JACKSON

Frank B. Jackson, the son of Omer T. and Elizabeth Bonham Jackson was born March 14, 1868 at Bright, Ind. His boyhood was spent in and near his birthplace, but after completion of his common school education, he went to Kentucky for a brief period, going thence to the city of Cincinnati, where he entered the employ of the Street Railway Co. In keeping with his life practice of constant preparation for a better place with wider opportunity for service, in addition to the regular duties of his position, he pursued a course of study at the Cincinnati Veterinary College, obtaining his degree in 1906.

Dr. Jackson immediately opened an office in Camden, establishing himself in the community in which he found opportunity for successful practice of his profession and for capable public service. He served as a member of the Village Council and on the creation of the Board of Public Affairs, he was chosen as one of its original members, in which capacity he served continuously until his death. For many years he has been Vice President and a member of the Board of Directors of the Camden Loan and Building Association Co. He had a keen sense of duty to his community, which he served with honesty and fidelity. He wanted the town and its people to be as moral and decent as he was in his own life and he brought the force of his personality to make a better place for living. His neighbors and fellow townsmen will long remember his courage, his wholesome ideals and his devotion to duty.

After establishing himself in the practice of his profession, on November 12, 1907, Dr. Jackson was married to Margaret Elizabeth Bullock and to this union was born one son Clinton B. Jackson, now a Captain in the United States Army and stationed at Evansville, Ind.

Shortly after marriage the Jacksons established a home at 119 South Main Street, where they continued in happy and congenial life until the end which came to both within a twelve-month period, Dr. Jackson on July 29, 1943, his faithful wife preceded him to another world on August 11, 1942. Besides the son there survive three grandchildren; a sister, Miss Christina Jackson of Batesville, Ind., and many other relatives and a legion of friends.

Dr. Jackson was a consistent Christian in his faith, valued the conscious strength of the spiritual life and sought opportunity for its development and exercise in active and loyal membership in the Camden Masonic Lodge of the Eaton Chapter Royal Arch Masons and of the Dayton Consistory.

In all of the relations of life, Dr. Jackson served his community well, and while he has gone from among those who knew him, yet he has left to that community and its people for their enrichment the fruit and example of the life of a Christian citizen.

SWAPPING WORK O. K. IN RUSSELL COUNTY

How seven families in Russell county have worked out a system of swapping work is told by County Agent R. V. Trosper. Leader of the plan is the Rev. B. Higginbottom, farm leader and county labor committeeman. Visiting neighboring farms, he found 19 women and girls and four boys who were willing to swap equal hours of work and then pay for over-time. Their agreement includes haying, harvesting of grain and tobacco, and handling of other crops.

Cheese is a concentrated food full of protein, calcium, fat, and vitamins A and B2.

BOONE COUNTY MAN AND SON SLAIN

4,000 EXPECTED AT 4-H AND UTOPIA FAIR

FOUR-H AND UTOPIA CLUB COUNCIL IN CHARGE OF FAIR PLANS—BOONE COUNTY BAND WILL FURNISH MUSIC.

Record attendance is expected at the eleventh annual 4-H and Utopia Club Free Fair and Boone County Picnic at Burlington on this Saturday, August 21, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Committees are making preparations to take care of the largest annual event ever held in the county.

The 4-H and Utopia Club Council are in charge of fair plans. The Council is assisted by 43 Utopia Club members, 648 4-H Club members, 74 adult leaders, Homemaker Club members and volunteer leaders and committeemen from all sections of the county.

There are two important ways that everyone can help make the fair a success. First, to be there with your folks and friends and second, to bring an exhibit of your garden or other food crops.

The Utopia Club will be in charge of seeing that those who can not bring their lunch may purchase plenty of eats and drinks. A three ring show and the Boone County School Band will provide interesting entertainment throughout the day.

Everybody is welcome. Let's all meet at Boone County's largest get-together on this Saturday. It's our fair and picnic.

BURLINGTON BAND MEMBERS WILL MEET AT SCHOOL SATURDAY

Members of the Boone County Band from Burlington are requested to meet at the schoolhouse Saturday morning at 10:30 for their uniforms and caps. Hebron and Florence members are requested to bring their uniforms with them.

RECORD NUMBER EXHIBITS EXPECTED

PLANS MADE TO CARE FOR RECORD ATTENDANCE AND RECORD NUMBER OF EXHIBITS.

Four thousand people or more are expected to attend the eleventh annual Boone County Picnic and 4-H and Utopia Club Free Fair at the new 4-H Fair Grounds near Burlington on this Saturday, August 21, according to H. R. Forkner County Agent.

Plans this year are being made to take care of both a record attendance and a record number of exhibits. Food for Victory exhibits including an enlarged premium list for vegetables, food and home clothing exhibits. All premiums will be paid in Defense Stamps.

The Utopia Club, representing the boys and girls above 4-H Club age carrying agricultural and home economics improvement work, will be in charge of concessions on the grounds. These members, along with 658 4-H Club members and 76 adult leaders, will render special service in the fair program plans.

Beginning at 11:00 a. m. (EWT) three main attractions will begin and continue until the close at 5:00 p. m. The Home Economics show, beginning in the Floral Hall at 11:00 a. m., will carry through the day with winners being announced regularly from the speaker's stand.

The agricultural exhibits will start at 11:00 a. m. with a Fox Hound Show and will finish with a saddle horse and pony show in the afternoon. Exhibits of garden crops, tobacco, corn, sheep, swine and dairy cattle will be made.

The Special Events program includes ten contests in which winners will receive prizes. The contests varies from hog calling contest to the best dressed boy and girl at the fair. The Boone County sixty-piece school band under the supervision of Dean Bloss will present special musical numbers throughout the day.

The Boone County Picnic and Free Fair is free. Boone County people invite their friends to come and enjoy the day with them on their beautiful new fair grounds.

Home Economics Department Will Have Number Exhibits

The Floral Hall display at the Boone County 4-H and Utopia Fair will include a wide variety of home economics exhibits.

The 4-H girls will show foods, clothing and canning work which they have done during the past few months. This display will fill three booths in the hall.

The Homemakers' Club members will exhibit articles representing miscellaneous activities of their organization. Among these classes will be seen first aid kits, tailor's cushions, original hats and dresses, and articles of handicraft.

This year the open class exhibits will include as new features the canning display and feed sack dresses. The usual array of quilts and flowers will also be seen.

Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, encourages all to participate in the display, and asks that those having entries relieve the rush by getting them in as early as possible. All entries must be in by 11:00 (EWT).

Methodist Church Homecoming Date Set Sunday Aug. 22

Sunday, August 22nd, is Homecoming Day at the Florence Methodist Church, and members and friends are invited to a full day of worship and fellowship. Sunday School will be held at 10 a. m., worship service at 11 a. m., with the pastor, Rev. E. K. Kidwell, as speaker. A basket lunch will be spread in the basement.

Infant baptism services are set for 2 p. m., with the District Superintendent, Dr. S. C. Rice officiating.

A former pastor, Rev. G. R. Tomlin, now at Grace Church, Newport, will preach in the afternoon. There will be no evening service.

Rev. Kidwell extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend these services.

Union Girl Winner In Post-Coppin Better Child Contest

Sue Allison Greenup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Greenup, Union, Ky., was awarded first in the girls' division of the Better Child Contest sponsored by the Kentucky Post and the John R. Coppin Co., Covington, according to officials who announced results of the contest this week.

Little Miss Greenup was selected as winner in the girls' division with 509 other children entered from all parts of Northern Kentucky, ranging in ages from six months to six years of age.

She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Greenup, who have made their home in both Union and Burlington for the last several years.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Jones of Crittenden, Ky., announce the engagement of their daughter Virginia to Lieutenant (j. g.) Robert E. Eyssen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Eyssen of Brunswick, O.

Miss Jones is a member of the Erlanger-Elsmere School faculty, having received her college training at Eastern Kentucky Teachers' College and the University of Kentucky.

Lieutenant (j. g.) Eyssen is a graduate of McGill Medical College, Montreal, Canada, where he was a member of Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity. He is at present an assistant surgeon with the Public Health Service at the United States Coast Guard Training Station in St. Augustine, Fla.

The wedding will be an event of the early fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Nicholson, of Walton, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Benson and family.

Blood Needed By Cincinnati Blood Bank; Below Quota

An appointment has been made for six persons from this county to visit the Blood Bank in Cincinnati, Monday, August 23 at 1 p. m. Those who are now eligible are urged to be at the courthouse by noon of that day.

The Blood Bank announced that there has been a sharp decline in ntmber of persons donating blood and reported that the number of pints donated is far below their quota. Any person desiring to attend the Blood Bank, is requested to be at the court house by noon of August 23 and transportation will be furnished to and from Cincinnati. Any number from Boone County will be accepted at the Blood Bank on the above date.

If you have not as yet donated a pint of blood to the Armed Forces to save a life, and wish to do so, please see Mrs. Lou Pope, Burlington, Ky., R. 1, or call Burlington 473.

COUNTY'S BEST WILL COMPETE

FOR HONORS SATURDAY AT FREE FAIR—OPEN CLASS COMPETITION WILL START AT 11:00 A. M.

The county's best will compete for honors at Boone County's 4-H and Utopia Club Fair and Picnic, Saturday, according to the 4-H and Utopia Council. Large numbers of exhibits are expected in all classes.

The open classes are open to the world. Competition in these classes will start at 11:00 a. m. (EWT) with Special Event Contests and a Fox Hound Show that is expected to draw old timers from far and wide. The open class home economics and agricultural exhibits will go on display at this time.

The baby show will start at 1:00 p. m. with the County Red Cross Nurse in charge of the judging.

The horse and pony show will start in the afternoon as soon as the judging of the dairy cattle is completed. These shows are expected to attract special attention due to the large number of local people competing.

There are no entry fees or admission charges for any competition. Everybody is invited to come and take full part in the contests.

Fox Hound Show 11:00 A. M.

A fox hound show will be held at 11:00 a. m. (EWT) Saturday, August 21 at the County 4-H and Utopia Fair, according to C. D. "Dewey" Benson and Robert Eades, committeemen in charge of the show.

A good judge will be secured. All fox hound owners are urged to bring their dogs and take part in the show.

8-YEAR-OLD BOY DROWNS IN CREEK

NEAR HATHAWAY THURSDAY AFTERNOON—BODY IS RECOVERED BY FATHER—SERVICES HELD FRIDAY.

Dennis McDaniel, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George McDaniel of the Hathaway neighborhood, Boone County, drowned in Gunpowder Creek last Thursday afternoon. According to reports, the youth with two other brothers were wading in the creek when he stepped into water over his head.

His father was summoned and recovered the body thirty minutes after it had disappeared beneath the surface, but all attempts to revive the youth were to no avail.

Coroner Hubert White returned a verdict of accidental drowning, after investigation.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McDaniel, two brothers and one sister.

Funeral services were held at the Belleview Cemetery Friday afternoon, August 13 at 4 p. m. Burial was in the Belleview Cemetery.

Chambers and Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Miss Mary Bess Cropper spent last Thursday in Cincinnati.

INJURIES FATAL TO ERLANGER YOUTH

UNION GIRL CHARGED WITH INVOLUNTARY MANSLAUGHTER FOLLOWING TRAGEDY NEAR BOONE-KENTON LINE.

Gilbert Tombragel, Jr., 17, McAlpin Avenue, Erlanger, died of a fractured skull, neck and leg fractures when he was struck by an automobile near the Boone-Kenton County line near Florence Monday night.

Martha Kimberlin, driver of the car was charged Tuesday with involuntary manslaughter, following her arrest on a warrant sworn to by P. L. Shears, Florence police chief. After being arraigned before County Judge C. L. Cropper, the girl was ordered held under a $1000 bond pending arraignment Monday.

According to reports Tombragel and four other youths were standing three feet off the highway waiting for a north-bound bus when the auto struck the group. Tombragel was dragged more than 100 feet by the auto. The car was traveling north at a moderate rate of speed and began swerving from one side of the road to the other.

The car then went apparently out of control and ran into the group. Two of the group escaped injury, but four others were given treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington.

The injured were: Louise Houston, 18, 228 East Fifth Street, Newport, right leg fracture and cuts; Richard Blaker, 17, 123 Garvey Ave., Elsmere, severe cuts on right arm and left leg; Mary Jane Hauer, 19, Erlanger, left arm cuts; and Clifford Dempsey, 19, 115 Garvey Ave., Elsmere, cuts and bruises.

The Tombragel youth was planning on enlisting in the Merchant Marine Wednesday and was the "boy friend" of Miss Hauer, it was reported.

Surviving the Tombragel youth, are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tombragel, and a sister Mrs. Robert Warning.

Requiem High Mass for Tombragel were sung at 9 a. m. Thursday at St. Henry Church, Erlanger.

William E. Brown

William Edward Brown, retired Boone County farmer died Friday August 13th at the residence of his sister, Mrs. John Stephenson, Batavia, O. He was stricken ill while enroute to his sister's residence six days previous to his death. He was 61 years old.

He was a native of Gallatin County, but at the time of his death was a resident of Verona, Ky. He was a member of the Lebanon Presbyterian Church, Grant County.

Mr. Brown is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mae Brown; two sisters, Mrs. John Stephenson, Batavia, O., and Mrs. Patty Willeford, Florence, Ky.; one brother Walter Brown, of Verona.

Funeral service was from the residence, with services at Concord Baptist Church, Sunday, Aug. 15, at 2 p. m. (CWT) with Rev. J. Russell Cross, assisted by Rev. G. N. Smith, in charge of services. Burial was in Concord Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Harry Barlow, Dolph Sebree, Ernest Jones, William Gatewood, Charles Thomas Wilson, and Bernard Wilson.

The Hamilton funeral home, Verona, was in charge of funeral arrangements.

George H. Young

George H. Young, an Erlanger building contractor for 32 years, died Monday afternoon at his home, 22 Erlanger road, Erlanger, after a short illness. He was 82.

Mr. Young was a member of the Erlanger Baptist Church.

He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Walter Frakes, Mrs. Charles A. Ricer and Miss Ada Young, all of Erlanger, and Mrs. Clyde Yelton, Ft. Petersburg Baptist Church Announces Revival Meeting Date

Rev. George R. Ferguson

The Petersburg Baptist Church is pleased to announce the coming of Brother George R Ferguson from Covington, Ky., who will preach each evening at 8:00 from August 28th through September 3rd.

Bro. Ferguson believes that the one thing above all things which people need most these days is to go to church, hear the word of God, love and serve Christ.

The church and Rev. Edw. Furginson, pastor extend to the many members and friends a hearty welcome to come and worship with us, praying that this revival will be an outstanding event in the community of Petersburg, leading many to a richer and fuller experience and fellowship with Christ. Make preparations now to attend these services each night.

Florence Nine Win Over Burlington By Score Of 9 To 7

The Junior baseball team of Florence trounced Burlington Saturday afternoon at the Burlington park by a score of 9-7.

Turner, on the hill for the winners was credited with 14 strikeouts. While Brown and Benson dividing the mound duties pitched good ball throughout.

Both teams at times showed real baseball ability, while at other times during the game, numerous errors were costly.

Florence played an improved brand of ball, this game making their fourth straight victory.

FARMERS URGED TO BUY SEED EARLY

DIFFICULTY HAS ALREADY BEEN ENCOUNTERED IN SECURING BALBO RYE AND OTHER GRAINS.

Farmers are urged to buy their wheat, rye and small grain seed early, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Considerable difficulty has already been encountered in securing Balbo rye and certain varieties of other grains.

Early sown small grains made with pasture and meadow seedings produces better feed with a big saving of grain, protein supplements and hay.

Experimental work with feeding hogs shows that one acre of good pasture furnishes enough foliage for two to three litters of pigs and replaces 15 to 18 bushels of corn and 500 pounds of protein supplement. Small grains, such as Balbo rye, common rye, barley and winter oats seeded alone or in combination with vetch or crimson clover in August or early September provides excellent pasture from mid-October until late spring. The use of good winter pasture not only saves from 10 to 15 percent of the grain and 40 to 50 percent of the supplement but in addition produces faster gains and helps maintain better health and uniformity among the fall pig crop. Comparable results will be received with sheep and dairy cattle.

Getting the small grain crop seeded early is the county's greatest cover crop problem. Every farmer should do his best to solve this individual farm problem.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEVON SHOOTING AFFRAY

Daughter, 16, Held As Material Witness By Officials—Fifteen Shots Fired From Three Guns—Two Weapons Found In Cistern

Karl Kiger, 49, and his six-year-old son, Jerry, were dead and Mrs. Jenny Kiger suffered a right thigh wound at the hand of an unknown gunman late Monday night at their home "Rosegate" on the Dixie Highway five miles south of Florence.

Mr. Kiger, and his son were killed in their beds. Mrs. Kiger, 48, probably saved her life by feigning death after a bullet from the assailant's gun crashed into her right thigh. Her husband and son were asleep when the shots were fired.

The daughter, Jo Ann, 16 was being held at the residence of Elmer Kirkpatrick, Boone County Jailer as a material witness, while local authorities sought to clear up the mystery.

Officials, headed by Sheriff Jake Williams, and Sergeant Melvin Huff, of the State Highway Patrol, were trying to determine who fired 15 shots from three .38-caliber revolvers which belonged to Kiger, wounding Kiger 7 times, Jerry three times and Mrs. Kiger once.

The shooting ocurred on the second floor of their home, where the family was sleeping, the parents in one room, Jerry in another and Jo Ann in a third. The residence is located just south of Devon and is known as the old Hunter farm.

Commonwealth Attorney, Raymond L. Vincent was directing the investigation Wednesday. Sawyer Smith, Covington lawyer had been retained to represent Jo Ann.

Although Sheriff Williams and Sergeant Huff said the signed statements of Mrs. Kiger and her daughter were not in accord, they refused to reveal the nature of the discrepancies. Part of the investigation will be a post-mortem examination of the body of Kiger if members of his family consent to such examination.

Two of the weapons used in the fatal shooting were found in a cistern near the kitchen door of the house. The third was in the hand of Mrs. Kiger, to whom Jo Ann told officers she gave the weapon after firing at an intruder.

Jo Ann, Sheriff Williams said, declared that she was awakened by a noise and her mother's screams. Leaving the upstairs room in which she was sleeping alone, she ran downstairs, obtained two pistols belonging to her father and started back upstairs.

On the landing she saw the dark figure of an intruder, she said. Dropping one pistol because she could not pull the trigger, she used both hands to fire the other several times, she asserted.

The girl handed the revolver she had fired to her mother, who lay wounded on the bed beside the bullet-riddled body of her husband.

When her mother told her to go to the near-by home of Robert Mayo, Jr., to summon aid, Jo Ann said she ran downstairs and out the front door, then drove the family automobile to the Mayo home where she blew the horn until Robert Mayo, Sr., came out.

Mayo called Sheriff Williams, who arrived with his deputy, Irvin Rouse. Sergeant Huff then arrived from Williamstown.

The shooting occurred between 12:30 and 1 o'clock, according to officials.

Some officials quoted Mrs. Kiger as saying Jo Ann had nightmares. Another statement, purportedly coming from the mother, was that her daughter told her "a crazy man is her and I think I'll you and then myself because I don't want to be left alone."

One of the weapons recovered from the cistern contained four empty cartridges. The other contained no cartridges, but there were six empty ones in the cistern. The weapon held by Mrs. Kiger contained five empty cartridges, Sheriff Williams reported.

Authorities put aside robbery as a motive when they found approximately $1600 hidden in the house. Kiger's pocketbook on a mantle downstairs, contained $65.

The slaying of Carl Kiger, Vice Mayor of Covington, and his son followed a party in celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Kiger's twenty-fourth wedding anniversary.

Kiger was a well known political figure in Kenton County. He was Kenton County campaign chairman for Alben W. Barkley in his campaign for United States Senator against A. B. Chandler.

Correction

Attention of the committee in charge has been called to agreements with premium donors in the Baby Show held in connection with the Boone County 4-H and Utopia Fair, making it necessary to leave this event open to who desire to participate, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent. It had been the desire of the committee, and was previously announced that the entrants be limited to Boone County babies only, therefore the correction is being made.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hensley and daughters, Mary Jean, Mrs. M. V. Mills and Mrs. G. F. Freeland visited Mrs. Robt. B. Hensley at Lexington, Sunday, who recently underwent a major operation at St. Joseph Hospital. At the present time Mrs. Hensley is convalescing nicely at the home of her parents, Judge and Mrs. D. M. Curry.

Justin Dolph's garage, Burlington has been closed a few days this week, due to an eye injury suffered by Mr. Dolph last Friday. Dr. Heisel removed a small piece of steel from his eye, Monday morning at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He is expected to resume work the latter part of the week.

TWENTY-FOUR MEN INDUCTED AUG. 10

TEN MEN ARE REJECTED—TWENTY-ONE DAY FURLOUGH GRANTED TO ALL MEN PASSING EXAMINATION.

Twenty-four men were inducted into the Army and Navy of the United States on Tuesday, August 10th at the Cincinnati Reception Center, according to C. G. Kelly, Clerk of the local Draft Board.

Only ten of the thirty-five men sent to Cincinnati were rejected, with one boy being transferred to another Board, and no official report has been received on this transfer.

Those who were accepted from Boone County in either the Army or Navy were as follows:

Kenneth S. Ratcliff, Clyde A. Daugherty, Richard Spencer, Jr., Vernon H. Clifton, James A. Michels, Raymond E. Witham, Francis M. Hodges, Geo. C. Durant, Wayne E. Stegner, Ralph B. Sutter, Joseph F Meyer, Jr., Thomas J. Stewart, Herbert Joseph Scott, Richard Lee Kottmyer, Robert Lee Burnett, James Martin Haynes, Marvin E. Mulligan, Robert W. Vahlsing, Richard S. Burns, Charles E. Craddock, Ralph Lee Prabel, George David Mullins, Robert Lee Sullivan, Stanley Q. Tanner.

All boys who were inducted into the Army were allowed 21 days extension and all those assigned for Navy service were given only seven day extensions before reporting for actual duty.

A. Carroll Auditor from State Selective Service headquarters was in Burlington last Tuesday and Wednesday for the purpose of inspecting and examining the condition of Boone Draft Board No. 8 and reported the Board in excellent condition and that everything was being handled in a fine manner.

Major Norman, Co-ordinator from State headquarters visited the Local Draft Board last week for the purpose of advising with the Clerk and Board members on any matters that were coming up in the near future.

STATISTICS DON'T TELL ALL

It is irritating to farmers to be informed by statisticians that agriculture is making a financial killing out of the war. If the statisticians would leave the city long enough to take a look at the way a farmer must try to operate under present conditions, they would go back and toss their statistics out of the window.

For example, a lot of ballyhoo has been published about the "flood" of men going back to the farms. One dairy farm was recently subjected to the flood—at seventy-five cents an hour per man. Two men, one a civil engineer professing to help the farmer in a pinch during harvest time, the other an ex-tevedore looking for easy money, went into the field to load hay. At the day's end they had arrived at the barn with one load. Two other loads had been dumped by the wayside, one thru the front door a grocery store. They were paid off. Net result: Twelve dollars in labor costs for a couple of tons of hay.

This is merely a sample. But it shows why the country is going to go hungry if the pencil pushers that make the rules don't quit writing fairy tales.

REAL CONSERVATION

Americans are learning the meaning of conservation. They are learning from an exacting teaching—war. War has in a matter of months switched this country from a nation of abundance to a nation of scarcity, as far as civilians are concerned. And where there is scarcity, there must be conservation. Automobile owners cannot burn up their cars with speed as they were wont to do a few years ago. Housewives cannot carelessly demolish household appliances, or toss out surplus food.

The next effort to conserve must reach farther than slow driving and eating the last crust of bread. It must reach into one of the most important existing fields of conservation—fire prevention. Several hundred million dollars worth of property is destroyed each year by fire. The bulk of that loss is sheer criminal waste, brought about by indifference and carelessness on the part of individuals. This carelessness can be eradicated by education; by learning that preventing a property-destroying fire is as great a step toward conservation as driving your auto slowly to save tires. Fire prevention authorities have emphasized that: "The development of a safety awareness that will control the daily actions of the individual is necessary if preventable fires and conflagrations are to be reduced to a minimum."

Until our individual conservation efforts are effectively directed toward curbing fire hazards in the home, in the factory, on the farm and every place else where life and property are involved, we have not learned the lesson of conservation.

A NATIONAL RESPONSIBILITY

The Lea-Bailey Bill now before Congress is a subject of debate because it involves the basic principle of Federal control versus local control, in this instance of the commercial airlines. During these days when a battle against bureaucracy is being waged to save representative government, expansion of Federal control is looked upon with skepticism. However, there are situations which require Federal jurisdiction, when states' rights are properly safeguarded. Regulation of the commercial airlines is an example. Among other things, the Lea-Bailey Bill would standardize air traffic rules and safety regulations, much as Federal supervision applies to shipping on our navigable waters.

Typical of the sentiment in favor of the bill is the comment of Representative Lyle H. Boren, of Oklahoma: "In most fields of activity both states and nations have an appropriate role to play in their respective spheres. I, for one, believe that in recent years there has been a tendency dangerously to overlook the constructive role which can and should be played by the states respecting many of the great problems of our democracy. But our long history has demonstrated, sometimes after costly and ill-advised experimentation, that there are some fields in which the nation must carry out full responsibility."

The Lea-Bailey Bill apparently recognizes the principle of states' rights and leaves room for state activities in the development and control of aviation. Sound integrated regulation of the airlines appears essential to their progress and public safety, but it must be accomplished with due regard to existing property rights of others.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

GOD GIVES LAWS FOR HIS PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 23:1-9; Galatians 3:23-25; 5:13-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.—Luke 10:27.

Our God is a God of order. To have order we must have law, hence God gave His people not only the fundamental law of humanity's moral sense of right and wrong, and the Ten Commandments which are the basis of all codes of law, but also those detailed regulations needed for the law's interpretation.

The law of God was not intended to establish a legalistic system of salvation by work, but, as revealed in the New Testament, it was to guide and bring us to Christ, in whom it finds its true fulfillment.

These are matters of fundamental importance and suggest the need of a careful study of our three Scripture portions.

I. The Law Established (Exod. 23:1-9).

At Sinai the Israelites were brought into the presence of God in a dramatic and solemn assembly to hear the words of God from the mountain. These were later written as the Ten Commandments on the tables of stone. Here they learned in a new way of the majesty, the righteousness, and the love of God.

The Ten Commandments are recognized as the foundation on which all legal codes, ancient and modern, are built. They cover man's relation to God and his relation to his fellow man. They are unsurpassed as a comprehensive and compact statement of the moral law.

The passage in Exodus 23 gives us some of the rules and regulations for daily life which are in a sense an interpretation of the law. This portion gives us an idea of the type of laws provided by God for His people and reveals "the moral flavor of the whole divine legislation."

The thing which impresses us as we read of the divine requirements of justice toward all, of love for one's enemies, of refraining from false witness, of refusing all bribery, is that God's standards are very high.

God's law is good, it is right, of divine quality and perfect purity. It has, however, an even higher purpose than providing direction for life. We learn of that as we hear

II. The Law Described (Gal. 3:23-28).

What was the purpose of the law? It was and is a servant of God to lead the needy sinner to Christ. The word "tutor" in verse 24 does not refer to one who teaches, but the servant who saw to it that the school boy, possibly a bit reluctant, arrived at his destination.

The law convicts of sin and makes it evident to the repentant one that he needs divine help if he is ever to meet its demands. The law really puts a man in prison (kept in ward," v. 23), and makes him look to Christ to set him free.

When one trusts Christ he comes into the place of a son. He enters upon a spiritual maturity which makes it no longer necessary to have a tutor directing and disciplining him. He has entered into a new relationship by faith, and is a child of God.

Does this mean that the law has been set aside or abrogated? Not at all. Jesus Himself said, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law . . . I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill" (Matt. 5:17). This is our third point.

III. The Law Fulfilled (Gal. 5:13, 14).

Paul had warned against the folly of legalism. In Christ men are free from a slavish bondage to the law. But men, desiring to substitute license for liberty, were using the grace of God as an excuse for self-indulgence and sin.

Christ has set aside all the ceremonial requirements of the law, for He became the perfect, once-for-all sacrifice for sin, which was infinitely superior to all the offerings of the Old Testament law. He thus fulfilled the type of the offerings.

The moral requirements of the law were gathered up in Him, and in Him we have only one law to fulfill, the law of love. Obedience to that law meets all the moral requirements of the Old Testament law.

Liberty to the Christian is not a freedom to do as he pleases, not "an occasion to the flesh" that it may live in selfishness and sin. We are free only to be bound by the blessed law of love.

The tablets of stone were (and still are) important. Their laws have never been set aside or withdrawn. But in Christ God has done what He spoke of through Jeremiah the prophet, He has put His law in the Christian's inner being, and has written it in his heart. (Jer. 31:33).

EVERY MISSION URGENT

ALMOST overnight the familiar tank-truck became a vital part of the nation's war machine—essential to the very life of the nation.

Every railroad tank-car is needed to haul petroleum products to the eastern seaboard. Therefore, the oil industry's own transportation system—the tank-truck—has taken over the short trips which were formerly made by many railroad tank-cars.

When you see the Standard Oil Company tank-truck on the road today, you will know that it is running against time to get needed stocks of petroleum products to military camps and fields, to war industries, to other trucks engaged in the transportation of a thousand war necessities, to farmers for their tractors used in food production, and to countless other places where petroleum is indispensable.

'Round the clock faithful drivers operate these hard-pressed tank-trucks. Without the tank-truck war effort would lag—or stop! Every mission is urgent—many are vital.

Weak Feet Affect Body

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

When feet are permitted to pronate inwardly, the bony structure of the foot goes down, shutting off the nerve and blood supply in the bottom of the foot. When you cramp or choke the blood stream and slow up circulation, there is a lack of bone repair; chemical deposits or waste matter form at the points. Next inflammation sets in at these joints causing pain. That inflammation is often mistaken for rheumatism, arthritis and many other ailments. Although when you cramp the blood supply you shut off the food supply to the nerves.

When nerves are impoverished muscle tone is impaired because sensory nerves indirectly control motor nerves which in turn control the muscles. When muscles in the feet have lost their tonicity due to impoverishment of the nerves, feet are no longer subconsciously held in normal position.

Surgical shoes give support to the vital arches in the feet releasing cramped nerves and blood vessels to promote better circulation. Gradually as circulation improves, muscles grow strong and regain their tonicity.

With foot health improved the person feels better all over. Research has shown that no less than eighty-seven diseases are indirectly caused by bad feet.

Don't take chances with your health, happiness and peace of mind. With foot comfort you'll live longer and feel better.—Adv.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

When Kenney Baker was struggling for a foothold as a singer, he made so many (free) appearances before the Lions, Rotarians, Kiwanis and similar organizations in Southern California that he called himself "the service club tenor. Kenney comes to the Gayety, featured with Patricia Morison and skating star Belita in the dazzling Monogram ice extravaganza, "Silver Skates."

TUESDAY
(Double Feature)

A scene in 20th Century-Fox's "That Other Woman," that requires only about two minutes on the screen took two days for James Ellison and Dan Duryea to film on the set.

The script called for Duryea to challenge Ellison to a fight and for the latter to deliver the first blow. Jimmy followed instructions to the letter, but when Duryea unexpectedly ducked, he banged his hand into a wall and was unable to use it for two days!

Virginia Gilmore is featured with Ellison in "That Other Woman."

When Arthur Hunnicutt was signed by Columbia Pictures to play the role of "Arkansas" in "Riding Through Nevada," it was an unusual bit of perfect casting. Hunnicutt actually was born and raised on an Arkansas farm.

YOU CAN STILL BUY GOOD SHOES

Read what Covington's Home Owned Retail Shoe Store has to say —

A Vital Message To All Shoe Customers

— of the —

LUHN & STEVIE SHOE STORE

34 PIKE STREET COVINGTON, KY.

BECAUSE there has been considerable misunderstanding regarding the quality of shoes now available to civilians, it is important that you become acquainted with the facts.

Perhaps this message from Covington's largest independent shoe store will be helpful to you.

At present, our Government has first call on shoe materials. Millions of pairs of shoes are being manufactured annually for our armed forces. These shoes are built according to rigid government standards. Only the best materials and skilled workmanship are suitable. Neither you nor we would have it otherwise. Victory demands it.

But—does that mean good shoes—dependable shoes—are not to be had by civilians?

Not at all—You can still buy good shoes. (The honor and integrity of our store stands behind that statement).

We, as well as other shoe stores could buy more shoes were we willing to disregard quality—But quality is the essence of this message—and this store is determined not to use present conditions as an excuse for lowering the moral standards of its product—standards maintained for more than 10 years.

Despite heavy demand from our armed forces, there is still a sufficient quantity of good, serviceable shoe material available to meet essential civilian requirements. We assure you that we will continue to sell you that return full value for your dollar—and satisfactory shoe mileage.

You may continue to have confidence in the shoes made for men, women, and children for this store. We shall keep faith with the wearers of our shoes.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cress attended the funeral of Mr. Cress' niece, Mrs. Rosella Clappert in Covington, last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cress received a box of souvenirs from their son Everett Cress, who is a member of the Seabees of the U. S. Navy.

Miss Cordelia Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Kelly, spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kelly Clore, of Frankfort.

Pfc. and Mrs. Charles Hollis are the proud parents of a 10½ pound boy, born last Wednesday, August 11th. The baby has been named Charles Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Neal, of Ft. Mitchell, spent several days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maurer and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rudicill and son and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Combs and son.

Dress Revues Are Features At Fair

Beginning at 2:30 p. m. (EWT), the special events session of the Boone County 4-H and Utopia Fair will feature Dress Revues at the bandstand on the grounds.

The 4-H Club girls will wear their creations in a varied style show which will include aprons, school dresses, play and work clothes, tailored and semi-tailored costumes and evening gowns. All participants will be wearing ensembles which they have made in their project work.

The contests to select the best dressed boy and girl will immediately follow the 4-H Revue. Anyone between the ages of 8-20 years is eligible to enter the contest. Winners will be selected on basis of clothing appropriate for the occasion, suitable in color and design to the individual and the quality and workmanship of the clothing.

The feed-sack revue will close this part of the program. Anyone, any age, any size is eligible to take part in this event. Garments worn must be made from feed sack materials. The judging will consider style, workmanship, unusual design and suitability to individual. Contests will be judged by specialists from the University of Kentucky, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent.

Church Members Must Raise $28,000.00

On June 5, 1943 the membership of the churches of Kentucky were acquainted with the fact that we had an opportunity of securing a gift of $56,000.00 provided we raised $28,000.00. The donors are Mr. and Mrs. W. Hume Logan, of Louisville.

Mr. Logan has served on the Home Board for 49 years and 32 years on the Board of Transylvania College.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan have given their beautiful home, valued at $70,000.00, known as "Whitehall" located at 3110 Lexington Road, Louisville, Ky., (comprised of 19 acres, adjoining Seneca Park) to be used for the Christian Church Widows' and Orphans home, provided the church membership of the state give to Transylvania College.

Each church member must realize this is their home and we must do everything in our power to increase the endowment fund by giving money to secure this gift.

The members of the Petersburg Church will be visited by the committee in the next few days.

Miss Betty Jo Weaver Becomes Bride Of Raymond A. Roter

A lovely home wedding of Miss Betty Jo Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Weaver, and Mr. Raymond A. Roter, son of Mr. A. A. Roter of Beaver Lick, Ky., and the late Mrs. Elizabeth Roter, was solemnized at the the home of the bride's parents, Union, Ky., on August 11 at 2:00.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hampton Adams, of the Union Avenue Christian Church, St. Louis, Mo., using the impressive single ring ceremony.

Pereceding the ceremony Miss Ruth Adams played two violin solos, "Angel's Serenade" by Braga and "Serenade" by Schubert, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Hampton Adams. "O Promise Me" by De Koven and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond were beautifully rendered by Mrs. Adams accompanied by her daughter.

The bridal procession entered the living room to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March to an improvised altar of golden glow. Mrs. Henry B. Sleet, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Anna Mae Sleet was bridesmaid. The groom's only attendant was Mr. Henry B. Sleet.

The bride's gown was of crepe back satin, made on princess style with a very full skirt, sweetheart neck line, and bracelet length sleeves. Her floor-length veil of illusion was caught by orange blossoms, while her shower bouquet of white roses were interspersed with baby's breath and lace fern. The bride's only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a hand-drawn hankerchief bordered with deep net which her mother carried as a bride.

The matron of honor wore a pink brocaded organza dress with a corsage of pink roses on blue net. The bridesmaid wore a blue brocaded organza with a corsage of pink roses on pink net. Both costumes were fashioned from that of the bride. The bride's mother was becomingly attired in a blue and white floral design redingote. Her corsage was a white camomile.

A reception for twenty-five guests followed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of the Union High School and received her college education at Eastern State Teachers' College, Richmond, Ky. For the past several years, Mrs. Roter has taught in Kenton County and at present is employed as principal of the Erlanger-Elsewere Grade School, Erlanger, Ky.

Mr. Roter is a prominent business man at Beaver Lick, Ky. He owns and operates a garage at that place.

The bride and groom left immediately after the reception for a short honeymoon in the Smokies. The bride's going away costume was a two-piece white eyelet pique with jonquil yellow accessories.

They will make their home at Beaver Lick, Ky.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Ola Williams of Harlan, Ky.; the Rev. and Mrs. Hampton Adams and daughter Ruth and son, John, of St. Louis, Mo.; and Carl Bretchschneider, of Cincinnati, O.

Outstanding Artists Will Appear In Erlanger

Signor Mario Cappelli and son, Amo Cappelli and daughter, Gloria Cappelli, outstanding artists will appear at the Lloyd High School auditorium, Sunday, August 22 at 8:00 p. m., under the auspices of the Erlanger Methodist Church.

Signor Mario Cappelli, an internationally known Tenor, will appear with his son, Amo Cappelli, and daughter, Gloria Cappelli. Signor Mario Cappelli was formerly a member of the Vatican choir and was first tenor in the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Chicago Civic Club. He is not only gifted with an extraordinary voice of distinctive quality, but he was endowed by nature with the soul of an artist, plus a charming personality.

He will render such numbers as "Ave Maria" by Schubert; "Total Eclipse" (from Sampson) by Handel; "This Holy Hour" by Nevins; "Going to Shout" (Negro Spiritual) by Manney; "The Crucifixion" by Curran; "O Sole Mio" by Di Capua; "La Danza" by Rossini; "The Old Rugged Cross" by Bernard; and 'Goin' Home," the song that made Cappelli famous. Hear the touching story of how Mr. Cappelli first heard 'Goin' Home," sung in an old negro cabin in the Southland.

Master Amo Cappelli is an unusually talented pianist and accompanist. At the age of five he accompanied his father on concert tours. He won the National Contest of Piano in year of 1942, and is now a member of the Chicago Piano Symphony. He is masterful in the presentation of such numbers as Beethoven's "Sonatina in F Major" and the Quartet from "Rigoletto."

Miss Gloria Cappelli is a singer and dramatic reader, who will render several numbers on this program. She is masterful in her reading of "Pontius Pilate."

This program will be a real musical treat to all; soulful, masterful, and superb to the last degree. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Fathers To Be Drafted

Fathers 18 to 37 years old, with children born before September 15, 1942, will be reclassified to make them available for induction into the armed forces after October 1. Fathers will be drafted only when it is necessary to fill a local board's quota, they will be called without distinction regarding the number or ages of their dependent children. Those who are "key men" in agriculture or essential industry will be deferred, and those whose induction would cause "extreme hardship and privation to their families" will be deferred.

Rationing of Home-Canned Foods

Each person in your family may give away as much as 50 quarts of home-canned food during any calendar year without collecting ration stamps. Any food which is sold does not qualify as a gift, however, and points must be collected for all sales at the rate of eight points per quart (4 points per pound.) Home-canned food contributed to school lunch programs and similar services is included in the 50 quarts. More than 50 quarts may be given away provided ration stamps are collected for all gifts exceeding that number. The stamps should be turned in to your local ration boards.

Waste Fats Collected

Waste kitchen fat collections throughout the country totalled 8-40,440,274 pounds during the month of June, setting an all-time high mark since the inauguration of this program in July 1942, WPB has reported. The total collected is still not sufficient to meet war demands. WPB Region 1, comprised of the New England States ranked first in pounds collected per occupied dwelling.

Budget Report

Government budgetary estimates for the fiscal year 1944 estimate total expenditures for the year, exclude Retirement and Trust Fund disbursements, at 106 billion dollars, and net receipts at 38 billion dollars. The expected deficit of 68 billions dollars will bring the public debt above 200 billion dollars by next June 30. In the fiscal year just ended, actual expenditures were 80 billion dollars, actual receipts 22 billion dollars, or a deficit of 58 billions dollars. A hundred billion dollars will be needed for war expenditures during the fiscal year 1944, compared with 75 billion dollars actually spent for war in 1943. The war department now is expected to spend less and the navy department and other agencies are expected to spend more for war than was estimated in January.

More Woolens For Civilians

Several million men's mackinaw and Melton work jackets, children's legging sets, blankets and other needed items of men's, women's and children's apparel will be added to the civilian supply this winter as a result of a program arrived at jointly by WPB and the War Department. Army procurements on some of the principal worsted and woolen products will be reduced by 50 percent during the last four months of this year.

Legal Aid To Soldiers

Legal aid, ranging from drawing wills to solving problems in insurance, is being provided to soldiers by more than 600 legal assistance officers in military installation in the U. S. and abroad, the War Department announced recently. At each of the legal assistance offices, commissioned officers of the Judge Advocate General's Department, Army Service Forces, who are also license attorneys, are on duty. During a recent period 50 typical legal assistance offices reported that since their establishment they have assisted military personnel in a total of 24,000 matters.

More Butter For Civilians

Approximately 16 million pounds of butter, in addition to the amount scheduled for August, will be available to civilians this month, the War Food Administration has announced. Previously, 40 percent of production was to be set aside for government purchase. This has been reduced to 30 percent.

Honorable Discharge Buttons

An honorable discharge from the army during the present war will be signified by a lapel button, the War Department has announced. Both men and women, whether officers or enlisted personnel, will be eligible to wear the button if they hold an honorable discharge.

Sell Equipment To Signal Corps

Photographic and short-wave radio equipment purchased from private owners is now in service on many battle fronts as well as in the continental United States, but more of a number of specific items is greatly needed, the War Department has announced. The Signal Corps, Army Service Forces, has made a special appeal to persons possessing certain high-grade or scarce items to sell them as a means of aiding the war effort. Owners who wish to offer equipment for sale should write to: Emergency Purchase Section, Philadelphia Signal Corps Procurement District, 500 Wissahickon Ave., Philadelphia, Pa. Nothing should be shipped unless requested.

Rule For Poultry Truckers

Truckers hauling poultry must post within their trucks the name and address of the persons to whom it is being shipped, the place from which the items were shipped, their quantities, types, grades and weight classes, and the number of head of each, the OPA has ruled.

To Get Application Blanks

Members of the Armed Services of the U. S., and of the United Nations who are eligible to use War Ration Book Three, will receive application blanks from their Commanding Officers beginning about August 15. Processing of these military applications and issuance of War Ration Book Three will be completed between August 15 and September 10. The book will not be needed for buying rationed commodities until after that time. It is estimated that approximately 700,000 men and women in the military services will be entitled to receive War Ration Book Three.

Wool Supplies About Same

The supply of wool for civilian wearing apparel is approximately the same as last season. To meet military demands and equip civilians, existing wool facilities will be operated to the limit of capacity. Manufacturers are reducing the variety of colors and counts of their yarns; weavers are dropping some of the non-essential numbers from their lines. Materials produced will be familiar, popular, and practical types. No colors are prohibited.

Need Big Peanut Crop

Large increases in the production of peanut butter and peanut oil from the 1943 crop of farmers' stock peanuts, expected to approximate 1,425,000 tons—375,000 tons more than last year—are urgently needed to meet wartime requirements, says WFA. Approximately 413,000 tons will be made into peanut butter—375,000 tons for civilian consumption and the remainder for the army and navy.

Federal Expenditures

Ninety-five cents out of every dollar of Federal expenditures goes directly into the war effort, says Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau. This means that $36.8 billions of the approximately $37.7 billions which President Roosevelt estimated would be received in the present fiscal year, will go to purchase guns, tanks, ships, planes, etc.

To Save Paper

Between 250,000 and 300,000 tons of paper will be saved by amended WPB conservation order M-241-A which affects all use of paper and is far more inclusive in its scope than any other paper conservation order. The paper saved, according to the WPB pulp and paper division, will be utilized to better advantage in meeting war requirements and certain civilian needs. Although the General Public may have fewer fancy articles made from paper, the real needs of the average citizen will not be seriously affected because plenty of utilitarian paper articles will still be available.

Fruit, Berry Prices Increase

Formulas for establishing maximum canners' prices for seven fruits, 11 berries, fruit cocktail, and the juices and nectars of the fruits and berries have been announced by OPA. The formulas take into account higher costs to canners, and since canned fruits and berries are sold under fixed mark-ups at both wholesale and retail, it will mean increased costs to the housewife on these items.

Agricultural Payment Rates

A revised scale for payments to farmers under the 1943 Agricultural Conservation Program has been set up by WFA to adjust available funds to the increased number of eligible farmers. The revised rates (with the former rates in parentheses) are: cotton, one cent per pound (1.1 cents), corn, 3 cents per bushel (3.6 cents) and wheat 8.5 cents per bushel (9.2 cents). Rates remain unchanged for rice and tobacco.

Equal Draft of Fathers

Drafting of fathers with children born before September 15, 1942, will begin at approximately the same time throughout the nation, the Selective Service Bureau of WMC said recently.

August Crop Report

The following comment on the August crop report was made recently by Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator: "The July crop report made it clear that farmers in the face of many difficulties had substantially met, and in some cases exceeded, the crop acreage goals. During July, growing conditions were favorable and current indications are that yields per acre in 1943 will be the second largest on record. The progress of the year's production so far is gratifying. The hard work and the determination of farmers have placed us in a position to meet essential food needs, given average weather from now on.

"However, the crops are still to be harvested, marketed, and processed, and in the case of the feed crops, fed to livestock. Farmers will need additional workers for harvest, and food processing industries are short handed. The wartime food problem is not solved, though present production prospects are encouraging."

Repair School Busses Now

School authorities and school bus operators have been warned by ODT against delaying the overhauling of school busses. Last-minute efforts to obtain necessary repairs may result in busses being laid up when schools open this fall. The shortage of skilled mechanics and the scarcity of repair parts may result in unexpected delays, and a check-up may reveal that some busses cannot be repaired and must be replaced. The ODT suggests that school authorities or school bus operators contact local ODT District Maintenance Advisory Committees to help solve problems that may arise.

Civilians Get Canned Goods

Civilians will receive approximately 6½ million more cases of canned apples, fruit cocktail, beets, sweet corn, pumpkin or squash, lima beans and tomato puree under an amendment to Director Food Distribution Order 22.4 which reduces the quantity that canners are required to set aside from 1943 production to meet government requirements.

Gifts To The U. S. A.

Thousands of Americans, in addition to paying taxes and investing in war bonds, have given several million dollars in cash and many other gifts to the government. The Treasury to date has completed more than 20,000 transactions in connection with contributions ranging, in cash, from one cent to several hundred thousand dollars, and in gifts, from tinfoil to Rolls Royces. Cash donations total about $4,423,000.

Benefits Granted to WAC

Members of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, as soon as they take the oath as members of the Women's Army Corps, become eligible for Nation Service Life Insurance and the free mail privilege. Furthermore, a member of the WAC who is married to a service man is eligible to receive the usual family allowance for soldiers' wives.

Clothing Ceiling

Retail and wholesale ceiling prices for women's, girls', children's and toddlers' fall and winter dresses, suits, coats, blouses, and other outer clothing have been provided by OPA at levels equal to or lower than those of last fall in Amendment No. 1 to Maximum Price Regulation 330.

Army Needs Doctors

To continue the standard of the the U. S. Army as the healthiest Army in the world, 7,500 additional physicians and surgeons will be needed during the coming three months, and an additional 2,500 by January 1, 1944. Major General T. Kirk, Surgeon General, says: "The casualty rate in the Army to date has been very low, and one of the main reasons has been the availability of trained surgeons on the battlefields and in hospitals behind the lines to give our wounded men quick, efficient and expert care."

Food Prices Down

"Retail food prices as a group—representing about two-fifths of total living costs—declined by 2.0 percent," Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins said recently in discussing changes in the cost of living from June 15 to July 15. "Clothing costs rose 0.5 percent. Other costs, including house furnishings, utility rates and services, were stable or increased moderately." With meat prices cut back by OPA and vegetables seasonally lower, the cost of living for city workers dropped 0.8 percent.

To Use NYA Equipment

Vocational schools which were using National Youth Administration equipment or buildings on June 30 have been advised by Paul V. McNutt, Chairman, War Manpower Commission, to file applications before October 12 with the regional offices of the Procurement Division, Treasury Department, if they wish to continue using these buildings, tools, and machines for training students during the war.

Set Aside Dried Fruits

"Dried fruit packers must set aside for government procurement their entire holdings of raisins, prunes, apples, apricots, peaches, pears and currants during the 1943-44 season under a continuation of last year's program," the WFA said recently. Last year more than 234,000 tons of dried prunes and raisins were released for civilian consumption.

Cars To Keep Running

America's 30,000,000 motorists have been assured by WPB that sufficient new and reconditioned parts will be made available to keep the nation's essential cars rolling through 1944. Even the country's 5,000,000 vehicles, ten years old or more, will be kept on the road by necessary replacement parts.

Order Fuel Now

With War Price and Rationing Boards rapidly completing the task of renewing consumers' heating oil rations, OPA is urging householders to place orders immediately to give both consumers and dealers plenty of time during warm weather to get a supply of heating oil in home storage tanks.

If your icebox is overcrowded, you will find that certain fats, pickles, jelly, and hydrogenated vegetables will keep at room temperature. Heavy store wrappings, cardboard cartons, and tops of vegetables that are not going to be cooked can easily be left out of the icebox.

Frostbite ruins vegetables if they are placed in the coldest part of the refrigerator, or if the refrigerator is too cold. Ice crystals take away taste and lettuce and other vegetables spoil quickly after being frostbitten.

Bill Hayes of Harlan county transplanted 7,000 early cabbage plants for the Pine Mountain Settlement School, and will transplant another late field.

Do You Know That...

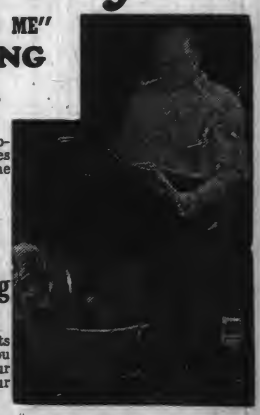
MILK left standing in sunlight for one hour loses 90% of its Vitamin C?

SNAP BEANS left standing in room temperature for one day lose 46% of their Vitamin C?

SPINACH left on a pantry shelf 24 hours loses 30 to 50% of its Vitamin C?

EGGS stored at room temperature for three days lose as much freshness as in two months under refrigeration?

The quicker you put foods into your refrigerator the longer they'll last and the more vitamins they'll retain!



By Storing Foods Promptly In Your Electric Refrigerator

Exposure to warmth, air and sunlight quickly destroys many of the vitamins so important to health. Vitamin C, which you need every day because it is not stored in the body, and Vitamins A, B_1 and G all suffer losses under improper conditions of temperature and humidity. But if foods are stored properly in your electric refrigerator, these fragile vitamins stay put very well. So make a habit of popping perishables quickly into your electric refrigerator. Let its safe, cold interior keep those vital vitamins from vanishing!

UTOPIA CLUB

Chairman of Committees—Lucian Bradford

Utopia club members represent our young rural leaders of today. They are young men and women 19 years of age or older, interested in Agricultural and Home Economics improvement. They are pioneers in Boone County's hybrid seed corn breeding work and other important projects. The Utopia club enrolls 43 members, holds regular monthly meetings, conducts demonstrations in improved practices and promotes a program for a more full and wholesome rural life. Many of our members this year are serving in our Armed Forces. We remember them in presenting our 1943 Fair program.

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

Sylvan Martin, 45th Const. Batt., care Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif., writes: "It is a combined treat and pleasure to receive and read The Recorder. My only regret is that I didn't have it sent to me sooner. It gives me the news as well as the addresses of the fellows I know from back there, who are in the service. Not only that, but what others, not in the service, are doing as well . . . I admit it gets to me sometime after publication, but it is news to me. I enjoy the articles very much about our boys in the service. It gives me the feeling that all are safe and well and all seem to be glad that they are doing their part of being the modern Pied Piper . . . I noticed also how remarkable it is the 'folks back home' and nationwide are doing their utmost in these desolate times, by buying War Bonds and abiding by ration rules of which each boy in the service appreciates."

Pfc. Harold D. Deck returned to camp Tuesday evening, after having spent a very enjoyable fourteen days with his parents and other relatives at home. Pfc. Deck is now stationed at the Radio School in Tomah, Wis. He receives his edition of the Recorder each week and is very grateful for this kind jesture on the part of Mr. Stephens and his staff. Harold D. enjoys mail from all his friends. His address is Pfc. Harold D. Deck, 52nd Mess. Sqdn., Tomah Radio School, Tomah, Wisconsin.

A certificate of graduation from the Service School for Machinist's Mates at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., was presented to James Robert Kittle, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kittle, Burlington, R. 1 at graduation exercises held August 2nd. He was given the rating of fireman, second class.

Included in a class of 643 men, he now will be assigned to an advanced school for further training, or be sent directly to active duty at sea or at a shore station.

The Bluejacket has completed 16 weeks of instruction stressing the operation and maintenance of main and auxiliary engines. He has been under the supervision of experienced chief petty officers.

The following letter was received from Lieut. Frank B. Helms, Headquarters, Det. 32d Trans. Sq., APO 619, care Postmaster, Miami, Fla.:

"I wish to take just a moment of your time to thank you so very kindly for the sending of The Recorder to me. While I was at my last station I received a couple of copies only and I asked that my address be changed to APO 619, which it was. Now, I am receiving the paper regularly, the last one I got was only 8 days old, and down here in Brazil that is news! Current news!

"While I was home and overseas the other time I didn't read The Recorder very much as I had other papers to read and too, lots of other diversion, but here—getting a home town, (you might say), newspaper it's like getting a gift from up there! I never miss the Petersburg news, as that is where my mother and wife are, and too, I find lots of other news very interesting. I like the articles that you run on the other men, and I fully intend to contact some of them thru this medium.

"I am certain that others in the service appreciate your paper even more than I do, for I have good mail service here and ninety percent of them don't have.

"One article on the front page of your 22 July edition made me sort of stop and think! Referring to the 'Boone Wool Crop Averages $55.26,' I shall never forget the days when the wool was collected on the park bank at Petersburg and how I, along with every kid in town, used to run, jump, slide, etc., in it, and how we used to hate to see the river steamer come along and take away our fun. Those days will return tho for lots of other kids if we just all push hard, long and steady and together. I mean Army, Navy and Marines!"

The following letter was signed by Pvt. Ralph T. Cain, of Florence, Sgt. George Black, Beaver, and Pfc. Paul Clore, Rabbit Hash, all of whom are stationed in North Africa:

"We were reading The Recorder and while reading about 'Our Boys in Service' we found an item where one fellow was complaining, you might say, about how busy he has been with his drilling and problems, and drilling sometimes on Saturday and Sunday. Well, Pete, that's what makes us boys over here feel like we do, about being away from home. We work every Saturday and Sunday over here. In fact we don't even know when Sunday arrives, and every Sunday we work puts us that much closer to home.

"Maybe he won't understand what we mean when he reads this, but we're not crabbing about anything. The boys in the States have nice clean beds to roll in when they come in from a hard day's work. We have this hard African soil to lie down on, and there is never anything said.

"I know when we were in the States we though our camp was awful. But since we've been over here and done without a lot of things we were used to, we think old Claiborne was Heaven.

"Here it is Saturday night, and what are we doing? We don't have a dance to attend or a good movie. So we just go to bed, and wonder how tomorrow is going to turn out.

"Well Pete I have just about run out of something to crab about, so I guess I better say good night, and please send us The Recorder, because when we get one we read every word in it and enjoy it very much. The paper we received today was dated June 10, 1943.

"Tell the people in Boone County not to worry, we will have this thing in the bag in no time and that's a promise."

Pvt. Robert B. Bergelt, Antitank Co, 201 Inf. 35130023, APO 986, care Postmaster, Seattle, Washington, writes: "Have been receiving my copy of The Recorder regularly and enjoy every word of it. I read it from beginning to end to see what all is going on back home. That is about the only way you can know what all is happening in good old Boone County . . . There is so much would like to tell you about this place, but I am afraid the censor would only cut it out. About all I can say is that I am well and happy and getting along fine . . . I have seen the Bradford boys from Hebron since I arrived here, and they are both fine. . . . Well I guess I will have to say so-long for this time."

• • •

Pvt. Wayne Arrasmith, 35801275 Ordn. Evac. Co., Ordn. Bn., Camp Hood, Texas, writes: "Received three copies of The Recorder. I cannot express my appreciation for these papers. The Recorder is full of news about my home town and friends which I am so glad to hear about. . . I am in the Ordnance Evac. Co., stationed at Camp Hood, Texas. The weather is very hot and the change is beginning to agree with me. At the present we are on Evacuation problems. . . I have just completed my basic training and now am looking forward to my furlough. At that time I will thank you personally for your copies of The Recorder."

• • •

Joseph O. Sharp, U. S. Army writes: "I have been receiving your paper for sometime and it makes a fellow feel good to read news about his home town. I want to thank you very much for sending me the paper. It is full of good news and that is what a fellow likes to read. I like the column 'With Our Boys in The Service,' —yes, it helps you to get in touch with your friends in the service."

The following letter was received from Miles Goodridge, Btry B. 92nd Armd. F. A. Bn., APO 252, care Postmaster, New York, N. Y.:

"I have been receiving The Recorder pretty often here in North Africa and enjoy it very much. The last paper I received was May 27th. After reading 'With Our Boys in The Service,' I find myself in and around a bunch of boys from Boone County and hope I can meet them soon.

"We have been over quite a lot of North Africa, some of which was the best farming land to be seen anywhere. Of course, every place has its bad spots and Africa has plenty of them. But speaking frankly I think Boone County is one of the best places to be. There are five or six boys in my Battery from Kentucky, but none from old Boone.

"In closing I must say again I enjoy The Recorder very much and appreciate the fact that, we in service, are not forgotten in Boone County."

• • •

Russell Lee Horton, of San Diego Calif., writes: "How is verything going around Burlington? O. K. I hope. I am getting along fine. . . . Pete I would like for you to send me The Recorder, for there isn't anything like the home news. My address is Russell Lee Horton S—2-c General Detail, U. S. Receiving Station, San Diego, Calif. . . . I would like for all my friends to write me. Thanks a million for the paper. Pete, while I was at Great Lakes, Ill."

• • •

Pfc. James E. Stephens, 35663157 "A" Battery 16th F. A. Obsn. Bn., Camp Bowie, Texas, writes: "How are you? I am O. K. Well, here I am down in the warm state of Texas. I am about two hundred miles from San Antonio, where your uncle Wilton lives. It is not bad here, only it is hot, and you seldom get a good drink of water, as it is like it came off a fire, and ice is about as scarce and precious as gold. It isn't bad though. . . . Change my Recorder from Camp McCoy, Wisconsin to Camp Bowie, Texas. . . . Give all around Burlington my best regards.

• • •

Pfc. Paul L. Clore, Co. "A" 338th Engrs. APO 700 care Postmaster, New York, N. Y., stationed in North Africa writes the following letter:

"I received my second Recorder since I've been in North Africa, and I sure was glad to get it. The Boone County Recorder means a lot to us boys from Boone County.

Sgt. George E. Black, from Beaver Lick, Pvt. Ralph Cain, from Florence are in the same company with me, and Pvt. Robert Stephens from Belleview is in C Company. We are sure lucky to get to stay together. There are several from Kentucky with me.

"It hasn't rained since I've been over here. The days are always hot, but it gets pretty cool at night.

"Pete, I want to thank you again for The Recorder, for it keeps us in touch with what's going on back home.

"He is a poem about the Arabs, I thought maybe you might put in The Recorder, for there are plenty of them over here. I'll be glad when I can hear some kind of talk besides their jabbering.

Arab Pants

"Every Arab son of France
Loves to sport his great big pants;
Some are blue, some are white,
God bless them, what a sight.
In the darkness of the night
White ones give you quite a fright,
But the striped ones—oh, my eyes,
Worse than good old Christmas ties.
Some have ruffs, some have pleats,
Some have lace, some have seats
And what luck for Arab nippers,
To have pants without zippers."

BOONE COUNTY'S WAR LOAN QUOTA $732,900

Drive Will Get Under Way September 9th, According to County Chairman, A. B. Renaker—Precinct Chairmen Named.

The quota for the Third War Loan drive for Boone County, beginning September 9th, has been fixed as follows:

Series E. Bonds	$145,900.00
Series F and G Bonds	27,000.00
Other Bonds	560,000.00
Total quota	$732,900.00

Banks will not be permitted to subscribe for any of this amount which means that individuals, firms and corporations, except banks, are expected to subscribe for this total amount if we are to reach Boone County's quota. This is more than twice the amount of our quota in the last April drive. The citizens of Boone County will have to subscribe for double the amount they subscribed for last April and those who did not subscribe in April will be expected to make liberal subscriptions in this drive.

We have many loyal citizens who have subscribed liberally in the first and second War Loan drives and will very probably do so again, even resorting to borrowing in order to help in these drives, but we have any number of people well able to purchase bonds who have not done so in any of the past drives. This condition cannot continue to exist, as this is everyone's war and everyone is expected to help to their very limit. Just because one does not have the money lying idle is no excuse for not subscribing. The banks will carry your note for a few months at the same rate the bond bears until you have something to sell and then pay off your note. Begin making your arrangements to subscribe when the drive starts September 9th.

Bonds to be offered are as follows: Series E, F and G; Tax Savings Notes; U. S. Treasury 2½ percent bonds due 1969, callable 1964; U. S. Treasury 2 percent bonds, due 1953, callable 1951; U. S. Treasury ⅞ percent bonds due September 1, 1944.

All bonds will be dated and draw interest from September 15th except the Series E, F, and G, which bear interest from the first of the month in which issued.

The Victory Fund Committee and the War Savings Staff have been merged into what is now the War Finance Committee. A. B. Renanker, who has served as Chairman of the Victory Fund Committee in the First and Second War Loan drives has been requested to continue as chairman of the War Finance Committee, and A. D. Yelton, who has served as chairman of the War Savings staff has been requested to serve as Vice Chairman of the War Finance Committee. Both of these gentlemen have accepted and ask for your loyal support in the approaching drive. The following precinct chairmen, who so faithfully served in the past drives, will continue as chairmen in this drive. They are Howard Huey, Petersburg; John L. Conner, Hebron; C. E. McNeely, Grant; Miss Lillian Bristow, Union; C. F. Blankenbeker, Florence; Chas. W. Thompson, Walton; G. C. Ransom, Verona; R. L. Green, Beaver; Thomas Huff, Hamilton; W. H. Presser, Carlton; C. Liston Hempfling, Constance; C. D. Benson, Burlington.

Each of these precinct chairmen are expected to set up their own organization in their respective precincts by selecting a lady precinct chairwoman and such other workers as may be necessary to make a house to house canvas.

Precinct quotas will be announced at a later date.

Do not wait for someone to call on you when the drive starts, but go to your bank and make your subscription. Also volunteer to your precinct chairman to help him secure subscription.

Every member of this committee is a busy man or woman and working without pay or hope of reward of any kind, except to do their bit on the home front in helping to raise funds for our Government's war needs to bring this war to a speedy victory.

When you lie down at night on your bed in your comfortable home, thousands of miles from the roar of our enemy's bombs, think of those courageous soldiers who are trying to sleep on the bare ground with shells bursting around them, risking their lives for all of us here at home, many of whom will never return. If you will do this and have not done your part in purchasing bonds in the past, we believe you will raise the next morning and go to your precinct chairman or to your bank and offer your services and make a liberal subscription in helping Boone County raise its quota.

SHEEP ASS'N. TO APPROVE CLAIMS

AT MEETING SCHEDULED SATURDAY, AUGUST 28 AT BURLINGTON—PAYMENT WILL BE MADE SEPTEMBER 4TH.

The directors of the Boone County Sheep Protective Association will meet at Burlington on Saturday, August 28th at 2:00 p. m. to review and approve claim losses of members during the past year, according to H. E. White, president of the association. The annual meeting of all association members will be held the following Saturday, September 4th.

Mr. White states that all loss claims must be on file with the association or one of the directors before this Saturday. Directors of the association are:

John T. Stevens, Hamilton-Carlton District.

L. H. Congleton, Burlington-Florence.

Chas. W. White, Petersburg-Grant.

Chas. B. Beall, Hebron-Constance

Russell Sparks, Beaver-Union.

Walter Johnson, Walton-Verona.

Payment for losses will be made at the annual meeting on September 4th.

The association as a cooperative group has rendered a splendid protection service to more than 100 sheepmen in the county. It has served both to give protection and to give sheepmen greater confidence in the local sheep industry.

Miss Lucile Cotton is enjoying a two weeks' vacation starting Monday of this week.

Patriotic Service Will Be Held At Baptist Church

Patriotic services will be held at the Burlington Baptist Church, Sunday night, August 29, at 8:30 p. m., according to announcement this week.

The purpose of the service is to honor boys in the service, at which time there will be a candlelighting service. Anyone having a relative or friend in the service can have a candle placed and at the proper time the nearest relative or friend will be asked to come forward and light the candle in honor of their loved one in the service.

This service is not being held for church members only, anyone may send in a name that they desire, by calling Burlington 21. All names must be in by Saturday of this week.

At this service there will also be an unveiling of a service roll of the boys in service who are members of the church. All members and their families are urged to attend.

A program of special music is being prepared for this hour, with the closing address by the pastor.

Miss Kathryn Estes

Miss Kathryn Estes passed away at the home of her brother George Estes of near Sand Run on Saturday night, August 21st, after a prolonged illness.

Miss Estes is survived by four brothers, George, Frank and Luther, all of Boone County and W. D. Estes of California; also one sister Mrs. Mabel Wilson, of near Sand Run.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. at the Sand Run Baptist Church by Rev. E. M. Helton, pastor. Burial was in Sand Run Cemetery.

Chambers & Grubbs, Walton funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Miss Emma May Brady, of Belleview is spending several days this week with Miss Mary Bess Jarrell.

Five Visit Blood Bank

Five persons from Boone County visited the Blood Bank in Cincinnati Monday of this week. They were Mrs. Josephine Clegg, Mrs. Virgie Sullivan, Mrs. Lucille Smith, Mrs. Sibbia Reimer and Mr. Otto Souther.

Anyone desiring to donate a pint of blood to the armed services is urged to see Mrs. Lou Pope, Burlington, Ky., R. 1, or call Burlington 473.

Beaver Child Injured

Alma McCubbin, 9, Beaver Lick, suffered a right leg fracture and bruises on the body Saturday night when she was struck by an automobile at Big Bone, Ky. The child was removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, by her father, James McCubbin, where treatment was given.

PROPOSE MILK PRICE INCREASE

HEARING HELD AT NETHERLAND PLAZA HOTEL WEDNESDAY—FARMERS WILL HAVE VOICE.

A Federal hearing was held at the Netherland Plaza Hotel in Cincinnati on Wednesday of this week on a proposed increase paid producers in whole milk prices from $3.50 per cwt for class 1 milk to $4.35 per cwt. Other classes of milk are to be increased in proportion.

Farmers, dealers and others had an opportunity to express to the administrator why or why not the prices paid to producers should be increased. Local dairymen have incurred heavy increased costs in feed, labor and equipment in producing milk. Most dairymen feel that an increase in price is necessary.

SHOWBOAT DATE CHANGED SEPT. 3

PLENTY OF ENTERTAINMENT PROMISED IN SHOW CONDUCTED BY BOONE COUNTY SCHOOL BAND.

The Boone County School Band announced this week that the minstrel show "Boone County Showboat," which was originally scheduled for August 27 at the Burlington school will be presented there Friday night, September 3rd at 8:30 p. m. (EWT). Tickets purchased for the former date will be accepted at the latter.

Those attending will hear jokes that will make them shriek with laughter, hear an entertaining melodrama and enjoy solos, duets, trios and quartets sung or played on all kinds of musical instruments.

There is plenty of fun and entertainment for the entire family. Future shows given by the band have been highly entertaining, and according to all reports this entertainment will be even more elaborate than those in the past. Your support will show your interest in these youths.

Admission will be 17c and 28 cents.

Florence P.-T. A. To Hold Important Meeting August 26

Florence P.-T. A. will hold a very important meeting Thursday, August 26th at 8:00 p. m. at the lunch room. Due to the resignation of the lunchroom manager, a new one must be elected. Anyone making application may call Mrs. Geo. Morith, Florence 716.

An executive meeting will follow immediately after the regular meeting. All members and executive board are urged to be present.

Miss Carolyn Cropper enjoyed a week's vacation last week.

Voters Must Register Not Later Than Sept. 3

C. D. Benson, County Court Clerk of Boone County, announced this week that all voters must register not later than Friday, September 3, 1943 in order to be eligible to vote in the regular election to be held November 2nd.

Any voter having moved from his voting precinct, and has failed to re-register, and anyone having failed to register should do so on or before this date in order to vote in the regular election.

Champion Fish Fryer Attends 4-H Free Fair

W. E. (Billy) Phillips, of Florence boasts of being one of the best, if not the champion fryer of good fish in the county.

Billy Phillips helped the 4-H and Utopia Club Fair last Saturday by frying 200 pounds of fish between 11:00 a. m. and 3:00 p. m. The hundreds of people who ate the fish will agree that he did an excellent job. The Club appreciated the fine work he did.

TAX COLLECTOR TO VISIT COUNTY

INCOME TAX MAN WILL ASSIST INDIVIDUAL TAXPAYERS IN PREPARING RETURNS—MANY CHANGES MADE IN LAW.

Collector of Internal Revenue S. R. Glenn announces that a deputy from his office will visit Burlington September 10 through 11, 1943, for the purpose of assisting individual taxpayers in preparing their declaration returns. Mr. Glenn says that the new Revenue Act is in many particulars different from the laws previous in effect. Special attention is called to the groups of taxpayers who will be required to file their declaration returns by September 15.

The Collector says that the many changes made cannot be explained in a short notice, but that his deputy is familiar with the law and is being sent here to be of real service to the taxpaying public. The service is absolutely free. Collector Glenn urges the taxpayers of this county to see the deputy and let him help them with their income tax problems.

Farmers are not prohibited from filing declaration returns by September 15, but are given until December 15 to file declaration returns if 80 percent or more of their gross income is from farming activities.

$25,000 BOND POSTED FOR RELEASE OF JOAN KIGER

Case of Accused Slayer Is Remanded To Next Session of Boone County Grand Jury To Meet In December

Joan Kiger, 16, accused slayer of her father and brother was freed from the Burlington jail Monday afternoon under $25,000 bond, after waiving preliminary hearing. The case was remanded to the next session of the grand jury, which will convene in December.

Joan's release followed conferences between prosecution and defense attorneys, and removed the necessity for a hearing which had been set for Tuesday afternoon in Judge Carroll Cropper's court.

Miss Kiger has denied steadfastly that she slew her father Carl C. Kiger, 49, Vice Mayor of Covington, and her brother, Jerry 6, as they slept in their summer home near Devon, early Tuesday of last week.

Her freedom was effected thru a bond signed by Hal M. Ricketts, Covington insurance man, as attorney for the American Surety Company, New York City, and by F. T. Dotchengall, Covington businessman.

The agreement to release Joan before the hearing scheduled for Tuesday followed a conference between Sawyer Smith, Raymond L. Vincent, Commonwealth Attorney and Charles Riley, Boone County Attorney.

Miss Kiger retained her composure as she was taken from the jail to Judge Cropper's office at 5:25 Monday afternoon. Ten minutes later she left with her attorney, Sawyer Smith, and one of her brothers, Marine Lieutenant Joseph C. Kiger, 23.

Ballistic reports which have been received by the Sheriff's office have not been made public and no comment is offered by Sheriff Williams.

Joan has insisted that she fired at an intruder on the second floor of the Kiger home after the man had shot her father and brother. After shooting at the intruder, she said, she handed the weapon to her mother before going for help. Mrs. Kiger had been wounded in the righ hip.

The revolver which Mrs. Kiger was holding when police arrived contained five empty shells. One of the revolvers in the cistern contained four empty shells. The other one was empty. However, six empty shells were in the cistern.

Prior to the surprise hearing Monday afternoon, Boone County officials said they had plenty of evidence against the girl and would present it at the scheduled hearing. Sheriff Williams had even said that the state might require "far into the night" to present its case if the defense insisted upon it.

The following is a full report of the Boone County Juvenile Court, held at Burlington, August 23:

Special Term of the Boone County Juvenile Court, held at Burlington, Kentucky, this 23rd day of August, 1943, Honorable C. L. Cropper, County Judge, present and presiding.

The defendant, Joan Kiger, being a female infant under 18 years of age, having been brought before me, charged with the murder of Carl Kiger and Jerry Kiger, and the defendant being represented by Attorney Sawyer Smith of Covington, Kentucky, and the Commonwealth being represented by Chas. W. Riley, County Attorney, and R. L. Vincent, Commonwealth Attorney, the defendant by attorney waived a formal trial herein and the jurisdiction of the defendant, Joan Kiger, and the crimes charged herein are hereby transferred to the Boone County Grand Jury for investigation, indictment and prosecution under the criminal laws of the State of Kentucky. The defendant, Joan Kiger is permitted and authorized to execute bond in the sum of Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000.00) Dollars for her appearance in the Boone Circuit Court on the first day of the regular December, 1943, term thereof.

There being no further business, it is ordered that Court adjourn.

Farm Help Needed Now Throughout County

Farmers on many farms are badly in need of help during the next few weeks, according to Will Smith, County Farm Labor Assistant. Most applications are for farm help to harvest the tobacco crops.

Six applications for help by the month to do general farm, dairy and poultry work are also now on file at the county agent's office in Burlington.

Those farmers who have their work caught up so they could do a few days work for other farmers are urged to notify the county office and to secure a list of farmers needing help. Anyone who wishes a full time farm job or knows of anyone who wants a full time job on the farm should contact the County Agent's office.

The pastor, Rev. W. C. Guth, extends a cordial welcome to everyone to attend these special services.

KIMBERLIN GIRL CHANGES STORY

SAYS CAR WAS DRIVEN BY COVINGTON MAN AT TIME OF ACCIDENT—MAN ARRESTED SUNDAY NIGHT.

Miss Martha Kimberlin, 18 years old, Union, Ky., denied Sunday she was the driver of the automobile that crashed into a group of young people near Florence, and swore to a warrant charging James Collett, 29, 218 East Twentieth Street, Covington with manslaughter, alleging he was driving the car at the time of the accident. Miss Kimberlin has been in the Boone County Jail, Burlington for the past week.

After maintaining silence ever since her arrest, the girl, questioned daily for the past seven days, finally changed her story and accused Collett of driving the car at the time of the accident in which one youth was killed and several persons injured.

At the time of her arrest she told Sheriff Williams, that she was alone in the car, having left a male companion some time before the accident. She said then that she never had driven an automobile before.

Collett was arrested Sunday night by Sheriffs Williams and Rouse. He will be arraigned in Boone County Court next Monday for a preliminary hearing.

MONTHLY SUPPER POSTPONED

WARTIME REVELATIONS

In commenting recently on the tremendous effort being made by the people of this country to win the war, W. C. Mullendore, Executive Vice-President, Southern California Edison Company, records facts that must not be forgotten:

"On the surface it might appear that these airplanes, ships, tanks, and guns, these radio and other electric devices, these billions of kilowatt hours of electric energy which are turning the wheels of the factories, and welding and transforming metal into weapons of war—that all this miracle of production which turned the tide of war against the enemy at the time when he seemed almost certain to triumph, has become available only since war began, and hence might be attributable to the centralized direction and control now exercised by government. We at home an dthe boys in the Army and Navy are learning of the performance of our guns and planes and ships, and of the production of billions of pounds of equipment: we see the visible evidence of the ability of our railroads to transport men and equipment in amounts and at a speed never before attained; of the output of our electric utilities reached unparalleled heights, and we are justly proud of the machines and equipment and of the tools and weapons made available to our boys and the boys of our Allies on the battlefield. But what our people most need to know and to appreciate is that the foundations for this production were laid not yesterday but during the past century; that this strength which is now saving the world is the product not so much of American physical and financial resources immediately applied to these mighty tasks, as of the abilities developed as the result of the freedom of men in past generations of American life—freedom to develop their strength, initiative and self-reliance, not under the guidance of government bureau nor with funds taken from the people by the powers of government, but on their own credit and savings and through their own effort freely risked in many enterprises, large and small, some of which succeeded and most of which failed, but all of which added to the experience, the versatility ,the self-reliance of a great people."

INVITATION TO DEATH

Fuel shortages are compelling people to convert heating systems to the use of coal or wood. In many cases, conversions are being made to replace the use of gas. Unless these change-overs are made properly, fire and explosion hazards are created. The National Board of Fire Underwriters, in an attempt to help prevent disasters from this source in homes next winter, has issued a bulletin warning against the most common dangers involved.

If gas has been used and it is desired to switch to a solid fuel such as wood, the change should never be made without making certain that the chimney is built for the purpose. Some houses are constructed on the basis of using gas, and no regular chimney was installed. The flue might be of masonry, yet too small. It might also having a metal lining instead of a tile lining. In other cases, it may not even be of masonry, but asbestos cement or similiar material not suitable for other fuels than gas.

When automatic burners or stokers are used, it should be remembered that even automatic equipment needs attention. Failing to maintain the prescribed water level can result in cracked or distorted boilers. Under certain conditions this will lead to an explosion. It should be borne in mind that even with all necessary safety devices, boilers and furnaces need to be checked occasionally to see that everything is in safe working order. Carelessness is an invitation to property destruction, if not death.

DOCTORS ARE HUMAN TOO

Proposals to attain the millenium in medical care usually overlook the doctor as an individual citizen. They are drawn up to appeal to the masses. They contemplate the physician as if he were an inanimate piece of machinery to be loaded on a flat car and shipped about the country at the command of the owner, who is inevitably the government.

Plans of this nature are doomed to failure. As John G. Searle, president of the American Drug Manufacturers Association, has observed: "An individual chooses medicine—why? Because he loves it and he loves the prospect of service to his fellow men. But this is not the sole attraction. He is ambitious the same as the other fellow; and it is because of his ambition—as well as his love and devotion to his work—that makes the self-sacrifice demanded of him.

"If it is desirable to stop medical progress and to allow the health of the country to deteriorate, it can be accomplished no more easily than by subjecting the physician to a regimented routine and making a government servant out of him."

The broadest and most efficient medical care can be provided for the people only if the problem is approached from both sides—that of the doctors as well as the public. It must be remembered that the doctors are human freedom-loving Americans too.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

ISRAEL'S SIN AND RESTORATION

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 32:7-10; 34:4-9, 27, 28.

GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is long-suffering and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and transgression.—Numbers 14:18.

God is righteous, and cannot look with approval or in forgiveness upon sin until His mercy has been stirred and set free to act by repentance. Then He whose wrath is hotly kindled against man's transgression shows Himself as the tender and gracious God, "keeping loving-kindness for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin."

This grace of God is fully revealed in Christ and the redemption which He brought to man, but is prefigured in the experiences of Israel under the law.

I. God's Wrath Kindled (Exod. 32:7-10).

There are those who would have us think of God as a benevolent old gentleman who is easily hoodwinked by clever sinners who can talk fast to cover their iniquity. Even if He does see it, He is supposed to be so tenderhearted that He overlooks their sin.

Such folk had better read these words, "That my wrath may wax hot." The wrath of God is a real and awful affection of the divine nature and it is revealed against man who sins against His holy law.

The special sin of Israel on this occasion was idolatry, which is the setting up of some material symbol to represent the invisible God. Moses had been with God in the mount for 40 days. He had been the Lord's representative in their midst. His presence had evidently been the chief stabilizing influence.

Having their eyes set on a man, or a material object to take His place, they had lost sight of the invisible God. So they proceeded to establish this idol which would provide a center of worship. At first it was evidently intended to remind them of God, but soon it led them out into heathen revelry (Exod. 32: 6, 17, 18).

Whatever a man puts between himself and God, even though he may at first intend it to be but a reminder of God, will lead him away from God. Ritual, symbols, theology, scholarship, all good in their places, may become the idols which separate present-day man from God.

II. God's Mercy Invited (Exod. 34:4-9).

Aaron had only a weak "alibi" to offer. The golden calf had practically made itself (see Exod. 32: 24). How quick man is to justify himself instead of admitting his guilt. No doubt our excuses sound just as silly as Aaron's in the ears of God.

Moses knew better. The sin was dealt with in drastic fashion. When one deals with a wild ravenous beast, there is one remedy—"shoot to kill." Not only were the leaders of the wickedness slain, but the ground gold of the calf image was put into water, which all Israel drank. Thus were they all marked as sharing the guilt of this idolatry.

There is a lesson here for us. America is far from God. We need to seek His face in repentance. But let us remember that we (that is, Christian men and women) are a part of America. It is our guilt, and we ought to be on our faces before God, pleading for God's mercy upon our land.

Moses was now ready to seek the Lord's mercy for his wayward people. He is the intercessor, the intermediary. God had a man who had compassion and love in his heart, and the Lord heard him. Lovingkindness and tender mercy flowed forth in place of flaming anger.

Note that God has not changed. He is the unchangeable One. His wrath is still hot against man's sin, but man has repented, and moved out of God's wrath into His love and grace. That too is always being shown to His obedient children.

III. God's Covenant Renewed (Exod. 34:27, 28).

Moses had broken the first tablets of commandments. The people had sinned and were not then ready to listen to any word from Jehovah. But now they were prepared to receive it, and God renewed the covenant as He again gave Moses the law.

There is no need for despair in the heart of the one who deals with God. The missed opportunity for obedience and blessing may be gone forever, but God is still on the giving hand ready to meet the returning prodigal, ready to give beauty for ashes (Isa. 61:3) and to restore the years that the locust has destroyed (Joel 2:25). Amazing grace!

In the keeping of these commandments, Israel was assured of the blessing of God. As we pointed out last week, the real fulfillment of the law came in Jesus Christ, who did not set aside its requirements, but met them all, for all who believe in His name.

Our next meeting will be at the church on the same day of our Season of Prayer in September.

Mrs. Huff, Pub. Chm'n.

COUNTY HOUSEWIVES URGED TO INCREASE DAILY FAT SALVAGE

One tablespoonful of waste household fats saved every day by each of Boone County's 2,639 families during the second year of the WPB fat salvage campaign would provide enough glycerin to make 126,672 anti-aircraft shells, it was estimated today by the largest single collector of this vitally-needed war material.

"Although only a fraction of this amount has been saved daily by the average family," said T. A. Connors, head of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's national meat department, "the steady increase in contributions is very encouraging. During May and June housewives turned in at our company stores as much waste fat as they did during the drive's four opening months, and our total collections for the year were more than 4,000,000 pounds."

Indications are that nationwide results of the campaign's initial year, ending the first week in July, totalled more than 65,000,000 pounds of household fats, based on OWI reports for the first eleven months. This is one-third of the annual quota for the nation of 200,000,000 pounds.

Kentucky is asked by the government to salvage 202,000 pounds of fats each month.

FARMERS TRADE WORK

River bottom farmers of Crittenden county have done a good job of swapping work and power machinery to make up for the labor shortage, relates Farm Agent O. M. Shelby. Farmers getting behind with their breaking or disking were assisted by men with tractors, with the understanding that they would later repay in work as needed. As a result, tractors have been in operation day and night.

COOK REUNION

On Sunday, August 8th the annual Cook reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Klopp and daughter at Aurora Ferry.

A large number was present, and after a pleasant morning in exchanging greetings and renewing kinships, the spacious tables were spread with everything good to eat, which was indeed an appealing sight, enough to tempt anyone, every dish being arranged so attractive and appetizing.

At this special time, Ed Maurer, Louisville, who is a Lieut. Commander in the Coast Guard, offered an impressive prayer and remembered those other ones not there, but in uniform somewhere in camps and over there, in the service of our country.

During the dinner hour many memories of the past were reviewed by the older group, while the younger group were getting better acquainted.

The afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation, and music on the piano of old-fashion hymns by the group and a few special selections by Mrs. E. E. Helms and Mrs. Kirtley Kloop, accompanied by Mrs. Jas. G. Smith at the piano.

By this time the hour hand was moving around toward evening and all realized it was time to say good-bye, and express their desire to be able to meet again in 1944, for such another reunion, and all agreed that the genial host and hostess and charming daughter Gladys understand the art of making these gatherings a very joyful and successful event. All expressed their hearty thanks to them for making this happy meeting possible.

The list of those present follows: Geo. W. Connall, Mr. and Mrs. Esley Connall, Charles W. Connall Judy A. Connall, Miss Mary Stevens, Mrs. Pearl Hiser, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hiser, Judy Hiser, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Connall, Mrs. Marjorie Doggett, Hilda Doggett, Robert Hamer, Wm. Cook, Sr., Wm. Mr. and Mrs. Podge Alloway entertained Ed Lambkin and family over the week-end.

Mrs. Mattie Kruse was Sunday guest of Mrs. Rosa Stephens.

Misses Corrine Walton, Evelyn Hickey and Master Bobby Walton have been helping Willie Huey house tobacco.

Mrs. Kirby Conner spent the week-end at her home here.

Miss Mary Lou Williamson is attending Lawrenceburg Fair this week.

All the youngsters from this community returned home in high spirits from the 4-H Fair. Miss Corrine Walton brought home four firsts, while each of the others won ribbons of some nature.

Sunday guests of the Kite-Purdy family were Mr. and Mrs. Allan Rogers and daughter Evelyn, Bro. and Mrs. Sam Hamilton and daughter Priscilla, Everett Stephens and John Kruse. Sunday afternoon callers were Wilbur Dennison, Tommy Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Newhall.

BLIND MAN CULTIVATES VEGETABLES WITH KNIFE

Elderly and nearly blind, Matt Waford of Shelby county used a pocket knife to cultivate his garden and thereby produce much of his living. When he used a hoe he cut off too many valuable plants. Therefore he resorted to his knife, which he found did the job of keeping down weeds and loosening the soil. He wrote to the Kentucky College of Agriculture that he had put up 115 quarts of vegetables, and planned to do more canning, and also to dry and store quantities of vegetables. Mr. Waford lived 49 years in Louisville, and this year rented an acreage in Shelby county.

Early History Of Boone Co

By A. M. Yealey

We shall continue with the article in reference to Mr. Tanner, as no doubt his posterity and others would be glad to know who some of the residents of Boone County were from 1805 to 1820.

We have in our possession Mr. Tanner's shop book and the turkey quill pen which he used to post his books. In addition to farming Mr. Tanner conducted a blacksmith shop which stood near his residence and his books show he did a thriving business. From 1808 to 1820 Mr. Tanner kept his books according to the English system of money and made all his charges using this system.

We shall now give you the names of some of his customers, the work he did and his charges for same.

John Rouse—putting steel to ax, 2 shillings; making iron wedge, 2 shillings.

William Willhoit—mending cleves 6 pence; sharpening 2 plows, 1 shilling.

Edward Rice—making 2 clevices and ring, A S, 9 d; making a single tree and shovel, 6 S.

John Beemon—making 2 pot hooks, 2 S. 3 d; laying a plow 2 S.

David Crisler—putting steel to ax, 2 S. 3 d; one pair pot hooks and clevis, 3 S. 6 d.

Hankerson Utterback—mending a plow share, 1 S; sharpening plow share, 6 d.

Lewis Crisler—mending clevice, sharpening plow, 2 S; making 2 bridge bits and clevice, 3 S. 9 d.

Jacob Rouse—laying a plow, 2 Shillings; shoeing a horse, 1 shilling.

An explanation to the above charges can be made by the value of a shilling at 25c in U. S. money. The reader must remember during this period Spain had flooded this territory with the Spanish milled dollar and when one of these was tendered for payment and his work was valued at 2 S. he would lay the dollar on the ahvil and with a sharp chisel, cut it in two equal parts. They were often cut in four equal parts. This made it difficult to carry in ones pocket as they became wedge-shaped and finally they were all gathered up and sent to the mint at Philadelphia and recoined in U. S. currency.

We will now continue with a list of Mr. Tanner's customers: William Carpenter, Michael Aylor, John Holsclaw, Joel Rouse, Samuel Rouse, Kacharia Hoffman, John Floyd, Jacob Holsclaw, Wm. Meglison, John Souther, James Richey, Joshua Crigler, Marion Horton, Christopher Zimmerman, Cafter Taylor, Lewis Conner, Daniel Beemon, John Hamilton, David Crisler, John Crisler, Abraham Powell, Samuel Floyd, Moses Fray.

If the reader is interested in any of the above names the writer may give more information as to the individual.

BURLINGTON BOYS WIN IN TENTH INNING

Burlington's Sunday School nine trounced the Hebron youngsters on Thursday of last week at the Burlington park in a ten inning game by a score of 9 to 8.

Burlington will be entertained at Florence, Saturday, according to manager Walter Brown.

Hebron chalked up a victory over the Burlington boys Tuesday evening when they emerged on the long end of 6 to 5 count. Benson and Brown divided mound duties for the Burlington boys, while Ernst went most of the way for Hebron.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

About 10,000 acres of hybrid corn were planted in Casey county, and, according to Farm Agent J. S. Howard, more would have been planted had seed been available. Interest in hybrid corn is in response to the demonstrations made in the county last year.

Farmers in Spencer county are said to be shipping sows and unfinished hogs to market because of the food situation. The small grain crop in the county is thought to be practically a total failure.

Corn that was knee-high three weeks after planting was the result of vetch and ryegrass having been turned under on the farm of Hobert Gaily in Harlan county. Farmers there are coming to realize the value of cover crops, according to Farm Agent Gray H. Williams.

By raising his pigs on clean ground, W. H. Champion of Lyon county has had practically no losses this year. Previously, losses had been rather high, due to disease. In addition to the best pigs he has raised, he says the saving in veterinary fees and medicines is considerable.

Hemp crops are fine, pastures and hay the best in several years, and gardens increased by 20 percent, reports Farm Agent Edgar Rice of Elliott county. Approximately 1,500 acres of hybrid corn were planted in the county. Farmers are saving wheat, rye and grass seeds.

It is estimated that as a result of the cooperation of 99 owners of tractors, 200 farmers in Boone were able to get 2,500 acres of corn land plowed and planted. The late season, labor and machinery shortages in the county delayed the planting of crops.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Ten carloads of green wrapped tomatoes were sent to northern markets from Graves county during the last three weeks in July.

Nine tons or 248 bales of red clover hay were baled by Roy Gresham of Lyon county from 3 acres that had been treated with lime and phosphate.

Mrs. Walter Osborne of Mason county made 36 pounds of butter in July from the cream from two cows.

A total of 1,072 Victory Farm Volunteers and four special workers have been placed in Campbell county.

Farmers in Hopkins county are selling approximately 700 bushels of Thorne wheat harvested this year.

Cabbage, beans, okra, corn, broccoli and carrots are some of the vegetables that have been dehydrated for winter use in Jessamine county.

In preparation for an unusual amount of home sewing this fall, homemakers in Fleming county are putting sewing machines in order.

Fifty farmers in Anderson county are growing 300 acres of 41A tobacco.

A small dehydrator costing 58 cents is creating considerable interest among homemakers in Hickman county.

Mrs. Hayes Bunch of Harlan county has canned 300 quarts of vegetables to date from her garden 50 by 100 feet; soybeans are included.

The quality of hybrid corn to withstand wind and dry weather has caused much favorable comment among farmers in Hancock county.

C. E. Seaton of Ballard county reports that in two and a half days seven men primed an estimated 1,500 pounds of good tobacco leaf on eight acres.

Income from pickles will be decreased in Grayson county this year because of dry weather and smaller acreages.

FERTILIZER USE UP 20 PERCENT IN 1941

As estimated from the license tags issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington, 146,400 tons of fertilizer were sold in Kentucky in 1942, which is an increase of about 20 percent over the tonnage in 1941. About 59 percent of this was mixed fertilizer, 38 percent was superphosphate and the remainder fertilizer, salts and other materials.

In addition, 192,109 tons of 20 percent superphosphate were distributed to Kentucky farmers by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The annual report of the Experiment Station on its fertilizer work says the amount of low-grade fertilizer sold in the state in 1942 was slightly less than the amount sold in 1941. This is considered to show a trend toward the use of better fertilizer, which the Experiment Station long has advocated.

The Experiment Station considers that a mixed fertilizer should contain not less than 20 units of total plant food, and that the nitrogen content should not be less than 3 percent, available phosphoric acid not less than 8 percent, and potash not less than 4 percent, and it recommends that farmers buy their fertilizer on this basis.

Farmers are advised to consult county agents or the Experiment Station about their fertilizer needs. The guaranty tags of fertilizer bags should be studied; they tell what is in the fertilizer.

FOLLOW CANNING DIRECTIONS AND AVOID ACCIDENT

Glass jars filled too full, screw bands turned too tight, and canning done in the oven are causes of most of the exploding or cracking of filled jars of fruits and vegetables, says Mrs. Pearl Haak, food specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Home canners will avoid accidents if they follow closely the directions which come with the jars or covers.

"When food is placed in a jar with the new type glass-top cover, it is absolutely imperative that an inch of space be left for expansion," said the canning authority. "Then, to allow expanding steam to escape, the band should be turned back a fourth of a turn, after first being screwed tight. Jars explode when the steam cannot escape, the accumulated pressure shattering the jar." Mrs. Haak explained that any jar sealed with a detached rubber ring must have the metal band turned back a fourth turn after being tightened, whether processing is done in the hot water bath or pressure cooker. Screw bands used with the glass-top jars are made of steel which do not expand as did the old zinc bands.

Home canners are also cautioned against the use of ovens for canning. While heat control devices on kitchen stoves may make possible an excellent job of baking, they may not be exact enough for the high temperature required for canning.

When glass-top jars are used, the college recommends the pre-cooking of non-acid vegetables in an open kettle, then the filling of hot jars to within an inch of the top. Processing for the required length of time may be done in either a hot water bath or pressure cooker. Detailed directions are given in the leaflet "Can Fruits and Vegetables for Victory," available at offices of county and home agents, or at the college.

SIGNAL CORPS

By John E. Murphy
WCKY Director of Publicity

On Tour With The Army Service Forces, Lexington, Ky.—Civilians in their normal pursuits here, like others throughout the nation, conceive little of the gigantic military effort being expended in their community behind guarded walls and wire fences.

An 18-mile circle inscribed around this peace-loving, horse-adorsing city of tradition and culture encompasses a tremendous headache for the enemy.

Within those short miles and a few interesting hours, I was introduced to the fascinating secrets of pre-radar, the radio "handy-talkie," its big brother, the "walkie talkie," highly developed uses of gasoline and diesel engines, military secrecy and armed guards, the combined sullen spirit welded by military-civilian co-operation in war schools and the fine food of an officers' mess.

I nursed a completely unreceptive mind on the techniques of high frequency, kilocycles, vectors and vacuum tubes, yet the things I saw became as intriguing as a Mickey Mouse movie.

Officers and civilians in charge of the seven schools of the Lexington Signal Corps Depot here all demonstrated that their sundry and erstwhile prosaic tasks are as amazing as they are vital.

At one school a Lieutenant-Colonel handed me a 40-ounce instrument that resembles a small fishing tackle box. "This is a 'handy-talkie,'" he said. "Press this thing here and talk into it." The gadget had no wires except inside, and was a glorified crade telephone. I said 'hello" like anyone would at the nervous end of a long-distance phone call. "Release the lever," the officer told me. I released it, and heard the voice of some other fellow in another part of the building. Later I saw the "handy-talkies" in practical action, being carried by key men in widespread military warehouses where telephone communications slow up the works. Paratroopers, I was informed, lofted into unfriendly countryside, use "handy-talkies" more dramatically.

We were in other schools where room looked like Martian Laboratories blithely imagined in fiction, and didn't understand as newspapermen and radio public relations men wouldn't, the intricacies that were commonplace to the youthful men and girls in study there. Little Einsteins they were, converting their instruction to eventual victory on battlefronts.

How would you like to lean over busy shoulders, and watch with busy eyes the changing patterns on a receiver set panel of glass? There is no possibility of grasping in a few moments of observation what these students and officer candidates are learning in month, all you can do is shake a could, all you can, do is shake a nonplussed head and believe it.

I lagged, held by the doings in one classroom, and an officer smiled and waited for me to leave before him. "No souvenirs," he gibed.

The seven schools of the Signal Corps hereabouts have put an announced 800 graduates in uniform. Most of them are now plying what they've learned here where it hurts our foes most.

In a Paris branch of the system, there stands a mobile crane to move parts of gasoline and diesel engiiners used in the laboratories.

The Lexington Signal Corps Depot is the largest branch of the corps in the nation. One group of warehouses covers nearly a mile square, and the post grounds embrace 800 acres—and untold mystery.

An officer put it mildly when he said, "some of our methods are surprising." An insignificant but publishable instance is illustrated at one vast Signal Corps depot where fire loss in two years totals $5.

Col. Laurence Watts, commanding officer of the corps in this district, was host to the touring newspaper and radio correspondents when we toured his depot. He was busy but gracious, and the food was excellent. Outside of the officers' mess, women drilled as part of their training to become guards at the post. A line of Jeeps waited for us.

Pvt. Ray E. Witham, ASN 358-73813, Co "C" 11Bn. 3 Reg. IRTC, Fort McClellan, Ala., writes: "I was told when I left for induction that you would send The Recorder to all men inducted into the armed forces. As you know, I left for induction August 10 and didn't take my 21 days, that is how I come to be in Fort McClellan, Ala. . . . At first, I was wondering what this training was going to be like, but now, one can readily see that each member of the armed forces receive the best training possible. . . . I really can say this for myself and a couple of my buddies, that the army is one swell life. The feed we are getting here would make a meal you get in civilian life look sick. . . . Well, this is all I can say for now as I just got here Wednesday afternoon . . . Tell everyone to write, and thanks a lot for the paper."

Wilford Tanner, M. M. 1-c, 62 Const. Batt. Co. C. Plat. 4, care Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif., and stationed at Pearl Harbor, writes:

"As I have been receiving The Recorder quite often I think I should drop you a line to show my appreciation. To me it is valued very high and I look forward to it every week. It brings news from Florence and all the rest of the county.

"I have found several of the boys' address in the paper. I wrote most of them, and it's nice to get mail each night when they have mail call.

"Bill Aylor is over here. I would never have found him if hadn't been for The Recorder. I got the paper one night and the next day I found him.

Liberty towns here are nice. We go to Honolulu most of the time—Waikiki is very good too. All of our liberty towns are good. The girls are dark, but they look good after you've been here five months.

"I want to thank you again for the paper. Tell all my friends hello, and I would like to hear from them."

Wilford's address will be found at the top of this article.

Pfc. Lee R. McNeely, 315 Technical School Squadron, Brks. 893, Sheppard Field, Texas, writes: "Here is a new address for my Recorder. I have been moved out here to start to school on August 25. I am very glad to have that basic training over . . . This is a very beautiful state and the people are almost as friendly as the ones in Kentucky. Wichita Falls is three miles away, a town of about fifty thousand population. It is about thirty miles to the Oklahoma State line and I am near the panhandle. . . . Keep the Recorder coming, it is a big help to keep us from being lonesome."

An interesting letter was received this week from S-Sgt. Carl F. Rudicill, ASN 35125182, Co. B, 7711th Ry. Opn. Bn., APO 680, care Postmaster, New York City, N. Y. The letter follows:

"From the land of the flying carpets, magic lamps and beautiful arabian nights comes a pause in which I hope to give you somewhat of a picture of what is taking place in this part of the world.

"I am still connected with a Railway unit. At present I am on duty from twelve midnight until eight in the morning. Suppose you wonder why I am in such a unit. The only answer I can possibly give, is that the army can do the impossible with almost anything. Our main purpose is helping keep Joe's army supplied. If I do have to say it myself, think we have done a wonderful job. To date our work has far surprised and surpassed anything the English had ever hoped or dreamed of happening in this country.

"While riding an American made locomotive through the tunnels in the mountains I learned to my amazement it was almost utterly impossible to hold to the throttle because of the intense heat, the temperature often rising to as much as a hundred and fifty degrees.

"The engineering performed in building this rail road certainly is a marvelous piece of work, and I wish it was possible that you could take just one ride over it.

"The dust storms occur almost daily in the evenings from three until six o'clock, and sometimes becoming so severe it is dangerous and almost impossible to drive a truck anywhere. The nights are somewhat cooler with almost everyone sleeping outside and very seldom does anyone ever use a blanket.

"It is hardly fair to try to describe the beauty of the nights, but I am so impressed with their calm that even though they are the same heavens we see at home, I have never seen them more beautiful than they are here. The only thing that seems to break their stillness is the howl of a lonely Jackal and the rise of the morning sun, which brings everything back to life.

Most of the natives seem to be very contented to have us here. Before our arrival it was a constant battle between the Arabs and the Persians with neither one gaining anything only a small amount of insignificant loot.

"Since my last letter I have been moved about eighty miles across the desert and Loomis about one hundred miles beyond me. The last time I saw him he was getting along fine, haven't heard from him lately but supposed he is getting along O. K.

"There is a small town located close by but as per usual and living up to the standards of the Perian Gulf Service Command, only the trusted M. P.'s are allowed to visit it.

"At last our camp is beginning to take on the normal appearance of any army camp back in the states. We are quartered in brick barracks, with day rooms, refrigerating unit for the kitchen, our own water supply and now are sporting an open air theater. Suppose if we spend a couple more years here we will have all the comforts of camps at home.

"There are a few more things I have seen I would like to mention before closing. The farmers of this country sweats in the sun all day raising his crop only to have the Government take one-half for the privilege of raising it, then takes the other half so much he has to steal enough to live on. Of all the corrupt practices one has seen and heard of he sees them in practice in this country. Each man attaining the age of twenty is forced to serve two years in the army at the rate of seven Rials per month which equals about twenty-one cents in our money. Out of this he is supposed to support what dependents he has. If the experts can figure that one out I am sure we can make us a much better place to live.

"There are so many things one could write about I'll not attempt to put all in this letter. In closing I would like to say The Recorder arrives regularily for which I am most grateful and I think I can truthfully say the same for every boy from Boone County.

"Tell all the friends hello and keep up the good work, for I am sure freedom is a reward we will all be very proud of."

Thanks for the interesting letter Carl, and may we hear from you more often.

The following letter was received from T- Cpl. Aubrey Knox, Btry C, 106 AAAAD. (SP) APO 512, New York City, N. Y., stationed in Sicily:

"Just a few lines to thank you for the paper I'm receiving and to notify you of a change in address. Bob Butler, of Union shares the paper with me and we both wish to thank you very much for the enjoyment we receive from your paper. It seems to bring us closer to home when we read the happenings from home.

"I wrote you a letter several months ago when I was in Tunisia and told you of the change in address, but although you published the letter you forgot to change the address and as it slows up the paper so much I'm hoping you won't forget this time. It takes mail three weeks to get here without any extra handling.

"Well ,this invasion wasn't anything new to Butler and I this time, for we made the one in Africa on November 8, too. We haven't as yet seen as much action here as we did in Africa, for Jerry just hasn't the planes to send over. He sure tried his best to plaster us before we landed, as we sat on the beach, and a day or two after we landed, but our good luck and good shooting always got the plane before it got us as we threw up so much flak that he just couldn't face it and broke away. Four stukas tried to dive bomb our big barge, but when they were almost on us our tracers from our guns fired right into their face was more than they could take, so they broke formation and tried to get away, but more than one didn't.

"I've had some thrilling experiences over here though. I got lost from our outfit once and ended up going through a small village that wasn't ours yet. There were plenty of Italian soldiers there, but they just waved at us and didn't offer to fight at all. I guess if they had I wouldn't be writing this now. We squirmed our way out of that by the skin of our teeth. Well, enough of our exploits or none of this will pass the censor.

"Sure enjoy reading the column for the armed forces. The boys overseas don't seem to write much in their column as do the boys at home. Since I've been overseas I have more time to write and read than I ever had. Maybe that's because I'm a radio operator and have a soft job if there's any such thing as a soft job over here.

"Hoping the change in address will be noted and our much valued paper will arrive soon. Bob Butler and I send greetings to all the folks back in Boone and also to all the boys in uniform from Boone wherever they are. We are trying to get the job done so we can come home to the best spot I know of anywhere and I've seen quite a bit of the world the last 16 months I've been over on this side. Well, so long and we'll try to keep 'em from flying—we mean 'Jerry' of course."

Ration Reminder

Gasoline—In 17 states of eastern shortage area A-6 coupon are now valid. In states outside the eastern shortage area A-7 coupons are valid through September 21. B and C coupons expire according to dates on individual books. All gasoline coupons in the possession of car owners must be endorsed with the owner's license number and state or registration.

Fuel Oil—Period 5 coupons in old rations remain valid through September 30. Period 1 coupons in new rations are valid now. Occupants of oil heated homes are urged to return their applications for next year's fuel oil to their ration boards promptly and when issued new rations to place orders with their dealers for summer fill-ups.

Sugar—Stamp No. 14 good for five pounds through October. Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 are good for 5 lbs. each for home canning purposes through October 31. Housewives may apply to their local ration boards for more if necessary.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 (1 pair) is valid through October 31.

Stoves—Consumer purchases of rationed stoves must be made with a certificate obtained at local war price and rationing boards.

Meat, Etc.—Red stamps, T, U, V and W valid through August 31. X valid through October 2. Y becomes valid August 29, Z becomes valid September 5, and both remain valid through October 2.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps R, S and T remain valid through September 20. U, V and W become valid September 1 and remain valid through October 20.

Urges Cut in Labor Day Travel

Stay off trains and inter-city busses over Labor Day week-end—this is the plea of Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation. Mr. Eastman, in asking the public to spend Labor Day week-end at home, said that failure to follow this advice might result in travel congestion worse than that experienced over the Fourth of July week-end. Mr. Eastman pointed out that transportation equipment formerly available for holiday travel is now in troop service or used to handle the greatly expanded military and essential civilian traffic.

Jobs To Guide Father-Draft

After October 1, when drafting of fathers begins, those in non-deferable activities or occupations, regardless of their order numbers, will be the first fathers called for military service. Those who transfer to essential occupations and thus release single men for military service help to decrease the need for drafting fathers. Generally speaking, after October 1, the occupation of an eligible registrant will determine whether he will be inducted or deferred if his number is called. However, the question of hardship to dependents must be given consideration in each case.

Mail Christmas Gifts Early

Christmas gifts to naval and marine personnel overseas should be sent between September 15 and November 1. This period has been designated by the Navy Department in cooperation with the Post Office Department. Parcels must not exceed five pounds in weight.

Save All Fats

With millions of pounds of waste kitchen fats still needed to meet war demands, Paul C. Cabot, Director of WPB Salvage Division, recently urged housewives to remember that even if accumulated fats become rancid, they still retain a majority of the valuable glycerine that goes into war production. Some housewives, believing that rancid fats are valueless, have not been turning them in for salvage. This has resulted in the loss of thousands of pounds of glycerine that could have been processed from these fats.

Army Salvages Fats

It is estimated that enough waste fats are salvaged in army camps within the continental U. S. to make 1,500,000 pounds of dynamite each month and still leave a residue of rendered grease from which 5,000,000 pounds of soap stock may be made.

New Gasoline Coupons

Car owners who still hold the old type "B" and "C" gasoline ration coupon books should exchange them for the new mileage ration sheets of coupons between August 23 and September 1, OPA announced recently. Old type "B" and "C" coupons become invalid September 1, and gasoline dealers cannot accept them on and after that date. The old type coupons are identified by the words "Permits Delivery of One Unit of Gasoline." The new type says "Mileage Ration" plus a large "B" or "C."

Wheat Goals For 1944

State wheat acreage goals for 1944, representing an apportionment of the national goal of 68 million acres—26 percent above this year's seedings—were announced recently by the War Food Administration. County goals will be established on the basis of these state figures and will constitute the wheat goals farmers will be urged to meet in 1944. In broad terms, the WFA advises farmers to plant as much wheat as possible without departing from sound farming practices and after reserving sufficient land for expanding other urgently needed crops.

Address Overseas Mail Properly

Because more than 10 percent of the mail destined for overseas is incorrectly or insufficiently addressed, the War Department has asked that the sender be sure to give the soldier's rank, name, army serial number, organization and army post office number. Following a model address:

Pvt. John Doe, ASN 1234567890
Battry B. 227th Field Artillery Battalion
APO 29, care The Postmaster,
New York, N. Y.

The War Department also asked that families and friends of soldiers send clippings instead of periodicals whenever possible to save cargo space.

Farmers Will Need Help

Harvesting America's war-time food and fiber crops will require the employment of at least 750,000 more persons on farms by October 1. The farm labor force on August 1, was approximately 11 million. Throughout the country, business men, girl scouts, boy scouts, townspeople, women, and high school students have been helping farmers. To insure that there will be no important crop losses because of labor shortage, farmers will need the help of many thousands of U. S. Crop Corps volunteers. The Crop Corps is established now in most agricultural counties and civilian groups in most large cities have the machinery for enlisting volunteers. Recruitment of workers is handled locally by the agricultural extension workers and the U. S. Employment Service. Volunteers are paid established wages.

Special Ration Coupons

Individuals who require special ration point allotments, such as persons in isolated areas who must buy large quantities or rationed foods at one time, are to be provided with a new type of red and blue food ration coupons, according to OPA. They will be used the same way as stamps, but will be good at any time. Rational coupons may be issued by local boards and OPA offices.

More Nurses Needed

Many American hospitals cannot maintain normal standards of service today because of the lack of nurses, according to reports made to the U. S. Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency. A year from now America will need 359,000 nurses—or 100,000 more than are now available. Of this number 66,000 will be needed for military service and 293,000 for civilians. Because of limited facilities, the maximum that can be trained within this period is 65,000.

Seed For Potatoes

To help potato growers get reliable seed for 1944 plantings, a new seed classification—War Approved Seed—has been created, the War Food Administration said recently. War Approved Seed will identify that part of the 1943 late crop that is valuable for seed but has a higher tolerance of defects than certified seed. Price ceilings, to be announced later by OPA, will be placed on both types.

Sorry to hear Robert Kite of Belleview is on the sick list.

Miss Mary Lou Williamson and Mrs. Percy Ryle are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Cam White and attending the Lawrenceburg Fair.

Jake Cook was calling on Ray Williamson, Sunday afternoon.

PARENTS, CHILDREN JOIN TO CONSERVE

Teams of fathers and sons, and mothers and daughters working together for the production and conservation of food, are causing considerable interest in Russell county. The father-and-son team works in the feeding of one or more baby-beef calves, while the mother-and-daughter team cans and dries food. Farm Agent R. V. Trosper says that incentives for these combination teams are the war bonds offered by public spirited citizens of the county to 4-H-ers who do the best pieces of war work in cooperation with their parents.

WPA WOULD SAVE ALL CONTAINERS

That there may be enough containers to handle next year's crops, the War Food Administration is asking that crates, boxes, baskets, bags and sacks be saved by producers, dealers and handlers. Large quantities of boxes baskets, bags and sacks be saved by producers, dealers and handlers. Large quantities of boxes and crates are being used to ship materials abroad, and production of containers has been curtailed by the war. A shortage of containers for next year's vegetable, fruit and other production may result, unless care is taken to preserve the sacks, bags, hampers, boxes and crates not in use.

TO IMPROVE HEALTH OF FARM FAMILIES

Better health for farm families in Laurel county is promised as homemakers' club members put into practice nutrition rules recently brought to their attention. They report using less grease in cooking, using more green and yellow vegetables, cooking vegetables a shorter length of time, using more care to include milk in the daily meals, planning better balanced meals and using greater variety in the preparation of vegetables, meats and eggs.

Home Food Waste
...took more of the U.S. food supply last year than the armed services and Lend-Lease combined.

SAVING FOOD IS YOUR NO. 1 JOB TODAY

LAST YEAR, according to the Department of Agriculture, food waste in the U. S. took 15% of the nation's food supply, compared to 7% for our armed forces and 7% for Lend-Lease.

Before the war, this tremendous loss hurt only the pocketbooks of consumers. Today, it threatens to seriously undermine the war effort. It has become the patriotic duty of every homemaker to save every scrap of food possible.

Ready to help you do your part is your ever-dependable electric refrigerator. Pop perishables into its safe, cold interior as quickly as possible after purchase. Use it to save even the smallest dabs of leftovers. And take care of it, so it will continue to operate efficiently for the duration. Help the war effort and help your pocketbook by saving Food for Victory!

Gayety Theatre

SATURDAY

A special privilege was accorded Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy by 20th Century-Fox in their new starring laugh riot, "Jitterbugs," which is due at the Gayety, Saturday.

They alone could end a scene. The camera was run up until the boys themselves called "cut." This was because the two masters of the art of slapstick, while doing a scene would inject a piece of spontaneaous "business" which was not called for in the script.

"Jitterbugs," which tells of the hilarious plight of two wayfaring musical hepcats features lovely Vivian Blaine as the heroine.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

A nimble tongue turned Bob Crosby from an orchestra leader into an actor. Crosby was signed with his band to appear with Judy Garland, Van Heflin, Richard Carlson and Marta Eggerth in "Presenting Lily Mars," spectacular musical based on the story by Booth Tarkington.

In the cafe scene, the actor playing the master of ceremonies wasn't on hand for rehearsal. Crosby, in a moment of clowning, proceeded to "introduce" Miss Garland. The "ad lib" speech was so good that Producer Joseph Pasternak insisted on its going into the scene.

Miss Garland plays a stage-struck girl who climbs her way to the top and stardom on Broadway. Many new musical hits are featured.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

For the first time in films Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, the Nazi Afrika Korps leader, is portrayed in Paramount's exciting North African adventure, "Five Graves to Cairo," which is coming to the Gayety. Erich von Stroheim returned to Hollywood from Broadway especially to appear as Rommel.

Others in the cast are Franchot Tone and Anne Baxter, the co-stars, and Akim Tamiroff and Peter Van Eyck, the latter last seen also as a Nazi soldier in "The Moon Is Down."

Care Of The Feet

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The human body, a wonderful structure of energy and beauty and, like an architectural structure, depends primarily on the strength of its foundation — the feet.

The feet are the most overworked part of the body, and functioning under unfavorable conditions, usually results in (1) weakening, (2) impairment and (3) discomfort.

Facts — Ninety per cent of all people in the country suffer from some kind of foot trouble, and many of them suffer all their lives without knowing the source of their ailments.

Just think, the skeleton or framework of the human foot contains 26 bones. (A person's foot contains more than one-fourth of the two hundred bones in the entire human frame.) When the bones become abnormally positioned as when the metatarsel bones or arches drop, it affects other component parts of the foot such as muscles, ligaments, tendons and nerves.

When you step on a hose it pinches it, and the flood water is stopped at the point of pressure.

The same applies when a bone is pressing on the blood vessels that traverse the foot. Then pains are the result of this pressure, they can and should be relieved.

Always remember this, painful feet interfere with one's work, discourage the exercise so vital to health, and spoil life's pleasures. —Adv.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS TO PAY FOR BOMBER

The 102,000 members of 4-H clubs in Kentucky have set up for themselves a goal to purchase this year at least $250,000 worth of war stamps and bonds, or enough to pay for a bomber, J. W. Whitehouse, state club leader, has announced.

The 4-H boys and girls have been buying stamps and bonds all year, he said ,and already have invested many thousands of dollars. A check-up on their purchases will be made about October 1, or just before achievement programs are held throughout the state. At that time Mr. Whitehouse expects the total to be well over the quarter-million dollar mark.

In addition to buying stamps and bonds, Kentucky 4-H club boys and girls have been working all season in fields, helping to plant, cultivate and harvest crops; have grown thousands of Victory gardens, and have canned and dried vast quantities of foods, it was explained at the state office. They also have helped in the collection of rubber and metal and in bond-selling campaigns.

An official report of the United States Department of Agriculture ranked Kentucky fourth among the states in numbers of boys and girls enrolled in 4-H clubs. However, when the size of the farm population is considered, Kentucky ranks second.

The Washington figures gave Alabama an enrollment of 123,000; Georgia, 110,000; Texas, 103,000, and Kentucky 102,000. Total enrollment in 4-H clubs in the United States is 1,700,000 farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20.

CANNING POWDERS NOT RECOMMENDED

That powder preservatives should not be used in home canning is the warning received at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics from Washington. In a recent statement, the commissioner of the Federal Food and Drug Administration said that the use of some of the canning powders is a definite health hazard. "Practically all the substance proposed in the past as chemical preservatives have limited value as such, and in view of the known harmful effects of some of them, and the doubtful safety of others, they should not be used as substitutes for the more efficacious and safer processes of sterilization by heat," said the commissioner.

Food specialists at the college recommend the hot water bath method, or the pressuer cooker, for all non-acid vegetables. A free leaflet of directions, "Can Fruits and Vegetables for Victory," is available upon request at offices of county and home agents, or at the college.

TIMELY LEAFLETS FOR FARMERS, HOMEMAKERS

Timely circulars and leaflets published by the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, and now available at offices of county and home demonstration agents, include "Home Drying of Fruits and Vegetables," "Basement and Cellar Storage Structures," "Storage Structures for Vegetables," "Canning Fruits and Vegetables for Victory," "Soybeans as a Food," and "How to Succeed with Winter Pastures."

COOP. MARKET FOR SURPLUS PRODUCTS

Eighty-two dozen ears of corn, 10 bushels of string beans, and smaller amounts of cucumbers, beets, onions, tomatoes and other garden products were sold by farmers in the vicinity of Morehead, Rowan County, on the third day their market was in operation. Total sales were more than $50. Farm Agent Forrest S. Brame reports that the market was planned with the cooperation of local business firms to make available surplus garden products for canning. Open Thursday mornings each week, it will continue to operate as long as there is a demand.

FARMERS HOLDING SWEET POTATOES DOUBLE MONEY

Farmers who market their sweet potatoes in the fall have sold their crop at the bottom of the market every year for the past 12 years, it was stated this week by Daniel K. Young, State Supervisor of the Food Distribution Administration, on the basis of a recent Government study.

"Without exception in the past decade, sweet potato prices have declined in the fall, touched bottom in November, and have gradually risen to the peak for the season the following spring," Mr. Young said.

"Last November Southern farmers sold their sweet potatoes at an average of $1.03 per bushel, whereas those who hold until May received $2.25, or more than twice as much. In 1941 the November low was 82 cents per bushel, rising to $1.08 the following June. In 1942 the figures ranged from a bottom of 75 cents in November to a top of $1.02 in June. This procedure has been continued for at least 12 years, and perhaps is an unbroken record for many years before that.

"The War Food Administration's support program is based on this record and growers are guaranteed $1.15 for their crop this fall as against $1.65 in rigid bushel containers if they hold their sweet potatoes over until February, March, or April.

"Commercial prices will undoubtedly hold the market up much higher than the support program for farmers who hold their crop until spring, whereas if a flood of sweet potatoes reach the market this fall, the guaranteed support price will probably also be the top."

Farmers were urged by Mr. Young to arrange for storage facilities at once, so their crop can be stored until spring. Detail on storage can be obtained from county agricultural agents.

A MESSAGE TO DAIRY FARMERS

Dairy farmers have responded magnificently to the wartime demand for increased milk production, but the world needs still more milk—all the milk, in fact, that American dairymen can produce.

This year it is extremely urgent that everything possible be done to lessen the Nation-wide decline in milk flow that always follows when pastures begin to dry up. Much of the so-called summer slump in milk production is the result of failure to recognize the inadequacy of summer pastures and to provide supplementary feeds.

An abundant supply of good hay and silage will be of extreme importance in maintaining milk production at a high level this summer and also through the coming winter.

The War Food Administration and the Dairy Industry Committee have jointly developed an eight-point program to stress the possibilities of providing more home-grown feeds and of utilizing them more efficiently in the production of milk. The program emphasizes the following practice:

1. Provide abundant pastures—Pasturage stimulates milk flow, cuts feed costs, reduces labor needs, conserves soil. Grow temporary pasture crops to lengthen the grazing season and insure extra feed when the permanent pastures dry up.

2. Provide plenty of good hay—400 pounds a month for small cows and 500 pounds for large cows. Early cutting to increase protein content, and care in curing and handling to save leaves, improve the quality of the hay.

3. Provide abundant silage—At least two and one-half tons per cow. Corn, sorghum, soybeans are good silage crops. Temporary or trench silos give extra feed storage capacity. Silage provides extra feed when pastures dry up and extends pasture benefits through the winter.

4. Condition cows for freshening—Eight weeks rest leads to greater milk production. Stop grain feeding to turn cows dry, continue feeding liberal amounts of good roughage during the dry period, and resume grain feeding gradually. Feed enough to have cows in good flesh at calving time.

5. Feed good roughage liberally—It's the natural feed for cows, also the cheapest feed. Cows can't eat too much. The more good roughage a cow gets the less grain she will need to produce up to the limit of her inherent ability. Good roughage consists of leafy legumes and early-cut grasses, silages, and immature pasturage.

6. Feed balanced rations—Use protein concentrates wisely. Feed a grain ration containing 12 percent protein with good legume hay, 16 percent protein with good mixed hay, and 18 percent protein with non-legume roughage. Adjust grain ration to production—feed one pound for each two to four pounds of milk produced.

7. Feed to avoid summer slump—Summer decline in milk production is largely the result of inadequate feed. Permanent pastures seldom furnish enough feed more than a month. Cows on dry, short, or rough pastures must be given extra feed, such as temporary pasture, hay, grain, and silage.

8. Raise calves with less milk—Send more milk to market. Use home-mixed or approved calf meals to shorten the whole-milk feeding period. Start calves on grain and hay at two weeks of age.

The War Food Administration and the Dairy Industry Committee join in presenting this program to you—the dairy farmers of America—and in the assurance that the respective field forces of the Food Administration and the Dairy Industry will cooperate with you and assist you in planning your food production and utilization program toward the objective of more milk for wartime needs."

Local Man Buys Registered Jersey

A registered Jersey bull, has been purchased by Grant Maddox, of Florence, from John Peterson, of Loretto, Ky. The name of the animal is Carnation Design Prince 442767.

The whereabouts of all registered Jerseys is known and carefully watched over by The American Jersey Cattle Club, with offices in New York City. This important job is made possible thru registrations and transfers made by Jersey breeders everywhere. Tattoo identification, somewhat similar to fingerprinting, keeps individuals of this dairy breed always known.

Jerseys made up 42 percent of all dairy cows in the United States. Because they produce the world's richest milk, and because there are more Jerseys than any other breed in America, their role in National Defense is an important one. Increased production of Jersey milk guarantees the protective food needs of here and abroad.

Boyle county farmers, in addition to selling their full allotment of tobacco, sold several truckloads of plants to North Carolina and Tennessee counties where blue mold had caused heavy losses.

Series Of Meetings Completed In County

A series of meetings have just been completed in all communities in the county to complete reports of all farmers cooperating in the 1943 Agricultural Conservation program. Tobacco acreage, war crop acreage and soil-building practices that have been carried out from July 1, 1942 to date, are being reported. The committee stated that they want all of these reports turned in by September 1, 1943. Approximately 75 percent of the reports have been completed. Those who have not filed their reports are urged to do so at the county office at the earliest possible date.

Cooperators are being urged to try to earn all of their 1943 soil-building allowance if they have not already done so, by December 31, 1943. This may be done by: seeding winter hairy vetch, which is now available, as grant of aid. It is stored at Gulley & Pettit's, Burlington, and Walton & Readnour, Walton, Ky. It is necessary to obtain a delivery order at the county office before getting the vetch.

Rye grass and crimson clover may also be seeded and credit will be given on the 1943 program. Twenty percent phosphate is still available as grant of aid to apply on soil-conserving crops and limestone may be purchased and used on either soil-depleting or soil-conserving crops. Credit of $1.70 per ton will be given for the use of it.

Cooperators are urged to place their orders early for phosphate as the supply is limited.

If the 1943 soil-building allowance has been earned, orders will be accepted for phosphate and vetch, and the charge for the material will be taken from the 1944 soil-building allowance.

BERRY INVESTMENT PROFITS ARE LARGE

How an investment of $19.60 made approximately $526 in less than three years time is told by Farm Agent Joe Hurt of McCracken county. J. H. Bradford has long been interested in investigation and demonstration work on strawberry production. In the fall of 1940, he bought two tons of lime, 500 pounds of phosphate, seed for a cover crop and strawberry plants to set an acre, all of which cost him $19.60. He left half an acre untreated as a check plot.

The following spring, the same variety of certified strawberry plants were set, and the same practices used on both plots. Careful records showed that in 1942 Mr. Bradford harvested 289 crates of berries for approximately $347 from the treated land, and at the rate of 108 crates, or $120, from that which was not treated.

That fall, Mr. Bradford continued the demonstration by applying 600 pounds of superphosphate on half the treated acre, and 900 pounds of rock phosphate on the other half. Little difference was noted from the two kinds of phosphate used. But from the treated land, 105 crates of berries were picked, and from the untreated plot at the rate of 40 crates per acre. Mr. Bradford stated that the use of phosphate and humus on one acre netted him at least $526 more than if the land had not been treated.

Seed Grain Scarce

Wheat, rye and barley seed are very difficult to get, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Farmers who have seed grains of good quality are urged to save them for seed. Farmers who expect to buy these seeds should do so immediately. All cultivated land should be seeded to a winter cover crop at the earliest possible date. Don't delay in getting your seeds and be disappointed.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. LINA GREENUP

Inasmuch as it has pleased the Almighty God to remove from our midst our dearly beloved sister, that we still, after these several months miss her presence among us and that her loving kindness will always be remembered.

Be it resolved that our society has lost a useful member.

Be it further resolved that the family and friends have lost a loving wife, mother and friend.

We resolve that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy to be printed in The Recorder and a copy be spread on our records.

PRECINCT QUOTAS SET FOR COUNTY

IN THIRD WAR LOAN DRIVE BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 9—CHAIRMEN HOLD MEETING TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR DRIVE.

Precinct quotas for the Third War Loan Drive beginning September 9th to raise $732,900.00 in Boone County, according to the assessed value of property in each precinct are as follows:

Beaver	$ 28,256.36
Belleview	28,887.80
Bullittsville-Hebron	65,185.94
Burlington	100,383.19
Carlton	26,259.09
Constance	40,948.01
Florence	165,152.66
Hamilton	24,388,93
Petersburg	40,263.59
Union	59,465.38
Verona	36,161.15
Walton	117,547.90

The precinct chairmen and some of the workers met at the court house in Burlington Tuesday night to discuss plans for the drive and to receive literature.

This is the largest financial undertaking ever attempted in Boone County and it will take the unlimited efforts of everyone to reach this quota.

Do not wait for these workers to call on you as they have a big job on their hands. It is your patriotic duty to volunteer your services to help raise this quota. You may not be able to fight but you can work in this drive.

You are not being asked to give anything. You are asked to lend your money to your government at a good rate of interest.

Our soldiers are risking their lives at a small monthly pay while we at home are taking no risk and and going ahead with our private affairs, with more income from high prices than has happened in twenty years. Think about this!

Golden Wedding Observed By Former Boone Countians

Mr. and Mrs. Ryle Ewbank and family, of Warsaw, Ky., R. 1, entertained Sunday, August 29th, at their home in Steeles Bottom in honor of Mrs. Ewbank's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gaines, it being their golden wedding anniversary.

About fifty relatives and former neighbors of Boone County were present for this happy celebration.

LLOYD SOCIETY TO MEET

The regular monthly all-day meeting of the Lloyd Memorial Society will be held at the Lloyd Home Saturday, Sept. 4th, in celebration of Old Schoolmates Day.

Leland Ryle, who has been spending the summer months with his parents, Dr. K. W. Ryle and wife, left Tuesday morning for Atlanta, Ga., to attend Georgia Military Academy.

CELEBRATION IS ANNOUNCED

BY ST. PATRICK CHURCH, VERONA—HOME COMING DAY SET FOR SEPTEMBER 6TH—CHICKEN DINNER TO BE SERVED.

Labor Day will serve as a late summer homecoming reunion event for members and friends of St. Patrick Church, Verona, and the affiliated All Saints Mission at Walton, Ky., when the traditional holiday celebration is conducted on the Verona church grounds. Edward H. Walton, Covington and Walton attorney who is general chairman, said that many delegations from Covington, Newport, Fort Thomas and Ludlow plan to join in the festivities, Monday, September 6th.

There will be a chicken dinner served country style from noon until night by women of the Verona parish. This menu will be "with all of the trimmings" and reunion guests are assured of plenty to eat.

The midway will have entertainment attractions for young and old.

The Rev. John T. Jobst, pastor of the church said that 70 years history of the parish will be commemorated.

Tribute to sons of the parish and the mission serving in the armed forces will be paid during the afternoon.

Electric Wiring Materials Limited

The supply of electric wiring materials available for farm repairs and extensions in the county that can be approved has been limited to 75 pounds of copper per quarter or three months period, according to the Boone County USDA War Board.

This is a drastic cut in farm electric wire material that had previously been approved by the board under priority ratings and will make it more difficult to secure copper wire materials. The board advises that dairy and poultry needs will receive first calls on allotments that are made available. No approval can be given for purchasing copper wiring for farm homes.

Walton Boy Will Coach At Kavanaugh High

Gene Fox Demoisey, Walton, Ky., has been named athletic coach at Kavanaugh High School, Lawrenceburg, Ky. Demoisey graduated from Highland High School, Ft. Thomas in 1938 and completed his college education at Eastern State Teachers College, Richmond, this summer. He served as assistant basketball coach at Eastern last year.

Demoisey fills the vacancy of Ralph Carlisle who resigned to go to Highland High School, Fort Thomas.

LOCAL WOMEN HELP WITH FARM LABOR

VERONA WOMAN AND DAUGHTER MENTIONED OVER WHAS, LOUISVILLE BY MISS MYRTLE WELDON.

Mrs. Walter King, of Verona and her daughter Mildred were mentioned by Miss Myrtle Weldon, State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents, and State Chairman of the Woman's Farm Labor Program and Woman's Land Army, in a broadcast over WHAS, Louisville, last Saturday, August 28th.

Miss Weldon was reporting on the contribution of farm women to the labor program during this summer. She spoke of the value of the Women's Land Army, and gave as the purpose of this movement the following points: Opportunity to recognize the farm women for what they are doing in the war effort; to secure a record of this work; to make the official uniform which is purposely designed and constructed for farm work available to farm women; and to dignify farm labor which has in times past been frowned upon as an activity for women.

To qualify for WLA membership a woman must spend at least 30 days, or the equivalent in hours, during this year doing farm labor. Many women are eligible for membership in the Woman's Land Army but have not seen reason to enlist and make a record of the work they do. Mrs. Walter King, of Verona is not a member of the WLA, but as far as time and work is concerned she is qualified. Miss Weldon cited Mrs. King for her contribution to farm labor stating that although Mrs. King was not raised on a farm she had not hesitated to do the work that was necessary during the labor shortage. Mrs. King and Mildred work from six to eight hours a day during busy seasons of the year and assisted with the hay harvest, the tobacco crop, the dairy, and miscellaneous activities, as a sideline. She has done her own homemaking jobs, and has been active with community activities. She is a local 4-H Club leader.

At the same time that this record was submitted by Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, the record of Mrs. Vernon Pope at Burlington was also submitted. Both of these women have done their bit to relieve the labor shortage on their own farms. The agent is anxious to have records of other work which has been done.

JAMES COLLETT'S BOND SET AT $2500

James Collett, 29, of Covington, was held for Boone County grand jury action under $2500 bond on a charge of manslaughter in Boone County Court, Friday.

Miss Martha Kimberlin, Union girl was taken into custody after the accident on Dixie Highway, near Florence August 17, when a car in which she was an occupant struck into a group of youth, injuring five and killing one, Gilbert Tombragel Jr., 29 McAlpin Ave., Erlanger.

Following the accident Miss Kimberlin was found seated in the driver's seat of the car which had rolled about 100 feet down a grade after hitting the youth who were waiting for a north-bound bus.

After being questioned she stated she had never driven a car before and was bringing the car home for a friend.

Miss Kimberlin changed her story after being held in Burlington jail for a week, charging Collett as being the driver of the car that killed the Tombragel boy.

Judge Cropper said she told him after the accident Collett said to her, "You take the rap, I have dependents and it will go easier with you. I'll stand behind you."

Miss Kimberlin charges that Collett left the scene of the accident by "sneaking" around the side of a house near where car came to a stop.

After the hearing Friday at which time the defense presented seven witnesses, most of them members of the family, Miss Kimberlin was released under $100 bond as a material witness for the trial which will be heard when the grand jury convenes on December 13.

Collett's main defense was that he was home at the time while Miss Kimberlin and five witnesses for the commonwealth testified that she couldn't drive a car. The commonwealth attorney bore her out in this statement.

Mrs. Mary Rowland

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Monday in the Taliaferro funeral home, Erlanger, for Mrs. Mary Rowland, who died early Saturday at her home, Cincinnati. Burial was in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Erlanger.

Mrs. Rowland is survived by her husband, Simeon Rowland; three sons Blaine Shepherd, Charter Oak Road, Kenton County, Jasper Rowland, Newport and Ernest Rowland, Cincinnati; and one daughter, Mrs. Ida Stevenson, Newport.

Philip Taliaferro was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Smith-Prabel

Miss Veola Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith of Hanna Ave., became the bride last Saturday evening of Staff Sergeant Harold Prabel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prabel, of Constance, Ky. The ceremony was performed by Dr. John Taylor Alton, in Westwood Methodist Church, before an altar brilliantly illuminated with Cathedral tapers. A musical program by Mrs. Ruth Weber Shaffer, church organist and Mrs. Albertine Potts, vocalist, preceded the nuptial service.

The stirring notes of Lohengrin's Wedding March heralded the arrival of the wedding procession headed by the ushers, Harvey Tharp, Carl Holder and James Kopf. Immediately following were the bridesmaids, Misses Lillian Holder and Thelma Schmar gowned in models of pink satin and maline, and Miss Betty Scott, maid of honor in a blue ensemble. Bouquets of roses, intermingled with blue delphinium formed their bouquets.

The groom and his attendants, Mr. Ralph Prabel and Cpl. Charles Foftner of the Marine Corps, together with the officiating clergyman, awaited the bridal party at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was gowned in an ivory tinted model, with which she wore a fingertip veil of illusion. Her gown, form-fitting, was patterned with long toro and ended in a long train. A round bouquet of white roses, bound with satin ribbon, completed her wedding ensemble.

Staff Sgt. Prabel who entered service in June, 1941 and his bride are residing in Columbus, O., where the former is stationed at Lockburn Air Base.

Monday Is Legal Holiday

Next Monday is Labor Day and a legal holiday. Banks of the county will be closed on that day, it was announced this week.

Correspondents of this paper are requested to mail their items to us one day earlier, in order that they reach us in time for publication. The Recorder office will be open all day Monday.

Advertisers and others desiring items in the next issue are requested to mail same early, due to Monday being a holiday.

It Pays To Feed Good Cows, Says Perkinson

Condition cows for freshening—eight weeks rest leads to greater milk production. Burned up pasture is not enough for cows during the rest period, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent. The dry cow should have good pasture or hay and from 2 pounds to 4 pounds of grain daily, depending on condition.

With corn hard to get many dairymen have started using government wheat as the major grain in their ration. This wheat should be coarsely ground and mixed with some bulky feed like distillers grains. Government wheat can be bought at the Lawrenceburg Flour Mill, Lawrenceburg, Ind., at $1.12 per bushel. The above price does not include hauling and sacks. Farmers planning to feed wheat should buy now as the supply may soon be limited.

Feed good roughage liberally to your milk herd. It is the natural feed for the cow, also the cheapest food. Cows can't eat too much. The more good roughage a cow eats the less grain she will need to produce up to the limit of her inherent ability.

Feed your cows according to production. It pays to feed good cows even at the present price of feed. Try to get the larger part of the ration from good roughage, (pasture hay and silage), and feed just enough grain to keep the cow milking at her best and in good condition.

Convict Is Recaptured At Walton August 30

One of the seven convicts who escaped from the State Reformatory, Lagrange, Ky., August 29 has been recaptured. He was found aboard a Louisville & Nashville freight train at Walton.

Warden James Hammond, listed the man as Lee Collins of Perry County and said he had been serving a two-year sentence from Jefferson County for grand larceny.

Mrs. Katie Riggs, of Rising Sun, has returned to her home after spending three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Alf Wingate of Connersville. Mrs. Riggs accompanied Mr. and Wingate home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wingate's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Press West and Mr. Wingate's brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wingate and Jack Wingate.

MINSTREL SHOW SCHEDULED FRI.

BOONE COUNTY SCHOOL BAND WILL GIVE FIRST INSTALLMENT OF SHOWBOAT AT BURLINGTON.

The first installment of the "Showboat" a minstrel given by the combined bands of Burlington, Hebron and Florence, under the direction of Dean Bloss, will be held at the Burlington school auditorium, Friday night, September 3rd at 8:30 p. m.

This show promises entertainment of the highest type—a program arranged to please everyone attending. For those who like music there is a wide variety of vocal and instrumental numbers. In addition to musical numbers, "And The Villian Still Pursued Her" a blackface comedy in real minstrel style will be a feature of the evening's performance.

Final rehearsals give us reason to predict a real night of music and nonsense.

Tickets are now on sale by P.-T. A. members and will be sold at the door on the night of the performance.

The public is cordially invited to attend this entertainment.

RATION BOOK 3 TO BE USED SEPT. 12

FOR PURCHASE OF MEATS, FATS, OILS, AND RATIONED DAIRY PRODUCTS—VALIDITY DATES GIVEN.

R. E. Brugh, chairman of the Boone County War Price and Rationing Board, today announced that brown ration stamps in war Ration Book Three will be used by consumers to purchase rationed meats, fats, oil and rationed dairy products beginning September 12.

War Ration Book Three, a replacement book containing ration currency to be used as the stamps in current ration books run out, was distributed earlier in the summer by mail.

The validity dates for the new brown stamps are as follows:

A (16) points) Sept. 12 through October 2.

B (16 points) September 19 thru October 2.

C (16 points) Sept. 26 through October 30.

D (16 points) October 3 through October 30.

E (16 points) October 10 through October 3.

F (16 points) October 17 through October 30.

The last three red stamps in Book Two also remain valid thru October 2. Red stamp X became valid on August 22, Stamp Y was valid August 29, and stamp Z on September 5.

As in the past ,stamps will become valid on successive Sundays, but hereafter, they will always expire on Saturday nearest the end of a month. This will give consumers and the trade the advantage of knowing the day of the week on which the meats-fats stamps will always expire, and will permit them to plan accordingly.

Between September 12 when the first series of brown stamps becomes valid and October 2 when the final sets of red stamps expire, both red and brown stamps will be used for purchases. After October 2, only the brown stamps in War Ration Book Three will be used for purchases of meats, fats and rationed dairy products.

The brown stamps in War Book Three are similar in size and have the same point value as the familiar red stamps of War Book Two.

R. E. Brugh also reminded any persons who have not received Book Three and who have not already applied since Aug. 1, that they may still apply at the local board. Members of the armed services who used stamps should obtain an application from the commanding officer, fill it out and mail to OPA Mailing Center, Chicago, Ill., before August 31.

Cress-Bullock

The home of Rev. H. M. Hauter was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday, August 28th, when Miss Elizabeth D. Cress was united in marriage to Mr. James G. Bullock, son of Mrs. Mamie Bullock and the late James I. Bullock, of Hebron.

The bride was lovely in a light blue flannel dress and matching hat and wearing a corsage of gardinias. The groom wore a palm beach suit.

The bride chose as her only attendant. her sister, Mrs. Charles Viel, who wore a navy blue suit with matching hat, and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The groom chose as his best man, his brother, Mr. Frank Bullock.

After a brief honeymoon in Indiana, the young couple will make their home at Hebron, Ky.

Bells Will Ring In County To Open Third War Loan Sept. 9th

It was decided upon by the 3rd War Loan Committee of Boone County to have every available bell, siren or other similar device, rung or sounded at 9:00 o'clock A. M., (Eastern War Time), on September 9th, 1943 for two minutes to announce the opening of the 3rd War Loan, launch to back the attack. If you have a bell or are connected with an organization or group that does have one, contact your local committeeman or your local banker, and help make this an opening of a campaign never to be forgotten.

FINE TOBACCO BEING HOUSED

BY BOONE COUNTY FARMERS—GROWERS POINT OUT THAT QUALITY OF MANY CROPS DEPENDS ON BARN.

Large numbers of Boone County farmers are harvesting one of the finest tobacco crops in years, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Excellent cutting and curing weather has been encountered to date.

A review of the present growing season gives the following important lessons:

1. Fertile land is of utmost importance in the quick growth and uniform ripening needed for a good crop. Land on which vetch and a small grain crop were turned under, a heavy application of manure and phosphate made broadcast and a heavy application of complete fertilizer in the row has given the largest yields of high quality tobacco. These crops grow right on through dry weather without serious injury.

2. Root rot seems to be getting worse and the use of root rot resisting varieties is the only known solution to this disease. Fusarium wilt resistant varieties should be used on river bottom land, infected with wilt.

3. Plant bed treatment with Bordeaux mixture is of great importance to control leaf diseases in the field and to save the flyings and lower trash leaves. An excellent example of this was seen the past week on the farm of Warren and Ewing Flick at Grant.

4. Cut the tobacco when it is ripe and handle it with care. If the lower leaves begin to waste before they are ripe they should be primed or pulled and tied up according to the college leaflet available at the office. Many farmers in the county are priming tobacco this year for the first time.

Leading growers point out that the quality of many crops is often made or destroyed in the barn. The tobacco crop is always subject to a state of change until it is sold on the market.

Wheat Goal For County Set At 1,640 Acres

The Boone County USDA War Board has been asked to see that the 1944 wheat acreage is increased. Boone County has been given a wheat goal of 1640 acres. It is believed that this goal can be reached by farmers and still follow good farm management practices. It is not thought necessary to plow land for wheat in any area where such practice was not a normal one.

The goal would be exceeded if all acreage of row crops was seeded with wheat for grain, the wheat also serving as a cover crop and as a nurse crop for legumes and grasses.

The goal for Kentucky is 455,000 acres and 68,000,000 acres for the nation.

SCHOOL WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 13TH

HOURS WILL BE SAME AS LAST YEAR—LIST OF TEACHERS ANNOUNCED BY SUPT. D. H. NORRIS.

Boone County schools will open Monday, September 13th, according to D. H. Norris, Superintendent of Boone County. The following teachers will have charge of the various schools:

There are some places which have not been filled, and in the filling of these places it may be necessary to transfer a few teachers from the above assignments.

The hour of opening will be the same as last year which will be 10:00 a. m. Eastern War Time.

Sheep Organization Directors Hold Meeting

The Boone County Sheep Protective Association directors met at Burlington last Saturday afternoon, August 28, to approve losses incurred from dogs by members during the past year. Payment for members will be made at the annual meeting held at Burlington the first Saturday in September at 2:00 p. m.

Losses the past year were the heaviest on record, according to H. E. White, president of the association. The directors ordered all claims paid in full which involved going into the strong reserve built up during the past five years of operation. All sheepmen in the county are invited to attend the annual meeting at Burlington next Saturday.

The Burlington P.-T. A. will hold its regular meeting at the Burlington school, Thursday at 8:30 p. m. All members are urged to attend.

FEED PRODUCTION BIGGEST PROBLEM

OF COUNTY LIVESTOCK GROWERS—FARMERS SHOULD LOOK FORWARD TO LATE FALL, WINTER, SPRING PASTURE.

Feed production is becoming more and more Boone County's biggest war-time livestock production problem, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The problem is becoming so serious that many livestock producers must give serious consideration to the adjustment of their operations.

The county normally is a deficit hay and corn producing area. Livestock production is adjusted to the pasture carrying capacity of the land. Because of the present feed situation, feeding practices must be changed so as to make greater uses of the pasture, hay and roughage crops produced and less need for grain.

The most important thing that the average farmer can do right now is to look forward to late fall, winter and early spring pasture. Small grain is one of the most important aids toward meeting this situation. Every acre of land possible that was cultivated this year should be seeded to small grain and should be seeded where the same land is to be cultivated next year. Plenty of feed is the foundation of successful livestock operations.

Record war wages paid with tax and bond dollars have created an inflated standard of living not based on true values. Eventually such wages must fall, either in purchasing power or in the number of dollars received. When that happens, the counteracting force will be efficient, low-cost production and distribution of necessities. In the future it should be a matter of public policy to encourage industry in every legitimate way.

It has long been highly popular for aspiring politicians to attack mere size or efficiency in business as detrimental to competition. In the field of retail distribution, the chain stores have been favorite legislative targets. Punitive tax laws were passed against them in many states, not so much to raise revenue as to limit their operating efficiency. This subsidized inefficiency at the expense of the consumer. Such laws are in direct conflict with the battle against inflation, because they increase operating costs.

As one chain spokesman observes: "Chains are justly proud of their contribution to economical, efficient distribution. In reducing the cost of doing business and extending better service to the public, chains are not motivated by a desire to cripple competitors. They set an example for able distributors to follow in improving their own business methods and service to customers. Chains recognize that in a democracy the people should have available all types of outlets and all varieties of service they require. Nothing should be done under the sponsorship of government to hamper the opportunities of any form of retailing to continue in existence so long as it is accepted by the public."

LABOR BOSSES NOT NEEDED

United States Senator Rufus C. Hoyman has called on the Senate Committee on Education and Labor to amend the National Labor Relations Act and protect the American laborer from "exploitation." He has denounced the Act as responsible for force, violence, intimidation, and racketeering and says it should be amended to "save the good features of it and yet reform the mischief-making provisions contained in it.

"The National Labor Relations Act as it now reads and is administered, permits and encourages racketeering of a most vicious and unAmerican character.

"By means of force and violence, citizens—both employes and employers—are intimidated by legalized gangsters, so that many good American citizens no longer are permitted to engage in free enterprise either by use of their labor or capital.

"All this is wrong and immoral, in my opinion, and it is my honest hope that the committee will promptly offer the reformatory amendments which the existing chaotic and unAmerican situation demands. The present law, in effects, set by labor-bosses or strikemasters or racketeers who are parasites on the earnings of the workers and an effective force in regulating the freedom and liberty of American citizens."

The Senator raises an issue which must be settled fairly for employes as well as employers if freedom of opportunity and liberty for the individual survive in this nation.

DO WE APPRECIATE RAIROADS?

And talking about railroads, the Albia, Iowa, News says:

"No matter how we may be thinking about aviation, automobiles and merchant marine, without the railroads this nation's transportation breaks down utterly.

". . . If you . . . will take time off to observe for yourself what these railroads are doing to move troops and freight in this war era you will come to a new appreciation of the importance of the American railroads. You will come to an understanding of how utterly futile would be all other efforts were the railroads to break down in this time of emergency.

"The railroads have lost manpower to the selective service, and have . . . been smacked hard by priorities and the lack of essential materials. There isn't a problem affecting other business that hasn't affected the railroads more. They have done and are doing the impossible—handling a multiplied volume with a diminishing equipment.

"Has railroad management bawled, and squalled . . . ? Have railroad people grumbled, growled and quit? Has the Congress of the United States had to take time off to investigate the railroads Has there been any quibbling and fussing at any time about whether the railroads would make good? Have the railroads asked for subsidies or any special favors?

"They are distressed by floods and bad weather . . . They work day and night, seven days every week. They maintain their own equipment and their own highways.

"Yet, without fuss, praise, or medals, they trahsport millions of troops and tens of millions of tons of freight . . . whatever the armed forces require . . . and whatever the people on the home front must have. While the rest of us stand in public and demand our rights, the railroads stay where they belong and do their job."

—o—

NONSENSE MUST CEASE

One effective weapon against inflation is greater production of consumer goods. Taxes and bonds can never be made to absorb all of the war inflated earnings of the people. Moreover, it is becoming evident that price ceilings are a limited success. Therefore, to help maintain stability there must be sufficient production of necessities to furnish an outlet for consumers' dollars. If there is no such purchasing power outlet and wages continue to spiral upward, accompanied by astronomical government borrowing, the inevitable result will be more and more inflation.

Civilian production should not be cured any more than is absolutely necessary to armament demands. The nonsense of artificial restrictions on production merely to make the people realize they are at war, must cease. Lengthening casualty lists carry their own tragic story.

In addition to stepping up production, the reams of red tape entangling retail distribution must be removed. Rationing and price regulations must be simplified. Attempts to stop inflation by bludgeoning retail prices back to lower levels, regardless of costs should be abandoned before the distribution industry is demoralized.

If the "get tough" theorists persist in hunting for excuses to curtail production and distribution, instead of hunting for means to achieve greater production and more efficient distribution, the country will have not only inflation but thousands of crippled indecrees from swivel chairs to coable to sit in Washington issuing dtcrees from swivel chairs to cooperatives, organized retailers, the price fixers will be forced to chase up and down the back alleys of the nation in a vain attempt to catch black market operators.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

ISRAEL CALLED TO BE A HOLY PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Leviticus 19:1-4, 11-18, 33-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye holy; for I am holy.—I Peter 1:16.

Labor Day, 1943, with a war-torn world, finds us facing a social order deeply divided regarding the rights and wrongs of the relationship between man and man, especially capital and labor.

For these many years we have talked of a planned economy where kindness and justice shall control all dealings of man with his fellow man. But to accomplish such a result apart from the hand of God to guide and restrain, has proved to be impossible.

Selfishness and sin control too much of the thought and action of our world. We need to be reminded, as was Israel in our lesson, that God has called us to be a holy people. His holiness is not just something of which one sings in a hymn or talks in a sermon. It means among other things, real social justice.

God has always stood for social righteousness. The underlying moral law of the universe demands it, and the law of God as revealed to His people developed and implemented it for successful functioning, were we only wise enough to see and follow it.

It is time that all God's people emphasize God's moral principles in the life of society. Never forgetting that its first business is to preach the redeeming gospel of Christ, the church ought also to make its influence felt for social righteousness.

Our lesson speaks first of the foundational matter in all social justice, namely:

I. Holiness of Heart Before God (Lev. 19:1-4).

Because God is holy, His people were to be holy. It was not a matter of choice or impulse. They belonged to a holy God, they were to be a holy people.

There is an idea current in the church today which has served Satan well, namely, that holiness of life is something which is not required; that it is expected only of a few folk who are spiritually minded, and that the other professed followers of Christ may go on living a worldly, careless, powerless life. It is the devil's own lie. God expects every Christian to be holy.

Such rightness with God shows itself in a rightness with others, which we note as our second point:

II. Holiness of Life Before Men (Lev. 19:11-18, 32-34).

How intensely practical and workable in daily experience were the laws here given to Israel. They are just as apropos to our present day.

1. Honesty (vv. 11-13). No stealing, no perjury, no lying, no oppression, no withholding of wages, none of these could be tolerated, for they dishonored God's name. Think what the elimination of dishonesty in dealing between men would accomplish. Most of our social problems would be solved overnight. Merchants would do well to read verses 35 and 36 in this connection.

2. Kindness (v. 14). The deaf cannot hear what we say about them, nor can the blind see what we do. But the eternal God hears and sees, and He expects us to be kind to them.

3. Fairness (vv. 15, 16). Some assume that a man must be right because he is rich. Others are equally sure that the poor are always worthy of special consideration.

Note the condemnation of the talebearer. Every gossip who reads these words knows that God condemns that evil practice. Nor does He countenance indifference to the welfare of others. Their blood cries out to Him for deliverance (v. 16).

4. Love (vv. 17, 18). "Love thy neighbor as thyself." That is the standard. How much have we done to meet it?

A rebuke may be necessary, but love will not permit grudges, or the seeking of vengeance, even when we have been wronged.

5. Respect (vv. 3, 32). God's Word always stresses the need of a right attitude toward parents. Children need to learn anew the lesson of verse 3.

Then there are the aged (v. 32). Old age pensions doubtless have their place in our complex social order, but perhaps they would not be needed if men and women honored the hoary head and the face of an old man.

A pension does not take the place of honor and love for the aged, even though it may pay the bills. God has high standards.

6. Consideration (vv. 33, 34). The man who knows God will not be party to taking advantage of a stranger. He remembers that he too has been a stranger. To meet with loving kindness and tender care when one is in a strange place should inspire one to go and do likewise.

Proclamation

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES

Proclamation

RECOGNIZING THE FACT that in carrying the war into enemy territory, we shall need greater amounts of money than any nation has ever asked from its citizens in all history, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do officially proclaim that on Thursday, the ninth of September, 1943, the Third War Loan shall be launched.

As Commander-in-Chief, I hereby invoke every citizen to give all possible aid and support to this Third War Loan drive, not only so that our financial goal may be reached, but to encourage and inspire those of our husbands and fathers and sons who are under fire on a dozen fronts all over the world. It is my earnest hope that every American will realize that in buying War Bonds in this Third War Loan he has an opportunity to express voluntarily and under the guidance of his conscience, the extent to which he will "back the attack."

The American people supported well the first and second War Loan drives and in fact did even more than was asked of them. Our need for money now is greater than ever, and will continue to grow until the very day that Victory is won; so we must ask far more sacrifice, far more cooperation than ever before.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington, this twenty-sixth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-three, and of the Independence [SEAL] of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-eighth.

By the President:
CORDELL HULL
Secretary of State.

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

Fort Benning, Ga.—James Lewis Aylor, of Petersburg, Ky., was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army of the United States today upon successful completion of the Officer Candidate Course at The Infantry School at Fort Benning. Lt. Aylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Aylor, of Petersburg, Ky.

The new lieutenant enlisted in the army on August 22, 1940 and served with the Tenth Infantry before going to Officer Candidate School three months ago. He held the rank of Corporal before being commissioned.

The new officer is a graduate of Hamilton High School where he was prominent as an athlete.

At The Infantry School, world's largest institution of its kind, the local officer took a three months' course to fit him for his new responsibilities. The course covers the technique of handling all the varied modern infantry weapons, the tactics of leading small infantry units in combat. It also includes study of many varied subjects which future officers must know along the lines of administration, military law, etc.

The men who attend the Officer Candidate Schools are the best privates, corporals and sergeants from the entire army, selected by their superiors for outstanding intelligence and qualities of leadership. During the course even the mildly incapable are weeded out, so that the men who graduate with commissions are America's finest soldiers, fully qualified to be the leaders in our new army.

Pvt. Jack D. Rector writes: "I am writing to thank you for sending me The Recorder. It is just like a letter from home and I get to know where all the boys from the county are located. . . . I have been sent back to Camp Carson, Colo., from Louisiana and wish you would change my address to Pvt. Jack D. Rector 237 Eng. (C) Bn., Camp Carson, Colo."

This office was pleasantly surprised last week to receive a very rare souvenir from our good friend and buddy, Everett Cress, who is stationed somewhere in the Pacific and has spent considerable time on Guadalcanal.

This souvenir was autographed by Everett and even though it is small its value to us is far beyond words of gratitude, and we are having this souvenir framed behind glass and will soon be on display at The Recorder office so that everyone can see it.

We are having the glass frame made large enough that it will accommodate many such trinkets as the boys may wish to send back to us to be put on display in this office.

Everyone back here enjoys these souvenirs and we feel that they will be of great value.

Any kind of souvenir that you fellows may have that you would like to send in, please do so, with your autograph and whatever message you may want to send and we will see that they are preserved and displayed in such a manner that all will be able to enjoy them.

The following letter was received recently Pvt. Robert A. Zimmerman, 438th Fighter Sqd., 53rd Fighter Group, Page Field, Ft. Myers, Florida:

"I am dropping you a few lines to thank you for sending me The Recorder every week. I really enjoy reading it, and from the letters written by other fellows in the service, they really enjoy reading it too. I receive the paper when it is only three days old.

"I receive a letter from my family or some of my friends just about every day, and that sure means a lot to me, and I try to write them every day in return.

"I am in the Medical Corps, attached to the Air Corps, and it is real interesting work. I had six weeks of schooling in Venice, Fla., and am back with my outfit now.

"My sister and girl friend Miss Mary Ella Zimmerman and Miss Kathleen Hutton were down to see me a couple of weeks ago. I really enjoyed their company, and I think they had a good time down here, enjoying their trip very much.

"I want to say thanks again for sending me The Boone County Recorder, and I am sure the rest of the fellows in the service enjoy The Recorder as much as I do.

"Tell all my friends I said hello, and write to me, because letters from home sure means a lot to us soldiers."

Pvt. Martin Kennedy, Jr., recently spent a nine day furlough with his wife, Mrs. Martin Kennedy, Jr., (nee Ilene Taylor) and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mart Kennedy of Hebron.

Pvt. Kennedy wants to thank everyone for their nice letters and the copy of The Boone County Recorder that he receives every week.

He returned to Camp McCain, Miss., where he is now stationed. He has been stationed at this camp for the last six months where he has received his basic training.

For those who wish to write to Pvt. Kennedy and he would like to hear from everyone, his address is: Pvt. Martin Kennedy, Jr., H. O. Co. 3rd Bn., 345th Inf. APO 448, ASN 35685012, Camp McCain, Miss.

Robert A. Scott, of Gardner Field, Taft, Calif., writes: "I received two copies of The Recorder and certainly was glad to get them. I sure do enjoy the paper. After I read it through I gave it to some of the boys here, although there are none from Boone County.

. . . I have been working on airplanes for the past two years and like it fine. . . . California is a nice place, but not as good as Kentucky. . . . Tell all hello for me."

Clyde E. King, 19, fireman 1-c son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Zinermon, Kentaboo Drive, Florence, Ky., has completed basic training at the Submarine School, Submarine Base New London, Conn., for duty with our growing fleet of underseas fighters.

Fireman King will be entitled to wear the twin dolphin insignia of the submarine service after further experience aboard a submarine during which he must demonstrate to his commanding officer that he is fully qualified to carry out the duties of his rate. The insignia is regarded as a mark of distinction throughout the Navy.

King attended Florence High, lettering in basketball and football. He entered the naval service last October, had recruit instruction at Great Lakes, Ill. naval training station and duty aboard battleship. "Fewer crew members, good teamwork and a chance for intimates to make friends easier," he said, "are some of the advantages in the submarine service, "aside from important technical responsibilities, better pay and promotion."

The Submarine School, the only one of its kind in the Navy, is attended by a picked group of men who must pass special physical, mental, and psychological tests.

The school work takes place not only in classrooms and laboratories but also in numerous training submarines in which students master the actual techniques of operating the powerful fighting craft.

Many students at Submarine School already have seen battle as members of surface ship crews before volunteering for submarine duty. Others are fresh from training stations, but all graduates are sure of action once they are assigned to a submarine due for offensive patrol. Large numbers of recent students now are serving in submarines which have sunk enemy naval or merchant vessels.

MILK

FOR VICTORY

The Cincinnati Milk Shed needs increased supplies of fresh milk daily to care for Defense, Military and Civilian demands.

This is a good time to weed out boarders and introduce a few choice heavy producers into the herd.

We carry a large number of T B and Blood Tested Holsteins and Guernseys at all times from which selection can be made.

Priced within reason.

If financial aid is necessary for the purchase of cows get in touch with the Productive Credit Association, who will gladly make loans to responsible parties.

Ration Reminder

Gasoline—In 17 states of eastern shortage area A-6 coupons are now valid. In states outside the eastern shortage area A-7 coupons are valid through September 21. B and C coupons expire according to dates on individual books. All gasoline coupons in the possession of car owners must be endorsed with the owner's license number and state of registration.

Fuel Oil—Period 5 coupons in old rations remain valid through September 30. Period 1 coupons in new rations are valid now. Occupants of oil heated homes are urged to return their applications for next year's fuel oil to their ration boards promptly and when issued new rations to place orders with their dealers for summer fill-ups.

Sugar—Stamp No. 14 good for five pounds through October. Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 are good for 5 lbs. each for home canning purposes through October 31. Housewives may apply to their local ration boards for more if necessary.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 (1 pair) is valid through October 31.

Stoves—Consumer purchases of rationed stoves must be made with a certificate obtained at local war price and rationing boards.

Meat, Etc.—Red stamps X and Y valid through October 2. Z becomes valid September 5, and remains valid through October 2.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps R, S and H remain valid through September 20. U, V and W become valid September 1 and remain valid through October 20.

Hershey Shows Order of Induction

"The selection of men needed for the armed forces and the deferment of men required for agriculture, war production and war supporting activities are much more difficult than in the days when we had ample men from which to choose," said Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, in a recent letter to local boards. He said, "Available men will be called for induction in the following order—(1) single men without dependents—(2) single men with collateral dependents—(3) married men without children—(4) men with children (nondeferrable activities and occupations)—(5) men with children."

Small Engines To Farmers

Distribution of about 37,000 air and liquid-cooled internal combustion engines of 20-horsepower and under will be controlled by county farm rationing committees. Preference rating certificates will be issued to farmers or operators of farm machinery for hire, based on the need for the engine in essential production of crops, livestock and livestock products, poultry and eggs, and bees. When the farmer receives such a preference rating certificate, he can take it to his local dealer and buy the engine.

Drops Bombs—Gathers Corn

When the B-24 Liberator Bomber, "Lemon Drop," of the U. S. Army Ninth Air Force came back from its mission of bombing Rumanian oil refineries at Ploesti, corn stalks were clinging to its bomb bay doors. The bombardier, Captain Herbert Light, Ames, Iowa observed—"Why back in Iowa you'd have to fly 25 feet off the ground to get above the corn tops. No risks involved in that. But when you're heading for a target in the Rumanian oil and corn country, you've go to tear along about six feet off the gound to skim the corn tops."

Some Boots Are Ration-Free

Certain kinds of rubber boots useful in farming and similar work but no longer being manufactured for general use have been released from rationing by a recent OPA amendment. All olive drab, clay, or khaki colored rubber boots, all over-the-shoe rubber boots and all light-weight ankle-fitting rubber boots which depend upon stretch at the ankle for fitting are included in the order. However, quantities will be small because dealers do not have complete stocks on hand.

To Help You Get Truck Tires

If you own a truck and have tire rationing certificates but cannot locate the proper tires within your county, you may apply to the nearest Motor Transport District Office of the Office of Defense Transportation for assistance, the ODT has reported.

Price Support For Sweet Potatoes

To encourage farmers to cure and store as much as possible of this year's expected crop of 81 million bushels of sweet potatoes, farmers will be assured a minimum of $1.50 per bushel for U. S. No. 1 or better grade cured sweet potatoes properly packed in bushel crates, baskets or hampers and offered during January, and $1.65 per bushel beginning February 1, 1944. Prices of U. S. Sweet potatoes containing not less than 75 percent No. 1 quality will be 15 cents per bushel less than the above prices. Farmers desiring information concerning the handling of sweet potatoes are requested to get in touch with their state or county agricultural war boards.

Farm Help From Latin America

A total of 57,489 workers from Mexico, Jamaica, and the Bahama Islands have come to this country for agricultural employment. Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, recently praised the ability of these workers and described their efforts as being of utmost importance to the production of food and fiber for war needs. Mexican Nationals have been employed in agriculture in 12 western states. Jamaicans and Bahamians have been employed largely in east coast states and in the middle west. The workers have come into this country to relieve farm labor shortages in critical areas. When the need for their services has passed, they will be returned to their home countries.

Peace To Repay For Lend-Lease

"The Congress in passing and extending to Lend-Lease Act made it plain that the United States wants no new war debts to jeopardize the coming peace." President Roosevelt declared in his letter transmitting to Congress the eleventh report on Lend-Lease operations for the period ended July 31, 1943. "Victory and a secure peace," the President added, "Are the only coin in which we can be repaid."

"Standing Room Only" on Trains

If you are planning to take a train trip over Labor Day, you probably will have to stand in the aisles, ODT officials say. Passenger trains throughout the U. S. continue to run heavily loaded, with standing in the aisles occurring frequently on some trains, particularly at week-ends.

Better Rubber For Recaps

Rationing restrictions on the use of grade "C" Camel Back for recapping have been removed, according to OPA. Grade "A" Camel Back, previously available for only the largest truck and bus tires, may now be obtained for recapping tires on all trucks and buses although it is still subject to rationing.

Tax Reports Due September 15

Many farmers will be among the 15 million Americans who are required to file a declaration of estimated income for 1943 and make a payment on that basis under the "pay-as-you-go" plan which became effective July 1, this year. September 15 is the date for filing declarations, except that farmers, if they wish, may wait until December 15, since they receive the bulk of their income in the fall. Generally speaking, all single persons earnings more than $2,700 a year from wages subject to withholding and all married couples earning more than $3,500 will be required to file declarations. In addition, individuals or couples with an income of $100 or more from sources other than wages are required to file, if their total income is such that they must pay an income tax. Individuals who are required to file an income tax return for 1942 and whose wages subject to withholding in 1943 will be less must also file.

Hog-Cholera Serum Output High

The serum used in combating hog cholera is now being made in record-breaking quantities, according to the Department of Agriculture. Output of the protective serum between July 1 and June 30, 1943, was 25 per cent above last year's high output. The current supply represents large-scale protection against hog cholera, the most formidable swine disease, for the vast number of hogs now being raised in the U. S.

Make the Most of Your Refrigerator in the War Against Waste

Follow These Pointers for Better Food Preservation

Unwrap fresh meat as soon as received from market and wipe with clean dry cloth but do not wash until ready to use. Wrap loosely in waxed paper (with ends open) and store in meat keeper or defrosting tray.

* * *

Wrap and freeze meat if you plan to keep it longer than two or three days.

* * *

Wrap fish and seafood in waxed paper and store in or directly beneath freezing unit. Use as quickly as possible.

* * *

Ground fresh meat should be wrapped and frozen if not to be used day of purchase. It spoils more rapidly because of finely divided fibres.

* * *

Store quick-frozen foods in freezing unit. Do not try to refreeze thawed foods.

* * *

Store eggs in moist-cold compartment or in covered dish to prevent loss of moisture and vitamins through porous shell. Do not wash eggs before storing as it removes natural protective coating.

Spread tender-skinned fruit on lower shelf of refrigerator to prevent bruising.

* * *

Do not wash or stem berries. Spread out on shallow dish or put in colander to prevent mold. Avoid bruising.

* * *

Wash, drain and place vegetables in crisper. Refrigerate as quickly as possible to prevent vitamin loss.

* * *

Never store bananas in refrigerator. They keep better at room temperature.

* * *

Never pour milk or cream back into bottles. Keep in covered jar or pitcher.

* * *

Keep opened cans of condensed or evaporated milk under refrigeration the same as fresh milk.

Keep butter in covered dish away from foods with strong odors.

* * *

Store cheese in covered container to prevent drying. A thin coat of butter on cut edge also helps.

* * *

Remove paper coverings from all foods, except frozen foods, before storing.

* * *

Keep leftovers and all liquids covered to protect flavor and vitamin content.

* * *

Wrapped bread and coffee in tight container will stay fresh longer if kept in refrigerator.

* * *

Always keep main food compartment at right temperature—40° is safest.

Why Be Old At 40?

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Do you have severe pains in the muscles of your legs?

Do you walk with toes pointed out?

Are you bedeviled by a thousand demons tearing at your back?

Do you hate to get up in the morning?

Do you experience foot pain when walking?

Can you be on your feet all day without fatigue?

Any or all of these conditions may indicate that one or more of the four arches of your feet are on the verge of collapse. There is rally no end of the trouble that such a condition could cause. Around the bones and muscles of your feet are numerous nerves, all of which are directly connected with the nerve center. Severe pains in your feet are transmitted to every part of your body.

What can you do about it?

For years men and women have withstood the aches and misery due to some foot condition and have always decided "There is nothing you can do about it."

Now Comes a Sure Way to Relief for many aches and pains due to faulty foot condition. You will be eager to rise each morning and meet the conditions of the new day. You will have the springy active step of a youngster of eighteen. You will not be old at forty! There is no secret to it. You don't have to take a long rest, nor a change of climate. You need only to be correctly fitted in a pair of surgical shoes. You may think this is a simple way to end all of pain and misery, you have been suffering for a good many years, but after all don't the simplest things in life bring the greatest joy?

Resolve today that you will pronounce the death sentence on the misery, aches and pains due to foot trouble.—Adv.

BUSES WILL BE CROWDED

Around Labor Day!

Postpone your trip, if you can . . .
saving more space for Servicemen and War Workers

Buses are sure to be crowded before and during the Labor Day week-end, so try to postpone travel that can wait a few days or weeks. A little later your trip will be more pleasant, less crowded — and you'll be doing a big favor for men and women in uniform, war workers and others who must travel now. By "spreading out" trips over the Fall months, travelers will help transportation do its vastly important wartime job.

LOYALTY

ON your vacation and business trips in the past—as well as at your neighborhood Service Station—you have been served often by loyal men in the Standard Oil uniform. They were loyal to you—they were loyal to us.

It was only natural that men in whom the quality of loyalty was inbred and cherished should respond in large numbers to the call of their country. Hundreds of these stanch and faithful men have exchanged their old Service uniforms for the new uniform of greater service to Uncle Sam.

Someday they will be coming back, their new job finished. You will find them still loyal to you when they return and change their uniforms again.

In the meantime other loyal men, who have been at their home posts, are upholding this service tradition under difficult and sometimes trying conditions.

Loyalty is that personal trait in individuals which makes a Company great—and wins wars.

RESERVE OF $476 REPORTED BY ASS'N

SHEEP PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OF BOONE COUNTY COMPLETES FIFTH SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The Boone County Sheep Protective Association completed its fifth successful year of operation with a net reserve of $476.76, according to J. W. Conley, Secretary-Treasurer of the association. The report was presented at the annual meeting held at Burlington on last Saturday afternoon, September 4th.

One hundred and seventeen of Boone County's three hundred and fifty sheep owners paid membership fees on 4382 sheep the past year. Seventeen different members suffered losses of a total of 78 sheep from dogs, with losses occuring on twenty-five different occasions. Losses the past year totalled $655.20 compared with only $488.00 in membership fees paid. The $167.20 association loss was paid out of the $643.96 reserve accumulated from previous years operations.

Sheep losses of members from dogs amounted to approximately 1.8 sheep per hundred head, the highest rate on record. Stray dogs or dogs owned by parties unknown accounted for most of the sheep killed.

The association considered the dog situation serious and urged that the sheriff be given full cooperation in the enforcement of the dog law and in the 100 percent collection of dog taxes. Practically all sheepmen are dog owners and dog lovers. However, the stray dog or dogs allowed to run unattended through the country are considered a menace and should be destroyed.

Directors for the 1943-44 year elected at the meeting Saturday were Charles B. Beall, Charles W. White, John T. Stephens, Lamar Congleton, Russell Sparks, John W. Conley, James G. Pennington, Walton Johnson and Hubert E. White. The Board of Directors met following the general meeting and elected Hubert E. White, president; James G. Pennington, vice president; and J. W. Conley, secretary-treasurer.

Boone County Soldier Reported Killed In Action

Technician Fifth Grade, Florian W. Scudder, son of Mrs. Flora Howell of near Union, Boone County, was reported among three Kentuckians killed in action, according to the War Department. He was reported to have been killed in the North African area.

No other information was available, concerning his death.

SHELLS AVAILABLE TO KY. HUNTERS

HUNTERS NEEDS WILL BE SUPPLIED AFTER FARMERS' NEEDS HAVE BEEN FILLED, IS WORD FROM DIVISION.

Kentucky hunters who had been wondering whether they were going to be able to buy shotgun shells for the coming rabbit and quail season, have their fears allayed, according to a statement received by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, from the War Production Board.

In an announcement from Washington, the WPB made additional rifle and shotgun ammunition available to farmers for use against "predatory animals and game birds now threatening crops and herds in certain parts of the country" and made provision for hunters to buy ammunition after farmers' needs had been filled.

Farmers and ranchers who apply to dealers before Oct. 1 will be allowed 100 rounds of .22 caliber cartridges, 20 rounds of center-fire rifle ammunition and 25 rounds of shotgun shells of any gauge.

Sportsmen hunters will be allowed 50 rounds of .22 cartridges, 20 rounds of center-fire ammunition and 25 rounds of shotgun shells, but they can get them only after farmers and ranchers have been supplied between October 1 and November 15.

This will do Kentucky hunters no good for the squirrel season, which now is on, and the dove season, which opens Sept. 16, Wakefield pointed out.

Boone Countians Win Prizes At Alexandria Fair

Three prizes were carried away from Alexandria Fair by the Highland Stock Farm, one by a Burlington boy, and one by a Florence girl, Sunday, according to a list of premium winners, released.

H. R. Forkner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Forkner, Sr., Burlington collected first money on his pony in the Shetland, five-gaited class.

Dr. Holton's five-gaited stallion took first prize in the four-year-old and over class, shown under saddle and harness to four-wheeled vehicle. His horse also took first prize in the Stanley C. Moebus Junior five-gaited stake, for stallions, mares or geldings, four years old and under, and took third prize in the five-gaited, mare, four years old and over class.

In the pony fancy turnout division, Miss Norma Dressel, of Florence was awarded fourth prize.

Timely Hint Given Local Poultry Raisers

The feed situation shows no signs of getting better so we should do all in our power to utilize available feed to best advantage, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent.

Old hens should be culled closely. Keep only those in production and sell them just as soon as they quit laying. Check your feeding methods and the condition of your hoppers and feeding boxes. A small hole or crack may cause a big loss at the present price of feed. Feed should be stored where rats will not waste the feed and destroy sacks. Plant a cover crop near the chicken house. A good cover crop will furnish a large amount of cheap protein feed.

September is the time to prepare the laying house and get the pullets moved in. Don't keep any weak looking crow headed pullets. Feed is too high priced to waste on common hens.

Large Crowd Attends Minstrel At Burlington

One of the largest crowds to fill the Burlington auditorium for sometime was present at the Boone County Showboat, presented by the Boone County School Band, last Friday night. The main auditorium was completed filled and many patrons were required to take seats in the balcony.

Persons attending were loud in their praise of the entertainment, and complimenting director Dean Bloss, his assistants and the cast for the splendid performance.

The show, scheduled for two other engagements, no doubt will be as well received at Florence and Hebron. The dates will be announced in a later edition of this paper.

HOPEFUL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Rev. H. M. Hauter, Pastor

Sunday, Sept. 12, Bible School at 10:30 a. m. Mr. Wm. Meier, Supt.

Morning Worship at 11:30 a. m. Rev. L. L. Spenny of Zion Lutheran Church, Park Hills, Covington, will be our guest pastor at this service. May we ask our members and friends to come prepared at this service to make a free-will love offering toward the financial campaign for the Louisville Old Folks Home. A special offering will be taken. If you have not already contributed to this worthy cause, this is your final opportunity.

Hopeful Missionary Society will meet at the church on Monday, Sept. 13, at 9:00 p. m., for its regular devotional and business meeting. Mrs. Albert Rouse will lead the devotions.

The Brotherhood will hold their regular monthly devotional and business meeting in the church basement on Monday, Sept. 13, at 9:00 p. m. Mr. Elbert Tanner and Mr. Wm. Meier will lead the devotions.

NEW SHOE REPAIR SHOP

Covington has a new shoe repair shop—the Liberty Shoe Repair, 605 Madison Ave., "in the heart of the city."

Stressing the importance of conserving shoes, especially children's, the shop guarantees first-class workmanship and good materials at reasonable prices. Shoes are cleaned and dyed all colors.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jarrell, of Walton, called on Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Tucker, Saturday evening. Their daughter Lynnette, returned home with them after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Tucker.

BELL RINGING WILL OPEN BOND DRIVE

CHURCH BELLS, SIRENS AND HORNS WILL BE HEARD THIS MORNING IN OPENING OF WAR BOND CAMPAIGN.

The bells will ring this morning (Thursday) when the Third War Loan Drive is opened to raise Boone County's quota of $732,900.00.

How well we perform this task assigned us depends upon the interest and desire of every one to help bring this war to a speedy victory by subscribing our very limit to War Bonds. Our soldiers are doing their bit on foreign fields, away from their home and loved ones. We are only being asked to lend our money at interest with the principal returned to us at maturity of the bonds or in case of mergency the bonds can be cashed. This is a very small request by our Government compared to those young men who are doing our fighting and many dying to protect our homes.

Certainly no one can rest well without having done their part by subscribing liberally in this Third War Loan Drive. Volunteer your services to your precinct chairman to help secure subscriptions besides making a large subscription yourself. What is your answer?

Arrangements are being made to present a free picture show at the courthouse the night of September 18th showing how some of our War Bond funds are being used. Further details will appear next week.

Conservation For Victory Will Be Studied By Boone Homemakers

Methods of conserving time, health, material, equipment, and energy will be studied by Boone County Homemakers in their new major project "Conservation For Victory." This project will be started in the September meetings and carried through May 1944.

Homemakers will study "Bringing Clothing Up-to-Date" at their local September meeting. Each Homemaker is asked to bring an old garment (men's suits, women's dresses and coats) for suggestions for remodeling or making over. The lesson will be presented by Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent, assisted by local clothing leaders.

The following major project schedule will be followed from September 1943 through May 1944:

September—Bringing Clothing Up-to-Date.

October—Conservation of Energy and Time.

November—Keeping Tools Fit.

December—Christmas Gift Suggestions; Construction of Files.

January—Clothing Clinic and Making of Accessories.

February—Control of Household Pests.

March—Foods.

April—Foods.

May—Child Guidance.

FOOD AND HOME POINTERS GIVEN

MANY DIFFERENT METHODS USED TO STRETCH FAMILY FOOD SUPPLY IS WORD FROM HOME AGENT.

Homemakers are discovering many different ways of "stretching" the family food supply and serving adequate appetizing meals at the same time. Likewise, the homemakers is anxious to find methods of conserving housekeeping supplies, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent.

Following are some suggestions recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Wartime Suds and Scrubs

Americans are using more soap. With many more people working factories, mines and other heavy industries, more soap is being used for bathing and washing clothes as well as in industrial processes. Here are ways to make the most of soap in the household. Use water softener instead of using the extra soap necessary to soften water. Take the wrapper off cake of soap and let it dry and harden before using. Hard soap goes farther than soft, moist soap. Keep the soap dish dry. Too thick suds, especially in a washing machine, cuts down washing efficiency by making a "cushion" of lather that prevents water from going through fabrics easily. For best laundering use only enough soap to make a suds two inches high. Scrap of toilet soap may be melted and used for shampoo. Other scraps may be dried and then saved with knife or run through a food chopper to make chips.

Keep Sweets Warm, Spuds Cool

Sweet potatoes keep best in a dry warm place around 60 degrees F., but spuds need a dark, moist, cool place 40 to 50 degrees, the U. S. Department of Agriculture advises.

Butters to Stretch Butter

Spreads for the daily bread have become one of the problems of feeding the family in wartime. Nut butter and fruit butter made at home this fall can help in stretching the butter supply next winter. Many nuts, besides peanuts, may be made into butter by grinding fine in a meat chopper and salting to taste. Native nuts such as black walnuts, hickory nuts and butternuts may all be ground fine and salted for nut butter. Many fruits, too small or imperfect in shape for canning, make excellent fruit butter. The same batch of apples and grapes may be used for both jelly and butter. After cooking the fruit some of the juice may be drained off for jelly before the strained pulp is cooked down for butter. For fruit butter, add half as much sugar as fruit pulp and a fourth teaspoon of salt to every gallon of butter to bring out the flavor. Boil the mixture rapidly, stirring as it boils. When the butter thickens, turn the heat lower to prevent splattering. When done stir in one to two teaspoons of mixed spice for each gallon of butter.

BELLEVIEW CHURCH TO HOLD SERVICES

IN OBSERVANCE OF SIXTIETH BIRTHDAY — "JUBILEE DAY" SET FOR SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 19TH.

The Belleview Church of Christ will fittingly celebrate its sixtieth birthday by a week of protracted preaching services to begin Monday night, September 13th. These meetings will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m. (CWT) each evening and will close promptly on the hour.

The preaching will be entirely by the local minister Sam Hamilton. The messages will be devoted to plain and forceful Bible teaching and should be a positive benefit to all who attend.

This week of service will be preparatory to "Jubilee Day" Sunday, September 19th, in which the church's sixtieth anniversary will be observed by an all-day meeting with an old fashioned basket dinner at noon. Very special talent has been secured to bring the messags on that day. Bro. Edwin R. Errett, editor of the Christian Standard will address the congregation at the afternoon session, and Brother and Sister Allison, Missionaries from the Phillipine Islands will tell about their work at the evening service.

Bro. Hamilton said, "To all the friends of truth who can stand to hear that truth proclaimed unadulterated with theological speculations and the creed and dogmas of man-made religion, we extend an earnest invitation."

Burlington Boys Defeat Florence Nine

The Burlington Sunday School baseball team trounced the Florence nine, Saturday on the Burlington field by a score of 6 to 4.

Florence took the lead in the first inning, scoring two runs while Burlington scored one in the first, 2 in the 4th to forge ahead 3-2. Florence collected one run in the first of the sixth, while Burlington scored three in the sixth. Florence never threatened in the remander of the game, gaining only one other run in the eighth to make a total of 4.

Roberts was on the mound for Florence, while Brown was the hurler for the winners.

A double-header will be played on the Burlington grounds Saturday afternoon, according to manager Walter Brown.

Religious Education Week Endorsed By President Roosevelt

Expressing the hope that there will be "a quickening of the spirit of religion as a result of the observance," President Franklin D. Roosevelt has endorsed the nationwide observance of Religious Education Week, September 26 to October 3, in a letter addressed to Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the International Council of Religious Education, sponsor of the 13th annual observance.

"In the days of trial which still separate us from victory," reads the President's letter, "in the years of momentous decision which will fix the duration and character of the peace, we must avail ourselves to the full of our spiritual heritage."

Ninety per cent of American Protestant churches will participate in community-wide activities during Religious Education Week through the 42 denominations, 31 state councils and 79 city councils of churches and religious education which are members of the International Council of Religious Education, Dr. Ross stated in making the announcement concerning the President's letter of endorsement.

Calling attention to the fact that America is the "arsenal of democracy" because of its war production, President Roosevelt declares in his letter, "this accomplishment, great as it is, will not suffice to gain us that just and durable peace for which we strive unless we prove also that we are an arsenal of spiritual values.

"Unless we have faith in freedom, in brotherhood and in the rational direction of life, a faith undismayed by all obstacles, our labor and our sacrifices in the present struggle must assuredly be in vain."

"We need to remind ourselves and to remind our fellows that the common man is in sober truth fashioned in the image of divinity," the President's letter concludes.

High Quality Melons Grown In County

Blue Ribbon or Stripped Klondike is a new wilt resistant high quality watermelon being grown in Petersburg and Belleview bottoms this year, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. This melon, a late variety, is ripening now and has flavor and quality that is unsurpassed.

Leading melon growers in the above communities the past twelve years have been trying to find a high quality, high producing wilt-resistant variety. The Blue Ribbon or Klondike is a late variety, not an extra heavy yielder but makes up the difference in quality. Stone Mountain No. 5 and Kleckly No. 6 are the next two most popular wilt resistant varieties discovered during the past twelve years.

Growers with commercial acreages of the new variety includes Aylor Brothers, John J. Klopp, William Burns, Andy Cook, Bobby Rogers and Ewing Flick.

Mrs. Anna Jane Smith

Services for Mrs. Anna Jane Smith, Union, who passed away Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington, were held at 3 o'clock Sunday at the residence of Mrs. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Jesse Delahunty, Union.

Mrs. Smith, who was 80 years old, was the widow of Richard O. Smith, prominent Union farmer. She had been ill ten weeks.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Delahunty and three grandchildren of Chicago.

Philip Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director was in charge of arrangements.

John O. Richards, Jr.

John O. Richards, Jr., age 27, husband of Martha Richards (nee Aylor) and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Richards, of Covington, passed away at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Sunday, August 29, following a very brief illness.

Services were held at his home, U. S. 42 at 2:00 p. m. September 1, with burial in Highland Cemetery. Services were held by Rev. Walter E. Mill, of Covington.

He was a graduate of the Florence High School. He was well known throughout that section of the county.

M. L. Swetnam, Covington funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

LOCAL WOMAN HAS SPLENDID RECORD

AS CHICKEN RAISER — TWO HUNDRED CHICKENS RAISED WITHOUT SINGLE LOSS IS RECORD OF MRS. SAM SLEET.

Mrs. Sam Sleet of the Beaver neighborhood bought 200 New Hampshire Red baby chicks on April 13th of this year. They were just good ordinary chickens when purchased. Mrs. Sleet put them in a home built brooder that is heated by a coal stove. These chicks were fed a 20 percent starting ration and the feed was mixed by a local feed dealer.

The remarkable part about this project is that not one chick died. Much of this success can be contributed to Mrs. Sleet's unfailing care. The water fountains were never empty and the temperature in the brooder was never allowed to vary more than 6 to 8 degrees.

This flock of chickens has not yet been on the ground. They have been kept inside the house and on a wire sun porch.

These baby chicks were purchased April 13 and the first egg was laid August 26th. Most of the cockerels were sold as fryers, leaving more than 100 large pullets that are laying about 30 percent at present.

CONSTANCE P.-T. A. WILL MEET

The Constance P.-T. A. will hold its first meeting of the school year on Wednesday, September 15, at 2:00 p. m. (E.S.T.) The president, Mrs. Thomas Kenyon requests all members to be present.

A TIP FROM MUSSOLINI

It is becoming increasingly obvious that aspiring holders of public office are going to seek renewed tenure on the strength of their war records. No one should object to that. But what everyone should object to is the tendency to glorify government by intimating that it has fought the war almost singlehanded—even to the extent of being primarily responsible for the quantity and quality of tanks, planes and ships with which our men are fighting. That is the way of the dictators, to seize all the credit from private citizens for every achievement. And once they begin seizing the credit for the accomplishments of the people, experience has shown that they soon begin seizing the resources which made the accomplishments possible.

Therefore, it is imperative that the American people be not deluded as to how and by whom this war is being fought. Due credit should be given to the political and military leaders who are coordinating and directing the armed forces. Beyond that, the credit goes to the people for whatever degree of military success the nation may enjoy. The tanks, the jeeps, the planes and the ships were not created by government any more than were the men now in the service of their country.

Private industry, managed and operated by private citizens, is the mainspring of the war effort. From the men deep underground in the mines to the men and women in the front offices, the job is being done by sweating individuals who are working for the glory of freedom, not the glorification of government. The mighty electric power, transportation, and production facilities, without which the war effort would halt in the wink of an eye, are furnished by countless individuals operating their own businesses with a single determination to help wipe out alien governments that think they are bigger than the people.

Our political leaders should heed the ignominious end of the first dictator to fall in this war-Mussolini claimed the achievements of his people as his own. He dominated their souls and their property in the name of government. By so doing, he brought defeat to himself and to his nation.

—o—

GEORGE CAN'T DO IT

The illusion that government is Santa Claus, if not already dispelled, soon will be. The President is asking for more billions in taxes, and Senator George, chairman of the State Finance Committee, has bluntly warned that "any large increase must fall on the middle-income brackets and down to $2,500 and $3,000. The truth is that of our national income (now at 140 billions) some 91 billions goes to people in the lower brackets—whose income is $3,000 or less."

Any public official who inspires the belief that the rich can be made to pay for the war is doing a disservice to his country. This war must be paid for by the whole people. If an attempt is made to grant tax favors to one group at the expense of another, the result can be none other than disastrous. The tax burden is growing so heavy that unless it is distributed equitably, individual opportunity and the incentive to produce will be destroyed. If that happens, a farce will have been made of democratic government—a farce that will collapse under the weight of its own injustice, taking with it the liberties of all of us. When new tax bills are drawn, the old dodge of "Let George do it," won't work. George can't do it.

FAILURE INEXCUSABLE

There has been an unforeseen slowing down in war production. It is threatening military schedules which are based on securing certain kinds and quantities of equipment on specified dates.

Lieutenant General Brehon Somervell warns that "only two-fifths of our program for 1943 was accomplished in the first half of the year." As a result, monthly schedules in all elements of our Army program must be speeded up to attain the procurement goals necessary to provide our growing Army with enough and on time.

" . . . Our military success," points out the General, "instead of offering a chance to relax, actually quickened the tempo of our need for the materials of war. With every victory the need to turn on the power as never before will become more and more pressing.

"We must pour into this war the entire strength and intelligence and willpower of the United States. We cannot afford to waste our substance or the lives of our men by relaxing along the way."

It is up to every American citizen to heed these words. They are spoken in deadly earnestness. Failure cannot be excused when the lives of men are at stake.

—o—

WASTE FAT SAVED

Almost 8 million pounds of waste kitchen fat were turned in for war purposes by American homemakers during May, according to word received at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics from Washington. This is the highest amount for any month since the salvage program was started a year ago. Although the 7,959,269 pounds of fat collected in May is an impressive amount, it is not half of the quota of 16,667,000 pounds required per month for war needs, and housewives are asked to continue to save every spoonful.

KINDNESS TO COWS BRINGS DIVIDENDS

Kindness pays dividends with milk cows, says Lynn Copeland of the dairy division of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Contended cows give more milk.

Regularity of milking and feeding is important. Even delaying milking an hour or two upsets production for several days.

Breeding efficiency is one of the most important factors in maintaining high average herd production. Breed the cows to secure a calf every 12 months. Milk each cows 10 months and allow two months for the dry period.

Feed good cows liberally while dry to get thiem in good condition for calving. It pays in dollars and cents.

Feed one pound of grain to each three or four pounds of milk or two two to three pounds of grain per gallon of milk.

A milk cow will drink 10 to 14 times a day and will consume 9 to 13 gallons of water daily if it is accessible at all times. Plenty of clean, fresh water is the cheapest feed.

Don't stunt and starve heifers. Keep them growing as they will be your herd tomorrow.

Grow your herd replacements and develop the heifers to a good size before breeding. Breed the smaller breeds at 15 to 16 months and the larger breeds at 18 to 20 months.

Cleanliness at milking time is important. Produce high-quality milk and cream that will not be rejected at the plant or creamery.

Fair Play

Farmers of the United States are bearing the brunt of this war. Examples of unselfish patriotism can be found in all walks of life but the agricultural industry this year is offering double portions of sacrifice.

Along with other patriots the farmer contributes freely of his sons and his substance, but he goes further. Almost unaided he is holding the line against inflation and deserves assurance of better times.

Farmers have the best market this year that most of them ever saw but farm income is sagging conspicuously out of line, Government, through the Office of Price Administration, is holding farm prices down in the face of a labor shortage and scarcity of tools. Let's review some modern history briefly:

Memories of 1932

For the benefit of persons under 25 years old, on whom life's responsibilities rested but lightly in 1932, it was a poor year, especially for farmers. Herbert Hoover was president. Kidnapping news dominated the headlines. "Bring beer back" was the big political issue and automobile horns came out playing "How Dry I Am." Men had fights over places in lines where free meals were served and farm income reached "bottom." It had come down by a rough path from the peak of World War I.

The unfair ratio is easy to see by comparing farm earnings with wages of factory workers. During the war with Kaiser Bill, farmers earned 80% as much as laborers in industry; while the average worker was earning $5 the farmer had been able to earn $4 and didn't complain. But in 1932 the average farmer got only $1 while the laborer earned $5, and farmers did complain. They had cause.

Walls Were Heard

Agriculture's sad plight in the ten years just before World War II almost cost the United States her Free Enterprise system, a risk to be shunned forever. Braintrusters, wise and otherwise, set about to coax prosperity back to the farm. The motive was good but the plans were varied and visionary. Some that reached the stage of actual try-out were worse than useless.

There is no doubt whatever in my mind that another ten years of hand-to-mouth existence on the farm would ruin this country. America's most important task, next to winning the war, is making arrangements for farm prosperity to start with peace. Please remember I said "arrangements." Plans will have to work this time. Crackpottery is out. There is a way to get farm prosperity and it is no secret.

Price Parity Rot

In the Decade of the Braintrusters "price parity" was invented. It meant that farmers ought to be able any time to buy as much with the price of their crops as they did just before World War I. Parity was a wishing-bone with no meat on it. By plowing under young crops and paying shiftless people to let fields go to weeds, government finagled $2 to farmers for every $5 earned by industrial workers. But parity never came until 1942. War brought it, not boondoggling.

Farmers today are getting about 60% as much as industrial workers —$3 to $5. Farmers earned an average of $1,100 last year. If that's parity it is the same average income that industrial workers found too little to live on, back in cheap 1935. Study of the past proves one thing: War improves farm incomes. Something happens in war years that booms farm markets. Whatever the secret of farm income was in 1918 and 1942 is what farmers need in peaceful years.

Quantities Count

Farmers prosper when they grow all they can and sell it at fair prices on a ready market. It happens in war-time, but why? Is it because there is an Army and Navy to feed? Certainly not! These young men didn't just begin eating as they entered the service; our farmers have always fed these defenders. Moreover servicemen make up only about 4% of our population and eat only 6% of farm output.

Then what does make this demand? Is it Lend-Lease? Some people think so but they are wrong. Only about 6% of America's farm production moves that way. Our servicemen and our allies combined use just a little more food than we used to export; 10% before the war. The answer will be found near the smoke-stacks of America. War has put 10 million more workers in industry and raised their pay 60%. Farm prosperity results from industrial employment at good pay.

When a factory worker earns $1,000 a year he spends about $300 of it to feed his family, buying low-priced, bulky food. When his earnings reach $2,000 a year his grocery bill is nearer $600. His family eats better food, more costly things, and maybe a little more of it. That's when the farmer prospers. And peace-time farm prosperity depends on two things: (1) Unrestricted prices and (2) industrial activity; full employment at good wages. Not on Government subsidies, and not on scarcities, created by destroyed production.

THE 3rd WAR LOAN DRIVE STARTS —TO BACK THE INVASION!

3RD WAR LOAN
15 BILLION DOLLARS
(NON-BANKING QUOTA)
★ ★ ★

What you will be asked to do—

MARK well the date—Thursday, September 9th. For on that day, you must answer to your country's call.

On that day, the 3rd War Loan Drive opens. You will be asked to back our fighting forces to the very limit of your resources. You will be asked to go ALL-OUT FOR INVASION by investing in EXTRA War Bonds—more War Bonds than you perhaps think you can possibly afford.

To meet the national quota, every individual in the country who earns a wage or draws an income or has accumulated funds must invest, if he possibly can, in at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond. Those who can, must invest in more bonds—hundreds and thousands of dollars' worth more.

Scrape up the money from every source you can . . . turn in all the loose cash you carry with you . . . dig out what you had tucked away "just in case." Go without pleasures, luxuries, even necessities this September. And give our fighting men the things they need to fight with—and win.

These men are throwing everything they have into this fierce invasion push. They are giving their blood, their lives. No one can put a price on such courage, self-sacrifice, devotion. But you can show you're with them to the limit! You can say it with Bonds . . . EXTRA Bonds this month.

World's Safest Investments

For this 3rd War Loan, you will be offered a choice of various government securities. Choose the one that fits your requirements.

United States War Savings Bonds Series "E"; gives you back $4 for every $3 when the bond matures. Interest: 2.9% a year, compounded semiannually, if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Redemption: Anytime 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969; readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral. Redeemable at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated September 15, 1943: due December 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other securities: Series "C" Savings Notes; ⅞% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1951-1953; United States Savings Bonds series "F"; United States Savings Bonds series "G."

Ivan K. Norris, stationed at Miami Beach, Fla., writes the following letter:

"For the past two weeks I have received a copy of The Recorder and it is definitely very much appreciated. It is good to read everything going on around home and to read letters from friends scattered all over the country.

"I have been here at Miami Beach since July 26 for a rather concentrated basic training program which is now completed. We have been very busy in order that we might complete everything in the alloted time. We expect to be moved immediately to the college training program in connection with the A. A. F.

"We have had good eats and quarters here. The Air Force has taken over half of the hotels for about three blocks back from the beach and use them to quarter the trainees. We are located about 100 yards from the beach in a small hotel. [illegible] One section [illegible]

"Miami Beach may be a nice place to vacation, but it is no place to drill in August. The heat is not as bad as I expected—in fact, it hasn't bothered me as much as Kentucky has in August, a few times.

"I will send a new address as soon as I have it, and would appreciate hearing from any of the boys around town."

The following letter was received this week from Cpl. William L. Smith, Service Troop, 106th Car., Camp Hood, Texas:

"Just a few lines to let you know that I have been transferred to a different camp, and would appreciate it very much if you would send me The Recorder here to Camp Hood, Texas.

"I have been on maneuvers for the past two months, but I received The Recorder just the same. Sometimes it was several days catching up with me, but needless to say I enjoyed it more than words could ever express. Thanks to The Recorder, I know where most of the boys from around home are stationed and I get a big kick out of the letters they send in for publication, as well as knowing what all the folks back home are doing these days.

"Wayne Arrasmith and Gene Setters are in this camp somewhere and I would like to look them up, if they would drop me a card.

"Thanking you again for The Recorder, it certainly means a lot to all of us to get the news from home."

We are glad to say that we can furnish the two address mentioned in the above letter. They are: Pvt. Wayne Arrasmith, 484th Ordn. Evac. Co., 310 Ordn. Bn., and Pvt. Eugene Setters, Co. B, 801 T. O. Bn., AUTO, Camp Hood, Texas.

P. Ryle, of Camp Endicott writes: "I received a copy of The Recorder today and sure was good to get a paper from home. I guess the fair went over big. I wish I could have been there, as this was the first one I have missed. . . . I have been transferred to Rhode Island from Camp Peary, Va. At Peary I spent five weeks taking my Seabee boot training. It was plenty tough and hot. I am taking my advance now at Endicott. The training is much easier and the weather is plenty cool. I will finish September 12th, then I will be home for a 10-day furlough. . . . I like it fine here, although I sure miss my wife. . . . We are going out on the rifle range tomorrow, and I want to get a little practice for my furlough, for I sure want to go squirrel hunting . . . Well I guess I have to close for I have to stand fire watch tonight."

We are in receipt of the following letter from Pvt. Robert K. Stephens, 35663233, Co. C, 338th Engineers, APO 700, care Postmaster, New York, N. Y.:

North Africa

"Dear Pete:

"How is everybody back home? I am feeling fine and working every day. I just received a paper so I had to read it before I could write. The first thing I do when I get the Recorder is just sit down and read it from front to back.

"I want to thank you for sending me your paper. No one back home can realize how much a fellow over here, as in any other foreign country, appreciates a home paper.

"I was in a Red Cross station one day about a week ago and I left my name and address in a book there, and the same week I got a letter from Stewart "Hoots" Ryle and he told me that he had found my address at the Red Cross. I worked about three and a half miles from him for six weeks and didn't even know he was anywhere around. I think I will get to see him pretty soon.

"I attended our outdoor theater last night and saw Paul Clore. I asked him where "Pete" George Black was, and he said over reading my Recorder. After the show they told us that they had a surprise for us. The Red Cross served coffee and plenty of donuts for everyone. I think that was the longest chow line I ever stood in since I have been in the army.

"Well, I may see lots of this old world before this war is over but if I can get letters from home and a home paper I will always feel like I am closer home than I really am.

"Thanks again for the paper Pete, I really do appreciate it. I will have to go now and do a little work. Just keep up the good work back there and we will all be home before so very long."

Early History Of Boone Co

By A. M. Yealey

The writer has been requested to give some information in reference to the immigration of the Carpenters into Boone County. I have since the request, did much research work in reference to this family name and find that the name Carpenter can be traced back in England to about 1303, when John Carpenter, age 20 years became a member of Parliament.

Alice Carpenter came from England in the pilgrim ship Ann and was united in marriage to Governor Bradford August 14th, 1643. Mr. Bradford was then Governor of the Plymouth colony. It was he who received the snake hide tied around a bundle of arrows from Canonclus, the chief of the Narragansetts. Bradford filled the snake hide with powder and bullets which seemed to have the desired effort for the time being.

We also have a William Carpenter who came to Rhode Island with Roger Williams in 1630 and settled at Providence and Mr. Williams gives considerable credit to Mr. Carpenter for assisting him in building up a political community with absolute religious liberty as its chief cornerstone.

We also have Frank Carpenter who was our neighbor and all teachers and school children are familiar with his geographical Readers and industrial books, "How the World is Fed," "How the World is Clothed," and the "World Is Housed."

In 1663 a Coat of Arms was granted to the Carpenters by the English government which was the greyhound. This denoted speed, courage and fidelity.

The lineage of the above traces to England and the early Carpenters from England settled in the New England States.

The first Carpenter that came to Boone County was Rev. William Carpenter a soldier of the Revolutionary War and he was the first Lutheran minister. His first trip here was in 1804. More will be said in reference to his work in the next chapter.

We find that the English version of the name Zimmerman is "Carpenter" and in the colony of 80 people that came to Virginia from that part of Germany that was in sympathy with the doctrine of Martin Luther were the Rouses, Tanners, Zimmermans, and Cimbermans. In research work we find that several Cimbermans changed their name to Carpenter and other reasons that influence us to believe in this change of name was the immigrants they came with, all settled in Virginia, all attended the Lutheran Church the Lutheran ministers delivered their sermons in German.

Our next chapter will continue with Rev. William Carpenter, whose former ancestors we believe were among the colony of 80 people.

KENTUCKY WOMEN ENROLL IN WLA

"Perhaps most hard working, tied-at-home farm women have secretly envied the WAVES, the WACS and the SPARS their opportunity for service in the war effort. So when Home Agent Mary Ellen Murray explained the Women's Land Army, and we realized we were eligible for membership because of the amount of work we are doing to produce food on our own farms, we felt a thrill of pride, and were glad to become a part of this organized effort." Thus reported Mrs. W. H. Hayes of the Herndon Homemakers' Club in Christian county where 98 women registered for membership in the WLA in a month's time.

Milking, feeding and watering livestock, gardening, caring for poultry, driving combines, setting and priming tobacco and stacking hay are some of the jobs at which these women are efficient as in their own kitchens.

Other counties too, report eager interest on the part of farm women to help relieve the labor situation. In Daviess county, Mrs. E. F. LeBold, the mother of six children, has helped all summer with the crops, in the haying season assisting in the baling of 1,450 bales of hay. Her 16-year-old daughter has driven a tractor all summer. In Hopkins county, Mrs. Pearl McLeod, a member of the Madisonville Homemakers' Club, disked 115 acres on her own and neighboring farms. In Graves county 66 women registered in the WLA, reported spending from half to two-third of their time in agricultural work; in Todd county 56 women have enrolled in Hart county, 20 women.

To become a member of the WLA women doing at least a month's agricultural work in the course of a year should register with their county or home demonstration agent. A sturdy, practical and comfortable work uniform, designed especially for their own use, may be purchased by those desiring it.

ISRAEL MARCHES TOWARD CANAAN

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 10:11, 12, 29-36.

GOLDEN TEXT—Come thou with us, and we will do thee good.—Numbers 10:29.

There is a time to wait before God, to be instructed and prepared for holy living. There is also a time for action. When God says, "Move forward," His people are to arise and be on their way.

Israel, who had now been more than a year on the way from Egypt to Canaan, had been resting for a time at Mt. Sinai, there receiving instruction and being organized into a nation. They had set up a place of worship in their midst, and now they were ready to go on. That is God's will for His people. They are to

I. Move Toward the Goal (vv. 11, 12).

God had a schedule. He wanted them to move forward on a certain day (v. 11). Since the Jewish religious year, referred to here, began with the spring equinox, this was about the middle of May. The dry season was ahead—a good time to travel.

Those who think the purposes of God for men are nebulous and uncertain, and that He has no real plan for us, are obviously mistaken. His plan is good and acceptable and perfect; let us find and follow it.

We do not have a pillar of cloud and fire to move before us. We do not need it, for we, unlike the Israelites, have God's Word for our guide, and His Holy Spirit as the One who will tell every responsive soul when and where to go.

The important thing is to obey, promptly and willingly, and we shall have the blessing of God.

II. Bring Others With You (vv. 29-32).

Those who go up to the promised land should not go alone, they should bring others with them.

Moses, who had been in touch with the family of his father-in-law (known both as Jethro and Raguel or Reuel), now sees the value of having with him his brother-in-law, who was so acquainted with the great and terrible wilderness through which they were to pass that he could be invaluable as a guide and helper.

In giving him the invitation, however, Moses stressed the opposite thought—that it would be good for Hobab if he came with them. That was doubtless true, but it was not the right approach.

Men do not respond to the opportunity for advantage in spiritual things as readily as to the challenge to usefulness. The motive of acquisition is strong, but the best folk are not as interested in what they can get as what they can give.

The church may stress too much its value as a place of refuge and not enough the unparalleled opportunity it affords for sacrificial service.

When Moses changed his plea and revealed his need of Hobab, the response was immediate. He had thus won a friend and a helper.

III. Follow God's Guidance (vv. 33-36).

God gave special guidance on this occasion. The ark which commonly was found in the midst of the people, now moved out before them.

It was the symbol of God's presence. As they went out into the wilderness (which Deut. 1:19 calls "great and terrible") it was as though God Himself went before them.

Is not this always true? The "Captain of Our Salvation," Jesus Christ, is not One who tarries in safety at the rear and sends up orders for us to attack life's problems. He goes before us!

The pillar of cloud hovered over the people as though to give them shelter from the beating sun of the desert. God is mindful of the road His people must travel, and in His loving-kindness provides for their protection and care.

In our day there are many who are tempted to question whether God knows of their trials and afflictions. He does, and He will not permit them to be tried beyond their ability to bear it.

When the ark went forward, their leader, Moses, addressed God in the stirring words of verse 35. The people whose God is the Lord may count on Him to scatter their enemies.

All of human life is either a journey or a battle, and often it is both. We must arise and make valiant war against the forces of evil if we are to move forward for God. But we must recall that our foes, as Christians, are also God's foes.

The battle is not ours, but God's, and we do well to call on Him to rise up and smite the enemy.

Note that after the forward march came a time of rest. God always gives His people an opportunity for needed rest.

Approximately 1,000 bushels of Thorne wheat were produced in Graves county and are being sold for seed.

Farmers in Whitley county who raised onions this year are well satisfied with their returns.

A field of common corn on the farm of Dr. G. T. Smith, Lee county, was destroyed by a hard wind storm, while the Hybrid corn was unaffected.

The members of Enon Homemakers' Club in Hickman county are dehydrating food as well as canning it for their school lunch room.

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking ERB-HELP and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Get ERB-HELP. Dahlenburg's Drug Store, Erlanger.

INTERESTING LETTER

The following letter was received from Lucy B. Stevens, dated at San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 20, 1943:

"Dear Friends,

"I promised so many of you I'd write that it will take some time to make the complete list, but at this earliest convenience, while my muscles are still sore and head is aching I would like to tell of my trip from Boone County to San Francisco, so you will advise everyone you know not to travel, unless absolutely necessary, for your own comfort as well as that of the immense transportation problems, so big that I was unable to understand until I actually saw.

"My sympathy goes mostly to the soldiers and sailors who want one more glimpse of a secure home life before his company may be ordered overseas.,

"When I boarded the train in the Union Station, Tuesday I was suprised by the immense crowds and many military groups that crowded at a dozen gates like the boat landing on Coney Island Day. It looked impossible to get thru, so I tipped a red cap 75 cents to take me a different way and get a seat on the train.

"Everything went swell on a very fast train to St. Louis where I found reserved space was still unavailable although we had wired every day for a week. I couldn't wait over many days and still catch the boat to Pearl Harbor, so proceeded to get away from a station more crowded than the orderly station in Cincinnati, on a slow train, unable to seat all its passengers and like the rest of the crowd grumbled all the way about how late we were and the poor accommodations. We did not know then how well off we were and look back now and think the cross little conductor doing the best he can for grumbling people who ask silly questions and ask for miracles of railroads already feeling the need for unavailable equipment.

"The girl porters and stations hands were not nearly so hefty and ferocious looking as those found in more numerous numbers here on the West Coast. Women in overalls, oiled, swept, serviced and worked hard. It was no merely donning of slack to give the impression that we have a labor shortage.

"Kansas City depot was one huge madhouse. I made the mistake of going up into the station and got caught in the crowd that pushed and shoved until no one could get through the gates. There were no red caps and my arms ached until I pushed my grip on the sidewalk as the waiting passengers edged slowly forward. Children cried. One mother of two small children had her arms full of luggage and they cried and she scolded and they cried louder. After I managed to get on the platform of the train the doors were closed and large numbers were left standing to wait over until the next day.

"This fast streamliner was to take us on to the coast, although it changed engines and company lises. The standing room in the aisle was gone and ten of us sat on suitcases or stood on the outside platform. Soldiers and sailors lay on the floor, but had no room to stretch out. Each time the conductor came through they had to get up and then get adjusted all over again. I found a place for one foot and put the other one on the first.

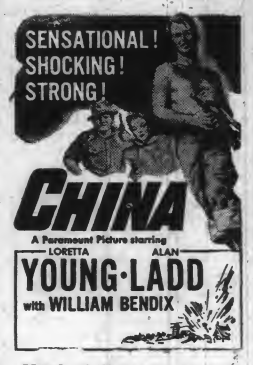
"That night was worse than Bataan, but the next two were better for I bribed a Negro for his seat while he sat with his two sisters. I certainly envied those people fortunate enough to get pullman reservations. The soldiers who were standing tried to find seats for women with small children. One offered to carry the baby if she would show him how. The soldiers were serious and orderly with very little drinking.

"Fifty percent of the passengers were in some military dress. Two marines slept in a deep baggage shelf with their huge feet sticking into the asile. One called a closet full of dirty sheets his reserved berth. One slept high on the baggage rack. The floor was almost covered and women in the ladies' lounge were grateful for plush carpets. Some slept on chairs with their head against the wash basins.

"The second day my lunch was gone and I waited in line 1½ hours for the dining car, but they ran out of food when I was three persons back from the door.

"Three inductees in front of me talked the 4 days and 3 nights about how terrible they would look with a G. I. haircut. The newer soldiers and civilians talked about inconveniences and discomforts of this war but the older soldiers talked of gossip of large numbers of wounded shipped into this country.

"Once we sidetracked one hour and twenty minutes for a hospital train loaded with shell shocked soldiers from Africa.



"Groups drilled on station platforms of supposedly out-going troop trains. One soldier showed me his collection of Japanese teeth from battle on Fegi Islands. His buddy had ear lobes in formaldehyde. They mentioned names of ships they had seen on the rocks or had gone down under them. They wrote letters to keep up the morale back home.'

"The girls who are quartered here in the Naval dormitory with me tell of their trip here. Some had more difficulties than I, but some were lucky and comfortable as in peace times, so I guess as long as Americans think there is one chance in a million they will continue to make unnecessary trips that inconvenience our soldiers and our sailors.

CRATED YAMS SHOW SMALLER SPOILAGE

Sweet potatoes packed in rigid containers will lose much less from spoilage in storage than those in sacks or in bulk, it was pointed out this week by Daniel K. Young, State Supervisor of the Food Distribution Administration.

"Since farmers who hold their sweet potatoes over until next spring are bound to receive a higher price for their crop, it is important for growers to prepare now for the most effective storage," Mr. Young said.

"Agricultural studies and experience show that loss through shrinkage and spoilage amounts to some 25 percent by weight if sweet potatoes are stored in mesh bags, whereas such loss can be held to about 10 percent if they are stored in rigid containers. Records in the past also show that sweet potatoes marketed in October and November bring the lowest price of the season, whereas those held until spring sell at the top. Last season, growers who held their crop until May received more than twice as much for them as those who sold in November."

Placing of orders for rigid wooden containers as early as possible was urged by Mr. Young, who stressed the fact that wooden crates and hampers are already at a premium and will be in still greater demand this fall. County War Boards and individual growers were asked to locate every possible crate in their communities, as well as place orders from manufacturers and reconditioners to supply local needs. A campaign in each community to get out every possible container from farms and homes was indicated as one solution to the critical need.

It is estimated that half of Logan county's unusually large corn crop of 65,000 acres is the hybrid variety.

Many dairymen in Campbell county are drying their food as well as canning it for their school lunch room.

To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse. The most you can do is little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Ration Reminder

Gasoline—In 17 states of eastern shortage area A-6 coupons are now good. In states outside the eastern shortage area A-7 coupons are good through September 21. All gasoline coupons in the possession of car owners must be endorsed with the owner's license and state of registration.

Fuel Oil—Period 5 coupons in old rations remain good through September 30. Period 1 coupons in new rations are good through December. Occupants of oil-heated homes are urged to return their applications for next year's fuel oil to their ration boards promptly and when issued new rations to place orders with their dealers for summer fill-ups.

Sugar—Stamp No. 14 good for 5 pounds through October. Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 good for 5 pounds each for home canning purposes through October 31.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 is good for 1 pair through October 31.

Stoves—Consumer purchases of rationed stoves must be made with a certificate obtained at local War Price and Rationing Boards.

Meats, Fats—Red stamps, X, Y and Z good through October 2. Brown stamp, becomes good September 12 and remains good thru October 2.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps R, S and T, expire September 20. U, V and W, now good, expire October 20.

Farmers' War Bond Quota

Farmers have a war bond quota of 1½ billion dollars in the 15 billion dollar third war loan drive which begins September 9 and continues through the month. During the campaign, canvassers expect to call upon at least 3,600,000 of the nation's 6 million farm homes. Farmers' income figures point to big bond subscriptions. It is estimated that their cash income from marketings will be 19 billion dollars this year.

To Start Using Ration Book III

The first brown "point stamp" in War Ration Book III will become valid September 12. This stamp, A, is good for 16 points through October 2. Brown stamps will become valid on successive Sundays and will always expire on the Saturday nearest the end of a month. They will be used for rationing meats, fats, oils, canned fish, cheese, canned milk, and all other commodities now rationed with red stamps in War Ration Book II. The small stamps bearing pictures of field guns, tanks, ships and airplanes are not yet in use. Anyone who has not received Book III may obtain one by applying to his local ration board.

Farm Items Under Price Control

Used hay loaders, side delivery rakes, and manure spreaders were recently placed under specific price control by OPA. This ruling applies when these items are sold by any persons, such as farmers or auctioneers. Maximum prices will be determined on the following basis; 85 percent of the price of the price of the machine when new, if the equipment is less than one year old, and 70 percent of the price of the item when new, if the equipment is one year old or more.

Overseas Christmas Mail

More than 10 million individual Christmas parcels for overseas soldiers are expected in the mailing period, September 15 to October 15. The Army Postal Service will need the full cooperation of the mailing public if packages are to reach soldiers in time. The public is asked to be sure to put the correct overseas mailing addresses on the packages and to wrap them securely, but in such a manner as to permit inspection prior to their dispatch. Every overseas package must be opened, inspected, and re-wrapped at the port of embarkation. The Army Postal Service and the U. S. Post Office Department strongly urge that packages be mailed September 15 or immediately thereafter.

Father Enlists After Sons Die

A 54-year-old Wisconsin farmer whose two marine sons gave their lives in the war against Japan, is now a marine private doing guard duty somewhere with his companion sentry, a powerful Doberman-Pinscher dog. Private Frank W. Winterling said it was only natural for him to enlist in the branch of the service in which his sons died in order that his daughters, Jane and Kate, might continue to enjoy "the advantages that were guaranteed to me under our system of government." One of Pvt. Winterling's sons, Marine Corporal Joe N. Winterling, died at Bataan, and the other, Marine Sergeant Frank E. Winterling, died at Guadalcanal.

Ration Point Changes

Reflecting an improvement in civilian meat supplies, the ration cost of most lamb and bacon cuts, sirloin steak, and rib roasts has been reduced from one to two points for September. In addition, several variety meats also have lower point values. Creamery butter increased two points to 12 points per pound. Country butter, however, has been assigned a value of six points per pound. The purchasing power of meats-fats stamps in September will be a little larger than in August because the decrease in meat point values more than cancels the higher ration cost of creamery butter.

Big Demand For Straw

Farmers in the straw-producing areas will be urged to make straw available to strawboard manufacturers to enable them to keep up with very heavy requirements for shipping containers for military forces and essential civilian uses. The War Production Board is cooperating with the War Food Administration in a program designed to increase straw collection in midwestern states. Due to heavy rains and flood conditions this spring, much of the available straw crop was destroyed. State and County War Boards are expected to assist strawboard manufacturers in locating available straw.

Blunder Will Not Be Repeated

"In spite of a 1944 program designed to achieve the greatest food production in U. S. history, good soil conservation practice can be followed," recently declared Judge Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator. "Thus," Judge Jones said, "the U. S. can avoid the tragic blunder of the other war when land was plowed up without regard to its fitness and the soil was allowed to wash and blow away without any adequate means to prevent it. That blunder," Judge Jones promised, "will not be repeated."

Nurse Corps Funds Approved

Funds have been approved to provide complete tuition, fees, stipends, maintenance and uniforms for an anticipated 10,175 student members of the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps. Over 500 state accredited schools for nursing have applied to the U. S. Public Health Service for participation in the program. To date, 67 have been approved.

More Lumber From Farms

A program to increase sharply the production of forest products from farm-owned woodlands as part of the nationwide drive to meet wartime military and essential civilian needs for lumber was announced recently by the War Food Administration. It is estimated that 3½ million farms have woodlands, most of which can yield marketable products. Minimum national requirements for lumber in 1943 total 36 billion board feet. Of this amount, 2½ billion board feet are needed for boxing and crating agricultural products.

Add To Navy Chaplains' Corps

Although more than 1,500 Chaplains now serve the Navy, the Coast Guard, and the Marine Corps, more must be added. "Global war," explained Captain Robert D. Workman, Chief of Chaplains, U. S. N., "means a global service of religion to the fighting forces—from Alaska and Sicily to the South Pacific, and aboard the ships of the fleet on all the oceans. We must minister to more men under a greater variety of difficult situations than ever before."

Prunes and Raisins Rationed

Dried and dehydrated prunes and raisins were restored to rationing September 5. Values were placed at four points per pound. Allocations of dried prunes and raisins to Government agencies will be large. However, the balance of raisins and dried prunes available from the year's production for civilian distribution is expected to be over 90 percent of the average annual civilian supply for a five-year period preceding rationing.

Southern Workers Help Save Wheat

More than 3,500 domestic agricultural workers have been transported to the midwest and spring wheat area since August 1. This is part of the Government's Farm Labor Program, the War Food Administration said, and was done to help meet emergency harvest needs and save vitally-important war crops. The workers were recruited in four southern states with the assistance of county agricultural agents. During the past few weeks the WFA said, 1,650 workers were removed from Arkansas to North Dakota; 1,200 from Oklahoma to Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, and South Dakota; 650 from Mississippi to North Dakota; and 200 from Alabama to Ohio. The workers will be returned to their home states in time to help with the cotton harvest, which gets well under way in September.

"Home Front Pledge" Drive On

A nation-wide, cooperative campaign by homemakers and merchants to hold down the cost of living and combat black markets is being conducted by volunteer civic committees in more than 100 communities through local drives to secure signers for a "Home Front" pledge. Nearly one million pledges have been signed already. Those signing agree (1) "I will pay no more than top legal prices" and (2) "I will accept no rationed goods without giving up ration stamps."

SERVICE that SATISFIES

CAN YOU ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD PRESERVATION?

Should bananas be stored in refrigerator?
No. They keep better at room temperature.

* * *

Should eggs be washed before storing in refrigerator?
No. It removes a natural protective coating that helps retain moisture and vitamins. Eggs should be stored in covered container.

* * *

What is best way to store steaks, roasts and other kinds of fresh meat?
Wipe with clean dry cloth but do not wash until ready to use. Place in meat keeper if you have one. If not, cover loosely with waxed paper (do not wrap tightly) and place in or directly beneath defrosting tray. Meat to be kept for a relatively long period should be wrapped in waxed paper and frozen.

How should ground fresh meat be stored?
It should be wrapped loosely in waxed paper and frozen if not to be used day of purchase, as it spoils quicker than solid cuts.

* * *

When should refrigerator dishes and similar covered containers be used?
Leftovers, all liquids and all foods subject to drying out or absorbing odors from other foods should be kept in covered containers. Leaving liquids and moist foods uncovered speeds formation of frost on freezing unit.

* * *

Should wrapping paper, bags and cartons be removed from foods before storing?
Yes. Paper acts as an insulator and prevents cold from reaching food. An exception is quick-frozen foods, which should be put in freezer in original containers.

Why should fresh vegetables be placed under refrigeration quickly?
Because they lose vitamins and flavor rapidly when exposed to warm, dry air. Vegetables should be washed, drained and placed in crisper.

* * *

How can drying out of cheese be retarded?
By storing it in refrigerator in covered container. Or by spreading a thin coat of butter on cut edge.

* * *

What is best way to get full vitamin value from orange juice?
Chill oranges and then squeeze, instead of squeezing first and then chilling the juice. This conserves vitamins.

* * *

What is best temperature for main food compartment?
Forty degrees is safest. Higher than 45 degrees is not recommended.

FOOT TEST

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Usually the first sign of foot trouble is the running over of the heels of shoes.

In a strong healthy human foot the 26 bones are held together to form a substantial support for the weight of the body and they are held together in place by strong ligaments, tendons, and muscles. These bones are so arranged that they form four separate and natural arches.

The heel bone and ankle bone lean out of position more or less in almost every kind of foot trouble. The cause, is that ligaments, muscles and tendons which hold the heel bone and ankle bone in place, become weakened, and are not strong enough to hold these bones in their normal position.

Backaches, headaches and many body ills may be traced to feet. Even symptoms like those of rheumatism and arthritis now are being banished with proper shoes. Also nervous indigestion, sleepless nights, etc.—Adv.

SAUERKRAUT FROM SURPLUS CABBAGE

With a big crop of cabbage to be taken care of, Food Specialists Florence Imlay and Pearl Haak of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggest that some of it be made into sauerkraut. A copy of the leaflet, "How to Make Sauerkraut and Sulfured Apples," may be had without charge from county or home demonstration agents, or from the college.

The cutting of the cabbage, the proportion of salt to cabbage, and the combining of the two are briefly stated. The care during fermentation and the preservation for a year-round supply are also explained.

The leaflet also gives directions for sulfuring apples. The equipment is simple, consisting of a large barrel with cover, sulfur candles or flowers of sulfur, a heavy pan for the coals, basket with cheesecloth lining or trays and a broomstick or pole. The process takes only 3 to 4 hours and, when late fall apples are used, they are preserved for several months. Stored in earthenware crocks or jars, the apples are ready for stewing, pies or for puddings.

September 15 To October 15 Date To Mail Xmas Packages

The Christmas shopping season is here—even though the weather is still warm.

Mailing of gifts for Army and Navy personnel overseas must begin by September 15, if many of the men and women in our armed services are not to be disappointed; and September 15 is not far away.

Christmas gifts may be mailed by parcel post to Army men and women overseas only between September 15 and October 15. After the latter date, such parcels may not be mailed unless a written request from the soldier for the article is presented with each parcel. No soldier should have to ASK for a Christmas gift; so gifts must be mailed on time. The Navy also urges that gifts be mailed between September 15 and October 15th.

Reasons for the early mailing dates are: The vast distances that the parcels must travel to reach our men at war fronts and stations the world over; frequent transfers of thousands of men from one location to another, which means forwarding of the mail and consumes additional time; the necessity for giving preference to reinforcements, arms, munitions, medicine and food in allotment of shipping space, which often means that the shipments of gifts must wait. And it is most urgent, that gifts be delivered to the men IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS, to keep their spirit high.

The only way to insure against disappointment for the fighting men is to buy at once and mail early—mail your gifts as soon as possible after the September 15 starting date.

Those who have relatives or friends in the service should remember that we have fighting men in Alaska, Greenland, Iceland, England, Sicily, far-separated regions of Africa, the near Eastern countries. Australia, many of the South Pacific islands, India, China, South America, and other areas.

Weeks are required for a ship to reach many of these stations. There can be no assurance, of course, that the first ship sailing for any of these locations will have space available to carry Christmas parcels. Gifts may have to wait until vitally needed supplies and equipment have been shipped, to assure victory and to save the lives of our men. If the parcels are not mailed early, holiday may prove to be just enough to prevent their arrival by Christmas day, with consequent disappointment to the men who are offering their lives for their country and ours.

Mail of all kinds is vital to the spirit of fighting men. Every officer who has inspected our Army and Navy postal facilities overseas has reported that thousands of fighting men disregard mess call when it conflicts with mail call, and get their letters first. Officers at our large military and naval stations report that the spirit and efficiency of their men receive a distinct lift when mail is distributed, and that a delay in mail service caused a decided decline in spirit with a consequent letdown in efficiency.

A disconsolate soldier or sailor who thinks he has been forgotten at Christmas obviously is not at his best. So the gifts MUST be mailed on time so that they can arrive on time.

Rules for Christmas mailings to the fighting forces overseas were made public in June for the guidance of early shoppers. They include:

The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

The parcel must be well and strongly packed, in a container of metal, wood ,strong fiber board, or similar material, then wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. The cover should be such that it can be opened readily for censorship. The contests should be packed tightly.

Perishable goods, such as fruits that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Since the armed forces are being plentifully supplied with food and clothing, the Army and Navy recommend against these as gifts.

Addresses must be written clearly and completely. In addition to the return address of the sender, a parcel for an Army man should show the name, rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, Army post office number, and name of post office through which the parcel is routed. A typical address for an Army man:

Private John R. Doe
(Army serial number)
Company F. 167th Infantry
APO 810, care Postmaster
New York, N. Y.

The address on a parcel for a Navy man should include the name and rank or rating of the addressee, the Naval unit to which he is assigned and the Navy number assigned thereto, or the name of his ship, and the fleet post office through which the parcel is routed. A typical Navy address:

John M. Jones, Seaman first class
U. S. Navy
Naval Air Station
Navy 199 (one nine nine)
care Fleet Post Office
San Francisco, Calif.

Lieutenant Roger W. Doe,
U. S. Navy
U. S. S. Minnesotá
care Fleet Post Office

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Director John Farrow is willing to do anything he tells his players to do. For a scene in "China," the spectacular war romance starring Alan Ladd, Loretta Young and William Bendix, Farrow put on bathing trunks and took a 20-foot header into the water to show Ladd just how he wanted it done. Then someone tipped the director to the fact that Ladd once held the Southern California high diving championship. Was Farrow's face red!

Double Feature

Nell O'Day, noted for her roles in recent Western films, has the heorine's part in "Pirates of the Prairie," RKO Radio's newest western starring Tim Holt.

Miss O'Day is cast as a banker's daughter who aids Holt, a young deputy marshal, in rounding up a gang of killers posing as an honest vigilante committee.

Cliff Edwards, Roy Carcroft, Karl Hackett and other well-known players are featured in the Bert Gilroy production, which is said to be one of Holt's most exciting films to date.

If every a picture meant the turning point in a director's life, "A Stranger in Town" is just that to Roy Rowland.

Rowland has been with M-G-M for the past 12 years, starting as a script clerk and then promoted to assistant director in due time. He assumed title of director in the short subject department where he guided numerous Crime Does Not Pay and M-G-M Miniature "junior features."

"A Stranger in Town" is his first feature-length effort backed by 12 years of experience on the M-G-M lot.

THANKS

Florence Methodists are very thankful (and just a little proud) that their Church building is now debt free. Erected in 1936, under the leadership of Rev. R. R. Rose, each succeeding pastor (Rev. Conn and Rev. Mosley) saw the debt reduced, and now Rev. Kidwell announces it paid in full. Early in the year the pastor had faith enough to say, "it can be paid by Conference," and though not all the members shared his confidence, each did his or her best, and Homecoming Day, Aug. 22nd, saw the last penny paid in. Now we are planning to dedicate the building, and burn the mortgage, (date to be announced later), and we take this means of thanking all who in any way helped us.

Florence Methodists.

THE WINNING OF THE WAR
By J. E. Jones

Washington, D. C.—David Lloyd George of England said, in 1917: "This war, like the next war, is a war to end war." His prophecy proved to be better than that of Woodrow Wilson who in a message to Congress declared: "This is the culminating and final war for human liberty." The beliefs expressed by our present partners in Britain, Russia, China and elsewhere, often conflict as badly as the views of those of Lloyd George and Woodrow Wilson.

There is a general agreement in Washington that Italy and Germany are already whipped but the questions involved in "unconditional surrender" and the defeat of the great Axis Nations are voiced in confused opinions and predictions by men who control the destinies of our own, and other governments. Some have hopes of the war ending this year, but Secretary of the Navy Knox has not revised the prediction he made a few weeks ago that some of the wars—perhaps the one in the Pacific — will last 'till 1949.

There is a little more steadiness of action on the Home Front this month. A fifty-page report on the food situation was filed with Secretary of Agriculture, Claude R. Wickard, a few days ago and the report vigorously assailed the failure to establish a world-wide food program. It is no news to anyone—from housewives to Generals and Admirals—that the food program has been in a state of confusion. Nevertheless, the situation has improved, simply because the administrators of food have learned a lot by bitter experiences. There is also encouraging evidence of more practical rationing of other necessities—including gasoline and oil.

Manpower Chief McNutt's reasons for drafting fathers are disputed by industrial leaders who insist that the shortage of labor in defense plants is practically nonexistant. There is no serious drop in war production, but most of the troubles have concerned a shortage of some raw materials, and difficulties about allocations. The incentive in favor of thrift and national economy will be recognized, shortly.

There is no positive indication at the present time that even our esteemed leaders, Roosevelt and Churchill, entertain the same views about the final disposition of colonies and territories, regardless of the Atlantic Charter.

Leaders of the armed forces on land, sea and air, come closer to thinking alike than all others—those men not only expect to make peace in Berlin, but they also expect to cut Germany into small pieces, and thereby prevent another world war. How about the Japs? Well, the papers a few days ago contained the news that Allied planes blasted 170 Japanese aircraft on August 17. That is a good beginning of the end of the yellow peril.

Auto Industry Comes Through

The ability of the automobile industry to take the lead in the mass production of the heavier implements of war was an accepted and foregone conclusion even prior to Pearl Harbor and the faith of the public and the production heads of the government was not misplaced. Perhaps some of us expected too much but it is quite evident that the Axis underestimated its ability to convert its facilities from automobile production to that of the needs of an army 10,000,000 strong.

We more or less expected the industry to turn out tanks, shells, bombs, guns and planes. We hoped its experience would be invaluable in organizing assembly line methods of producing many of the impliments of war. We thoughtlessly, however, restricted its versatility to turning out only the heavy materials such as armor plate, gun breeches, trucks and the like.

But there are daily stories from the centers of war production telling of amazing accomplishments by the former automobile builders. For example, there comes to hand today an article from Detroit telling of a new contract received by one of the units of the Fisher Body Division of General Motors to build thousands of remote reading magnetic compass indicators and transmitters. The aircraft instrument is a very delicate one requiring the finest precision work. The contract was awarded as a result of an outstanding job done on two similar instruments, the announcement states.

The manufacture of these instruments was an entirely new type of work for the former body builders but records of production indicate its versatility and ability to assume the difficult jobs. The conclusion of the war will bring to light countless other accomplishments by this vital industry in fields entirely foreign to it.

All industry is doing its job well and to it we all owe a lot. But the automobile industry is really the core of the home front.

Industrial Demobilization

Donald Nelson has the foresight to have discovered that there must be something more than "stratospheric thinking" to bring about the re-conversion of the Nation's industries from war to peace. As chairman of the War Production Board he has had a part in "scrambling the industrial eggs" and he observes that WPB becomes the logical agency to "unscramble" them. He divides industrial demobilization in two parts: 1. Renewal of necessary civilian production during war production, as material becomes available and demands grow imperative. This phase of the overall program is already operating and will obviously require little attention when demobilization is finally ordered. 2. Establishment of a basic operational plan to throw into action immediately should a momentous war development occur. This plan will be sufficiently flexible to operate in part should such a contingency arise as a sudden end of the European part of the war.

His plan will be presented to the Special Post-War Economic Policy and Planning Committee of Congress, of which Senator George of Georgia, is Chairman.

In the mechanics of re-conversion, when the time arrives, WPB will proceed first to demobilize those industries which are able to give the greatest employment and which manufacture goods in biggest volumes to meet unusual demands. First attention will likely be given to the automobile industry. War elimination of automobile production, and subsequent restrains on purchases, have created an immense back-log of demand. At the beginning of the war definite agreements provided for the quick removal of government-owned machinery and inventories from the plants when war production contracts terminate. The manufacture of planes will be shifted back to plane manufacturers as rapidly as possible, and the government and automobile industry are apparently agreed that reconversion will be accomplished and automobile production resumed as rapidly as possible. Chairman Nelson recognizes the importance of industrial demobilization just as soon as victory is assured. That demobilization must be planned well in advance.

"Procedural Rows" and Treaties

Apparently the State Department and the United States Senate have reached an agreement through which proposed United Nations' Relief and Rehabilitation treaties will be ratified by a majority vote of the Senate. Secretary of State Hull recented from his insistence that these treaties could be made and approved by the Administration without the okeh of the Senate. Senator Vandenberg has let up on his demand that the treaties must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the Senate. Thus the battle over "procedural rows" appears to have been settled in a sensible way.

When it comes to the handling of major peace treaties the above method does not apply. The Senate will insist on approval by a two-thirds vote of all peace treaties. Both Houses of Congress are determined that their own members shall be included in the conferences of nations when peace treaties are made. This determination is a child of the previous World War and the misfortunes that befell President Wilson's Versailles peace treaty.

Congress has insisted from the beginning that the treaty of peace at the end of this war shall be of such a nature that it will be approved by both the Administrative and the Legislative branches of the American government. That is the real reason why a party of U. S. Senators is now in Europe.

Bootleggers Are Operating

The amount of liquor withdrawn from warehouses for sale to the public is only 55 per cent of last year, while there is every evidence that the amount of liquor consumer is more than last year. Washington authorities have been trailing suspects who have been "cleaning" industrial alcohol and furnishing what is apparently a "safe, good drink." The retail price of legitimate beverage alcohol is $38 a gallon, but the bootlegger alcohol can be concocted and bottled at $1 a gallon. The temptation is too great, and the crooks are again gaining headway over enforcement officials.

War Bond Advertising

Powerful Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama takes a strong position in favor of government-paid advertising for the sale of war bonds. In a recent speech he argued before the Alabama Press Association that the government could well afford to spend money in the leading weeklies and local dailies because it would bring to the Treasury hundreds of millions of dollars. He argued convincingly that the expenditures for this class of advertising would be a practical investment for the government, and derided the objection that this would be a "subesidy" of the newspapers.

In the Magnolia community of Larue county, 12 farmers from eight farms solved their labor problems by exchanging work.

Forty-six 4-H club boys in Jefferson county are raising 94 dairy cattle, 15 of the boys owning 59 registered animals.

Sixteen canning demonstrations were attended by 348 women in Nelson county in one month.

DEVON

Mrs. Raymond Sisson and daughter, of Ohio, spent Wednesday night with Mr. and Mrs. West Scott and family. Sid Scott returned home with them for a short visit.

Albert Cardosi received injuries when he was kicked by a horse.

Quite a few friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bresser to view the moving pictures taken on the Silver Anniversary July 18th of the celebration.

A very welcome rain fell here over the week-end.

CARD OF THANKS

Deepest appreciation and sincere thanks are extended to our friends and neighbors for their many expressions of sympathy and acts of kindness shown us during the illness and death of our beloved husband, father and son,

COLD STORAGE PLANT PROPOSED

TO SERVE RURAL COMMUNITY OF BOONE, KENTON, GALLATIN AND GRANT COUNTIES IN VICINITY OF WALTON.

Applications are being received this week whereby signers may reserve space in a proposed cold storage locker plant to be erected at Walton, when it is ready for use. There will be 30 lockers available if the application for this plant is approved by the War Production Board, but it is necessary that 60 percent of the capacity be signed up and one year's rental be paid in advance before application for construction of such plant will be considered by the WPB.

There appears in this issue of The Recorder application form which may be used to apply for locker space. It is imperative that applications be filled in and be in hands of Dixie State Bank, Walton, Ky., by the end of this week if we are to have much chance of priority being granted by the government for construction of such a project in this neighborhood.

Other sections of the country particularly in the South and West have had this type plant available for the past several years and we feel that this section of Kentucky will be greatly benefitted by the existence of such a convenience for the preservation of food.

This project is locally financed and will be owned and operated by a group of local business men. The latest report on the progress of the above mentioned plant is that the idea was meeting with widespread approval and that all the lockers would be sold in the very near future. This condition is true in Winchester, Paris, Stanford, Danville, Frankfort, Versailles and other Kentucky towns that have such locker plants in operation. All of the space is sold at these points and there is a waiting list for the lockers when they are available.

We believe it would be a sad mistake if the people of the four counties named should pass up this opportunity to avail themselves of this chance to secure a cold storage plant through failure to sign sufficient number of applications soon enough.

Further information concerning this project may be had by calling Walton Lumber Company, Community Public Service Company or Mr. Forkner at the County Agent's office in Burlington.

If interested in this project do not fail to fill in application form on another page of this issue, and mail in not later than Saturday, September 18th.

BICYCLE RIDERS ARE GIVEN WARNING BY SHERIFF WILLIAMS

Several complaints have been made to Sheriff Williams concerning bicycle riding on the sidewalks of Burlington. Sheriff Williams stated Wednesday that owners of bicycles should use caution when operating their vehicles, in order to prevent accidents.

Several near-accidents have been reported to the Sheriff's office which could have proven serious.

C. L. TANNER ANSWERS CALL

AFTER LONG ILLNESS—WAS WELL KNOWN NORTHERN KENTUCKY AUCTIONEER — SERVICES HELD TUESDAY.

Chester L. Tanner, 56, died early Sunday at his home, Limaburg, Ky., after a long illness. He was a lifelong resident of Boone County and a prominent farmer and auctioneer.

Mr. Tanner was widely known throughout Northern Kentucky as "Colonel Check." He was a member of Florence Baptist Church and of the Odd Fellows and Modern Woodmen of America at Burlington. He former operated a feed store at Florence.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sadie B. Tanner; one daughter, Mrs. Raymond W. Gross, Walton; a granddaughter, Miss Lola B. Gross; two sisters, Mrs. T. E. McHenry and Mrs. Linnie Easton, Florence; and four brothers, D. I. Tanner and Alonzo Tanner, Florence and Fitzhugh and Lloyd Tanner, Covington.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 Tuesday at Hopeful Lutheran Church with burial in Hopeful Cemetery.

Tharp & Stith, Florence funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Miss Nora Cahill

Requiem High Mass for Miss Nora Cahill, former resident of Florence, who died Monday at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. L. Kroger, Hamilton, Ohio, was sung at St. Stephen Church, Hamilton, at 9 a. m. Thursday, following prayers at the Edward K. Wagner funeral home at 8:30 a. m. Burial was in St. Mary Cemetery, Ft. Mitchell.

Miss Cahill was a resident of Florence until five years ago.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. L. L. Kroger, of Hamilton and Mrs. Molly Conrad, Florence, and one brother, Charles Cahill, of Indianapolis, Ind.

Blanks Must Be Filled In By Four-H Members

It was understood when the 4-H Clubs were organized last spring that written reports would not be required. However, each member will receive a questionnaire with six questions about the 4-H project. These blanks are to be filled in and returned to the county agent's office, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent.

Information gained thru these letters will help to complete the necessary records that must be kept in the county and state offices.

The schedule for the September 4-H Club meetings will appear in The Recorder next week.

BUSINESSMEN AID LOCAL FARMERS

THIRTEEN FARMERS HELPED IN GROWING AND HARVESTING CROPS DURING PAST THREE MONTHS.

Thirty-two business men served the past three months in the Burlington Volunteer Farm Labor Group, according to Rev. Will Smith, County Farm Labor Assistant.

These men have helped thirteen farmers encountering emergencies in the growing and harvesting of their crops. These men have made a total of 153 man hours working on jobs ranging from chopping out corn to harvesting hay, cutting and housing tobacco.

The members of the volunteer group who enlisted on the original program which was set up to charge 50 cents per hour have served in every instance without pay working only to assist in the nation's food and fiber production program and with a desire to help worthy farmers in need. The work of this group is reported one of the outstanding examples of farmer-businessman cooperation in the state.

Members who have served in the Burlington Volunteer group includes Elmer Kirkpatrick, C. D. Benson, C. L. Cropper, Walter Brown, A. E. Stephens, Luther Smith, R. I. Rouse, J. T. Williams, Ty Combs, A. B. Renaker, J. G. Smith, H. R. Forkner, O. D. Perkinson, N. Sullivan, L. C. Weaver, John Crigler, Courtney Kelly, G. S. Kelly, A. W. Weaver, Joe Huey, Less McBee, Carl Cason, Frank Maurer, E. J. Crutcher, Sherman Burcham, Willard Ryle, Charles Dolph, Alvin Clore, Elza Poston, Winfred Huey, John J. Maurer, John Zellers.

There is a possibility that the name of someone who has worked in the above group has been overlooked. If this is reported their names will be added to the above list.

The most surprising experience of the above program has been the skill, stamina and ability that many of the above former farm boys displayed when taken out of a store, bank or office and put in the field.

Mrs. Laura Bradford

Funeral services for Mrs. Laura Bradford, 2020 Franklin Street, Covington, were held at the Big Bone Baptist Chuch at 1 p. m. last Tuesday. Burial was in Big Bone Cemetery. Mrs. Bradford was 63.

She died late Saturday at her home following a long iness. She was a native of Boone County but had been a resident of Covington for the past five years.

She is survived by one son Russell Bradford, Covington; two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Abdon and Mrs. Nancy Allen, both of Union; two brothers, George Moore, Dayton and Robert Moore, of Boone County and five grandchildren.

BOND CAMPAIGN REACHES $51,860

IS LONG WAY FROM COUNTY QUOTA OF $732,900—FREE PICTURE SHOW WILL BE PRESENTED SATURDAY.

Total subscriptions to the Third War Loan Drive for the three days of last week, up to Saturday night totals $51,860.25. This total was subscribed by 177 people.

This is a long way from the County quota of $732,900.00. We must get in the full swing of the drive from now on. Don't wait for a solicitor to call on you but go to your bank and make your subscription and show by your act you are behind our soldiers and sailors in this war. They are doing our fighting, we must furnish the money.

Next Saturday night, September 18th, a free picture show will be presented at the court house in Burlington at 8:30 Eastern War Time, showing the part the Army and Navy are playing in this conflict.

A wounder soldier, a wounded sailor and possibly a wounded Marine will be present in person to tell you something of their actual experience in this war. A WAVE, a WAC and other sailors will be present.

Everyone is invited. Come out and give them a good audience.

Precinct chairman are requested to give this occasion wide publicity and it is hoped that every precinct will be represented Saturday night by a number of its citizens.

Thomas Franklin Campbell

Thomas Campbell, beloved husband of Mrs. Emma E. Campbell, Petersburg, passed away at his home late Sunday afternoon, following a brief illness.

Mr. Campbell was a member of the Petersburg Baptist Church and for the past few years has been employed by the State Highway Department.

Besdies his widow, he leaves four daughters, Mrs. Geo. Bowman, Mrs. Donald Mathews, Mrs. Porter Huey and Miss Clara Campbell all of Boone County; two sons Jerome Campbell, of Camp Swift, Texas, and Marvin G. Campbell, of Petersburg; one grandson and a host of other relatives and friends who will mourn his passing.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. at Petersburg Baptist Church with burial in Petersburg Cemetery.

Chambers & Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

Edward V. Clements, of Dayton, Ohio recently spent a week's vacation with his father, N. H. Clements of the Hathaway neighborhood.

WILL SPEAK AT BELLEVIEW

NORTH BEND ASS'N. NOW IN SESSION

141ST ANNUAL MEETING HELD AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, COVINGTON—REV. ROY JOHNSON IS MODERATOR.

The 141st session of the North Bend Association, composed of 33 Baptist Churches in northern Kentucky and Ohio is now in progress at the First Baptist Church, 4th St., Covington, beginning yesterday and continuing throughout today.

Rev. R. A. Johnson, pastor of the Burlington Baptist Church is moderator and W. T. Perry, general secretary and treasurer of the association.

Devotions opening the sessions were conducted by Rev. H. H. Welch, pastor of the West Side Baptist Church, Hamilton, O., Rev. M. M. McFarland, pastor of the Oak Ridge Baptist Church preached the annual sermon on the conclave. The principal address last night was delivered by Dr. John W. Moffett, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Newport.

Guest speakers from outside of the association included Dr. J. W. Black, general secretary of the Baptist of Kentucky; Dr. John D. Freeman, editor of the Western Recorder, and Dr. S. S. Hill, president of Georgetown College.

The eighth annual session of the North Bend Baptist Training Union Association will be held tonight (Thursday) at 8:00 p. m.

LADIES WILL SERVE FRIED CHICKEN SAT.

The ladies of Florence Methodist Church will serve a fried chicken luncheon and supper, Saturday, September 25th. Lunch will be served from 11 to 1 p. m., supper from 5 to 8 p. m.

NOTED SPEAKER WILL BE HEARD

AT BELLEVIEW CHURCH OF CHRIST, SUNDAY—WILL BE DIAMOND JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

Edwin R. Errett, editor of the Christian Standard, and nationally known Bible commentator, will address the audience gathered Sunday afternoon at the Belleview Church of Christ, on the occasion of that congregation's Diamond Jubilee Celebration.

Bro. Errett has been editor of the Christian Standard for fifteen years, during which time that periodical's circulation has doubled, and become the largest paper circulating among the Churches of Christ. It has one of the largest circulations of any religious paper in the world.

Bro. Errett is well known in and around the Cincinnati area and has occupied the pulpits of most of the churches in that area as a lecturer and guest preacher. His scholarly presentation of the Gospel should appeal to all who have made the Bible their textbook.

Ben and Edith Allison who entertained and thrilled the church with their graphic presentation of the mission work of the Phillipine Islands will again bring a similar message with entirely new material, at the evening worship service on the same day.

Th Rising Sun, Indiana Church will join the Belleview Church in this historic event and all other churches in Boone County are urged to do the same.

The protracted meeting which has been in progress all this week is being conducted by the local minister, Sam M. Hamilton. The sermon topics for the nights remaining this week are: Thursday, "Why I Am A Baptist"; Friday, chart sermon on the "Destinies of Man"; Saturday, "New Relations."

An earnest invitation and welcome is extended to every one to attend these services which begin promptly each evening at 7:00 p. m. (CWT), with thirty minutes study in the Book of James, the regular worship service beginning at 7:30. Services will end promptly on the hour.

They are residing at Park Road, Summit Lane, Ft. Mitchell, Ky.

DRAFT BOARD TO TAKE INVENTORY

CLASSIFICATION WILL BE SUSPENDED FROM SEPT. 15 TO SEPT. 30—YOUTHS BECOMING 18 WILL BE REGISTERED.

Selective Service headquarters has directed Draft Board No. 9, Burlington to begin Thursday, an inventory of men without dependents to determine that they are classified correctly.

During the 15-day inventory, the boards will suspend new classifications, according to C. G. Kelly, Clerk of the Board. Non-fathers who have been erroneously placed in occupationaly deferred classifications, or those in 4-F who are now qualified physically for army life, are to be shifted to 1-A, ready for immediate induction.

Mr. Kelly stated that the office will be open to youths becoming 18 years of age, for registration during the inventory period.

Nine Boone County men were sent from Local Draft Board No. 9 Tuesday, to Cincinnati for their final examination and induction into the U. S. Army. Names of inducted will be given in next week's issue.

Advance notice from State Selective Headquarters, Louisville, received by Draft Board 9 will be for approximately 145 men, according to Draft Board officials. The October call will include 138 non-fathers, 1 father, six Negroes, non fathers.

This is the largest call from Boone County since Selective Service was enacted.

Celebrates 86th Birthday By Hitch Hiking To Burlington

Chas. A. Fowler, of Hebron, celebrated his 86th birthday, Monday, September 13th by hitch hiking to Burlington. Mr. Fowler is a very active man for his years, and is apparently enjoying the best of health.

Thirteen has never been a jinx to him, as he was born on the 13th, was the thirteenth member of his family, and won easily for the office of jailer with his name appearing the thirteenth on the ballot.

Mr. Fowler is well known thruout the county, and his many friends wish him many more years of health.

Edwards-Jones

Miss Mary Margaret Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Edwards, of Petersburg and Mr. Ralph Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jones, of Florence, were quietly married August 21 at Crittenden, Ky.

The bride was attired in a fall suit of navy blue, with white accessories.

After spending a brief honeymoon at Natural Bridge they are making their home for the present with the bride's parents.

We wish this young couple much happiness and success.

CO. X-RAY CLINIC SET SEPTEMBER 21

WILL BE HELD AT FLORENCE METHODIST CHURCH BEGINNING AT 9:00 A. M.—AFTERNOON FOR TEACHERS.

The Boone County X-Ray Clinic will be held at the Florence Methodist Church, Tuesday, September 21st at 9 a. m., according to Elizabeth Lowry, Red Cross County Nurse.

Doctors who have made a study of tuberculosis agree that the chest X-ray is indispensable in the diagnosis of tuberculosis. If we could find ways and means to X-ray every member of every family in which there has been a death from tuberculosis within the last five years and X-ray every member of a household in which there is a case of tuberculosis how much could be done to prevent new cases. This shoul also include frequent visitors to a tuberculosis patient.

If you think you should have an X-ray, see your doctor, and if he advises it, come to the clinc September 21st. You are requested to be present between nine and eleven in the morning. The hours from 1 to 2:00 in the afternoon are reserved for teachers.

Burlington Nine Takes Double Bill From Florence Sat.

Burlington's Sunday School baseball team took two games from the Florence team Saturday in a double bill at the Florence park. The first game was Burlington 19, Florence 18. Results of the second game was Burlington 8, Florence 3.

Brown was on the hill for the winners in the first game, allowing seventeen hits, while Turner allowed seventeen hits for the Florence nine. Burlington scored 3 in the first, six in the fourth, two in the 6th, one in the seventh, three in the eighth and 3 in the ninth for a total of 19 runs. Florence scored 2 runs in the first, two in the second, six in the third, two in the fourth, one in the sixth, three in the seventh and two in the eighth for a total of 18.

Burlington took an early lead in the second game, scoring three runs in the first inning. After the fourth inning Florence never was able to push a man across home plate. Burlington collected seven hits while Florence collected five. Benson was on the hill for Burlington with Zapp hurling for Florence.

WHITES ENTERTAIN

4-H AND UTOPIA FAIR NETS $211.26

COUNCIL REPORTS FAIR MOST SUCCESSFUL HELD TO DATE—DEBT OF $1400 REMAINS ON BUILDINGS.

The 1943 Four-H and Utopia Club Free Fair showed a net profit of $211.26, according to John R. Conner, Treasurer of the 4-H and Utopia Council. The expenses at the fair totaled $807.42 and receipts $1006.43. The treasurer presented his report to the council on Monday afternoon of this week in the first meeting following the fair.

The council reported the fair the most successful held to date and expressed appreciation for the splendid cooperation to all who helped make the fair a success.

Reports to the council showed that approximately $5700 has been spent on the grounds and improvements. Three thousand dollars of this amount represents the grounds purchase and $2700 the construction of buildings and the lake. To date the grounds are paid for and $1300 of the improvements, leaving an approximate building debt of $1400. The council is making plans to pay this debt off in full inside the next two years and to proceed to build up a strong building and improvement fund.

Yank Correspondents Tell What Servicemen Prefer For Christmas

Heading the list of what the overseas serviceman wants in his Christmas package are "newsy cheerful letters from home and recent photographs or snapshots of family and friends, according to information received by a canvass of overseas Yank correspondents and officers recently returned from various theaters of war. Men interviewed by Yank correspondents say a short letter from friends is worth a hundred Christmas cards. Many men would like a new picture of wife, sweetheart or parent not larger than pocket-size and encased in a waterproof folder—most of the pictures they took with them now being the worse for wear.

Cigarette lighters "that will light in a strong wind" with extra flints and wicks run a close second in articles wanter, followed by such items as: waterproof, shockproof wrist watches, hunting or boy scout knives, and small, inexpensive cameras with an ample supply of films. Army Censorship Office warns that film may be sent overseas only if in the manufacturer's original package with seal unbroken.) Phonograph records are prohibited because of the possibility of concealed messages being sent.

What Servicemen Want

Other items which appear on a great many lists submitted by various theaters of operations, are: fountain pens and pencil sets with extra lead; subscriptions to pocket-size magazines; small-size books; flashlights; compact writing portfolios rigid enough to be used as writing boards; billfolds; identification braclets; dog tag chains; small steel mirrors; fine tempered, rust-proof razor blades; fingernail scissors; pipes; handkerchiefs; OD socks and extra underwear; and good linen playing cards and poker chips.

Soldiers in different combat areas don't want the same articles, but certain basic principles governing the selection of gifts will avoid keen disappointment for the boys. The Post Exchange carries basic necessities, and where there is no Post Exchange the men are issued soap, razor blades, toilet equipment, tobacco, and candy. Temporary shortages are often quickly met. Do not send food or assorted commercial packages of goodies—except well-packaged fruit cake. Do not send elaborate shaving kits or cigarettes. Even where cigarettes are most heavily rationed, men are allowed a pack a day. Civilians often forget that the shortages they experience may not be true of servicemen.

In addition to the articles wanted by Army men, the Navy also asks for foot powder, saddle soap, sun lotion, small, folding picture frames, checkerboards and backgammon games. Members of the Women's Auxiliary Corps serving overseas put swimming and laundry needs above all else, and warn well-wishers that they have no use for civilian clothing or accessories.

Postal Regulations

According to Army Postal Service, overseas Christmas gift packages cannot weigh more than five pounds, nor measure more than 15 inches in length and not more than 36 inches in length and girth combined. The postal service says to send durable articles which will stand up six months or more in shipping and they recommend that one of the five pounds allowable be used solely for wrappings. The postal service cautions that "the hold of a ship may reach 130 degrees and a ton of weight may rest on your Christmas parcel." Addresses should be printed if possible with a substance that will not mar, smudge, or otherwise run.

Whatever is sent, the personal tastes of the recipient and his particular theater of operation should be considered. Send love rather than poor quality—gift articles must be durable. They should be compact and easy to carry. To prevent disappointing the serviceman, relatives and friends should be careful to avoid duplication of gifts.

UNFINISHED CHAPTER

More than twenty million troops and more than eighty million tons of freight and express were moved by the railroads for the Army during the first eighteen months of the war. In handling these troop movements, the railroads performed a total of 17,105,000,000 passenger miles of transportation service. Ninety thousand separate troop movement orders were issued to the railroads alone.

These orders called for the special handling of more than 12,000,000 troops and involved the use of 72,368 coaches, 214,881 sleeping cars, 49,987 baggage and kitchen cars, and 101,881 refrigerator, box, flat and gondola cars.

It is doubtful if any person of this generation who has actually lived to see a transportation miracle can ever appreciate what the railroads have done. It is a mortal certainty that if the advisers of the dictators could have seen a preview of this miracle, they would have revised their estimates of the decadent democracies.

The big question now in the minds of railroad men is how will the next chapter read in the history of rail transportation? The miracle of the past eighteen months was accomplished at great cost to plant and equipment. There was no sleight of hand about it. Under expert management, trains have moved without rest, and ceaseless operation has exacted its toll of rails and rolling stock. As the next eighteen months of transportation roll into history, it can become another miracle or a debacle, depending on what the railroads are allowed to buy in the shape of new equipment.

Th railroads have asked for material based on minimum needs, which government authorities who control the nation's resources have not seen fit to give them. The authorities undoubtedly know they are risking a transportation disaster.

MORE DOCTORS IN UNIFORM

Representatives of the medical profession in conference with military authorities, have announced that 6,000 more doctors are needed in the immediate future to serve the armed forces. The American Medical Journal, in explanation of the demand for more doctors, says: "As the war continues and intensifies, new needs for the services of the medical profession become apparent. An army in motion and one engaged in the kind of aggressive combat that now concerns our armed forces needs physicians in even greater numbers than have heretofore been demanded. Many thousands of interned allens and prisoners are now the burden of the United States and must be given medical care."

It is up to civilians more than ever before to cooperate with the remaining medical men to the end that everyone will receive the best that can be given to them under the circumstances. If this cooperation is given there need be little hardship. Remember, if you want to consult your doctor—first do it by telephone, and follow his advice to the letter.

THEIR WATCHWORD IS FIRE PREVENTION

In these days when wholesale destruction is the keynote of human existence, it is refreshing to be reminded that at least one field of endeavor is dedicated to preserving instead of destroying life and property. That field is fire insurance companies have for many years carried on effective, far reaching fire prevention measures. There is no way of accurately recording the billions of dollars of property and countless thousands of lives saved by their efforts. That they have been tremendous is evident from the steady decline in the cost of fire insurance.

Through its fire prevention program, the fire insurance industry serves all people, whether they are insured or uninsured. It has promoted fire-resistant construction and the correction of fire hazards in home and factory. Innumberable electrical and other common devices of modern living bear the stamp of approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories, indicating that safety requirements have been met in the process of manufacture.

Recently the National Board of Fire Underwriters celebrated its 75th anniversary. Said the New York Times editorially, in commemorating the occasion:: "Prevention of fire is the Board's watchword. On that subject it is the world's leading authority . . . By undertaking this beneficent and necessary work the National Board of Fire Underwriters relieves Federal and state government of an immense expense, places fire prevention on a sound basis and, what is more, gives a demonstration of the manner in which a great private enterprise can meet grave social responsibilities in the democratic way."

STRATOSPHERE REGULATION

Several years ago Senator McCarran of Nevada said of the rapidly growing aviation industry: "I believe, if not now, very shortly, in this science and in this industry we will come to a point where we must forget state lines."

He was referring principally to the operation of commercial airlines. He was one of the first to realize the potential difficulties of local regulation over this form of carrier. Modern air transportation crosses entire states in a matter of minutes. If each state sought to invoke its own rules for airline operation, the result would be chaos.

A bill is now being drawn in the House of Representatives which incorporates points for which the Senator has been working for years: first, the restoration of complete independence for the administrative agency regulating civil aviation, instead of having it a bureau in the Department of Commerce; second, extending Federal regulation to cover all commerical air transportation, both within and between states.

Aviation companies, like Senator McCarran, realize that "state lines have not penetrated to the stratosphere," and aircraft regulation, to be sound, must embody this fundamental concept.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE SIN OF MOSES AND AARON

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 20:1-13, 27, 28.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye angry, and sin not.—Ephesians 4:26.

Sin is a serious matter, and even though men in our day may not call it by its real name, it is as much here as it was in the days of Moses—and it is just as awfully sinful as ever.

Sin is universal; it appears not only among the people, but also among their leaders. God's dealing with it is on the basis of "greater privilege, greater responsibility." No leader, especially in God's cause, can expect special consideration of his weakness. He must meet God and answer for his sin.

I. The Unbelief of the People (vv. 1-5).

It is well to bear in mind that the people of Israel who were now at Kadesh-Barnea, on the borderland of Canaan, had been here once before—40 years before. Here they had rebelled against God in unbelief because of the report of the spies concerning the land. Because of their unwillingness to take God at His word, they had been sent to wander 40 years in the wilderness until the complainers had died. Read that graphic and instructive story in Numbers 13 and 14.

Now they were back at Kadesh—and a new generation shows that the spirit of unbelief and distrust has a hold on humanity, and makes son like father.

They had run short of water. The spring which had served their fathers on the previous visit to Kadesh had run dry.

One would have supposed that all the mighty dealings of God in their deliverances over and over again, would have indicated the need of faith; but they had only a wailing criticism of God and His leaders.

II. The Answer—God's Power (vv. 6-8).

Moses and Aaron, now old men but still God's chosen leaders, took their sorrow to Him (v. 6). It was the right place to go, for power belongeth unto the Lord (Ps. 62:11).

Instead of punishing the people for their unbelief, God calls upon His servant Moses to show them that He (God) is able. At a word from Moses, the rock would bring forth water before their eyes.

Is not that the perfect answer to all man's questioning and lack of faith—the revelation of the omnipotence of God?

But God's purpose is defeated (at least in a measure) by the

III. Unbelief of the Leaders (vv. 9-11).

Instead of taking their place as the servants and subordinates of God, Moses and Aaron claimed that they would provide water (v. 10). Instead of showing God's power by speaking to the rock, and His mercy in providing for the people, they uttered a rebuke; and then, by smiting the rock, took to themselves the honor that really belonged to God.

When called upon to act for God, they acted for themselves, and in their own name. They used for their own glory the power delegated to them by God. Let us beware that we do not fall into the same error.

Let us also note that if the punishment seems severe, we should recall that they had broken a type of Christ. Christ was the Rock. He was to be smitten at Calvary, that the water of life might flow forth. But He died once for sin (I Cor. 10:4) and is not to be smitten again. We need now only speak to Him in faith and receive life.

In Exodus 17:5, 6, Moses smote the rock, presenting the first half of the type foreshadowing the work of Christ; now he was to speak to it, fulfilling the type, and in unbelief he destroyed God's picture or type of redemption. It was a grievous sin.

IV. The Answer—Judgment (vv. 12, 13, 27, 28).

Moses and Aaron were not to be permitted to enter the promised land, because of their failure. No doubt it was true that their departure to be with the Lord was in a sense "far better" for them; and yet it cannot be denied that there was disappointment in not seeing the conclusion of their long and arduous labors.

The lesson is clear. We may serve God long and faithfully, but that is not any excuse for "letting down" in our closing years. We dare not presume, as though our intimate touch with God and place of leadership gave us an "inside track," a right to take it easy, spiritually or morally.

Sin is always sin; and it is especially grievous in one who has the privilege of high position and of power with God.

God buried His workmen; but His work went on. For Aaron there was his son Eleazar (v. 28). For Moses there was a Joshua, "full of the spirit of wisdom" (Deut. 34:9). It is always so. None of us is indispensable.

KENTUCKY 4-H CLUB NEWS

Millerstown school in Grayson county holds the top 4-H club record in the county. Each of the 17 members has started one or more of the following projects: canning, clothing, gardening, poultry, swine, dairy, corn, sheep, tobacco and labor. Five members are the children of Mrs. Carrie Campbell.

Mary Ruth Ramage and Catherine Peek, 4-H club members of the Cedar Grove club in Livingston county, gave a canning demonstration to the homemakers of their neighborhood. The girls learned the new tricks in canning by attending the demonstration given by Foods Specialist Florence Imlay.

The Glasgow 4-H club of Barren county had its third sale of war bonds and stamps in July, realizing $1,423 at the booth set up for the purpose. Total sales to date by the club are $3,405.

Annie Mae McCormack and Dorothy Eldridge of the Oak Ridge 4-H club in Simpson county assisted their leader, Mrs. F. D. Pritchard, in giving canning demonstrations. Forty-five club girls in the county attended canning demonstrations and are canning at home or assisting others.

Breathitt county has surpassed its 4-H club membership goal by 44, making a total of 2,594 members. There are 1,412 girls and 1,182 boys enrolled. To date, 283 have enrolled to plant fall gardens and 339 to do fall canning.

Because of her clothing project work in her 4-H club, Marian Alice Workman of Calloway county won high praise from her home economics sewing teacher in school. Previously, Marian had won blue ribbons in two years of sewing projects.

Shirley Moser of Oldham county, state canning champion in 1940, spent three fourths of her time this summer working in the fields and in her father's dairy, which qualifies her for membership in WLA. Shirley will be a Junior at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics this fall.

4-H CLUBS PUT FREEDOM FIRST

With the slogan, "4-H Clubs Put Freedom First in 1944," 102,000 Kentucky boys and girls are organizing their projects to speed Victory. In the first fall meetings, clubs throughout the state will learn why war bonds and stamps are "musts" for everyone. Then they will promote the sale of them through their own buy-a-bomber campaign.

So that not a pound of Kentucky's harvest of fruits and vegetables will be lost, information on their storage will be discussed in October meetings, to be followed throughout the year by other timely subjects. Members and leaders will explain approved methods of cellar, mound and barrel storage learned through actual construction at district wartime conferences.

Forward March, America!

THE 3RD WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Today—your country looks to you to back the invasion

3RD WAR LOAN
15 BILLION DOLLARS
(NON-BANKING QUOTA)
★ ★ ★

THE big drive is on! As the tempo of the war increases . . . as our fighting forces go all-out for INVASION, we folks back home must mobilize in their support.

And that's what the 3rd War Loan Drive is for!

To reach our national quota everyone who possibly can must invest in at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond during the drive. AT LEAST $100. More if you can. That's in addition to your regular War Bond subscription. Invest out of your income . . . invest out of accumulated funds. Invest every dollar you can. This is total war and everyone must do his full share!

You know all about War Bonds. You know that every penny comes back to you with generous interest. That War Bonds are the safest investment in the world. That they help secure your future . . . hasten Victory. So now—today—back the attack—with War Bonds.

Safest Investments in the World

• United States War Savings Bonds Series "E"; gives you back $4 for every $3 when the bond matures. Interest: 2.9% a year, compounded semiannually, if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Redemption: Anytime 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969; readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral. Redeemable at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated September 15, 1943: due December 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other securities: Series "C" Savings Notes; ⅞% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1951-1953; United States Savings Bonds series "F"; United States Savings Bonds series "G".

COVER CROP MUST BE OF EXTRA VALUE

THIS YEAR, ACCORDING TO ASSISTANT COUNTY AGENT—VETCH IS IMPORTANT WINTER LEGUME.

Land allowed to lay fallow will be depleted of a large amount of plant food. In most cases as much plant food will be lost as is required to produce a crop of corn, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent. Fields that are steep to rolling may be practically ruined in one season by washes.

Some form of cover crop should be sowed on all crop land. Balbo rye, wheat and common rye are [illegible] in this locality. If we can't get the seed preferred, sow something. Read the tag and watch out for large amounts of weed seed and wild garlic. Get cover crop sowed as soon as possible. The more growth it gets before cold weather the more protection it will give to the ground. Land recently treated with lime phosphate has large quantities of free plant food that will be lost unless taken up by cover crop.

Vetch is an important winter legume that should be seeded with all cover crops that will be turned under next spring. The cheapest source is through the AAA's Grant of Aid at $12.30 per 100 pounds. Care should be taken to read the original tag as a few sacks of this vetch has some wild garlic seed. Seed containing wild garlic should not be accepted. Vetch seed may be purchased direct from local seedsmen at about 20 cents per pound. Twenty to forty pounds of vetch per acre should be seeded.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER

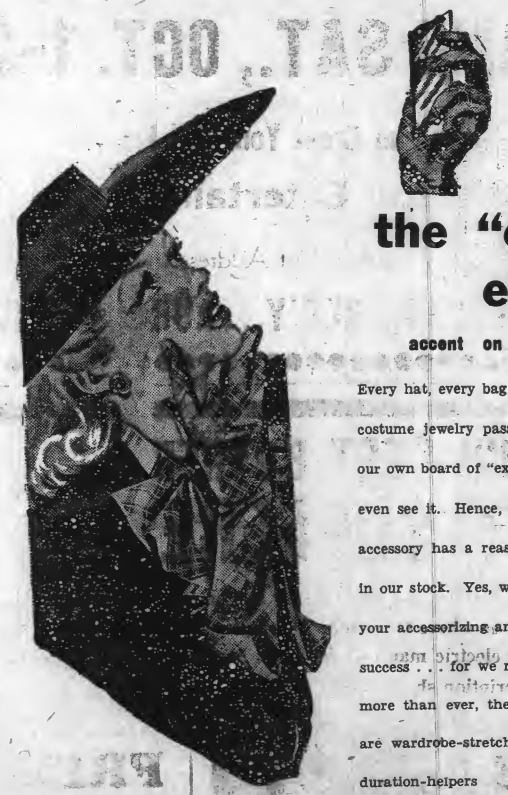
Sunday, September 12, several gathered at the home of Mrs. Belle Jones to surprise her, it being her birthday. It also was the birthdays of her granddaughter Anna Mae Snyder and her niece Mrs. Wilbur Rice.

All gathered at 12 o'clock with plenty of good things to eat. Those enjoying the occasion were:

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Wady Holsworth, of Union; Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Jones and son of Crittenden; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Lottie Jones, of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Jones and son, of Covington; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rice, of Idlewild; Marilyn Helms, Mrs. Mae Snyder, Charlie and Clinton Moore, Anna Mae Snyder and the hostess, Mrs. Belle Jones.

In the afternoon Mrs. Snyder entertained with piano music. All left at a late hour, hoping to be together again in the near future.

Farmers Are Urged To Secure Tenants Early



Farmers, whether landlords or tenants, should trade at the earliest possible date for the next year's cropping season, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The sooner such trades are completed the better the plans for next year's crop and livestock production.

Prospects for next year include a more serious shortage of labor, probably some more machinery, fewer head of livestock, greater production of feed crops.

There is no substitute for clear thinking and careful planning by each individual farmer. Unless the farm operations are balanced and balanced in relation to labor, machinery, feed production, pasture and livestock unprofitable operations may result. These factors under present war conditions make plans for next year doubly important now.

There are many farm jobs bearing on next year's production that should be done now and in many cases in accord and understanding with next year's tenants and landlords.

Heat which is released in the basement should be made accessible to the rest of the house by keeping the inside basement door open, or by allowing it to pass thru special grilles placed in the floor.

COOKED A FINE DINNER; THEN THREW IT TO DOG

One lady recently stated that she used to throw her own dinner to the dog most of the time. It made her sick just to look at anything to eat. She was swollen with gas, full of bloat, had headaches, felt worn out and was badly constipated. Finally she got ERB-HELP and says she now eats everything in sight and digests it perfectly. She is enjoying life once more and feels like "some other woman" since taking this New Compound.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP! Dahlenburg's Drug Store, Erlanger.

Victory Gardeners Set Record

Twenty million Victory Gardens—two million more than the goal set last spring—were grown this year, Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture, said in a recent radio address. The Secretary of Agriculture, said in a recent radio address. The Secretary said the Victory Gardens total about four million acres and will produce eight million tons of food. In speaking of the goal of 22 million gardens for next year, Wickard said, "Last year at this time we were concerned over the possibility that we would not have enough garden seed and fertilizer for all who wanted to grow gardens—our best information is that we shall have an ample supply of both next year. We are expecting a better supply of garden tools and equipment for spraying and dusting.—Victory garden production should set another new record in 1944."

Farm Labor Placements

Through the Government Farm Labor program 1,600,000 placements of workers were made on farms in the past four months. Among the workers placed were 700,000 local U. S. Crop Corps workers, comprising 250,000 men, 150,000 women, and 300,000 boys and girls. War Food Administration officials, in making this announcement, stressed the need for additional emergency volunteer workers in the next few months. Recruitment and placement of farm labor are handled by county agricultural extension agents in most areas. In others, the activity is carried on by the U. S. Employment Service.

Points For Home Canned Foods

The point value of home-canned foods shall be the same as that of the corresponding commercial product, except that no home-canned food shall have a point value of more than eight points per quart or four points per pound. This was announced in a recent OPA amendment.

Synthetic Tire Prices

Maximum prices for synthetic rubber tires and tubes have been established by OPA. In the main, they are the same as ceiling prices for corresponding tires and tubes made from natural rubber.

More Goods For Civilians

Civilians will soon get more cooking utensils, lamps, lanterns, bed springs, innerspring mattresses, non-electric razors, razor blades, plated silverware, brushes, nails, tacks, boilers, radiators, furnaces, screen cloth, and other kitchen and household articles as a result of a recent WPB directive, which reserved a portion of the production of approximately 30 types of products for civilian use. The directive prohibits government agencies from buying goods set aside for civilians.

Consumer Coal Piles Smaller

The amount of coal held in storage by consumers diminished 312,000 tons during July, Harold L. Ickes, Solid Fuels Administrator, reported recently. "We must have less coal in storage now than we had a month ago," the Administrator said. "The limitations on production make it uncertain to what extent output can be increased. Consequently it would be wise to conserve coal by all possible means so that there will be enough of it to carry on all essential activities and to keep the public warm."

Army Rebuilds Shoes

Approximately six and a half million pairs of army shoes will be rebuilt during the present fiscal year at plants under supervision of the Quartermaster Corps, Army Service Forces, in Buford, Ga., and Hannibal, Mo. The rebuilding operation in one year will save the government approximately seven million dollars, and will conserve nearly 20 million square feet of leather. Army shoes usually are resoled twice, then sent to Buford or Hannibal for rebuilding. The rebuilt shoes look and wear like the original article and usually are more comfortable because they have been broken in.

Discharged Men Return Uniforms

Many honorably discharged enlisted men of the army are voluntarily returning their issued clothing to the army, thereby saving clothing stocks, according to the War Department. Former soldiers desiring to return their uniforms should address a package to the Commanding Officer of the army installation nearest their homes. The box should be marked "Attention; Quartermaster. Clothing and Equipage Classification Officer." Those who do not desire to pay the cost of transportation may return the clothing by turning over any properly addressed package, not over 30 pounds, to the nearest Railway Express Agency office for collect shipment at government expense.

Druggists Contribute Quinine

With the compliments of the nation's druggists, more than 11 million five-grain doses of quinine are now on their way to join the war against malaria. Because seizure of the Netherlands East Indies cut off 90 percent of the source of quinine supply, the army called upon the nation's druggists to make contributions. An appreciable quantity of the quinine donated was producted by Germany and Japan, and it now will assist in the war to defeat these nations.

Blimps Help Fishermen

Navy blimps, on the lookout for enemy submarine and surface craft in northwestern waters, also are helping the war food program. Under an agreement worked out between the office of the Coordinator of Fisheries and Vice Admiral Frank Jack Fletcher, Navy Commandant in the Seattle area, blimps which sight schools of fish will communicate the news by short wave to fishing vessels. The patrolling blimps can easily spot schools of fish which might take fishermen hours to locate.

Home-Canning of Fish

Surplus fish can be canned at home just as vegetables from the Victory Garden are canned. The following bulletins on cooking and canning of fish may be obtained from the Publications Office, Fish and Wildlife Service, Merchandise Mart, Chicago, Ill.; "Home Preservation of iFshery Products," Fishery leaflet 18; "Cooking Carp," Fisher leaflet 19; and "How to Cook the Bourbot," Fishery leaflet 21. "Wartime Fish Cookery," Conservation Bulletin 27, may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

Search For War Minerals

The most extensive exploratory program ever undertaken in the United States and Alaska for war minerals has been launched by the Bureau of Mines. The bureau is sending its crews out in quest of nearly a score of materials needed to supply the armed forces, according to Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior. States in which exploration will be conducted are: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Gun Covers Protect Bibles

Bibles which are placed on every life raft and life boat on army transport vessels are being protected from the effects of salt water by the same type of cover that protects pistols, rifles, and machine guns in landing operations. Curiously enough, the covers used for pistols are of exactly the right size for copies of the bible, and have been adopted by the Chaplains Corps as a standard protective covering for them. The covers were developed by the Quartermaster Corps from a pliable, transparent, waterproof film known as vinyl. They are buoyant enough to float the bibles if they are accidentlly dropped overboard or washed out of the rafts in heavy seas.

Public May Get Copper Wire

The public may purchase copper wire without restriction from retailers, electricians, radio repair cen and others who sell it. Under a new War Production Board regulation any retailer or repair man may order up to $100 worth of copper wire for delivery during any calendar quarter. Civilians must use this with care, WPB officials pointed out, as it will be needed to cover all essential repairs for general public use.

Early History Of Boone Co.

By A. M. Yealey

In strolling over the countryside seeking information about the Early History of Boone County. we sometimes find it where least expected. In the private cemetery we find the following on a stone in the private burying ground of Columbus Carpenter near Florence: "William Carpenter, Died Feb. 18th, 1833." Also at the foot of the grave a bronze tablet placed there by the daughter of the American Revolution.

Who was this man that he should be so honored? The answer is, Rev. William Carpenter, a soldier of the Revolutionary War, a pioneer of Boone County who came here in 1804 and remained a short time, perhaps more to find a suitable location for a colony of emigrants, as later, we find about 12 persons who located near where the Hopeful Church is today. That was in 1805 and these people came from the same place in Virginia, where Mr. Carpenter resided, and no doubt his mission in 1804 was to find a suitable place for this colony.

Mr. Carpenter made a return trip in 1810 and was well pleased with the program of the settlers and no doubt he visioned their only need was a spiritual advisor, so he returned to Virginia and settled his business affairs there and returned in 1813 bringing his family, which consisted of his wife and nine children, five boys and four girls.

Mr. Carpenter was born in Madison County, Virginia, May 20, 1762 and enlisted in the army during the Revoluntionary War and was present at the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. After the war he prepared himself for the ministry and became the pastor of the Hebron Lutheran Church in Madison County, Virginia, and held this position until he came to Boone County in 1813. On his arrival he became the first pastor of the Hopeful Church and held this position until his death, which occured May 20, 1833.

Mr. Carpenter purchased a great number of acres of land at the junction of the Ridge Road and the Union pike and was a successful farmer, as we find research work that the virgin soil he tilled filled his store houses with golden corn and wheat and this was sold to merchants at Covington and Cincinnati, who would come themselves with their own vehicles and cart it away. Considerable of this land is still owned by the posterity of Mr. Carpenter, but the price then was $5 per acre, now it is $200. We would like to inform the reader more of this great man but our space is allotted and the rest said may be in reference to one of his sons.

RED CROSS NOTES

Many visits to hospitals, doctors and homes of school children were made during August, getting as many defects looked after as possible before school opened; also much time was spent trying to find persons, particularly children who needed X-rays and could come to the clinic.

It is planned to have immunization clinics in all schools during September. If there is enough interest a class in Home Nursing will be taught at Walton High School, beginning immediately.

Back the Attack with WAR BONDS

Invasion comes high—in blood and money.
But our fighting men don't stop to count the cost when they come to grips with the enemy. And we at home can't afford to count the cost either.
To raise 15 billion urgently-needed dollars during this Third War Loan, everyone who possibly can is urged to buy at least one extra $100 war bond—over and above regular bond buying. Those who can afford to purchase more should do so.
Sure—it's going to be tough to dig up this extra money—but we've got to do it and we will. Our fighting men are depending on us and we'll never let them down.
So dig deep, Mr. and Mrs. America. Put your dollars in the fight. Buy extra War Bonds now!

UNION W. M. U.

The W. M. U. of the Union Baptist Church met on Wednesday afternoon at the church for the regular monthly meeting.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Winston Mason. The meeting was opened by singing "All Hail The Power of Jesus Name" followed with the watchword repeated in unison and prayer by Mrs. Opha Bristow.

After the business session the meeting was turned over to our program chairman, Mrs. J. A. Fothergill. The program was opened by singing "We've A Story to Tell to the Nations."

Mrs. Myrtle Marshall brought us an inspiring devotional, her subject being "Daniel as Intercessor," followed with a few minutes of silent prayer and closed with prayer by Mrs. Marshall.

Those taking part on the program were as follows:

"The Unbroken Chain of Witnesses," Elaine Greenup.

"Some Links on the Chain," Marie Gschwind.

"America's Call for Witnesses," Mrs. Pearl Blankenbeker.

"Witnessing to the Armed Forces" Miss Lucy Newman.

Prayer—Mrs. Flora Mullins.

"Witnessing in Christless Countrysides," Dora Mae McWethy.

"Religious Education for the World," Ruth Mason.

The last part on the program was a meditation, "My Marching Orders," which was very inspiring and touching, followed with a solo sung by Mrs. McWethy.

We were dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Lena Presser.

Elaine Greenup, Pub. Chm'n.

FARMERS USE BIG TONNAGE OF LIME

The annual report of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky says that the great increase in the use of lime and phosphate indicates that Kentucky farmers are fully aware of the value of these materials

In the past 10 years 8,000,000 tons of limestone have been used in Kentucky, enough to lime one acre in every four acres of crop and plowable pasture land at the rate of two tons to the acre.

In the past three years it is estimated that enough phosphates have been used to provide the equivalent of 300 pounds to the acre of 20-percent superphosphate on 40 percent of all the crop and plowable pasture land in the state.

Ossification Of The Bones

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

In the fetus or unborn child, the bones first consist of masses of cartilage which, about the second month of fetal life begin to ossify, or become bony. In a long bone, which may be taken as an example the process commences in the center of the shaft and proceeds toward the extremities, which for sometime remain cartilaginous. Subsequently, a smilar process commences in one or more places in the extremities and gradually extends through it. The extremity, does not, however, become joined to the shaft of the bone until growth has ceased, but remains separated by a layer of cartilage tissue termed epiphy cartilage.

The points at which bony development first commence are known as center of ossification.

The process of ossification consists in the appearance within the cartilaginous skeleton of bone calareous for ealthy matter which forming cells, and the deposition gradually displaces the cartilaginous matter.

These processes extend gradually in every direction from the original center of ossification until the entire cartilaginous mass becomes or is ossified.

The first bones in which ossification appears are the choule (collar bone(and inferior maxellary (lower jaw bone) about the fifth to seventh fetal weeks; the last ossification to appear is in the pisaform bone of the hand, about the twelfth week.

Knowing the time and care that nature takes, in forming and developing our feet, and body, isn't it reasonable to assist nature in taking the proper care of ourselves against the abuses of modern life by wearing shoes that fit and are constructed to hold the foundation of the body in perfect balance.—Adv.

UNION

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rachal, who have been house guests of Mrs. Maud N. Rachal for the past ten days, left Saturday for their home in Syracuse, New York.

Mrs. Myrtle Neal Marshall is home from a most delightful visit with the Clyde Clements in Poplar Bluff, Missouri.

MORE WHEAT WHEN THORNE IS GROWN

Farm Agent Stuart Brabant of Todd county reports that a check-up of the yields of Thorne wheat showed that it surpassed other varieties by several bushels per acre. It also stood up better. In some instances, it failed to weigh as much as local wheat. C. D. Gill made 43 bushels per acre on 12 acres of tobacco land; Jim Johnson and Robert Downer each made 47 bushels per acre on tobacco land; Lucian Camp made 30 bushels per acre, and H. G. Ryals, 25 bushels per acre, both on corn land, while Robert Gill made 40 bushels per acre on a mixture of tobacco land, fallowed land and corn land.

LIME, PHOSPHATE INCREASE YIELDS

How lime and phosphate increased yields was told by K. C. Dunn to Farm Agent S. C. Bohanan of Ballard county. Last fall Mr. Dunn seeded wheat and barley on his farm which had been treated with lime and phosphate, and on which soybeans had been grown. About the same time, wheat and barley were seeded on the farm across the road on untreated land following soybeans. The farms have the same type of land as far as is known. During the winter, Mr. Dunn bought the second farm, harvesting the crops from both farms. Wheat from the limed and phosphated farm made 35 bushels to the acre, while that on the second farm made 23 bushels per acre. Barley from 20 acres of treated land totaled 608 bushels, or 30 bushels to the acre, while the untreated land yielded 237 bushels on 18 acres, or 13 bushels per acre.

IN WAR BOND DRIVE WITH ONLY $165,466.05 SUBSCRIBED MANY COUNTIES IN STATE HAVE REACHED THEIR GOAL.

The total amount of subscriptions in the Third War Loan Drive for Boone County up to and including last Saturday night, September 18, is only $165,466.05, this amount having been subscribed by 459 people. This is a very poor showing on a quota of $732,900.00, and unless more interest is shown between now and September 30th, the date of closing the drive, Boone County will be far behind its goal.

Some subscribers have come forward with double their subscriptions over the Second War Loan Drive last April but they can not overcome the lack of interest on the part of others.

Some counties have reached their quotas and others have reached the two-third mark and will go over the top. What is the matter with Boone County? We don't believe the citizens of Boone County are less patriotic than people of other counties and surely we do not want the word flashed to our soldiers who are bleeding and dying in the front lines on foreign soil that Boone County citizens are not behind them 100 percent.

Our soldiers have the hardest fight yet before them and they are giving their ALL if need be for us here at home. Shall we ignore their plea for help with our money?

Go to your bank at once and make your subscription. The time is short in which to finish this drive. Your help is badly needed. Do not let our fighting men down.

Over three hundred people filled the courthouse in Burlington last Saturday night, representing almost very section of the county, to see the free pictures presented and to see and hear those soldiers, sailors and marines, who had seen actual combat with our enemy, as well as the WACS, WAVES and Marines now in the service, who were present.

Four Visit Blood Bank

Four persons visited the Blood Bank in Cincinnati, Tuesday night of last week. They were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Garnett, Mrs. Alice Yeltcn and Wilton Stephens.

An appointment was made for ten persons for Thursday, September 30 at 1:15 p. m. Anyone desiring to donate a pint of blood to the armed forces is asked to notify Mrs. Lou Pope, Burlington, Ky., R. 1 or call Burlington 473. Any person who can furnish a car for transporting blood donors to Cincinnati, is asked to notify Mrs. Pope.

All persons who are to donate a pint of blood on September 30th are asked not to eat four hours before donation is made.

SHOW BOAT TO BE SHOWN AT HEBRON

SECOND PERFORMANCE OF MINSTREL SET FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24—PROGRAM WILL OPEN AT 8:30 E. W. T.

The second performance of the minstrel "Here Comes the Showboat," will be presented September 24th at the Hebron school by the Boone County School Band, according to officials of the organization.

The initial performance of the minstrel given at Burlington several weeks ago was praised highly by one of the largest crowds to fill the school auditorium in sometime, and no doubt will be received at Hebron in like manner.

In addition to the "Showboat," a one-act play "The Villian Still Pursued Her", will be given. The curtain will go up promptly at 8:30 p. m. E. W. T.

The third performance has been scheduled at Florence for Friday night, October 1st at the school auditorium.

Tickets are now on sale for both performances by the various members of the school band and workers of the schools.

The school band, under the direction of Dean Bloss, has made much progress since its organization, and past progress of the group indicates that this band will become one of the most outstanding school bands in the State in the very near future.

Burlington Boys Chalk Up Another Game In Win Column

Burlington's Sunday School baseball team chalked up another victory Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Sanders Drive nine by a score of 21 to 10 on the loser's grounds.

Sanders Drive took the lead in the opening inning, scoring four runs, while Burlington scored three in the first. Sanders Drive was unable to push another run across home plate until the 4th when they score one run, while Burlington scored five in the third frame, one in the fifth, seven in the 6th, one in the seventh, one in the eighth and three in the ninth for a total of 21. Florence collected four in the sixth, and one in the seventh for a total of ten.

Benson was on the hill for Burlington allowing 14 hits, while Tobergte, on the hill for the losers gave up 16 hits.

James Show Hours Changed

On September 25th the Cincinnati District and surrounding towns will turn their clocks back one hour, adopting Central War Time. The James Theater, Walton is changing show time as follows: One show each and every night at 7:30 p. m. Central War Time, Sunday matinee at 2:30.

EXTRA ALLOWANCE NOW AVAILABLE

TO ELIGIBLE BOONE FARMERS —OFFICIALLY DESIGNATED AS THE "1943 SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIALS."

An adidtional 1943 soil-building allowance, officially designated as the "1943 Supplementary Materials" has recently been authorized by the Agricultural Adjustment Agency. This allowance is in addition to the 1943 soil-building allowance and is available only as conservation material to eligible farmers and it must be used by December 31, 1943. Everyone that has signed a 1943 Farm Plan is eligible to receive this extra allowance, provided the material is available and the order is placed before November 15, 1943.

Conservation materials now available are: Winter hairy vetch, 20 percent phosphate and limestone. The supply of phosphate and vetch are limited, it is hoped that most of the orders for supplementary materials will be for limestone. Limestone, as a grant of aid, has recently been approved. The deduction rate from the 1943 payment being $2.50 per ton and the credit for using it $1.70 per ton, where it is used as supplementary material after the regular 1943 soil-building allowance is earned, the credit will equal the deduction so that there will be no extra charge to pay, unless spreading is desired.

The three dealers that have been approved to deliver limestone are: Dance Bros., John W. Moore and Gaines Aylor. Dance Bros., will deliver limestone in Walton, Verona, Beaver and Big Bone districts. They will not be able to spread it. John W. Moore will deliver limestone in Hebron, Constance, Burlington, Florence, Union and part of Hamilton districts. He will spread it as 75c per ton. He has purchased a new type limestone spreader, that is automatic, requiring no help other than the driver. Gaines Aylor will be able to spread limestone if the farmer will furnish sufficient labor to shovel the limestone into the spread, he will charge 25c per ton, and will deliver in Hebron, Constance, Burlington, Petersburg, Grant and East Bend districts.

The entire county can be furnished limestone under this plan. The time is short and dealers may not be able to furnish all that is needed if a large amount of orders are received. They will be filled as they are received.

Several weeks ago farmers were advised if the 1943 soil-building allowance was earned orders for grant of aid material could be made to apply on the 1944 program. The above plan now changes this procedure, as supplementary material can now be received in place of the materials to apply on the 1944 program. All producers are being notified from the AAA office of this plan and it is hoped that all farmers will be able to take advantage of this opportunity for extra needed material.

Drivers Warned To Stop For School Busses In County

Boone County drivers were given a warning this week by officials to observe the school bus law, requiring motorists to bring their vehicles to a stop when a school bus is loading or unloading along the highways.

Many motorists in the county are under the impression that drivers are required to stop only when following a school bus. This impression is wrong, as motorists must bring their car to a stop when approaching a school bus from either direction, provided the school bus is loading or discharging passengers.

The above regulations must be followed by all motorists, as violation of this law is punishable by a heavy penalty.

Burlington Methodists Will Hold Picnic Sat.

Saturday, September 25th at 5 o'clock E. W. T., the Burlington Methodist Church will have a picnic supper at the home of Miss Elizabeth Lowry to welcome the new pastor, Rev. O. B. Thomas.

All members and friends of the church are urged to attend. Bring food enough for your group, either prepared or ready to cook on the outdoor fire.

In the event of rain, the picnic will be held in the basement of the school building.

Small Pox Is Still Here, Warns Co. Nurse

Prevention of small pox depends on vaccination, according to Elizabeth Lowry, County Red Cross Nurse. Kentucky State law requires that all children be vaccinated before starting to school and again 5 to 7 years later.

Your doctor will be at your school to vaccinate for small pox at 9 a. m. September 23, Walton and September 24th at Verona.

Parents are requested to send fifty cents with each child to be vaccinated.

Six Men Inducted Into Armed Services

Six Boone County men were inducted into the U. S. Armed Services, Tuesday, September 14th. Three entered the army, and three were enrolled in the navy. They are Virgil William Murrell, Nathan Edward Northcutt and John Earl Robinson, navy; Lloyd Alton Akins, James Gordon Bullock, Samuel William Howard, army.

Those enrolled in the army will report at Ft. Thomas, October 5th for duty, while those accepted by the navy left September 14th.

Burlington Lunchroom Is Reopened By Joe Huey

The lunchroom and pool parlor, formerly operated by D. R. Blythe in Burlington was reopened last week. by Joe Huey, after being closed for several months.

Mr. Huey will serve soft drinks, sandwiches, soup, chili and short orders, besides cigars, cigarettes, candy, etc. An advertisement appears on another page of this issue.

CHICKEN SUPPER POSTPONED

The ladies of the Florence Methodist Church regret to announce that the chicken supper scheduled for Saturday. September 25th, has been postponed.

LARGE CROWD HEAR E. R. ERRETT

AT DIAMOND JUBILEE OF BELLEVIEW CHURCH OF CHRIST—TRIBUTE PAID TO LOCAL CITIZENS.

The Belleview Church of Christ, its friends and neighbors thrilled to the marvelous presentation of the "Ancient Gospel" from the lips of Edwin R. Errett, editor of The Christian Standard, last Sunday afternoon on the occasion of the congregation's Diamond Jubilee. The auditorium was filled to capacity and gaily decorated for the occasion. A similar group assembled for the evening worship service, and sat enthralled as Bro. Ben and Sister Edith Ellison recounted some of their experiences on the Phillipine mission field. The evening offering was sent to that very noble work.

Particular honor and tribute was paid during the festivities of the day to the oldest members of the congregation, Bro. W. G. Kite and Mrs. Jake Cook, both of whom are second generation descendants of the founders of the congregation. Granddad Kite and Aunt Alice extinguished the sixty gleaming candles on the giant four-layer "birthday" cake, which had been prepared by Allene Holbrook and Mrs. Sam Hamilton in honor of the occasion. These two old folk were present at the dedication of the auditorium sixty years ago and have remained faithful to the church throughout the years.

Boone County Farmers Do Super Job, According To Assistant Farm Agent

During the last two weeks, more than 50 of the community leaders in various projects were visited, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent. Each leader has put forth some special effort in producing a little more or to make something a little better, in order to help the war effort. In many cases the financial gain will not be as great as it would have been, had they planted something besides a food crop. Many farmers will finish feeding a bunch of hogs on a very narrow margin of profit. In ordinary times they might say the return would not justify the time and money involved.

The dairy farmers are getting remarkably high production from their herds, considering the scarcity and high price of feeds. We are afraid this production cannot be maintained unless there is an an adjustment made between cost of feed and price of milk.

The regular program of farming has been carried out in good shape in the face of labor shortage and adverse weather conditions.

BURLINGTON P.-T. A. TO MEET

All members and persons interested in the Burlington P.-T. A. are invited to attend the meeting at Burlington school house Monday evening, September 27 at 8:30 p. m. After the business session a social hour will follow. All women are urged to bring a pie and a donation for the kitchen shower.

"STOP THAT PLANE"

Little Billy Townsend, nearly three years old, was out in the yard one day last week when a large bomber plane flew over Burlington. Pointing to the plane he said. "My Daddy is on that plane, stop it and let my Daddy come down here and see me."

His Daddy, Captain William M. Townsend, is a flight surgeon in the Air Corps somewhere overseas. His family has not heard from him for three weeks, except a cable saying, 'Well and safe," but no mention as to his location.

This is only one instance in the many thousands of similar situations. Buy that extra War Bond this week and hasten the day when not only little Billy's Daddy can come home to him but all the fathers of all the other little children in America can come home. Can you resist the pleadings of little children to see their fathers, and refuse to subscribe for bonds when their fathers are helping to fight this war for us?

You can "stop that plane" by buying War Bonds to your very limit.

Covington Woman Injured In Accident Near Walton Sat.

Mrs. Alice Hall, 3317 Eugenia Avenue, Covington, suffered a severe cut on the forehead and bruises when the auto driven by her daughter-in-law skidded and overturned near Walton. She was removed to Booth Hospital for treatment. Twenty-two stitches were required to closed the cut on her forehead. Her daughter-in-law was treated for minor injuries.

John J. Myers

Funeral services for John J. Myers of Verona, were held at the New Bethel Baptist Church at 2 p. m. Tuesday, with burial in New Bethel Cemetery.

Mr. Myers, 63, a farmer, died Sunday at Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, following an illness of two weeks. He was a deacon in the Verona Baptist Church.

He is survived by three sons, Vernon, of Verona, Clifford, Covington, and Elbert, Florence; four sisters, Mrs. R. C. McBee, Covington, Mrs. John Sowle, Jr., Covington, Mrs. M. McMullen, Richmond, and Mrs. Edgar Kobman. Cheviot, Ohio; his mother, Mrs. Lulu Myers, of Covington.

The Hamilton funeral home, of Verona, was in charge of arrangements.

Henry Beach

Funeral services for Henry Beach age 69, were held at Glencoe Baptist Church Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 by Rev. Malone of Covington.

Mr. Beach was a true Christian man. He attended services at his church, Madison Avenue Baptist, Sunday evening, dismissed the congregation with prayer, returned to him home on Holman St., and died in a short time of a heart attack.

He spent most of his life in Glencoe, where he was born, moving to the home of his sons following the death of his wife.

He survived by four sons, Clay, Ernest and Raymond, of Covington and Henry, pastor of Union Baptist Church, Union; one sister, Mrs. I. D. Isaacs of East Bend; three brothers, William, Pearl and Edward Beach, of Glencoe; nine grandchildren and a host of other relatives.

Kerosene Users Must Register By Sept. 25th

All persons using coal oil for cooking that expire October 1 must reregister for the next period immediately. In order to get your oil by October 1, applications must be in the office not later than September 25th.

Go to your bank and receive an application or call your local Ration Board and they will mail you one.

Correction

There was a typographical error in last week's article regarding the proposed cold storage plant at Walton. We stated that the plant would have 30 lockers available and this figure should have been 300.

According to Mr. Hall at Walton, this project is progressing nicely and that about 130 lockers have already been signed to date.

Captain Allen S. Kenyon has returned from England. He reports the English people as being a wonderful nation. Capt. Kenyon and wife, Willie Tupman, wife and daughter and Mrs. Kate Tupman visited the Captain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kenyon, of Constance.

Rev. Oliver B. Thomas Named As Pastor Of Burlington Church

The recent session of the Kentucky Annual Conference of the Methodist Church brought to a close the old year, and launched the beginning a new one in the local Methodist Church. The former pastor, Rev. T. O. Harrison is now serving as chaplain in the Armed Forces of the Nation, located in New Jersey. He was succeeded by Rev. J. M. Florence until conference.

At this session of the conference, Rev. Oliver B. Thomas was appointed to the Burlington Church. Mr. Thomas is a native Kentuckian, his home being at Georgetown in Scott County. He has been serving as a pastor in South Georgia for the past four years, and was a member of the South Georgia Conference.

The local church which was formerly only a half station, has now become a full-time church and will have services regularly every Sunday morning and night, and prayer services each Thursday evening.

All services will begin one hour earlier due to the return to Central War Time.

SOCIAL SCHEDULED

A social will be given at the Belleview school Thursday night, September 23, beginning at 8 p. m. (EWT). Cakes, pie, coffee, sandwiches and candy will be served.

The social is being sponsored by the Belleview Social Club, and everyone is invited to attend.

PARASITE CONTROL PROGRAM PLANNED

FOR SHEEPMEN OF BOONE COUNTY, ACCORDING TO H. R. FORKNER, COUNTY AGENT—PROGRAM IS SIMPLE.

A new intestinal parasite control program, thru use of Phenothiazine, is being planned, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Control of intestinal parasites is one of the most important jobs in sheep production.

The new program is simple. The entire flock will be drenched with Phenothiazine in November and again in the spring as soon as the lambing season is complete. Beginning in June and following thru until November ,the sheep are given access to a salt mixture consisting of one part Phenothiazine to nine parts salt.

If tapeworms are present, two treatments of the combination Bluestone-Black Leaf 40 treatment are given during the summer months.

Two difficulties are encountered in the above treatment. One is the price and the other is the form of treatment used. Present prices of retail packages are from $1.50 to $1.75 per pound which is too high for use on large size flocks. Dealers can stock material in bulk and by buying in large quantities, can sell Phenothiazine at around $1.00 per pound.

The second problem is the form of material to use. The drench form needs a special dissolving agent while the powder form may be easily mixed with salt. The tablet form may be too hard to dissolve readily in the sheep's stomach.

Diphtheria Toxoid Urged For Children

Diphtheria is highly contagious. Babies should have toxoid from six to nine months of age or as soon thereafter as possible. The very young child is not only more likely to contract diphtheria, but also more apt to die of it than older children.

Your doctor will be in Walton on September 23 at 9 a. m. and Verona September 24th to give toxoid (diphtheria prevention.) Two doses are required at a cost of fifty cents per dose. In order to save bookkeeping, please bring $1.00 when you come for first dose.

GOOD RECORDS MADE BY DHIA

HERD OF T. P. DUNLAP LEADS ASSOCIATION DURING PAST MONTHS—COW OWNED BY DR. GARRISON HIGH PRODUCER.

Boone County members of the Northern Kentucky Dairy Herd Improvement Association are securing increased production from their dairy herds, according to Wilson A. Shortt, DHIA tester.

The herd of T. P. Dunlap of Walton has led the association the past two months in production.

The high herd the past month averaged 740 pounds of milk and 38 pounds of butterfat. The average herd made 566 pounds of milk and 24.6 pounds of butterfat per cow.

The high cow of the association that completed her year's record the past month was a 12-year-old Guernsey cow owned by Dr. R. C. Garrison of Burlington which produced in 305 days a total of 14,851 pounds of milk and 468.4 pounds of butterfat.

Members of the Northern Kentucky Association are Walter King, Verona; T. P. Dunlap, Walton; Ben Nichting and Joseph Ryan of Beaver Lick; Grant Maddox, Florence; Dr. R. C. Garrison, Burlington; and Orville Kelly, of Rabbit Hash.

The association will start a new year November 1. Those who would like to become members of the association should contact the county agent's office in Burlington.

Members of the Boone, Shelby, Carroll County Association are Robert Youell, Hebron; W. G. Kite and Purdy of Burlington; and Jesse Wilson, of Verona.

Burlington Youth Aviation Student At Albion College

Albion, Mich.—Aviation Student Howard L. Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Garrison, of Burlington has entered the College Training Program of the Army Air Forces at the 70th College Training Detachment (Air Crew) Albion College, Albion, Michigan.

During the period of training he will spend here, Aviation Student Garrison will receive specialized academic training and military instruction. Mathematics, Physics, History, Geography and English are among the academic studies. The military training will include close-order drill, parades and inspections, first aid, military courtesy and customs of the service.

The sixteen-hour-a-day schedule maintained at Albion College insures more adequate preparation and better ability to successfully complete Army Air Forces training which an Aviation Student receives after classification as an aviation cadet pilot, bombardier or navigator.

BOONE COUNTY TO MOVE BACK 1 HOUR

TIME IS SCHEDULED TO GO INTO EFFECT AT 2:00 A. M. SUNDAY MORNING—CHURCH SERVICES ARE CHANGED.

Residents of Boone County will move their clocks back one hour at 2 a. m. Sunday morning in order to meet the change of the Greater Cincinnati area, which will go into effect at that time.

Boone County, or most of the county, has maintained the same time in the past as observed by the Cincinnati area, having made the change to Eastern War Time when the change was by the larger cities in this vicinity, and will therefore comply with the change Sunday morning.

Churches through the county will begin their services Sunday, according to the time change, according to announcements received at this office, and business houses and banks will open their doors under the new time setup.

The decision to move the clocks ahead one hour was reached last spring for the purpose of giving war workers and victory gardeners more daylight during the summer months. At that time a controversy raged, and to settle the issue members of Cincinnati Council agreed on a compromise—they would allow the clocks to be moved ahead one hour for the summer months with the provision that they be set back this fall.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

ABIDING VALUES FROM ISRAEL'S HISTORY

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 11:13-28.
GOLDEN TEXT—Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people.—Proverbs 14:34.

What makes a nation great? God's dealings with Israel answer that question. The history which we have briefly touched upon in our study of the first four books of the Bible is reviewed in Deuteronomy.

Moses, realizing that the end was at hand for him and that a new generation was about to go into the promised land, reviewed the history of the people, restated their laws, and renewed the appeal of God for their loyal obedience. This record is found in the Book of Deuteronomy, from which our lesson is taken.

We find here that the nation which is truly great—

I. Worships the True God (vv. 13-15).

There is a fundamental factor which must underlie all real national greatness—love of God. This has an inseparable corollary—serving Him "with all your heart, and all your soul."

Says the wise man of Proverbs (14:34), "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." We have well-nigh forgotten that fact. We need to be reminded of it again in God's word to Israel.

What is the result? The blessing of God upon the land, the giving of abundant harvest, in fact, the open-handed generosity of God.

II. Heeds God's Warning (vv. 16, 17).

This is the negative side. God dealt with Israel through promises if they were faithful, and the threat of judgment if they forgot Him.

One is as important as the other in the leading of a nation—and in the rearing of children. We, like our heavenly Father, should faithfully keep every promise; but we should just as surely fulfill every warning of coming judgment.

America has seen the handwriting of God in warning concerning its waywardness and sin. Will it heed and avoid further judgment?

III. Honors God's Word (vv. 18, 19).

Loving God and His Word is not a matter for theological speculation or for sanctimonious discussion in some dark cloister. Thank God the Christian faith is at its best in the ordinary affairs of life. It finds its proper place in the tender relationship of parent and child. Its teachings are pure, delightful, simple and entirely appropriate to any occasion, whether one sits or rises, walks or lies down. God's words are the words to be laid up in the heart and in the soul, to be taught to our children, to be the constant and normal subject of conversation.

IV. Testifies for God (vv. 20, 21).

Here again we have the home before us. And it is, of course, the home which makes the nation. If the home speaks for God, the nation will do so, inevitably and effectively.

We may not, as did the pious Jew, fasten a little container bearing God's Word on our doorpost, but we may make the home itself and the life of its inhabitants an effective testimony for God before our neighbors.

It is obvious that the home either speaks for or against God. A profession of faith in Him, an outward reputation for adherence to religious principles which does not vitally touch our dealings with one another and with the community in which we live—these clearly testify not for God but against Him. On the other hand, who can estimate the value of a sweet and orderly Christian home? Whether it be on a dusty city street, or on a quiet country lane, it is a light that cannot be hid.

V. Counts on God for Victory (vv. 22-25).

God promised that if Israel diligently kept His commandments, loved Him and walked in His ways, they would be a nation that would overcome and dispossess their enemies, and prosper in every good purpose.

God desires the nation which honors His name to stand before the other nations of the earth victorious and prosperous.

The purpose of the Lord for Israel was a far greater one than they ever achieved, because they fell into sin and drew back in unbelief. The limits of the land which He proposed to give them, as stated in verse 24, far exceed that which they did possess in Palestine.

God's plans are large plans. His promises to us, like those to Israel, are stupendous. We need to learn to take Him at His word.

"No man shall be able to stand before you" (v. 25) was the promise to Israel. "Ask what ye will" (John 15:7) is the promise to us. They failed because they did not believe God. Will we fail for the same reason?

It'll cost you an extra $100 Bond to look him in the eye!

HE'S AN AMERICAN SOLDIER.

Some day, if God is with him, he'll come home.

And when he does, you'll get the biggest thrill of your life if you can look him squarely in the eye and say, "I couldn't help you fight—but I did everything in my power to help you win!"

There's only one way you can say that...honestly say it. And that is to help him win now... when he needs all the help you can give him.

Today's particular job for you is to scrape together every dollar you can—and buy an extra $100 worth of War Bonds! That's your job in the 3rd War Loan!

It's not enough to buy your regular amount of Bonds. It has to be more. It has to be an extra buy—a little more pressure for the shoulder that's against the wheel.

REMEMBER THIS—you aren't giving your money. You're lending it to the government for a while. And you're making the best investment in the world.

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

Robert L. Burnett, of Verona and Charles E. Craddock, of Union, Ky., newly inducted personnel of the United States Army have been sent forward from the Reception Center at Fort Thomas, Ky., to Camp Fannin, Texas, according to the Public Relation Division of the Post.

• • •

The following letter was received from Louis H. Deck, stationed with the U. S. Army somewhere overseas:

"I guess you think I don't appreciate the paper, as I haven't written to you since I left the states, but I really do, and I receive it every week. It makes a fellow feel good to read the home paper. The only thing I miss is the county ball news.

"This is very nice country here, it has been torn up in some places but not too bad.

"We have plenty to eat and all the coffee we need.

"I received letters from friends in the county, thanks to The Recorder for giving them my address. I, like the rest of the boys appreciate it very much.

"I wish to thank you for the paper for it means a lot to me, and I wish to thank all my friends for writing me. I'm answering as many as possible.

"Well it's time for bed check so I'll close, with many thanks again for the paper. Tell all hello for me."

Pvt. Raymond E. Witham, writes the following letter:

"I have been receiving The Recorder and I really appreciate it. Time is valuable to us at the present, but I always manage to read the paper. Throughout the week we usually are rushed for time, but on week-ends we have plenty to pass away.

"We get up at 6:00 o'clock and come in from drill around 4:30 in the afternoon. Then after supper we usually clean rifles or go to a training film.

"One thing that is drilled into us, is that nothing is 'almost right.' It has to be right or all wrong.

Throughout the day we usually have a few lectures on first aid, gas, or something which is important with some of the drill we do. Then we spend a few hours at drilling or rifle aiming.

"Last Thursday we had a regimental parade. It was one of the prettiest sights a person could see. Music was furnished by the Army Post Band.

"This happened to be Sunday and I attended church this morning. Today was Holy Communion Day and it was really one of the most beautiful services I have ever attended.

"I guess some people wonder why or rather how a service in the army could be extra nice. Well, chapels in the army very beautiful on the inside, have music furnished by organs, and also have the best chaplains possible. Today, the services were carried out just to custom, which made it a very attractive service.

"Nothing much I can tell about the camp as I've only been over a small part of.

"Again I wish to thank you for the paper."

• • •

Stanley Tanner, stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, writes the following letter:,

"I have received two copies of The Recorder and sure do enjoy it. You don't know how much company it is to read about happenings in Boone County.

"Boys in the same company with me are Robert Sullivan, James Haynes, Richard Spence. Bill Chapman, Jr., is over in Camp Green Bay and we talk to him over the telephone about every other night. Ralph Sutton is in Camp Marie and we talk to him also. There are a lot of others here from Kentucky, but I haven't met others from Florence as yet.

"The Station receives on average of 1800 a day. The food here is grand and you get all you want to eat. We start mess cooking (serving food) next week. We will return home October 13th.

"James Haynes, Robert Sullivan and I are in the same barracks and it sure is nice. At night after chow we write letters.

"James Haynes and myself have signed up for overseas duty and Robert Sullivan is a metalsmith.

"We want to thank all the friends who have written to us and want them to keep on writing even though we don't answer, as we have very little time to write.

"We have 120 boys in our company and everyone of us signed 100 percent for War Bonds. Sure was swell they way they cooperate.

"Thanks for The Recorders, we all enjoy reading it. If anyone knows of a sailor in Camp Green Bay, Camp Porter or Camp Dewey or any other camp, please write and we'll try to find them."

• • •

We are in receipt of the following letter from Weston Rogers, stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.:

"I received my first copy of The Recorder yesterday, and I was so glad to get it that I sat down and without waiting for the rest of my mail. I really can't thank you enough. You never realize how much it means until you have to do without it for a while.

"I noticed the address on the outside was wrong, but I have finally settled down, and I hope to be here until December 4th.

"W are having very warm weather here, but at least w don't have the whole summer ahead of us. I have heard that some boys from Boone County are here, but the camp is too large to locate anyone.

"As the mail leaves in a few minutes, I will close. Thanking you again."

• • •

John David Jarrell, S 2-c, N. A. S. Box 22 (M) Navy 116, care Fleet Post Office, New York, N. Y., writes: "Just a few lines to let you know that at last I am settled. We arrived at San Juan, Puerto Rico last Thursday. It sure is swell here. Outside of home it is the best place I have ever been. . . . I have been assigned to the air base here. I have always wanted to be around planes and at last I got my chance. It sure is interesting work. . . . There's really not much I can tell you about the place, except that it's always warm. We wear white the year around here. . . . Well I guess you three caught just about all the fish around home this summer, didn't you? Fishing is good here, but I never have had a chance to go yet. . . . I guess I had better be closing as I go on duty in a half hour. Thanks a lot for sending the papers. I know you had a time keeping up with me, but I don't think I missed but one copy since I left home. Jack, Harry and Pat Barlow and I are still together . . . Tell everyone hello and to write soon. . . . It looks like those cards are world champs again. I told you the Reds couldn't play ball."

Mrs. Mary Hays received word Monday that her son Pvt. Robert E. Hays was in the Station Hospital, Ward M 16, Ft. George G. Meade, Md., and is being treated for a nervous condition. He was recently moved from Camp Swift, Texas.

Cpl. James O. Duggeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Duggeon, Walton, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant at Camp Sutton, N. C. His wife Lois, is at Camp Sutton with him.

BURLINGTON MAN FELT LIKE SWOLLEN BALLOON; FULL OF STOMACH GAS

Recently, a Burlington man stated that he used to feel like a swollen balloon after every meal. He would bloat full of gas and spit up acidulous liquids for hours after eating. Was terribly contipated. This man is one of the hundreds in this vicinity who now praise ERB-HELP. He states he was amazed at the results when he took this medicine. Now he eats what he wants without gas or bloating, and bowels are regular for the first time in years. He feels like a new man. ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Dahlenburg's Drug Store, Erlanger.

Burlap Bag Quotas Removed

Quotas on farmers and packers purchases of new burlap bags for packing certain agricultural products have been removed for the balance of 1943. "Certain agricultural products" includes, but is not limited to, beans, cotton, feed, flour, meal, fruits, potatoes, vegetables, and tobacco. The restriction on the bag sizes permitted for certain commodities has been relaxed to allow an additional size for each of two types of seed. A ½ bushel-bag is allowed for hybrid seed corn, a 3 bushel-bag, for cottonseed. These are in addition to the sizes previously permitted.

No Dates On Kerosene Coupons

Persons who use small amounts of kerosene for domestic cooking and lighting may now get renewal rations for periods longer than the six months formerly permitted. This provision of a recent OPA amendment is to reduce the number of renewal applications by the consumer and the amount of paper work performed by the rationing board. The amendment provides that rations issued for domestic cooking and lighting no longer will bear dates of issuance and expiration, and coupons may be used as long as they last. The rationing board may issue the ration for any period up to a year from date of application. The maximum ration allowed for domestic cooking has been increased to 30 gallons a month for the first seven persons. It was formerly 24 gallons for six or seven persons.

Approval For Use of Gutters

Approval for use of gutters, spouting, conductor pipes, and fittings in dwelling of two stories or less must be obtained from the War Production Board under a recent amendment to Order M-126. Formerly this approval could be obtained through the National Housing Agency.

Prices Set For Dry Beans

Sales of dry edible beans, 1943 crop, to the Food Distribution Administration, to other country shippers, and to other governmental agencies designated in Food Distribution Order No. 45 can be made at either of two sets of prices—maximum prices established for the commodity or support prices set for specified classes last April by the War Food Administration. OPA emphasized that all other sales must be made at or below maximum prices established in Maximum Regulation No. 270.

Restrict Dry Onion Shipment

To insure orderly distribution for the short available supply of dry onions to the armed forces and civilians, all shipments in excess of 100 pounds in the 12 principal onion-producing states have been put on a permit basis by the Office of Defense Transportation and the Interstate Commerce Commission. Dry onion movements by common, contract, or private motor carriers and by rail common and contract carriers are subject to permits issued by the War Food Administration. Applications for permits should be made to local WFA representatives in the principal onion producing areas—California, Idaho, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, and Washington.

Sugar To Save Bees

Beekeepers who are facing loss of their bees because of lack of sufficient natural food, may obtain additional sugar allotments if they are registered with OPA as industrial users. The supplemental allotment is limited to a maximum of 15 pounds per bee colony per year. Applications should be made in persons or by mail to the local rationing board.

Cabbage Seed Ceiling Prices

Ceiling prices for 1942 cabbage seed have been made the same as for the 1943 crop, according to a recent OPA amendment.

Shrimp Prices Cut

Consumer prices for fresh shrimp may be 40 to 50 percent less because of a recent OPA amendment setting prices in accord with the 1942 average prices for shrimp.

Housing Down Payments Cut

Down payment required to buy housing in rent-controlled areas has been reduced from 33 1-3 percent to 20 percent. OPA amended the regulation because of easing the housing situation.

Gasoline For School Buses

School buses in districts where school authorities have delayed in filing necessary applications or have failed to reorganize routes in accordance with the school bus conservation policy may get temporary gasoline allotments. The Office of Defense Transportation authorized this action so that school children would not lack transportation.

Report Good Wheat Crop In Italy

In spite of the war, the Italian wheat crop this year is believed to have been as large or even larger than the pre-war average, according to the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations of the Department of Agriculture. The 1943 crop may have amounted to as much as 280 million bushels. That estimate compares with unofficial estimates of 269 million bushels last year.

British Save Fuel

Britons have been asked by the Ministry of Fuel to be even more sparing of home comforts this winter than they were last winter, the British Information Services reported recently. By lowering room temperatures in their homes, by using less hot water, by getting along with less light, and by cutting down on fuels used in cooking, the British saved four million tons of coal in the winter of 1942-1943. This year the Ministry has urged that economics be pushed further so that six million tons of coal can be saved. As was the case last winter, this winter's fuel saving in Britain will be on a voluntary basis. There will be no rationing but Britons will be expected to base their fuel consumption on a chart prepared by the Ministry of Fuel.

About Those Free Matches

If your tobacco dealer gave you free matches—the wood or the book variety—during March, 1942, when he sold you your tobacco products, he must continue to give them to you now. Sales through vending machines are included in the new OPA ruling on matches.

Anti-Freeze Distributed

To insure an ample supply of volatile anti-freeze mixtures for passenger cars in 14 western states before cold weather sets in, WPB has ordered industrial alcohol manufacturers with national distribution to supply specified quotas to the states upon receipt of orders from dealers. Each state will receive a supply equal to one and one-half gallons per passenger car registered. States involved are: Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

Notification of "Next of Kin"

Notification of "next of kin" of Naval personnel killed, missing, wounded, or captured — except where death occurs within the continental limits—is generally a telegram giving such available information as may be divulged. In case of death this telegram is confirmed by a letter from the Secretary of the Navy, conveying condolences and giving any additional details. Next of kin are also furnished data as to rights and benefits to which they are entitled. In the case of a "missing" person, the next of kin receives a letter about the continuance of allotments for insurance premiums and for dependents. If the Navy receives further details of the casualty, next of kin are promptly notified.

THEY'RE DOING THEIR JOB

--and they're depending upon us to do ours!

Every day American fighting men are facing death on the battle fronts of the world.

They know what invasion costs in blood and lives. They know, too, what it costs in munitions and supplies that must keep coming in a never-ending stream—and they're looking to us to keep that stream flowing.

So no matter what the sacrifice . . . no matter how hard it pinches . . . do your part by buying at least one extra $100 bond during this Third War Loan.

Buy more if you can possibly do so. Everyone must invest to the limit if the non-banking quota of 15 billion dollars is to be reached.

Remember—the men who are fighting for you . . . bleeding for you . . . ready to die for you . . . are waiting for the word that the folks at home are backing them up 100%. With victory in sight, we cannot let them down!

MILK

FOR VICTORY

The Cincinnati Milk Shed needs increased supplies of fresh milk daily to care for Defense, Military and Civilian demands.

This is a good time to weed out boarders and introduce a few choice heavy producers into the herd.

We carry a large number of T B and Blood Tested Holsteins and Guernseys at all times from which selection can be made.

Priced within reason.

If financial aid is necessary for the purchase of cows get in touch with the Productive Credit Association, who will gladly make loans to responsible parties.

Children's Feet

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Ninety-nine out of a hundred babies are born with good feet, even if they do appear to be flat at the start. We say babies are born with flat feet because the bony masses in a new-born baby's feet are held in place by fat pads. As the baby starts to stand and walk, these fatty pads are absorbed and muscles take their place. But about the third year the arch of the foot should be pretty well defined if the child is going to have any arch. We say if, because every one is not meant to have the same color of hair or eyes.

Perhaps when the child starts to stand he is overweight, or undernourished or has gone thru a serious illness. In that event the muscles may not develop enough to produce an arch in the foot. He then grows with a natural flat foot. The condition is rarely painful. However, many cases of flat feet can be averted if the child is provided with shoes that hold the weak foot in alignment. Such shoes are usually wedged slightly under the inner border of the heel bone. This prevents tipping in of the ankles and by over correction has a tendency to cause the muscles on the inner border of the leg to shorten. These muscles are the ones which keep the foot arched.—Adv.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

After a two-month vacation, the Bullittsville Homemakers' Club assembled at the home of Mrs. Elsber Boone, September 13 for an all-day meeting. We opened our meeting at 11:00 with a salute to the flag. Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie the Home Demonstration Agent was given a hearty welcome upon her return to our midst, after a long absence due to illness. Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, who had relieved her, has left to join her husband at Shelby, Miss. Mrs. Moore's smiling countenance and fine leadership will be sadly missed by all. Our best wishes go with her to her new home.

After dispensing all old and new business during this session, we were adjourned for a delicious lunch. Upon reassembling we beban our meeting by reading in unison our club collect. The day's topic, "Bringing the Wardrobe Up To Date" was discussed very ably by Miss Gillaspie. She stressed the Homemaker slogan for the year, "Conservation for Victory." Our daily motto in these times should be "Make it do, use it up, and help beat the Axis." In conclusion she urged all of us to visit the blood bank in Cincinnati whenever possible. We were also urged to send in the printed report of our last year's accomplishments to Mrs. Moore.

We were adjourned to meet with Mrs. Albert Willis in October.

Mrs. Pfalzgraf, Sec'y.

Cooperation Asked In Enforcement Of Game And Fish Laws

A statewide appeal to sportsmen and all local peace officers to assist in enforcement of the state game and fish laws was made by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

Pointing out that the Division's warden force is very small—and hopelessly inadequate for proper patrolling of all game and fish areas in the State—Wakefield stated that there was no hope for increase in personnel until after the war has ended and that efficiency in enforcement would be brought about only by cooperation of those named.

Attention of law enforcement officers of all kinds and sportsmen and farmers alike are called to Section 1954D-22, Carrolls' Kentucky Statutes, which provides that "The County Attorneys, the Commonwealth's Attorneys, the Sheriffs and their deputies, the Constables and their deputies, and all other peace officers, are hereby required and it is made their duty to enforce the provisions of the Game and Fish laws."

Basing his appeal on this section of the law, Wakefield requested that all peace officers cooperate to the utmost in protecting Kentucky's game and fish against the illegally-operating hunter and angler during this war emergency.

Wakefield requested the sportsmen to aid by informing their local peace officers as soon as possible of any game law violations they might themselves, see. If the sportsmen will cooperate in this manner, it will mean that many offenders could be taken into custody within a few hours instead of going "scot-free" because one of the few Conservation Officers might be working elsewhere and be available in that particular locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hedges, and Charley Hedges spent an interesting day Friday at the famous Carthage Fair.

LARGE ASSORTMENT OF USED CARS OFFERED

This issue of The Recorder carries the first announcement of the H. R. Baker Motors, operators of two large lots for the purpose of selling, buying and exchanging used cars.

One lot is at 421 Madison Ave., next to the Kentucky Post, and the other at 20 East Fourth St., both Covington.

Mr. Baker is giving his personal attention to the business and has an able staff of assistants, including M. H. Wagner, formerly with the Hicks Motor Co., Covington. The company has a large stock of used cars, ranging in price from $50 up, of which a number are listed in this issue of The Recorder.

Livestock Notes Timely, Important

The following timely livestock notes prepared by the College and the County Agent's office are presented for farmers' consideration.

Beef Cattle

The disposal of light grass cattle presents a difficult problem. The problem is whether to sell with grass finish or to grain feed for better finish or to winter and finish next year. The feed and equipment on hand rather than purchasing feed should be the deciding factor.

Sheep

Parasite control is a major problem. A parasite control letter will be mailed from the county agent's office this coming week. Those sheepmen who do not get this letter should notify the office,

Hogs

Hogging down corn saves labor. Fencing areas of the field with electric or 26-inch woven wire fence can be made at very slight expense. One hundred pound shoats or larger do a better job of hogging down corn.

Early sown cover crops gives twice the feed per day of labor than does hay crops and four times the feed for the same amount of labor spent on producing corn. Save labor—seed early cover crops of wheat, rye, vetch or barley.

Fifty percent more No. 16 root-rot resistant tobacco is being grown this year than last in Fleming county.

STUDIO IS NEW ADVERTISER

One of The Recorder's newest advertisers is the Service Photo Studio, 804 Madison Avenue, Covington.

Now under the management of Robert I. McKnight, who is assisted by several leading photographers, the studio guarantees first-class work. Aside from the usual line, special attention is given baby pictures, family groups, copies of old pictures and of artists' work.

HEREFORD CATTLE SALE

Farmers Given Opportunity To Improve Farm Land

Boone County farmers, despite increased war production, face an opportunity of soil improvement through fuller use of the revised agricultural conservation association Grant of Aid program, according to H. R. Forrner, County Agent.

The soil building allowance has been increased and the supplemental allowance for the last half of the year means that the allowance has been practically doubled.

No farmer can profitably overlook investigating the new conservation Grant of Aid program in which farmers may secure in lieu of cash payment through increased amounts of phosphate, limestone or vetch seed. This increase is larger than most farmers realize. Wonderful increased crop yields have resulted from the use of these materials and the ACP is the cheapest source of supply.

The smart thing for most farmers appears to be, to overlook all cash benefit payments and accept 100 percent of the allowance in grant of aid materials. Applications should be filed at the county AAA office or through the AAA committeemen.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our relatives and friends for their many acts of kindness during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father,

Thomas F. Campbell

We wish especially to thank Rev. Ferginson for his consoling words; the pallbearers; the singers for the beautiful songs; the donors of the lovely flowers and cards; and Chambers and Grubbs for the efficient manner in which they conducted the funeral. 1t-c

FIRE DEPARTMENT MATERIAL DELAYED

ONLY PART OF EQUIPMENT HAS BEEN RECEIVED TO DATE—NO PROMISE OF DELIVERY ON PUMP.

After considerable time and trouble has been spent in obtaining sufficient priorities for the front end mount fire pump for Burlington Volunteer Fire Department. we were granted a preference rating of AA-5 from the War Production Board which we have been told was sufficient to obtain the pump.

This final rating was granted on June 8, 1943, and the department was instructed that the pump was being built and that we could expect delivery within sixty days. To date we have heard nothing from the pump, and after talking to Mr. Campbell, who is representing the American Mars Pump Co., he advises us that he has talked to the pump manufacturers and that they have the pump under construction and will ship as soon as it is completed.

The department has received on the original order all of the fire hose and necessary fittings, but the pump which is the major item has not been received, and is holding up construction on the truck.

According to C. D. Benson, treasurer of the Fire Department, there has been $1533.00 collected by subscriptions to date. Of this amount $700.00 was spent for the Ford V-8 truck chassis and $25.00 for the warning siren. Our balance with the Peoples Deposit Bank at present is $808.00.

Payment for all hose that we have received is being held up until the entire order is completed, so that all money will not be spent until the department is assured the project can be completed in full.

The department does not have sufficient funds to complete the project, as it is estimated $2,500 will be required to complete the department. However, with several outstanding pledges, plus $808.00 now on deposit, it is believed that enough money can be raised to equip a temporary department to protect our property for the duration of the war, when it will be possible to purchase materials and supplies to full equip the department.

In spite of all disappointments, it is expected that the project will be in operation by winter, even though forced to substitute many items for the vital materials which are impossible to obtain under present conditions.

The department asks your indulgence for a short time, and assure the ones who have given their money that every effort is being made to have this project completed and that they will do their best with what they have under present circumstances,

REVIVAL SERVICES BEGIN OCTOBER 3

AT BURLINGTON BAPTIST CHURCH—REV. W. G. BOND, ERLANGER PASTOR, WILL BE SPEAKER.

Revival services will begin at the Burlington Baptist Church, Sunday, October 3rd, and will continue until October 17th, according to Rev. Roy A. Johnson, pastor. Rev. W. G. Bond, pastor of the Erlanger Baptist Church will be the evangelist, with Mike and Rachel Acree, conducting the song service.

Rev. Johnson said, "There is no doubt in our minds of the need of a revival of the old time religion, a revival that will put the church back in its proper place—the head of all things.. Our President has found the need of this by declaring that it is so important that he is setting aside October 2-3 as Go-To- Church Days. He is asking that every member of all faiths be found in the house of God on these two days, worshiping God as He should be worshiped.

"If you will read Psalms 127, verse 1, you will find his reason for he used these words, 'That the building without God is bound to fall. So let's be loyal Americans by returning to God who has made possible all that we have that is worthwhile.."

Come and hear the gospel preached in its old time power and the singing of the message as only Mike and Rachel can sing it.

Theater Manager Inducted In Army Wednesday Sept. 29

Walter Hermann, Erlanger, manager and co-owner of the Gayety Theater, Erlanger, left Wednesday to take up new duties in the Army of Uncle Sam.

Mr. Hermann and J. N. Gelman organized and dedicated the new Gayety Theater, October 27, 1938, and have certainly given Northern Kentuckians reason to be proud of their local theater. Under the management of Mr. Hermann and Mr. Gelman, the theater has grown to such an extent that the building is hardly large enough to accommodate its patrons at present, and they are bringing to movie fans the latest in motion picture productions.

Mr. William Folmer, head of the Erlanger Building and Loan Association, has been named to take over the management of the theater and will continue the same policies as in the past.

Verona Boy Among Kentucky Casualties

The War Department announced Friday the names of 332 United States soldiers wounded on world battlefronts. Among those listed was Private First Class Carl E. Hayes, son of Mrs. Rose Hayes, of Verona.

No further information was available concerning Pvt. Hayes.

ANOTHER BOOK IS COMPLETED

BY ANN STEWARD, BOONE COUNTY LADY—HAS DEVOTED HER LIFE SINCE LEAVING COLLEGE TO WRITING.

Ann Steward was born in Cincinnati and educated at the universities of Cincinnati and of Michigan; but she spent most of the summers of her childhood in the Kentucky hills of which she now writes, and she felt, always, a desire to live "on the other side of the river" from her native state. About six years ago she and her husband bought a hundred-acre farm in northern Kentucky near Burlington, and now they live in their country home the year round. They raise sheep, Jersey cattle, and their own saddle horses, Mrs. Steward's present favorite being a colt, a little goddess of the chase called Dianne, who is beginning a career all her own as a show horse at county fairs.

Mrs. Stewart has devoted her life, since leaving college, to writing. At the first she wrote plays and acted in a theater workshop in Cincinnati; later she published some poems and plays for children, and a few short stories. But the novel soon became her greatest interest and she worked intensively on it, developing a style and a subject matter of her own. She divides her time now between managing her farm and writing of the Kentucky land of her adoption, from the intense feeling for it which she has always had.

She is the author of "Take Nothing for Your Journey" and "Let the Earth Speak."

Hebron Girl Completes First Semester In 10-Month Training Course

Cadette Kathryn Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Nichols, of near Hebron, has completed the first semester of a 10-month training course in radio and electronics at Purdue University, sponsored by the Radio Corporation of America.

Miss Nichols will spend a brief vacation with her parents before returning to classes October 5th. Upon graduation, she will be assigned as an engineering aid at one of the RCA plants.

4-H Club Members Buy War Bonds

A survey is being made at the first of the fall 4-H Club meetings to learn how many war stamps and war bonds have been purchased by members, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent. With seventeen members reporting from Petersburg Club we find they have purchased to date $144.75 worth of war stamps and bonds.

FREEZER PLANT TO BENEFIT FARMERS

WOULD INSURE GREATER AND MORE ECONOMICAL USE OF HOME GROWN FOOD SUPPLY IN COUNTY.

The proposed Freezer-Locker food plant at Walton offers farmers of Boone and adjoining counties a wonderful opportunity in greater and more economical use of home grown food supply, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Plans for such a proposed plant has for the past four years been in the making. All interested farmers should act now to insure the securing of needed priorities.

Financing a plan costing approximately $15,000 has been the first obstacle. Under the proposed Walton plant the financing has already been taken care of and all that is needed now is to secure subscription for 60 percent or 180 of the proposed 300 lockers to be installed. This means that those who purchase the locker space for one year have no financial worries as to the success of the venture.

Freezer-Locker plants operate on a rental basis which in this case is $12.50 per six cubic foot door type and $15 per year for a drawer type locker. A processing charge of three cents per pound for cutting meat or preparing the vegetables or fruits in proper meal size storage packages is also charged. The food properly handled under this program is preserved in the form that is of highest nutritional value.

The immediate problem at hand is the selling of at least the 60 percent or 180 of the proposed 300 lockers. This is necessary before applications for priorities can be filed in order to purchase construction materials. To date only ten such plants have been allotted to Kentucky and approximately twenty-five applications are in the making. The sooner the applications are received the better are the chances of securing one of these plants locally.

R. M. "Coke" Hall of Walton reported that already 110 signed applications had been received. Let's hope that all 180 needed applicants are on file before the last of the week. If you are interested act now. Applications should be sent to Mr. Hall at Walton.

Burlington Girl Taking Advanced Nursing Training

Headquarters, European Theater of Operations—First Lieutenant Anna Lucille Grant, of Burlington, Ky., was among United States Army nurses who recently spent three weeks taking a special course at the American School Center somewhere in England.

Nurses who have proved outstanding in ability and leadership in the European Theater of Operations are selected to attend the course, believed to be the only one of its kind in the American Army.

Of the 180 hours' instruction, only 33 are devoted to nursing subjects and 28 to medical subjects.

In the other 119 hours of training, the nurses learn to drill, to render mines and booby-traps harmless, to make river crossings, to interpret military maps to do military sketching and to learn many things a field soldier must know.

Lt. Grant is the daughter of Mrs. Chester Grant, of Burlington, and has been in the Army for 2½ years, and the European Theater of Operations for 19 months. She is now serving as Supervisor in the Operating Room of a United States Army General Hospital.

Lt. Grant has a brother serving in the Armed forces, Private Chester Grant, Jr.

Directors Will Be Named By Members Of Insurance Company

An election will be held in the office of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Burlington, on Monday, October 4th from 1 to 2 p. m. for the purpose of electing directors, according to F. H. Rouse, Secretary of the organization.

A director will be elected in each of the following precincts: Burlington, Bullittsville, Carlton, Florence, Petersburg and Walton.

Members who desire to have their names placed on the ballot are requested to notify the secretary.

Mrs. Lucy Albelz, of Cincinnati, spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Lavina Kirkpatrick.

Burlington Stores Will Be Closed From 8 To 9:30 During Revival

Due to the revival meeting beginning at the Burlington Baptist Church October 3rd, Burlington businessmen will closed their doors from 8:00 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. each evening during the weeks beginning October 3 and closing October 17th.

Businessmen who have signed an advertisement in this week's issue of The Recorder announcing closing hours are as follows: Smith's Grocery, Gulley & Pettit, J. R. Eddins-Garage, Kirkpatrick's Grocery, Dr. M. A. Yelton, and Joe Huey's Lunchroom.

Additional Runaway At Airport Will Be Constructed, Is Word

Paving of the fourth runway at the Boone County Airport near Hebron has been authorized by the Civil Aeronautical Authority in a telegram received last week by the Kenton Fiscal Court, Covington.

Members of the Kenton County Airport Board, which is in charge of the airport, said the additional work would cost approximately $200,000.

Original plans of the airport called for the grading of four runways but provided for the paving of only three. Under the new order the remaining runway will be paved with blacktop. Each runway is 5,500 feet long.

Program Announced For October Meeting

Conservation of time and energy will be studied by Boone County Homemakers at the October monthly meeting. This will be the first in a series of three lessons of home management.

New and practical methods of saving time and energy will be of interest to all homemakers. Visitors will be welcome at all meetings. Homemade Christmas gift suggestions will be given by Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent. Each person attending an October meeting is asked to bring scissors, brown wrapping paper and a pencil.

Following is a schedule of Homemakers meeting for October.

Oct. 6—Constance, Mrs. P. Prable, 10:30.

Oct. 7—Burlington, Courthouse, 1:00 p. m.

Oct. 8—Walton, Mrs. Louise Rouse at 11:00.

Oct. 13—Hebron, Lodge hall at 10:30.

Oct. 14—Petersburg, Mrs. Eva Carver, 10:30.

Oct. 22—Verona, Mrs. Elizabeth Boyer, 11:00.

Oct. 13—Colored Club, Mrs. Delia Riley, 8:00 p. m.

The members of the Burlington P.-T. A. wish to express their appreciation to all who have contributed to the canning program this year and to those who have donated to the kitchen shower.

VINCENT NAMED AS ASSISTANT CHM'N.

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY SELECTED AS ASSISTANT STATE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN.

R. L. Vincent, Commonwealth's Attorney, left last week for Louisville to join the staff at the State Democratic Headquarters on the 10th Floor of the Henry Watterson Hotel, to help manage and direct the campaign for all Democratic nominees.

Honorable Charles G. Franklin is State Democratic Chairman, with R. L. Vincent, John Whitaker, who ran second for Lieutenant-Governor; John S. Miliken, Speaker of the House in 1928-30 and Harry Lee Waterfield, who was Kilgore's campaign manager, as his assistants, and as the executive committee to formulate and direct the campaign for all Democratic nominees in November.

Mr. Vincent will remain in Louisville until after the election in November, and will devote his full time to the campaign.

$401,016 NEED TO REACH BOND QUOTA

IN BOONE COUNTY—LESS THAN HALF OF COUNTY QUOTA IS SUBSCRIBED UP TO AND INCLUDING SEPT. 25.

Total paid subscriptions in the Third War Loan Drive in Boone County up to and including September 25th amounts to $331,883.80.

This is less than half of the county quota of $732,900.00 with only four days yet to go.

Reports from over the county indicate that subscriptions have slowed down and unless large and numerous subscriptions are made by Thursday of this week Boone County will have been "weighed in the balances and found wanting" as far as its quota is concerned.

As this article is being written only two precincts, Walton and Beaver, have reached their quotas.

Boone County as a whole is falling down badly on "Backing The Attack" so far, and our support of our soldiers in the front lines by those on the home front is going to look very weak unless something unforeseen happens by Thursday of this week.

A full report on the drive will appear next week.

Mrs. Sophia Schram

Funeral services for Mrs. Sophia Schram, who died Wednesday night of last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edna Cody, of Florence, were held at the Florence Christian Church at 2 p. m. Saturday. Burial was in Florence Cemetery.

Mrs. Schram, widow of G. F. Schram, former owner of the Schram Printing Co., Covington, had lived in Florence 25 years and prior to that time made her home in Covington. She was a member of the Florence Christian Church. Mrs. Schram was 67.

She is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. Marie Coyle, Florence, and Mrs. Stella Schneider and Mrs. Helen Carpenter, both of Cincinnati; three sons, Fred and Jas. Schram, Cincinnati, and John Schram, Florence; nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Tharp and Stith, Florence funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Clay Hensley

Funeral services for Clay Hensley, beloved husband of Lena Welsh Hensley, of Petersburg, who passed away at his home Sunday, following a brief illness were conducted from the home Tuesday, Sept. 28 at 2 p. m., with burial in Petersburg Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, 3 sons, Ernest, Petersburg, Clifford of Louisville and Claude of Covington; four daughters, Mrs. Alta Garald, of Covington, Mrs. Millard Sullivan, Mrs. Roy Barnes, of near Burlington and Mrs. Hubert Bruce, of Houston Texas.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of funeral arrangements.

4-H Club Completion Meetings Underway

The first of the 4-H Club completion meetings are underway. All officers and adult leaders are urged to attend these meetings, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent.

Club folks have a saying that "A quitter never wins and a winner never quits." No project has accomplished its purpose until it is complete. Credit cannot be given on a project unless the job is finished. Some projects will require another month to six weeks for completion, but a large number of 4-H Club members should be ready to make a final report on their project as this first fall meeting.

The following schedule of 4-H Club meetings will be followed: Monday, September 27 Grant and Petersburg; Tuesday, September 28 Hebron and Constance; Wednesday, September 29 Burlington, Florence and New Haven; Thursday, September 30 Hamilton, Verona and Walton.

Charles Fowler, left Wednesday morning for Akron, Ohio, where he expects to spend several weeks visiting his daughter Mrs. C. H. Bridgewater, and his granddaughter who was one year old last week. We wish him an enjoyable vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Cowen, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday with relatives and friends here.

Boone County School Band Will Be Heard At Aurora Fair, Sat.

The Boone County School Band, under the direction of Dean Bloss will be heard at the Aurora Farmers' Fair, Aurora, Ind., Saturday, October 2nd, according to Robert L. Johnson, president of the association.

The Aurora Farmers' Fair has in future years been well attended by residents of this county, and this year promises to be no exception. Clean entertainment and an enjoyable occasion is promised those attending.

Minstrel Will Be Staged At Florence Friday Night Oct. 1

The third and final performance of "The Boone County Showboat" will be staged at the Florence high school auditorium, Friday night, October 1, at 7:30 (CWT), according to Dean Bloss, director of the Boone County School Band.

The performance staged at Hebron last Friday night was well attended, and another large crowd is expected at Florence.

The same program will be rendered at Florence as was given at Burlington and Hebron with music between curtains.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

CONTINUE SOIL IMPROVEMENT

URGES COUNTY AGENT, H. R. FORKNER — IMPROVED LAND WILL PRODUCE MORE FOR THE WAR EFFORT.

Boone County farmers are now faced with an opportune time to continue their soil improvement program and to produce more for the war effort, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Land prices have been advancing and while we can't probably buy more acres of land we can double the production per acre in many cases.

Timely and important objs of soil and feed crop improvement that should and can be carried out now are:

1. The AAA has, in general terms, doubled the present soil building allowances through what is called a supplemental allowance for the last half of the year. This means the farmer can get as Grant of Aid in lieu of cash payment more phosphate, agricultural limestone and vetch seed. No experimental figures on the increased yields are needed. If in doubt look at your own fields where these practices have been carried out or ask your neighbors.

2. Seed your next year's grass crop now. Fall is the best time to seed grasses. Seed may be high, but hay and pasture are higher. If in doubt about seedings contact the county agent's office.

3. Save hay and improve the productivity of your soil by seeding winter pasture or cover crops now. These include wheat, rye and vetch. The earlier the seeding the better.

4. Prepare for next year's high yield of high quality of tobacco (If tobacco is to be grown again on the same land) by seeding your next year's land now to wheat or rye and vetch, adding AAA phosphate to the vetch and plan to manure this land early next spring previous to turning under. Act now—next month may be too late.

Sweet Potato Crop Is Reported Good

The sweet potato crop throughout this section is good this year, according to Ernest Allen, Burlington, a newcomer to Boone County

Mr. Allen brought in a sample of this year's crop and left it at this office for display. It weighs 4½ pounds and measures 16 inches in circumference.

Although Mr. Allen does not make his home here, as yet, he has raised considerable garden crops on his farm, and he expects to move to the farm sometime in the near future.

Wallace Ryle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryle, Burlington-Florence pike suffered an injury to his foot while working at the Cincinnati Railway terminal, Cincinnati, last week. He was removed to the hospital for treatment, after which he was returned to his home in Erlanger.

HOMEMAKERS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET

MRS. P. K. HOLMES, DEAN OF WOMEN, UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY, WILL BE GUEST SPEAKER.

Mrs. P. K. Holmes, Dean of Women, University of Kentucky, Lexington, will be guest speaker at the 8th Annual Meeting of the Boone County Homemakers' Association. Boone Homemakers, their friends and guests will meet at the Florence Methodist Church Tuesday, October 5th. The meeting will be called to order at 10:30 (CWT) by Mrs. Alan Gaines, County President.

"Women on the Home Front" is the theme for the day's program. County chairmen will use this theme in presenting their project reports. Those to give reports are Miss Johnna Mae Terrill. Petersburg, Membership; Mrs. Will McCormick, Verona, secretary's report; Mrs. R. C. Garrison, Burlington, Reading; Mrs. John Boyer, Verona, Citizenship; Mrs. William Markesbery, Florence, Program; Mrs. Albert Willis, Bullittsville, Handicraft; Mrs. George Morith, Florence, 4-H; Mrs. Garnett Tolin, Burlington, Exterior Beautification; Mrs. Elizabeth Morehead, of Taylorsport, Home Management; Mrs. John L. Vest, Walton, Clothing; Mrs. Joe Berkshire, Florence, Nutrition; Mrs. Vernon Pope, Burlington, District Meeting; Mrs. Edward Peel, Hebron, Publicity; H. R. Forkner, County Agricultural Agent and Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent.

Special recognition will be given to the members of the club having the highest percentage of its members present. Recognition will be given on the printed program to homemakers who have not missed a meeting or just one meeting during the past year.

The Boone County School Band, under the direction of Dean Bloss, will be the first feature of the afternoon program.

Special invitations have been sent to Miss Myrtle Weldon and Miss Lulie Logan of the Home Economics Extension Office, Lexington; Mrs. Oscar Harrison, Director of the Bluegrass District; Mrs. Mary Scott Moore; County Homemaker officers of Kenton and Campbell County, and members of the Boone County Fiscal Court.

Lunch will be served by the ladies of the Methodist Church. Reservations should be made with Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent, Burlington 412, not later than Saturday, October 2.

LLOYD SOCIETY TO MEET OCTOBER 2ND

The regular monthly meeting of the Lloyd Memorial Society will be held at the Lloyd Home in Florence, on Saturday, October 2nd.

All members are urged to be present.

AN UGLY PICTURE

Climax to the bulldozing given the government by labor leaders in the coal mine controversy, came recently when Coal Administrator Ickes requested the Army to release ex-miners to help boost coal production. Mr. Ickes' request was based not on evidence of a manpower shortage, or of an undue depiction of mine labor by the Army, but on "present difficult circumstances raising out of the lack of a work contract between operators and mine workers, with consequent bitterness and confusion throughout the mining industry."

In the words of the Louisville, Kentucky, Courier Journal: "That such a request should be made at all shows a fundamental misunderstanding of the relative importance of workers and soldiers in total war. Mr. Ickes will not speak sharply to sullen miners, and he will not permit any other governmental agency to speak sharply to their leader. In order to avoid a clear showdown in an issue which only a showdown can settle, he is willing to ask even the Army to subordinate its needs to the discontent of miners."

The rights of the coal mine owners were long ago wiped out to appease the demands of labor leaders. Now a move is underway to penalize the Army, because labor leaders would rather wrangle over wage contracts than get out coal.

The nation has been informed that on October 1st draft of fathers will begin. This grim announcement, flanked by the breakdown of justice and governmental regulation in the coal fields, paints an ugly picture which millions of Americans will be slow to forget.

DECREES DON'T PRODUCE COWS

For sometime past the American people have been reading that they can expect butter and milk rationing. They are therefore partially prepared for such drastic steps. The civilian butter reserve is at the vanishing point, which means that our milk supply is below needed amounts.

Farm labor costs, dairy feed, seed and everything the dairy farmer uses, have shown either normal or abnormal rises. No matter how fine our economic planners spin their theories, all of them combined cannot produce a milk cow in less than three years, by law, executive decree, or otherwise.

There is just one way to get more milk, and that is to allow the farmer who produces it a fair and reasonable profit based on the cost of production and the labor involved. Until that is done, the milk, butter and cheese supply will grow shorter and there is no use in kidding the American people about the issue.

DEBT THAT CAN'T BE PAID

A characteristic of the jungle fighting in the Southwest Pacific is the high proportion of nonfatal wounds. Japanese snipers, fortunately are poor shots. Equally fortunately for men in that area, there are plenty of highly trained medical men to care for wounds immediately. If it were not for this on-the-spot medical service, the horror of infection and death would become almost unbearable. Reporting on the heorism of the Army doctors, a news dispatch from Munda states: "It is a heartwarming experience to watch the young surgeons working night and day, ministering to the wounded Americans in the gloomy depths of the New Georgia jungle. The main responsibility for saving lives rest with them . . . It has been the aim of the medical corps in this campaign to give every wounded man preliminary treatment within a few minutes after he has been hit . . . The Corps does its job with the bullets and shrapnel still flying."

These are the same doctors that a year or so ago were striving to build careers for themselves at home. Most of them have families and all of them spent long years of study and privation preparing to practice medicine. They carry with them into battle a wealth of knowledge and the best traditions of the American medical profession.

The parents, wives and sweethearts of the men in service owe the military doctors a debt of gratitude they can never hope to repay.

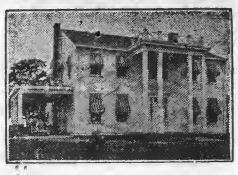
DON'T TAKE WHOLE POUND OF FLESH

Everyone knows that this nation must collect taxes—heavier taxes than any individual ever dreamed of. But an increasing number of public officials are awakening to the fact that the tax load on business can be made so heavy that it will actually kill that source of tax revenue, and in so doing destroy the jobs which provide the wages and salaries that, in turn, pay the billions in personal income taxes.

Representative A. Willis Robertson, Democrat, Virginia, member of the tax framing House Ways and Means Committee, says: "The best incentive throughout the ages to increased production is the profit incentive.

"The best assurance for employment for returning soldiers will be in private industry and in continuing the private enterprise system. That factor cannot be safely overlooked in the framing of income tax rates for corporations, because the government has no present plans to finance the conversion from war production to peacetime production."

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has indicated that military authorities have interested themselves in the new tax program because they want tax levies kept low enough to preserve production incentives.



That the reasoning of Representative Roberston and the military authorities is sound, can be proved by every individual to his own satisfaction by asking himself the simple question: Would I carry on, or could I carry on under a taxation program that leaves me little or nothing but a tax receipt at the end of a year's work? That is a point that every member of Congress will have to consider in connection with individual and corporate taxation in the future because the two are inseparable, for the earnings of each are the basis of production, expansion and steady employment.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS AND THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:17-20; 19:16-22; John 8:39, 40.

GOLDEN TEXT—Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.—Matthew 5:17.

With this lesson we begin a series of studies which should be of unusual value, a consideration of the Ten Commandments in the light of the teachings of Jesus, and other related New Testament passages.

It is appropriate to point out that, far from being outmoded, the Ten Commandments are really the basis of all moral law. They need a diligent restudy and re-emphasis in our day of disregard of moral standards.

As interpreted by the Lord Jesus and applied to our daily living, the truth of these commandments should be brought home to every boy and girl, man and woman in our Bible schools.

We learn here that our Lord did not come to set aside or destroy the law, but to fulfill it in the most complete way. But the gospel takes us a step beyond the law, and it is a great step, for we follow the One who is greater than the law.

I. Built on the Law (Matt. 5:17-20).

The law of God is eternal, never to be abrogated, never set aside. Christ Himself, although we might properly say that He was in reality the Lawgiver and thus had power and authority over the law, indicated His purpose in coming to be that of giving the law its full meaning, not of destroying it. One could wish that those who profess to be His servants might have the same measure of regard for God's law. If they did, they obviously would not be so ready to ignore it, so quick to change it or explain it away, and far more ready to accept with their Master every "jot and tittle," that is, even the minutest detail of His Word.

Recognizing Christ as the fulfillment of the law should prepare one to manifest obedience to every moral precept through His grace.

II. More Than the Law (Matt. 19:16-22).

Obedience to the commandments brings a man up to the very entrance upon life, but to enter in, he must have more than the "things" of the law; he must have the Person who is "the Door" to eternal life.

The young man who came to Christ was rich. His mind was obsessed with things. He had made it his business to observe the law, and had done well (v. 20), but his soul was not satisfied. He thought one more "thing" to do would accomplish his purpose.

The general attitude of the man was commendable. He sensed his lack of the vital something which would remake his life. He came to the right one—the Lord Jesus—with his question.

His failure to go beyond the things of the law to a faith in Christ, however, showed that he loved his possessions more than he desired to follow the Lord.

Those in our day who are trying to please God and gain eternal blessedness by works, by doing things and keeping commandments, need to recognize that in Christianity we have the One who is more than the law. They need to look away from things to be done, to the great thing that was done once and for all on Calvary.

III. Greater Than the Law (John 5:39, 40).

The Scriptures are great because they bear witness to the Christ who can give life. But obviously the One to whom they bear witness is greater than they are.

Paul speaks of the law as a "schoolmaster to bring us to Christ" (Gal. 3:24). The picture is literally of a servant charged with bringing the child to school where he may learn the truth. So the law convicts man of sin, makes him conscious of his own utter inability to meet God's requirements, and makes him ready to turn to Christ in faith and repentance (Rom. 3:20).

These men of our Lord's time were very religious. They spent much of their time searching the Scriptures that they might find eternal life. But most of them failed to understand that the life they sought was in the One who stood before them—Jesus of Nazareth—and not in the letter of the law.

This has a vital bearing on the proper study of the lessons of this quarter. "The time has passed when men might seek life in the Scriptures apart from Jesus. Now that Jesus has come, life can be found only if the Scriptures lead one to Jesus.

"If our study of the Scriptures does not bring us to Christ, then it is vain indeed. For that reason we cannot study the Ten Commandments without turning constantly to Jesus as the One greater than the law" (Lesson Commentary).

Just Let Me Tell You A Few Facts About Walking, So You'll Realize Just How Much It Can Do For You

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The normal heart, you know, beats about seventy-two times a minutes and pumps about six ounces of blood with each beat. Now, in fast walking, or at the rate of four miles an hour—(which is how fast you should walk to do you some good)—you'll find the normal heart will INCREASE its beat ten times to the minute, pumping six ounces of blood at each beat, gives sixty ounces per minute or 3600 an hour, which is 225 pounds. You can easily see that 225 ADDITIONAL pounds of blood pumped DAILY through your veins means just that much more life to your whole body.

There's no use of my telling you to get out and walk if you are having trouble with your feet, because I know you won't do it, BUT—if I tell you how to get rid of those aching, paining feet, first—then there's nothing to keep you from walking every day and benefitting your health by this wonderful exercise.

It has also been found that millions suffer without knowing the reason why—those headaches, those leg pains, and even sleepless nights may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

RED CROSS HEALTH WORK

Dr. H. F. Mann and Miss Elizabeth Lowry have just conducted immunization clinics against smallpox and diphtheria at Walton and Verona schools. After a very small percent of children who preferred to go to their own physician, for their vaccinations, Walton will be practically 100 percent inoculated against small pox. A considerable number of diphtheria immunizations were also done. Verona is not far behind Walton in their immunizations. Profs. Baker and Chipman are interested and thru their effort the clinics were made a success. Dr. Mann has also been very generous with his valuable time.

A high school class in Home Nursing is being started this week at Walton, with an enrollment of twenty-one. We are only supposed to take twenty in a class, but shall try to work this out some way so as not to leave out one girl who is interested and anxious to take the course. This class will meet each Monday and for lack of time on school days have some practical demonstrations on Saturdays.

Miss Katherine Scott is sponsor of the class and has done excellent work in stimulating the interest and getting the class together.

There was good attendance at the X-ray clinic at Florence on September 22. Those assisting in the clinic and transportation for patients were Dr. S. B. Nunnelley, R. V. Lents, Mrs. Jimmison Aylor, Rev. Noble Lucas, Mrs. Justin Dolph, Mrs. Luella Houston, Mrs. Robt. Eastman, Mrs. Harve Baker, Miss Lucy Grant, Rev. Elmer Kidwell, Mrs. Kirtley Cropper, Mrs. Jess Hamilton and Boone County School Board.

Mrs. R. H. Carter contributed greatly when she invited out-of-town workers to her home for lunch. This was much enjoyed by all who partook.

Eight varieties of greens and 14 quarts of soybeans are among the 875 quarts of fruit and vegetables canned by Mrs. Walter Jewell of Hickman county.

AT THE Gayety Theatre

SATURDAY

Although a veteran of the stage and radio, Ray Collins' role in RKO Radio's "Highways By Night," is only his third film appearance. He made his screen debut in "Citizen Kane," after 12 years absence from the Broadway stage during which time he had devoted himself exclusively to radio work. Among the top air shows on which he appeared regularly were "American School of the Air," "Mercury Theater of the Air" and "County Seat," the Esso show and the Kate Smith program.

TUESDAY SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Robert Preston's last film "for the duration" is Paramount's adventure-filled romance of the Chinese war front, "Night Plane From Chungking." Ellen Drew shares Preston's stellar honors.

Immediately upon completion of the picture Preston was inducted into the Army. He was sent to Officers Training School and has just received his commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

The cast of "Night Plane From Chungking" includes Otto Kruger, Stephen Geray, Soo Yong, Sen Yung, Tamara Geva and Ernest Dorian.

John Hubbard, popular young leading man, has the romantic lead opposite Elyse Knox in Universal's new horror drama 'The Mummy's Tomb.

Formerly under contract to Hal Roach, Hubbard's most recent appearance was in Columbia's "Canal Zone."

Headliners in the cast of "The Mummy's Tomb" are Lon Chaney, portraying "The Mummy," and Dick Foran, playing his first character role as a 60-year-old archaeologist.

WED., THURSDAY, FRIDAY

In order to conform with the U. S. Government's five-thousand dollar restriction on new materials for any one picture, plus transportation requirements, Paramount filed away from the home lot most of its Technicolor musical, "Dixie"

Director Edward Sutherland took the cast, including Bing Crosby, Dorothy Lamour, Marjorie Reynolds, Billy de Wolfe, Raymond Walburn, to the Columbia Ranch for one day, to United Artists' Studio for six days, to the Fox Studio for one day and to the Vitaphone Studio for six days of minstrel show scenes. By borrowing sets, Paramount was able to keep its cost down to the figure ordered by Uncle Sam.

Ray Claycomb and Richard Shirley of Adair county report the best tobacco crop they ever raised, following vetch and crimson clover.

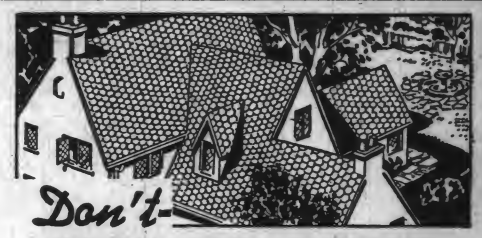
WALTON HOMEMAKERS

The Walton Homemakers held the first meeting of the club year 1943-44 on Friday, September 10 at the home of Mrs. Ora Stone, with the new president, Mrs. H. F. Mann presiding.

The morning session was given over to business and to a preview of the year's work. Group singing under the leadership of Mrs. Wendell Rouse opened the afternoon session. An interesting program followed, directed by Mrs. Leo Flynn, program conductor for the year.

As the leader of the major project, "Bringing the Fall Wardrobe Up to Date," the Homemakers were happy to have Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, whose return to her work in the county was the occasion of much joy. After the lesson which was brim full of information and suggestions, club members "modeled" out-of-date costumes, the entire club taking part in the discussion as to ways of effective remodeling.

Much interest and enthusiasm was manifested and the spirit of this opening meeting augurs a most successful year for the Walton Homemakers.



PRIMING ADDS TO TOBACCO YIELDS

Farm Agent Charles E. Gabbard of Wolfe county estimates that more than 150 farmers have primed their tobacco this year, many for the first time. Results have been very satisfactory. William S. Maple primed and cured 700 pounds of high quality leaf from 1.8 acres at a cost of $28.50; Bill Horton saved 400 pounds at a cost of $26; D. C. Rose saved 600 pounds, Kelly Rose, 500 pounds and Fred Hanks, 600 to 700 pounds. Many others primed from 300 to 600 pounds, and 100 or more farmers have saved smaller amounts.

THANK YOU 6,020,974 TIMES

...for accepting with good nature the unusual travel conditions of this past summer

Between July 1st and Labor Day, Great Lakes Greyhound buses carried 6,020,974 wartime travelers. For their good-natured acceptance of unusual present-day travel conditions, we sincerely thank these travelers—as well as all those people who postponed taking trips until the greatest rush was over.

Such cooperation made it possible for us to serve more soldiers and sailors on leave than ever before, more war workers, more essential travelers of every type. In addition, 15,000 selectees and enlisted reservists were transported and 22,000 children taken to summer camps — a job designated as essential by government agencies.

Your continued cooperation will do much to ease wartime bus travel in the months to come.

We are in receipt of a V-Mail letter from Lester L. Griggs, 6126859, Bat. 84, Co. C. Plat. 6, care Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif. The letter follows:

"I have not received the paper in sometime, but sure would enjoy reading it. There are several boys here from that county, and we would all enjoy reading the home paper. . . . We are in New Guinea in the middle of a cocanut grove. We have plenty of them to eat and the milk is fine—some banana trees, but we have to wait too long for them to get ripe.

"It rains here every day, and the mosquitoes eat us at night. We must sleep under a net.

"I am doing guard duty until they get some building ready to work on. I like it very much. Have seen two wild hogs, got both of them, also see all kinds of pretty birds and some few snakes and plenty of lizards.

"Please send me the paper. Hoping to be home soon."

Pvt. Ralph T. Cain, Med. Det. 338th Engrs., APO 700, care Postmaster New York, N. Y., writes:

"I remember writing you about 7 months ago, along with two of my boy friends, whom you know very well. We were talking today about Boone County, we three leaving Boone County October 1, 1942 and I believe you gave us a speech when we were getting ready to start work at the best job any young man could have—and you know that's working for our Uncle and the people back home. How are the people back home making out, and if you'll let me know the price of your paper I will gladly send you the money for a year, because I would like very much to have the Boone County Recorder while I am here in Africa and also after I leave Africa."

Ed. Note—Your paper is on its way Pvt. Cain, and there will be no charges.

S-Sgt. Robert F. Horton, 471st Bomb. Sqdn., Greenville A. A. B., Greenville, S. C., writes:

"Just a few lines to let you know my change of address. I just returned to camp after spending 30 days in good old Boone County. It was rather hard to say good-bye.

"I am flying B-25 bombers, the famous bomber which made the raid on Tokyo. It looks like I may be getting a swat at those Japs pretty soon. We have completed our training and ready for combat.

"What I really want to do Pete is to say thanks a million for the Boone County Recorder. It really means a lot to the boy in service. It certainly is nice of you to send it to all of us, and I wish to thank my friends for the many cards and letters I have received. Anyone desiring to write me, may write to the address given above."

We are in receipt of the following letter from Frank B. Helms:

"Perhaps you are wondering if I will ever settle down, and if you find out please inform me, I too am wondering. Again my address has changed, now it is APO 604, care Postmaster, Miami, Florida.

"It so happens that the type work that I am in and connected with takes me all around in this country, in case you are wondering what type it is, I'm sure Pat, my oldest brother, now in Petersburg, will tell you, in person of course, not over the phone.

"Again I want to thank you for sending me the Recorder, I do enjoy it very much. Seems that my wife makes the paper every week!"

T-Sgt. John H. Cook, 9th Base Post Office, APO 698 care Postmaster, New York, N. Y., stationed overseas writes:

"I received my first Recorder yesterday since I've been oversea. I received them regularly every week until I started moving so fast. You don't know how much I appreciate getting it.

"It means a lot to us just to get news from home. We don't get as much as we like in our letters, that makes us appreciate the paper more. I have a lot of friends in different parts of the county and like to read about what they are doing.

"I would have liked to have been at the 4-H Fair this year. Russell has written and told me a lot about it, but not as much as I can get from The Recorder.

"Things are pretty peaceful where I am located. We have a big job here, keeping the mail moving to the boys on the fighting lines. We know they like to hear from home as well as we do. So we try that much harder to get their mail through to them.

"I would like to hear from anyone in the county that cares to write. I can't promise to answer all, but will do my best.

"I want to thank you for sending The Recorder to me. I can't express my appreciation in words."

We received the following letter this week from Cpl. William W. Lail and Pfc. William H. Long, stationed at 84th General Hospital, APO 180, care Postmaster, Los Angeles, Calif.:

"We have been receiving The Recorder ever since we came into the army over a year ago and wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your kindness in sending it to us, and want to tell you it sure means a lot to receive it, as we can hear from friends and neighbors back home, even though we can't get the opportunity to get back there.

"We have been together since we entered the service and for the past ten months have been on M. P. duty. Everyone said we would make a barrel of enemies, but we have found it different. We have made quite a number of friends. We are still on M. P. duty here in California.

"It sure is hot and dry out here but still in all it is beautiful—that is what part of the country we have seen.

"We are here on a desert training center. Just how long we will be here we don't know, but imagine we will be here for quite sometime.

"The popular song, 'We Don't Get Around Much Anymore' sure doesn't apply here as we have been in the following camps, Grant, Ill., Carson, Colo., Brigham City, Utah, and here at Spadna, California.

"In closing we want to say we are fine and hope everyone back home is the same."

Ft. Knox, Ky.—Another class of skilled tank mechanics, trained to keep the big General Shermans, General Grants, and their little brothers the light tanks, roaring into combat, had been graduated today from the Armored School Tank Department.

Among graduates announced from the offices of Maj. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, Jr., Chief of the Armored Command, was Sgt. John Owen Sebastian, Burlington, Ky., R. 1.

During their training in the tank department the soldier students worked with the same tools issued to field crews and under the conditions they are likely to encounter in the field. They studied the mechanisms of the various tanks, from track to turret, tearing them down to learn how to keep them moving in combat.

The Armored School, one of the largest technical institutions in the world, is commanded by Brig. Gen. Joseph A. Holly. It graduates many time more students each year than the largest civilian universities or colleges.

Pfc. Ernest Kindoll, ASN 35801277 Co. C. 271st Inf., APO 417, Camp Shelby, Miss., writes: "I want to give my regards and best wishes to the employees attached to the publishing of The Rcorder. I enjoy receiving your paper each week, and reading about home folks and what is happening back there. I have been receiving the paper ever since I've been here at Camp Shelby, which will be four months Sept. 27 . . . It gets pretty hot and dry down here, but the boys in my outfit can take it, and don't mind the weather while they are working. . . . If there is any way possible I would like to continue receiving your paper. As I have said before, I enjoy reading it and learn quite a few things I wouldn't know otherwise . . . Ihope to be home in the near future for a 15-day furlough."

The following letter was received from Sgt. Henry L. Bell, stationed in North Africa:

"I just thought I would write you a few lines to thank you for the Boone County Recorder, for it's just like a letter from home.

"I'm still here in North Africa along with two other Boone County boys that started out together. They are James Holt and W. Hodges, and I hope we return that way. There are a lot of other boys over here from Boone County, but I am unable to find out where they are, as about the time we would begin to look for them we would move.

"I hear Snappy, next door is working rather hard keeping everything going. Well I'm doing the same over here, but don't mind it at all.

"If anyone wants to know what North Africa is like, just write me."

His address is Sgt. Henry L. Bell, ASN 35468781, Co. A, 337th Engrs. APO 451, care Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

Sgt. James O. Dudgeon, 35684908 615th Q. M. Btry Bn., Co. D. 4th Platoon, Camp Sutton, N. C., writes: "I met an old friend of nearly every boy in Boone County the other night. He has called lots of fouls on me in basketball games I used to be lucky enough to play in. He is Sgt. Curtis Lamb, Co. A. 790th M. P. Bn., Camp Sutton, N. C. It was a real treat and a surprise to meet him down here. He said to give his regards to all of his friends in Boone. . . . I want to thank you again for the paper, it is really a treat to get the news from dear old Boone. . . . I see Chas. Hollis more often these days since our companies are more closely connected. . . . Thanks again for the paper."

• • •

The Recorder is in receipt of the following letter from James E. Stephens, stationed at Camp Bowie, Texas:

How are you and how is everyone around town? I am doing very well now, but have been having trouble like I used to have when I was a child. I guess you remember those boils I suffered with, well I have been bothered with them again. Two weeks ago I was in the hospital where I had been for a week. When I entered the hospital I had one boil on my left forefinger, one on my left arm and one on my left jaw. The ones on my finger and arm broke and they had to lance the one on my jaw. Before I was released from the hopsital one appeared near my elbow, one under my arm. They healed and I was released last week.

"Pete our outfit leaves in the next day or two for Louisiana, and I would like to have my paper changed to there. We are going to be on maneuvers for about two months.

"My address is Pfc. James E. Stephens, 35663157, A Battery 16th F. A. Obsn. Bn., APO 306, care Postmaster, Shreveport, La.

"Give my regards to all my old friends around Burlington as well as the rest of Boone County."

MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF UNION HOLD MEETING

On Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, sixteen members of the Womans' Missionary Society of the Union Baptist Church and three visitors met for an all-day meeting. This day was set aside for a day of prayer for State Missions.

Mrs. Raymond Newman had charge of the program, her subject being, "For Such a Time as This."

The morning program was as follows:

Song, "The Kingdom is Coming."

Mrs. Emerson Smith brought a very inspiring devotional, her subject being, "The Christian's Task," with scripture references from the books of Matthew, Acts and Luke Prayer.

"Today's Opportunity in Ky. Mountains," Mrs. Myrtle Marsnall.

"Ministry of Clear Creek Mountains," Elaine Greenup.

Song, "Rescue The Perishing."

Mrs. James A. Futhergill dismissed our morning program with prayer and also gave thanks for our lunch.

After a very enjoyable time at the noon hour, our program was continued, with Mrs. Newman still presiding.

Mrs. Pearl Blankenbeker had the afternoon devotional and prayer, her subject dealing with "Christian Courage."

"Our Mountain Trust for Such a Time as This," Dora Mae McWethy.

"Work and Needs of Ky. Baptist Home, Mrs. James A. Huey.

Duet, "Blessed Hour of Prayer." Fay Beach and Elaine Greenup.

"Master's Call for Youth at Such a Time as This," Marie Gschwind.

Prayer, Mrs. Marshall.

Our Hospitals, Mrs. Omer Black.

Our closing part and prayer was a meditation given by Mrs. Ruth Mason.

Each of us left the meeting feeling that we had received a great blessing, and surely there never was a time when we must work as well as pray, like our Master of whom it was said, "The Master is come and calleth for thee. Who knoweth whether thou art come to the Kingdom for such a time as this."

Elaine Greenup, Pub. Chm'n.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Ration Reminder

Gasoline—In 17 states of eastern shortage area A-6 coupons are now good. In states outside the eastern shortage area A-8 coupons are now good.

Fuel Oil—Period 5 coupons in old rations are good through September 30. Period 1 coupons in new rations are good through December.

Sugar—Stamp No. 14 good for 5 pounds through October. Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 good for 5 pounds each for home canning through October 31.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 good for 1 pair. Validity has been extended indefinitely.

Meats, Fats—Red stamps X, Y and Z good through October 2. Brown stamps A and B good thru October 2. Brown stamp C good through October 30. Brown stamp D becomes good October 3 and remains good through October 30.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps U, V and W expire October 20.

Cut Expected In Shoe Ration

The new shoe stamp, No. 1 on the "Airplane" sheet in War Ration Book Three, which becomes valid November 1, probably will have to last six months, OPA has announced. At the same time OPA said that stamp 18, originally scheduled to expire October 31, is extended indefinitely and will overlap the next stamp. OPA's present plan is to eliminate expiration dates on shoe stamps and to make new stamps valid as soon as supplies warrant. This enables a person to save shoe stamps until shoes are needed.

More Leather For Shoe Repair

More leather will be available for repair of civilian shoes, as the result of a recent WPB order.

More Soap Provided

Consumers will have greater soap supplies within a few weeks. The War Food Administration has announced a program to provide a 28 percent increase in soap production for civilian use. WFA emphasized that there will still be no excess and urged soap-saving by every possible method.

May Requisition Idle Trucks

Idle used trucks may be requisitioned by district ODT offices or Agricultural County War Boards to transport vital agricultural products where such transport service is vitally needed. Requisitioning will be necessary only where owners of idle used trucks are unwilling to allow the use of their vehicles in this service.

Market Turkeys Now

Farmers are urged to market their turkeys as soon as possible so that the American Armed Forces overseas can have typical Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. In a joint statement, Maj. Gen. E. B. Gregory, Quartermaster General, and Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, appealed to farmers to "go over your turkey flocks carefully now with a view to offering as many as possible for sale to the government. Send them to your processor as early as possible. If you don't know where to market them, contact your nearest war board office or Quartermaster Market Center."

More Heavy Underwear Coming

The War Production Board has acted to increase production of certain types of men's and boys' heavy knit underwear in which a shortage loomed.

Glass Cloth Prices Up

Prices for glass cloth, used as a substitute for glass in hot houses or chicken houses, will be higher to consumers since a recent OPA amendment.

To Issue Ration Book Four

War Ration Book Four, which will last approximately two years, will be issued to more than 120 million persons through schoolhouse distributions during the last 10 days of October, OPA has announced. The book combines point and unit stamps. It has eight pages containing 384 stamps, printed in blue, red, green and black.

Pre-Induction Training For Boys

More than one million 16 and 17-year-old boys will be enrolled in voluntary civilian pre-induction training courses in the nation's schools this fall, according to the War Department. Representing an enrollment of more than half of all the physically able boys at these age levels, the students are taking courses that will prepare them for more effective service in the armed forces. Officers at army reception centers record all pre-induction training on the soldier's permanent record card. This training is taken into consideration in making assignments to further training and army jobs.

Counties To Get WFA Awards

Counties in which farmers have achieved exceptional production will be awarded an agricultural achievement award by the War Food Administration. They will be cited for achievement in one or more of the following: production record and extent by which the county exceeded 1943 goals; overcoming severe handicaps; extent of shifts to vital war crops; improvement in farm production efficiency; fuller use of land and labor resources. One award may be made in each state with others in proportion to the state's ration of the total U. S. farm population. Probably most of the awards will be made in November. A similar award will be made to seasonal food processors with outstanding production records.

Certain Seeds Under Price Control

Buyer prices on processed and unprocessed seeds of alfalfa (northern, central, and southern) red clover, alsike clover, sweet clover, and timothy have been restored to approximate levels paid last spring. At the same time, OPA has assured producer-farmers somewhat higher returns than last season, reflecting parity prices or better on sales of these seeds to them.

Safeguard Government Checks

Despite repeated warning, records of the Bureau of Naval Personnel show a steady increase in the number of allotment and family allowance checks stolen or lost after delivery. To prevent loss, the following suggestions have been offered:: (1) be sure your name is on your mail box or door; (2) watch for your check and deposit it promptly in a regular place; (3) if you move, notify your postmaster and either the Allotment Division or the Family Allowance Division of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department, Cleveland, Ohio.

Cut Football Travel

All school, college and other football teams have been asked by the Office of Defense Transportation to confine the sale and distribution of tickets to the residents of the local area of the cities in which the games are to be played By so restricting sales, ODT pointed out, football games can be held without increasing the already heavy load on intercity buses and trains.

Give Soldier's Serial Number

The public is asked to use a soldier's army serial number in every case where inquiries are made to official agencies concerning either officer or enlisted personnel. Much time and material is wasted if the number is not given, according to the War Department.

OPA Sets Grape Prices

Maximum prices for Concord grapes and California juice grapes have been set by OPA at levels substantially lower than prices that had prevailed. Meanwhile the War Food Administration allocated processed Concord grapes as follows: 60 percent for jams, jellies, and fruit butters; 20 percent for grape juice; and 20 percent in reserve for future allocations.

U. S. Casualties To Date 105,205

Announced casualties of the United States Armed Forces from the outbreak of the war to date (whose next of kin have been notified) total 105,205, according to War and Navy Department reports. This total includes: dead 20,104; wounded, 28,226; missing, 32,905; prisoners of war 23,970.

One Corporal Gets Five Japs

An army corporal, who failed to get the order to withdraw, recently killed five of an attacking eight-man Japanese patrol, then found to his astonishment that he had been left alone far in advance of his marine companions. Corporal Henderson, whose home is in Cannonville, Utah, explained: "I figured they were still with me, so when the Japs came in sight I opened up with my tommy." After he had killed five of the Japs, the other three ran. It was then Corporal Henderson discovered he was alone. He spent the night in the jungle and walked in for chow the next morning.

PX Profits Equip Chapels

Profits of $6,800 from Army Post Exchanges in Africa are being used to provide religious equipment for the army's five permanent chapels there, the War Department has reported. The money, spent by American fighting men on soft drinks, candy, and cigarettes in the overseas PX's, is buying reed organs, hymnals, bibles, and other religious supplies for all denominations.

Army Spends Million For Recreation

The army is spending more than a million dollars a month for recreation and athletic equipment for its fighting men at home and overseas, the War Department reports. Equipment is provided for the favorite outdoor sports of the fighting men, particularly baseball and football. Those preferring less active recreation have the choice of cards, dominoes, darts, chess, checkers, backgammon, or bingo. Included among the purchases are musical instruments.

FLORENCE HOMEMAKERS

The Florence Homemakers held their meeting on a new date, the third Friday of each month, Sept. 17th, with their new officers, president, Mrs. Ann Conner, vice president Mrs. Marie Kobman, secretary treasurer, Mrs. Lillian Schram. There was a better attendance than usual and one new member, Mrs. Smith of Eastern Ave., was welcomed.

Each woman brought her own lunch, which was spread on the table and shared among the group. Tea and coffee were served.

The lesson on "Bringing Clothes Up to Date" was given by Miss Gillaspie, whom we are welcoming back with open arms. Two or three women brought garments to be made over and the suggestions were informative and helpful. The lessons for this year are all along the line of Conservation—a most timely subject.

Wartime Lighting Suggestions
HOW TO GET MORE LIGHT FROM YOUR PRESENT EQUIPMENT

Use Shades with Light Linings to Reflect More Light

If your lamp shades are not white or very light-colored on the inside you're losing a lot of valuable light. Dark colors soak up light like a sponge—in some cases as much as 30% to 50% is lost. Clean your lamp shades regularly, or if they're too dark, or discolored with age, replace them with clean, light-lined shades that reflect light instead of absorbing it. You'll find you'll get a lot more light from the same bulbs.

HOW TO CLEAN LAMP SHADES

Parchment paper shades should be dusted with a clean cloth. Silk shades with fancy trimming such as appliqued ornaments, and shades of shrinkable material should be dry cleaned. Plain silk or rayon shades can often (but not always) be washed successfully provided they are stitched and not glued. To wash, first remove all surface dirt with soft brush, then hold by wire frame at top and dip up and down repeatedly in lukewarm suds made from mild soap flakes. Rinse through three or four lukewarm rinses using same up and down dipping motion. Dry very fast, hanging in shade outdoors in warm, breezy weather, or suspending over radiator or stove, using fan to accelerate drying, in inclement weather.

Electricity ... is vital to war production. Use all you need but don't waste it just because it's cheap and isn't rationed.

FOR VICTORY

The Cincinnati Milk Shed needs increased supplies of fresh milk daily to care for Defense, Military and Civilian demands.

This is a good time to weed out boarders and introduce a few choice heavy producers into the herd.

We carry a large number of T B and Blood Tested Holsteins and Guernseys at all times from which selection can be made.

Priced within reason.

If financial aid is necessary for the purchase of cows get in touch with the Productive Credit Association, who will gladly make loans to responsible parties.

FAYETTE WOMAN USES CANNERY IN BASEMENT

In an improvised canner in her basement, Mrs. Louis Van Overbeke of Fayette county has put up more than 16 varieties of vegetables and fruits, totaling 300 quarts for her family of three. She has canned pork and chicken also. In order to speed the work of canning the products of their 1½ acre Victory garden, Mrs. Van Overbeke made a convenient arrangement of tables, gas burners, pressure cooker and wash boiler, all ready for use at any time. There she followed the canning methods learned in her homemakers' club, and also assisted eight other women.

3RD WAR LOAN
15 BILLION DOLLARS
(Non-Banking quota)

● Look at the headlines in this newspaper today. They tell vividly what our men are doing on battlefronts all over the world.

We thrilled to victory in Tunisia . . . victory at Munda . . . invasion of Sicily. And tomorrow more victories will fill us with pride in our fighting forces.

But what would happen to us if our men in Service said, "We've done enough"? It would be the end of all of us.

We know, of course, that they'll never quit.

We know, too, that YOU won't let America down. That YOU won't say, "I've done all I can." For your job is no less important than that of the man in uniform. And this month your country asks everyone who possibly can to invest in at least one extra $100 War Bond.

You know the benefits of War Bonds. They're the safest investment in the world. They secure your future: They help your country and your loved ones doing the fighting.

Get at least an extra $100 Bond in September in addition to your regular purchases. More if possible.

Invest not only out of current income but out of idle and accumulated funds. And do it NOW!

BOWEL CLEANING POWER OF ERB-HELP MEDICINE

One man recently took ERB-HELP three days and said afterward that he never would have believed his body contained so much filthy substance. He says his stomach, intestines, bowels and whole system were so thoroughly cleansed that his constant headaches came to an end, several pimply skin eruptions on his face dried up overnight, and even the rheumatic pains in his knee disappeared. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Dahlenburg's Drug Store, Erlanger.

Crop Notes

Streak, a virus disease affecting the growing of tobacco has caused severe damage to a number of crops in the county the past month, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. This is the first year this disease has affected the crop late in the season. The disease was first identified in the county about five years ago.

Streak dwarfs, distorts and streaks the leaves with numerous dead spots on the leaves and midveins. The disease is thought to be carried from sweet clover to the tobacco by insects when the second year sweet clover is dying and the insects are leaving it. The drouth period followed by August rains are thought to have caused the late infection to show up.

Dr. W. D. Valleau and E. W. Johnson, plant disease specialist from the college state the disease is wide spread over all of Northern Kentucky. They believe however that there is no reason for believing there will any great amount of streak in the future than there has been the past few years. This information will be a consolation to a number of local growers whose crops were badly affected this year.

Specialist Offers Suggestions In Tobacco Curing

R. M. Jeffery, research worker in tobacco curing at the Experiment Station at Lexington offers the following timely suggestions on curing the 1943 tobacco crop.

"This curing season has been unusually dry in most parts of the state; consequently a considerable amount of tobacco has cured green, or mottled, especially where heat was used at time when it was not needed. Since the use of fires almost inevitably dries the air in the barn, they should not be used when the weather is dry unless the barn has been very badly overcrowded with tobacco. Tobacco which is mottled as a result of too rapid curing, can be improved somewhat by allowing it to come in case for a time before it is stripped, but great care must be exercised to see that it do's not get in too high case or stay in case too long. At best this treatment will result in a darker colored product than would have been obtained by proper curing in the first place but it will tend to make the color of the leaf more uniform, which will usually result in some improvement in price.

"It is well to remember that the weather might turn wet at any time and fires may be necessary even after the curing is completed. The crop is not safe until it is sold."

Each year many of our good crops in the field are ruined in the barn. Tobacco is expected to bring one of the highest prices per pound on record, according to the county agent's office. Every grower should attempt to cure his crop to the very best advantage possible.

CARD OF THANKS

Heartfelt gratitude and sincere appreciation is extended to our relatives, friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and in the loss of our dearly beloved mother,

SEVEN INJURED IN CRASH SUNDAY

AT RICHWOOD ON DIXIE HIGHWAY—AUTOS CRASH HEAD ON —ONE SIDESWIPED BY LARGE TRUCK.

Seven persons were injured when two automobiles crashed head-on after one was sideswiped by a truck at Richwood, Dixie Highway, early Sunday.

Those injured in the crash, according to J. T. Williams, Sheriff of Boone County were: Mrs. Anna Albertson, 34 years old, 1117 Locust Street, Covington, possible internal injuries; her husband, J. D. Albertson, 38, scalp and chin cuts; Miss Jean Parker, 28, 1549 Madison Avenue, Covington, left eye, right leg and ankle injuries; Miss Esther Daugherty, 21, skinned left knee; Roy Martin, 318 East 39th St., minor injuries; Mrs. Bessie Spencer, 33 Plymouth, Mich., forehead cut, and Gilbert Willard Spencer, 13, her son, minor injuries.

Martin was driving one car, and John Roberts, of Jetts, Ky., the other. Passengers in the Roberts car were Mrs. Spencer, her son and her husband Curnel Spencer. Curnel Spencer and Roberts escaped injury. Others injured were in the car driven by Roy Martin.

The car driven by Martin was sideswiped by a truck, then collided with the other automobile. The truck did not stop.

Mrs. Spencer and her son were removed to Booth Hospital, Covington for treatment, while others injured in the accident were removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

12 Sheep projects $336.00.
36 Dairy projects $2,160.00.

All 4-H Club projects for 1943 were considered as food for Victory projects. Each member completing a project this year will be awarded an achievement certificate in November.

Mrs. Lelia Kite returned home last week after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Grover Snyder, of Madison, Ind.

SOLDIER FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE

AT FLORENCE—HEART ATTACK BELIEVED TO BE CAUSE OF DEATH—WAS SPENDING FURLOUGH AT HOME.

Pfc. Norman 'Nang" Edwards, 36 was found dead in his automobile Sunday in a garage at his home in Florence. His widow, Mrs. Mabel Kneuver Edwards, who found the body said the motor of the car was not running, that the garage doors were open, and that the gasoline tank was full.

Dr. Gladys Rouse, Florence, who was summoned, pronounced the soldier dead, stating death was apparently caused by a heart attack. Pfc. Edwards was reported to have undergone a tonsilectomy two weeks ago.

Pfc. Edwards was home on furlough from Kessler Field, Miss., where he was stationed with the Army Air Forces. He had been a member of the armed forces for six months. Ft. Thomas military authorities are investigating the death.

He is survived by his widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Edwards, Cincinnati; four brothers Lawrence Edwards, Covington, Frank Edwards, Erlanger, Cliff Edwards, Los Angeles and Hobert Edwards, Cincinnati.

Military services were conducted at the grave.

Tharp and Stith, Florence funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Transactions In Real Estate Announced

W. A. McLoney, of Covington purchased 54 acres, one mile west of Burlington on Highway 18 from W. L. Oliver last week. This farm is known as the Sam Hall farm, formerly owned by Thomas Hensley on which a log house is located. Mr. McLoney plans to improve this farm and buildings but may not move to the farm before spring. The sale was made thru A. B. Renaker.

Jesse Delahunty on U. S. Highway 42 near Union sold his 300-acre farm to C. C. Metzcar of Glendale, Ohio, last week. Mr. Metzcar plans to make extensive improvements on this farm and possibly become a citizen of Boone County. This farm has been in the Delahunty family many years and is one of the best farms in the county. The sale was made by A. B. Renaker and John Delahunty.

D. H. Norris, purchased the four-room residence of Mrs. Nannie Hickman, in Burlington, recently. Mr. Norris plans to completely renovate the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Akin and daughter entertained Sunday in honor of Mr. Akin's birthday, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Akin, Mrs. Susie Stephens, Wilton Stephens, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stephens.
